Community mourns loss of editor Bill Rea

By Mark Pavilons

The Caledon community was shocked to learn about the sudden passing of veteran journalist, editor and resident Bill Rea.

Rea, 60, passed away early Sunday morning at his home in Caledon, of an apparent heart attack.

Rea spent the bulk of his 30-plus-year journalism career in Caledon, working tirelessly to bring residents the news of the day. He also served the Sentinel for several years and was a familiar face in King Township.

Rea was seen in every corner of Caledon, with notebook in hand and camera around his neck. He was the epitome of community journalism. He was known for his fairness in his reporting.

Rea, who had a degree in political science, loved politics at all levels and followed the local scene for decades. His encyclopaedic memory and knowledge served him well.

Rea was also known for his unique sense of humour.

"As a community we are deeply grateful for the life and work of Bill Rea," said Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson. "Bill connected with his readers through a shared sense of community."

"Whatever was happening in Town, you could count on Bill being there to capture the moment."

"He was well known for his dry wit and clever sense of humour."

"Bill always looked beyond the obvious attention grabbing headline and focused on the human and community elements of a story."

"He was one of the last true gentleman journalists."

All this week a book of memories for people to sign will be placed at Bill's usual spot at the media table in Caledon Council Chambers.

Beloved husband of Elizabeth (Beth) Early-Rea. Dear brother of Michael Rea. Dear brother-in-law of Paul Early and Michelle Bailey-Early. Cherished uncle of Jacob and Jenna.

The family will receive their friends at the Egan Funeral Home, 203 Queen Street S., Bolton, Friday afternoon 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Funeral service will be held in the chapel on Saturday, April 14 at 11 a.m.

Big snakes thrill children

Kids like Hannah and Ava had the chance to meet some of Ontario's native snakes at the Nobleton Library's "Sciensational Sssnakes!" The presentation was part of the March Break programs provided by King Township Library. This event helped educate children and their families on the conservation of reptiles throughout Ontario.

Second degree murder charges laid in stabbing

By Mark Pavilons

The York Regional Police Homicide Unit has charged three people with Second Degree Murder and several other offences after a 19-year-old victim of a stabbing succumbed to his injuries. One of the other victims in the incident was a man from King Township.

Police report that on Tuesday, March 27 at approximately 12:30 a.m., York Regional Police responded to a residence in the area of Mount Albert Road and Second Concession for reports that two people had been stabbed.

One of the victims, a 19-year-old man from King, was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

The second victim, Keegan Blyth, 19, of East Gwillimbury, was taken to hospital with injuries that were initially believed to be non-life-threatening. On March 29, he succumbed to his injuries. As a result of this, the homicide unit took over the investigation.

Two of the suspects were arrested on March 28, 2018 and were found in possession of a quantity of drugs. The third suspect was arrested and charged on March 30, 2018.

Charged were a 19-year-old man and 22-year-old man from Newmarket, along with a 16-year-old male from Toronto. All were charged with second degree murder, assault causing bodily harm, carrying a concealed weapon, unauthorized possession of a prohibited or restricted weapon, and possession for the purpose of trafficking cocaine and cannabis.

The Homicide Unit has taken over the investigation and are appealing for witnesses. Anyone who observed anything suspicious in the area at the time is asked to please come forward.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Homicide Unit at 1-866-876-5423 ext. 7865, or email the Homicide Unit at homicide@yrc.ca, or call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS, or leave an anonymous tip online at www.1800222tips.com

Traffic calming at Hazelbury and Wilsen

By Mark Pavilons

In response to concerns from the public, King Township staff will install safety measures at a Nobleton intersection.

Councillors approved the staff recommendations, calling for a raised pavement platform at the intersection of Hazelbury Drive and Wilsen Road.

The Township received a number of complaints about pedestrian safety at this intersection. Traffic calming trials – collapsible bollards – were carried out in 2015, 2016 and 2017.

Staff reported that traffic calming devices are effective in reducing accidents caused by excessive speed. However, they will not prevent accidents caused by other factors, such as careless driving and weather conditions.

Options for traffic calming include speed humps, roundabouts, medians, speed boards, chicanes and raised intersections.

Stop signs, staff stressed, are not traffic calming, but rather traffic control measures. Stop signs are not designed to be used as speed control devices, or deterring the movement of through traffic. In general, stop signs should only be used where engineering studies indicate they're warranted.

King staff collected data to determine the best solution to this intersection.

Staff said the raised intersection is preferred. Pavement within the intersection will be raised to the top of the curb level, and at the limits of the intersection, sloping down to meet the surrounding pavement elevation. Appropriate signage will be installed on both streets.

The improvements are estimated to cost $25,000. A final report will be presented to council before the summer break.

How can I reduce the effects of fraud?

Insurance fraud drives up premiums for everyone
The insurance industry estimates that 10 to 15 cents of every dollar paid in premiums goes to paying fraudulent claims—totaling more than $1.3 billion each year. This makes insurance fraud second only to the drug trade as a source of illegal profits in North America. Unfortunately, insurers have to pass these costs on to customers in the form of higher premiums. They also have to be more cautious in deciding what to insure, making it more challenging to get certain forms of insurance. The industry is fighting the problem

Insurers are doing much more than raising premiums to deal with the costs of fraud. A number of industry associations are working together to fight the problem. The Insurance Bureau of Canada, The Canadian Automobile Association, and The Canadian Coalition Against Insurance Fraud are just a few of the groups helping to promote public awareness, better business practices and improved investigative and enforcement techniques.

You can be part of the solution
It's easy to sit back and say "There's nothing I can do to stop fraud." But there is something you can do. Insurance fraud is often the result of fairly routine manipulations of the system—a tow truck driver who recommends a garage and gets a commission for doing so, a service provider who bumps up a charge because they know the insurer is paying, or a paralegal who asks for a percentage of an insurance award. These may seem harmless to you, but they are part of the web of fraud schemes that are costing you money. When you see fraudulent activity, challenge the service provider directly or report the behaviour to the police.

Insurance fraud is everyone's problem.

Data leaks are the price of mega-technology

We've been enjoying the connectivity the Internet brings for almost 40 years now. Can you believe it?

The World Wide Web was born in the 1980s, linking hypertext documents into an information system, accessible from any node on the network.

Since the mid-1990s, the Internet has been nothing short of revolutionary and has impacted almost every aspect of our society today. From instant communication by email, text messaging, Facetime, and all sorts of social networks, we are all connected like one giant brain.

I can't help but think of Dr. Frankenstein and his monster. Let's build something truly remarkable and groundbreaking and see where it takes us!

Previous "revolutions" required labour, protests and big business. Today, it's a matter of turning on your smart phone or opening your laptop!

Jumping on the Internet is like taking a drink from a fire hydrant. Today, we are so interconnected and dependent on our electronic gadgets that it appears nothing is private anymore.

Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg apologized for a recent data "mining" that affected some 620,000 Canadians. The company estimates 622,161 users in Canada had their data improperly shared with Cambridge Analytica through apps used by themselves or their friends, all for political purposes.

Overall, Facebook has indicated that 87 million of its users worldwide were affected, with nearly 82 per cent of them in the United States.

Lately, such "breaches" are not uncommon. From banks to retailers to on-line stores, personal information dribbles out.

What did we all expect would happen when we created such a "monster?"

The power and reach of the Internet and the smart devices today are way beyond our control. They're almost too smart for our own good.

Yet we embrace them, coddle them and impress our friends and colleagues with the power in our own hands.

How many of us actually understand how any of it works? Can you tell me just how data is transmitted, accepted, diverted and logged? We pay a bill or order an Uber by a single push of a button. It's easy. But a gazillion calculations send millions of bits of information per second across the globe.

In this data stream is perhaps everything about us - our shopping and spending habits, our bank balances, how much we owe on our credit cards and what movies we watch. It also details our favourite take-out restaurants, clothing styles and even our shoe size.

With all this data whizzing around the planet, did it ever occur to anyone that "glitches" are bound to occur? Don't we think that the more we use and rely on our devices to do everything for us, there's bound to be a few hurdles and "leaks?"

My iPhone knows when I'm driving and disables alerts and notification messages while I'm behind the wheel. It shares my location with others. It tells me the weather and let's me know when my Amazon order has arrived at my doorstep. It even monitors my health!

That's progress. And that's really cool.

We shouldn't be shocked, surprised or even upset when our personal information is shared with millions of others.

I think there's a bit of ego and self-importance at work here. I couldn't care less if the entire world knew my favourite brand of jockey shorts or what shampoo I use. It wouldn't bother me one iota if my hundreds of Facebook friends or LinkedIn contacts knew what I had for dinner last night.

It's kind of funny because some people don't mind sharing intimate details of their love life on Facebook, but don't want other people to know what toppings they like on their pizza!

I would urge people not to be naive. In 2018, if we have such "intelligence" floating around, can you imagine what we'll see in another 10 or 20 years?

With all of this, one has to consider whether we're the leaders, or whether we're being led. It's a bit of both, I think, but ultimately the consuming public may as well have bull rings in their noses.

We will literally "sign up" for anything that makes our lives easier. We will eagerly "log on" and "get" any app we may find useful. We'll "share" everything and each time we snap a "selfie" we're telling the world where we are and what we're doing.

According to John Perry Barlow: "The Internet is the most liberating tool for humanity ever invented, and also the best for surveillance. It's not one or the other. It's both."

He's right of course. Never before in our history has it been so easy to "spy" on one another - our neighbours, co-workers, friends and family. We're not talking CIA or Homeland Security here, just one nifty hand-held gizmo.

Just think. Our mortgage or bank loan, containing almost every detail about us, is sent electronically over the mystical airwaves. It gets snatched and delivered. The danger is, if it's intercepted, this one document contains more personal information than we care to share.

Technology will continue to improve and the powers that be will one day seize the opportunity to spy on all of its citizens. I have no doubt our entire lives are either recorded or downloaded somewhere today.

And so I leave you with these words: "The Internet gave us access to everything; but it also gave everything access to us."

- James Veitch

Commentary

Remembering a friend and colleague

They say you should live every day to its fullest. Our time here is limited; we all know this and yet we try desperately not to think about the inevitable. But we all know the end will come, sooner or later.

When you reach a certain age you begin to grasp your mortality. When friends, colleagues and peers pass away, it really hits home.

I was shocked and saddened to hear about the passing of my closest colleague and friend, Bill Rea, editor of the Caledon Citizen. He passed away in his sleep of an apparent heart attack. I've known Bill for more than 35 years and we shared a hell of a ride together in our careers.

Bill was meticulous, incredibly intelligent, dedicated and committed to a fault. He would do anything for you. King residents may remember him for his time spent with the Sentinel.

We were co-workers and colleagues; shared personal stories, anecdotes and relationships. We laughed, cried and pulled our hair out together. While neither of us wanted to admit it, we likely knew each other better than our spouses, given the amount of time we spent together. We shared dinners, rides, offices, desks, camera equipment ...

One co-worker said the office won't be same without him. That's an understatement. The office is not the same at all and I don't know if it will ever be "business as usual."

He was the epitome of common sense and good taste. Our jobs demand a lot of our time on nights and weekends. Bill always made an effort to spend time with his wife Beth and I think he learned in recent years the value of this over the next assignment.

The readers of the Caledon Citizen may not fully realize what they've lost. I can tell you Bill was overly dedicated to giving readers the best quality of news and features, without sensationalism, gossip or animosity. He was always fair.

Bill Rea was one of a kind in many ways.

Bill made the world a more interesting place and for that fact alone, I will miss him dearly.

Candidates vow to improve high-speed Internet

Access to reliable high-speed internet is an essential requirement of a modern economy and strong quality of life. Having met with countless residents, farmers, students and small business operators in King Township, it is clear that high-speed internet access must be improved.

Under the leadership of this council, the Township has made great strides at leveraging private and public investment to improve rural broadband. However, it is clear that more must be done to fill the gap.

Recently, the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) established a universal service objective that Canadians – in rural and urban centres – should have access to voice services and broadband Internet access services on fixed and mobile wireless networks. In 2018, it is unacceptable that residents in our respective communities do not have access to reliable high-speed internet.

“We believe provincial and federal authorities must do more to help leverage investment from the private sector, the CRTC and government to expand the digital infrastructure systems required to enhance access to rural broadband,” said PC candidates Stephen Lece and Caroline Mulroney, in a joint statement.

“That is why we are committed to improving rural broadband access. For the student needing high-speed internet to research an assignment, for the farmers requiring reliable internet service to sell their products and operate on-farm technology, and for the small businesses who need this platform to grow their brands and reach new markets. For them, and for you, we are determined to support greater investment in King that will improve broadband access.

“We support the objectives enumerated in the Region of York’s Broadband strategy, which aims to encourage investments, create an open competitive environment and maximize public and private investment.

“We will work to strengthen King’s digital economy and the quality of life of every resident, regardless of where they live. Enhanced high-speed internet: that is our commitment to you.”

King's Scheinberg family makes a major donation to Seneca College

By Mark Pavilons

The Scheinberg family continues to make inroads in the King community.

Rob Scheinberg and his wife, Danielle Eden, are founders of Dog Tales Rescue and Sanctuary near King City. They recently made a gift to Seneca College that will support equipment upgrades for the Veterinary Technician program, as well as the construction of Magna Hall.

In recognition of their generosity, Seneca will name a space in the building after the Scheinberg family.

Scheinberg said they decided as a family to make this donation, since they all have deep roots locally. Scheinberg himself is a Seneca graduate. The school's equipment was in dire need of upgrading, so he was happy to help.

"There's a synergy there," he said, noting Dog Tales has taken co-op students and volunteers from far and wide. The relationship is mutually beneficial.

Scheinberg stressed that King Mayor Steve Pellegrini helped facilitate the donation and he supports this amazing relationship.

"The donation was really a natural thing," Scheinberg said. "Dog Tales is going to be here for a long time and Seneca will hopefully be here longer."

Known for its opulent kennel space, and many social media admirers, Dog

Tales includes 50 acres of green fields, rolling hills and wooded areas. The couple recently purchased 50 more acres of adjacent land for future expansion. Scheinberg said they now have more than 50 employees and are constantly growing and evolving.

After years of being involved in animal rescue, Scheinberg and Eden opened Dog Tales in 2014. Since then, approximately 1,200 dogs have been adopted, with more than 100 dogs on-site at any one time. The dogs are both local owner surrenders and rescues from around the world.

Last year, Dog Tales took in 68 dogs rescued from the Yulin Dog Meat Festival in China.

The couple is originally from Israel and regularly travels back to visit shelters and rescue dogs that are often old, deaf, blind or injured. During a recent trip to a rundown shelter in Israel, Eden decided to buy the shelter, flying 270 dogs back to Canada.

In addition to dogs, Scheinberg and Eden rescue horses from auction by bidding against horse meat buyers. Currently, Dog Tales is home to 75 horses.

The entire facility is run by a team of 55 full-time staff dedicated to animal care, including three full-time veterinary technicians, who are Seneca alumni.

Contract awarded for Nobleton park

By Mark Pavilons

The Nobleton Sports Park phase 2 moved ahead with the granting of the contract by King council.

Latitude 67 Ltd. will carry out the work, estimated to cost $446,261.86.

The funds were included in the Township's 2017/18 capital budget. The project includes retrofitting two baseball diamonds, a playground expansion and pathways.

The Township originally tendered the project in the fall of 2017, but the costs submitted by the bidders for the shade structure were just too high. The contract does not include the shade structure but King staff will look at taking on this element themselves. The structure itself is pegged at $120,000.

King staff is also working with the Nobleton Lions Club, who expressed an interest in donating funds to the project.

The work is slated to start this April, and be completed by 2019.

Councillor David Boyd said he's pleased with the project and the enhancements it will bring to the community.

York remains top destination for business, investment

The Regional Municipality of York Economic Development 2017 Year in Review Report is in. Over the past year significant progress has been made to grow York Region's economy and support innovation, reinforcing its nine cities and towns as a destination-of-choice for businesses and top-talent.

"The ongoing investment made by York Regional Council to support economic development continues to encourage business and job growth," said York Region chairman and CEO Wayne Emmerson. "From start-ups to world-class global organizations, report findings show the Canadian and international business communities continue to choose York Region as their home."

Regional business advisory programs helped create over 3,000 jobs across the Region since 2010.

Employment in York Region continues to outpace national, provincial and Greater Toronto Area averages, up by three per cent.

Investments in infrastructure including the Toronto-York Spadina subway extension is driving major development in surrounding areas.

York Region was recognized as a Smart 21 Community from approximately 380 global applicants for programs demonstrating innovation.

York Link continues to expand its reach digitally to attract employers.

"The high-density, mixed-use communities in York Region's provincially-designated urban growth centres remain an important part of our local economy," said Markham Regional Councillor Joe Li, chair of the Region's Planning and Economic Development. "York Region offers everything world-class businesses are looking for. In addition to available office space and ample employment lands, our diverse and highly-educated workforce remains a key attraction for a variety of businesses."

The 2017 Year in Review captures local business trends and provides an annual update on key activities taking place under York Region's Economic Development Action Plan 2016 to 2019 which provides a road map to advance the Region's local economy through 2019.

The Regional Municipality of York consists of nine local cities and towns, and provides a variety of programs and services to 1.2 million residents and 51,000 businesses with 620,000 employees. ## King clean up day is April 21

By Mark Pavilons

King Township is joining others in marking Earth Week 2018 with a host of fun and family friendly activities.

The big day is Saturday, April 21, for the annual King Clean Up Day.

Everyone is encouraged to take part in Township wide clean-up and help by cleaning up our parks, streets, ditches and neighbourhoods. Pick up your Clean Up supplies at one of the following locations during Earth Week (April 16-22): Trisan Centre, Dr. William Lacey Nobleton Arena, Schomberg Library, Nobleton Library or Ansnorveldt Library.

Also on April 21, Tasca Park in Nobleton is hosting an Earth Day Planting and Clean Up event, running from 10 a.m. to noon. King Township is working together with Toronto and Region Conservation (TRCA) to celebrate Earth Day. You can help by pick-up litter and plant trees and shrubs in Tasca Park.

Textile pick-up in King Township

Did you know that the Township of King has a textile recycling program? King has proudly partnered with Diabetes Canada to form one of Ontario's first municipal textile diversion programs. The good news is that, in the first year, residents have diverted some 35,257 lbs of textiles from the landfill! Well done King!

The other good news is that King is launching its first ever "Textile Door to Door Pick Up" to coincide with Earth Week (April 16- 20) and Waste Reduction week in the fall. Help us divert waste from the landfill by cleaning out your closet and donating your old textiles.

Why should we bother to donate used clothing we no longer need? Ontarians generate more than 500,000 tons of textile waste each year and 85% of that ends up in our landfills. Each and every Canadian generates an average of 30-40 kg. (66-88 lbs.) of textile waste and each of us purchases some 62 new textile items plus 7 pairs of shoes annually. For the 32 million of us this adds up to 2.2 billion garments and 252 million pairs of shoes at a cost of nearly $37 billion! Who knew? Remember the 3Rs - reduce, reuse, recycle.

Countries such as Burundi, Kenya, Rwanda, Tanzania and Uganda are all considering banning the import of second hand clothing and leather products. If these bans go into effect then these clothes are likely to stay here and put more pressure on our waste management system.

Last year, Canadians donated more than 50 million kg. of textiles through the Diabetes collection system of donation boxes and pick-up events. Value Village then resold them and generated more than $10 million for Diabetes research and programmes. This funding helps the almost 30% of Canadians suffering from type 1 diabetes.

If you are interested in the free pickup during the week of April 16, then here are the simple directions:

Step 1: Collect your textiles and put them in a garbage bag marked with a D or T.

Step 2: During Earth Week (April 16-20) leave your closed textile bags at the end of your driveway on your waste pick up day.

Step 3: Diabetes Canada will pick up your textiles for FREE. To see what will be collected visit declutter.diabetes.ca or call 1-800-505-5525.

Please email environmentalstewardship@king.ca for more info.

Help get your spring cleaning off to a good start, help others to re-use your discarded clothes and save a drive to the arena!

Year 'round you may donate your textiles at one of the following locations: Dr. William Lacey Nobleton Arena (15 Old King Road, Nobleton), King City Arena (25 Doctors Lane), and Trisan Centre (25 Dillane Drive, Schomberg). Happy spring cleaning, thank you and King Loves Spring!

LSRCA decision angers environmental group

By Mark Pavilons

A decision by the Lake Simcoe Region Conservation Authority has led to a letter-writing campaign by an environmental group.

The LSRCA voted to approved a permit applicator by Maple Lake Estates and Stag Hollow Country Homes, under the condition that abutting lands to the development be transferred to public ownership.

Maple Lake Estates is planning a 1,073-unit recreational residential retirement community on 202 hectares of land in Georgina. The planning process and approvals for this project date back almost 30 years, originally proposed in October of 1984. The Ontario Municipal Board approved the application with modifications back in 1987.

In 2003, the majority of the Maple Lake Estates property were deemed to be provincially significant wetlands by the MNR. But since the project's approval predated the wetland designation, the Province recognized it as legal.

While conservation authorities like LSRCA can create and enforce conservation policies, they have to adhere to provincial and municipal planning requirements.

Roughly 38% of the property will be impacted by the development and construction, impacting trees and existing forest stands.

To mitigate the impacts and protect as much land as possible, the LSRCA and DG Group agreed to the transfer of lands that abut the development. These lands contain wetlands, forests and agricultural lands.

Giving Maple Lakes Estates the conditional go-ahead has angered groups like the North Gwillimbury Forest Alliance.

Calling on York-Simcoe MPP Julia Munro, alliance chair Jack Gibbons is asking the Minister of Municipal Affairs Bill Mauro to issue a Zoning Order to prohibit the development.

Unfortunately, ... they (LSRCA) illegally gave the DG Group permission to destroy the wetland, which will split the North Gwillimbury Forest in two. So we now need your strong leadership to save the North Gwillimbury Forest and its provincially significant wetlands."

Georgina council, however, decided to try to protect the Paradise Beach-Island Grove Provincially Significant Wetland and called on LSRCA to reject DG Group's application.

King Councillor Avia Eek, who sits on the LSRCA, said the Province has essentially walked away from the issue. The MNR has told LSRCA that tree-cutting can commence on the site.

"We have been trying for two years to obtain a land swap that would see this wetland complex/forest saved in perpetuity, yet still providing the developer with their well-documented development rights," she said.

"The Conservation Authority's role, to approve or deny a section 28 permit, occurs after planning approvals have been received and if the development falls within an area that we are responsible for regulating under the laws in the Conservation Authorities Act," reads a letter issued by the LSRCA.

"When a development is proposed, the planning process includes detailed public consultation. In the case of the Maple Lake Estates development, the planning process and public consultation took place many decades ago. The Section 28 permit process only includes consultation between the applicant and the Conservation Authority. As with all permit applications we receive, the Maple Lake Estates application was evaluated on its own facts and had to meet the criteria set out in the Conservation Authorities Act. This is the same criteria applied to all applications for a permit from the Conservation Authority, without exception.

"In 2015, the Regional Municipality of York, Town of Georgina, Lake Simcoe Region Conservation Authority and DG Group, collectively supported a land swap option. The proposed land swap would have given DG Group the right to develop on their bordering property. In return, DG Group would have transferred the 500 acres of Maple Lake Estates land into public ownership - increasing the Greenbelt in excess of 300 acres and saving the forest and wetland permanently.

"If approved,

this solution would have also required DG Group's new development to be reviewed under all current planning laws and Conservation Authority policies. This option was aligned with Provincial policies and had support from many community members, but despite the substantial benefits, the Province did not approve the proposal. As a result, the Conservation Authority had to review the permit application for the original development.

"Although we didn't obtain our preferred land swap option, we didn't abandon our effort to protect the watershed. A very important fact which can't be ignored - although a permit for the development was approved, it's conditional on DG Group transferring nearly 400 acres of land adjacent to the Maple Lake Estates property into public ownership. This is more than double the lands being developed so that the Conservation Authority and other partners can create future wetland, wildlife habitat and allow that land to naturally regenerate - creating one of the largest protected public tracts of land in northern York Region.

"Throughout this process staff and Board members have remained objective and acted according to our mandate and the laws that govern the Conservation Authority. Throughout our 67-year history, we have made fact based, transparent decisions using fair and balanced principles founded on law. This decision was no different."

Illustrator comes home

Jessica Bromley Bartram, daughter of King Township artists Mary Bromley and Ed Bartram, and an artist and illustrator in her own right, dropped by recently for a book signing. She came from her home in Ottawa to visit her parents, and her mother invited a number of friends in to meet her and have her sign their copies of the recently released children's book Charles by Stephen E. Hume, illustrated by Jessica. The drawings on the sideboard behind her in the photograph are plates from the book.

LCol (ret'd) Susan Beharriell was one of the keynote speakers at the recent Guiding banquet in Bolton. She inspired the young women with her encouragement, noting she, too, drew upon her years in Guides to help her along the way.

Susan Beharriell inspires members of Bolton Guide group

By Mark Pavilons

“Courage, sacrifice, determination, commitment, toughness, heart, talent, guts. That’s what little girls are made of.”

– Bethany Hamilton

Young women should continue to be trailblazers and leaders. Backed by a well rounded experience in Guiding, young women can become the trendsetters of tomorrow.

King’s LCol (ret’d) Susan Beharriell provided some words of inspiration to the 1st Bolton Guides, during their year-end banquet recently.

Beharriell is a veteran of the Canadian Forces who served on various NATO and NORAD operations at critical times, including the Cold War and 9/11. The first female intelligence officer in the Air Force, Beharriell faced seemingly insurmountable odds, yet rose to lay the groundwork for all other women to follow.

Beharriell is also proud of her Guiding experience, one that took her all over the world.

“Guiding gave me a very good foundation for my road through life,” she said. “Think of the things you are learning in Guiding and how they can help you pave your way,” she told them.

Beharriell wasted no time in making inroads. At 15, she became a museum guide, a position held previously only by boys.

She ran for president of student council, despite facing opposition. While she was soundly defeated, you have to learn from your setbacks.

“When you make a road, you are going to run into obstacles,” she said. “But that does not mean you stop! You move them out of the way, go over them, under them or around them!”

Beharriell broke down barriers, joining the pioneering women who were among the first to join the Canadian military; competing the same basic training as men, and earning the respect of her colleagues.

She was continually told she could not do something simply because she was a woman.

“They told me I could not serve as an intelligence officer because it said on page 42 of the manual that only men were allowed. I persisted.

“They told me I could not fly in the back seat of a high-performance jet aircraft.

“One day I had a ride in the back seat of a CF-18 (fighter) jet ... I have over 80 hours in the back seat of various fighters.”

Beharriell said her military career was always challenging, but fascinating and worthwhile.

“I know I have made a difference.”

She noted ever since she was a little girl, she had the motto nothing ventured, nothing gained.

“Try it. You may surprise yourself!”

Beharriell now adds “per adua ad as-tra” (through adversity, to the stars) to her repertoire.

Speaker at horticultural society

The Schomberg Horticultural Society is thrilled that for the upcoming annual guest night, a popular speaker is back by popular demand. Wolfe Bonham is a renowned landscape designer and owner of Peace, Love and Landscaping. Romance and peace happens deeper into the night. Guests on this special night are free of charge. You are also invited to stay after the presentation to chat and ask questions of Wolfe while enjoying some light refreshments. Join them on Tuesday, April 24, at 7:30 pm. in the Schomberg Community Hall, 325 Main St. Meetings are held on the fourth Tuesday of the month from March to June and September to October (six meetings in all). # Happy hiking in King's Happy Valley Forest

One of the largest remaining intact forests on the Oak Ridges Moraine, King's Happy Valley Forest, is a hidden gem home to more than 110 breeding birds, many amphibians and flowering plants.

Since 2001, the Nature Conservancy of Canada (NCC) has protected and helped care for almost 800 acres of this important natural area. Their goal is to ensure that in the next 50 to 100 years that Happy Valley will grow into an old-growth forest, continue to be an important carbon storage area, and provide locals with a place they can visit to experience the joy of nature.

To accomplish this, NCC needs a boost. They rely on generous donors, supporters, dedicated volunteers and the help of the community to look after Happy Valley Forest.

With a growing GTA population and an increased interest in nature-based recreation, it's important that this special place is used responsibly so that both wildlife and humans can enjoy the forest for generations to come.

In 2016, NCC embarked on a new project to create a visitor management plan. They hired a consultant to look at how and where the community is using the forest. This information helped them to better understand how to balance recreational use of the area and biodiversity conservation. These findings formed the foundation for NCC's draft visitor management strategy, which will continue to be developed and refined to help them with their land use decisions.

Starting this year, NCC will begin to implement this visitor management plan by creating a formal trail system that takes into consideration both recreation and nature.

Visitors can expect the following changes and improvements:

- Improving trail linkages so that trails avoid trespassing on private land.
- Trail closures for dead end trails and those that lead to neighbouring private lands.
- Better signage to ensure good trail etiquette and appropriate trail use.
- Improved wayfinding, including trail maps and blazes.

These changes will help NCC better manage the trails and ensure visitor safety in Happy Valley Forest.

Some of the work mentioned here will begin shortly and will continue for the next two to three years.

A friendly reminder that NCC encourages respectful use of the trails. This includes staying on the trail to minimize the spread of invasive species, keeping pets on leashes, not littering, and not collecting any plants, fungi or wildlife whatsoever.

NCC would like to thank the community for its patience and support as they implement the new and improved trail system for Happy Valley Forest.

Christine Elliott confirms her Newmarket-Aurora run

By Brock Weir

Christine Elliott has thrown her hat in the ring in Newmarket-Aurora.

The former MPP and PC leadership candidate said: "I have never been more convinced of just how much Ontario needs us. I would be privileged to join our slate of candidates."

"To all residents of Newmarket-Aurora, you can count on me to do everything I can to fight for you at Queen's Park," she continued. "I hope I can earn your trust."

Ms. Elliott said her top priority between now and a formal nomination meeting later this month will be to meet the residents of the riding she seeks to represent this June.

"I really need to listen to ... their concerns and issues and make sure I understand them, so that if I am given the honour to be their representative at Queen's Park, I will know what their biggest priorities are and be able to start advocating for them right away," said the former MPP for Whitby-Oshawa.

In explaining her decision to seek the local nomination, Ms. Elliott cites the similarities between the ridings of Newmarket-Aurora and Whitby-Oshawa.

"As I said throughout the leadership campaign, I really wanted to run in a riding where (a) I was hoping people would want me there, and (b) I would be able to be a meaningful representative for the community," she said. "I think Newmarket-Aurora has many similar qualities to Whitby-Oshawa, the riding I last represented, in the sense it is a fast-growing area, it has a lot of issues relating to growth with a lot of people commuting downtown and needing GO Train and other options for vehicles travelled, but you also want to make sure that things like health care and educational facilities and so on can keep up."

"Those are the issues I certainly am familiar with, they seem to be also relevant in Newmarket-Aurora and I look forward to speaking with residents about their concerns and working on them."

Her announcement came with key endorsements, including those from former PC nomination candidate Bill Hogg and former Newmarket-Aurora Member of Parliament – and 2019 federal candidate – Lois Brown.

"I have every confidence that Christine Elliott is the right candidate to lead Newmarket-Aurora into the next election," said Ms. Brown. "She has a proven track record of fighting for local communities at Queen's Park, and I look forward to working with her."

Shortly after Ms. Elliott's announcement, a further endorsement came out – this time from Charity McGrath who was, until March 15, the confirmed PC candidate for the riding.

Controversy dogged Ms. McGrath since securing the nomination last April over Mr. Hogg and Newmarket Councillor Tom Vegh. Citing "irregularities" in the votes, members of the Newmarket-Aurora PC riding association launched a number of appeals against the close results to top party brass, each of which was turned down under the leadership of Patrick Brown.

Shortly after Mr. Brown was replaced by Doug Ford as the party's permanent leader, Newmarket-Aurora was one of three ridings which had their nominations overturned and Ms. McGrath was barred from running again. Although she, in turn, appealed this move, her appeal was turned down just recently.

"After working countless hours over the past year as the PC Candidate in Newmarket-Aurora, I have decided to step aside and work with a wonderful person," said Ms. McGrath in an email. "Today I am proud to stand with an extraordinary Conservative, Christine Elliott. We are excited knowing that she has served this province in an exemplary way and will continue that legacy of work for our riding."

"We will continue to see unity strengthened through the support of Bill Ballantyne, president of the Newmarket-Aurora Riding Association. I personally believe that unity needs to be a top priority. I appreciate Christine's desire to work closely with myself and honour the time and work I have put in alongside the volunteers who have invested time in the riding. I look forward to us working closely for the betterment of the riding and community."

Keeping these issues in mind, Ms. Elliott said she is committed to welcoming anyone who wants to lend a hand with an aim of securing victory this June.

"I think the most important thing for everyone at the end of the day is to win," she noted. "I think it is fair to say that across the province people want change. We all know that we need to work together in order to make that happen. What I plan to do is welcome anyone who wants to come and help on the campaign. I see this as the start of a new day and we all have an opportunity to be a part of this going forward, and I am looking forward to working with anyone who wants to come forward to do that."

Once confirmed, Ms. Elliott will face off against incumbent Liberal MPP Chris Ballard, who currently serves as Minister of the Environment and Climate Change, and NDP and Green candidates yet to be determined.

They will vie for votes in Newmarket-Aurora, which encompasses the Town of Newmarket as well as parts of Aurora on the north side of Wellington Street.

Voters on the south side of Wellington will vote in the newly-created Provincial riding of Aurora-Oak Ridge-Richmond Hill. There, the Ontario Liberal banner will be carried by Naheed Yaqubian while the PCs will be represented by Michael Parsa, who endorsed Ms. Elliott's leadership bid.

CDS presents 'The Grunch'

"The Grunch: A New Children's Musical" will be performed at The Country Day School in King, April 19, 20 and 21.

Inspired by "The Grinch Who Stole Christmas," The Grunch tells the story of Rudy Grunch, a grumpy 6th Grader who always feels like an outsider. But will the spirit of theatre prevail? Come find out!

Performances take place April 19 and 20 at 7 p.m. and April 21 at 1 p.m. Tickets are $15 each and available at www.cds.on.ca/tickets

Express forward Byfield first in OHL selection draft

By Jake Courtepatte

Early, and often.

The York-Simcoe Express moniker was on the lips of many of the general managers at Saturday's OHL priority selection draft, where for the first time ever two members of the AAA organization went back-to-back in the first two selections.

Quinton Byfield, tabbed as a consensus first overall pick even before the midpoint of the 2017-18 season, was named the winner of the Jack Ferguson Trophy as the top choice by the Sudbury Wolves.

The six-foot-four, 200-pound centreman has gained a reputation as the right combination of speed and skill, captaining the Minor Midget Express to an OHL Cup in March while leading the team in scoring with 92 points.

Wolves General Manager Rob Papeineau called selecting Byfield "a great thing for the Sudbury Wolves and our city," in a statement.

"For him to commit to the Sudbury Wolves and the OHL is tremendous for our hockey team and for our fans. He is a special player who is equally as impressive off the ice as he is on it. We are very happy and excited that he will be in the lineup and part of our community this upcoming season."

A hockey town through and through, Sudbury hosted Byfield and his family one day prior to the draft, leaving no surprise as to who they would choose with the prized pick.

"It was a great experience, I met a lot of people there, it's a great fan base," said Byfield. "Overall, I think it's going to be a great fit for me."

He called walking around the Wolves Sudbury Community Arena "a surreal feeling."

"It's an old barn, there are a lot of great memories there ... it's going to be a great place."

The 15-year-old St. Max Kolbe student added 12 points in the Express' playoff run, cementing his position atop the OHL's most wanted list.

"There were a lot of ups and downs," said Byfield, reflecting on the Minor Midget season. "But we finished strong, won a few tournaments ... all in all I think it was a great season."

Humbled by the experience, he gives credit to his parents for helping him

Quinton Byfield, winner of the Jack Ferguson Trophy, was the top choice by the Sudbury Wolves in the OHL priority selection draft.

King's Carcillo joins concussion lawsuit

By Jake Courtepatte

With a nickname like "Car Bomb," it's hard not to be associated with a hard-headed, tough guy persona.

Yet it is that style of play that has plagued King City native Dan Carcillo since the end of his playing days in 2015, continuing to deal with post-concussion syndrome and mental health issues.

In an open letter for the Players Tribune, Carcillo stated upon his retirement: "My mission is to help guys who are dealing with anxiety, depression, and uncertainty about their future. Not down the line, not next week, but right now."

Creating a non-profit organization called "Chapter 5" dedicated to his longtime friend and teammate Steve Montador who had died just a few months prior, Carcillo is now taking it one step further by joining the landmark concussion lawsuit against the NHL.

Notoriously outspoken against concussions and head injuries, it was just a matter of time before Carcillo joined the campaign, one four years in the making and recently beginning to pick up steam.

"I'm not a bitter guy looking to hurt the NHL," Carcillo told TSN's Rick Westhead. "I'm not out for money."

"I'll donate anything I get to research. I just want to put pressure on the NHL and educate and advocate for guys."

A list consisting of just 10 names of former NHLers in its infancy, the players involved in the lawsuit has now grown to over one-hundred, most playing the type of enforcing game that was employed by Carcillo.

A point-a-game player in his junior days, it was his ability to knock guys around that translated to the NHL level.

"Some of the onus for sure is on players," added Carcillo. "These are our bodies. But everyone is scared to say anything."

"You might not get another NHL contract. So we say 'yes' all the time and act like good little boys."

Carcillo managed two Stanley Cup rings in his brief NHL career, bringing hockey's most coveted prize to the King City Community Centre in 2013 before earning a second ring in 2015.

He began his junior career with the Aurora Panthers in 2001, before moving to major junior and eventually cracking an NHL roster in 2006 with the Phoenix Coyotes. He also suited up for the Philadelphia Flyers, Los Angeles Kings, New York Rangers, and the Blackhawks.

He earned 100 points in just over 400 games played in the NHL, while racking up a whopping 1,233 penalty minutes.

reach the next step in achieving his hockey goals.

"Definitely my mom, she's always making me food, getting me to the rink on time, waking up early ... just always there for me."

With his eyes remaining on the online board after the first selection, Byfield saw Express teammate Evan Vierling go second overall to the Flint Firebirds, a first for the Express organization.

The centreman was second in scoring behind Byfield on the Express this season, putting up 63 points in 33 games.

"Quinton and Evan got stronger and stronger as the season progressed and they are very deserving of this honour," said Minor Midget head coach Ilir

Mehmeti. "They are everything that an OHL team would want on draft day: unselfish, always looking to get better and they always step up in the big moments."

"We are all very proud of their accomplishments and wish them every success as they move on to the next step in their careers."

Cameron Butler and Ty Collins, both Express right wingers, were each taken in the second round of the draft by the Peterborough Petes and Guelph Storm respectively.

Defenceman Jack Bar was taken in the third round by the Petes, while fellow D-man Ian Lemieux rounded out the Express draftees as a sixth round pick of the Saginaw Spirit.

The 1981 Lions varsity hockey team was the first to reach the OFSAA championships for King City.

King City hockey success recalls its nostalgic past

By Jake Courtepatte

Success in sport always has a penchant to bring up the past.

With this year's King City Lions varsity boys hockey team taking home the silver at the OFSAA championships, the most decorated season the program has ever seen, those long-time King residents and KCSS alumni may fondly remember the spring of 1981, when the Lions first put the King high school hockey on the map by reaching the provincial championship.

A team consisting of Glen Mullings, Steve Nolan, Peter McNamara, John Marshall, Paul Saunders, Drew Morning, Wayne Hislop, Glen Manson, John Campbell, Kent Atkins, Jeff Poulis, James Cummings, Graham Jones, Dave McQuarrie, Gerry Boccia, Steve Kucopy, Chris Spick, Ron Van Noort, and Peter Bredehoeft made up the roster in that 1981 season, years before the creation of the York Region Athletic Association's hockey branch.

"There was no York Region hockey league in the Dark Ages," recalls Tom Ellison jokingly, the coach of the 1981 team and a teacher at KCSS for 40 years.

With little competition in the area, the King team instead ran a program with a school in Philadelphia called Council Rock, playing a four game series at each of the school's home rinks.

King proved their worth among the top Ontario squads by besting their American neighbours in both sets of the home-and-home.

"We thought, what the heck, why not keep this going and see how we do at OFSAA if they will let us in," said Ellison.

The only way to challenge for OFSAA in 1981 was to compete in the Georgian Bay championship, facing the top team from the Georgian Bay league in Amalguin H.S. of Haliburton as well as the independent school champion St. Andrew's College.

A win over Amalguin in game one set up a meeting with SAC, where a goalie pull late in the game created the winning goal to send King to OFSAA.

A yearly tradition since 1948, the OFSSA championships only split between an A/AA and a AAA/AAAA championship system in 2001. Playing against the best-of-the-best at any division in 1981, the Lions lost two straight in the tournament in Peterborough, ending their stellar season.

"Our OFSAA experience was not nearly as dramatic as (the game against St. Andrew's)," said Ellison.

"We lost two straight and came home realizing that we weren't as good as we thought we were, although the kids had stayed up late and celebrated their being there and were better than a lot of teams in Peterborough," he said, jokingly adding that maybe the coach should have been "more of a disciplinarian."

Ellison notes that a handful of players from that team still live in the area, and while the OFSAA championship may have been the pinnacle of most of the team's hockey careers, player Jeff Poulis recently earned a championship of his own: as a set dresser for the Oscar-winning team on "The Shape of Water."

Arthritis:

New Approach
 Delivers
 Remarkable Results

If you suffer from Arthritis you need to be aware of effective advancements that can eliminate years of pain, suffering, immobility and frustration.

You may have told your doctor you suffer with one or more of the following: sore, stiff knees, painful achy hips, low back pain, mid back pain, neck stiffness or pain, hand stiffness, shoulder pain or elbow pain.

You may find that your pain or stiffness affects your work, housekeeping, leisure activities, exercise, sports or other activities. You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your pain. But you find the pain keeps returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of pain pills or anti-inflammatory drugs that include damage to the liver, kidneys and gut.

There is a new, natural, safe and highly effective approach that has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically: Laser therapy uses light to favor and accelerate the body's natural healing processes. The innovative Multiwave Locked System (MLS) Laser produces a safe, efficient and simultaneous effect on pain, inflammation, swelling and water retention, exceeding the limits of traditional LLLT (Low power) and concerns of HP (High power) laser therapy.

What does this mean for you?

Our patients have reported a 90-95% relief of their symptoms, more mobility, increased flexibility and vastly improved function!

It is the very latest in medical technology, with years of clinical studies supporting its safety and efficacy and we are very proud to offer our patients effective solutions to their recent or chronic conditions.

"This new, natural, safe and highly effective approach has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically".

Have your say on improved parking in villages

A Core Areas Parking Study was launched in order to better understand existing parking challenges in the village cores of King City, Nobleton and Schomberg and look for solutions.

"Our village cores are a vital part of the local economy, offering residents the opportunity to shop locally," said Mayor Steve Pellegrini. "We want to better understand the parking situation and come up with solutions to help the village cores thrive and businesses prosper. That's why we need feedback from residents and businesses. We've made providing this information easy with a short survey and an easy-to-use map."

By visiting caparkingstudy.king.ca, people can take a short survey and pin comments on a crowdsourcing map.

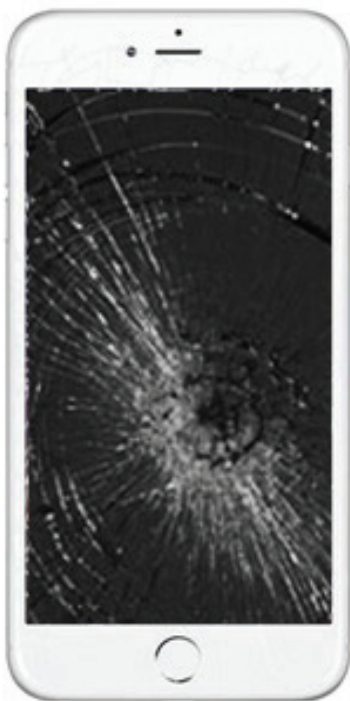

Parking supply and demand surveys were also conducted in March. Public information centres will be held in King City, Nobleton and Schomberg in early June.

King City United
By Sheryl Sinka

This past Sunday we were reminded that Jesus made the ultimate expression of love and sacrifice when he gave his life for us that we may receive salvation through his death and resurrection. Thomas "the twin" has received the frequent reference as being doubting Thomas, referring to his need for proof of the validity of the resurrection. Let the reassurance of Thomas be our reassurance and let us be secure in the knowledge that our questions and doubts are part of our growth in faith, not to be concealed but to be explored.

For our enjoyment, The Bell Choir, led by Sandra Kirby, rang an inspiring rendition of "He Is Risen, Hallelujah!" The Bell choir is always looking for new members to ring. If you are interested please contact the church office at 905-833-5181 for information.

Come out on Sunday mornings at 10 a.m. to share in worship and for the children, there is a Sunday school running concurrently.

On Friday, join us for a cup of coffee or tea and some conversation at the Sunset Grill at 10 a.m. (1700 King Rd.).

King Bible Church

We welcome you to join us for worship service on April 15 as Pastor Mark Nowell will be continuing our sermon series on temptation; "Pause" with "Soul Provider."

Our children's program is staffed by screened volunteers who care about your kids! The children in JK-Grade 8 will be in the service for the beginning until they are invited to go downstairs.

If you have children aged 0-3 then we invite you to bring them to our beautiful and safe nursery facilities which are located on the lower level.

Vacation Bible School 2018. We invite your kids to a super week at "Hero Central" where they will discover the qualities that will make them truly heroic in God!

VBS will be the week of August 13-17. Morning only program will be from 9-12 ($20 per child) and full day option with afternoon electives will be from 9-4 ($75 per child). Payment can be made by mailing a cheque or stopping by the King Bible Church Office (Tuesday to Thursday from 9:30-3). You can mail or email your registration form or bring it by the office.

Space is limited for the full day option so please register early to reserve your spot. Please indicate on the registration form morning only or full day.

We welcome children who have completed JK through Grade 7 (2017-2018). We look forward to another fun week with your children!

St. Andrew's
By Kathy Patterson

Lynn Vissers will be leading us in Worship this Sunday. The following Sunday we welcome back Alison Agnew to our pulpit. Alison grew up in King City, was an Elder at St. Andrew's and also a Convenor of our Christian Education Committee. On April 29 we look forward to having a joint service with the HanWool Youth and their leader, Soong Huh who will be preaching.

Mark your calendars! Wednesday, April 25. The Presbytery of Barrie, along with Tending the Sacred, are sponsoring a presentation by Stephen Lewis who will be speaking on AIDS in Africa and Beyond. It will be at 7 p.m. in Orillia at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. For more information and tickets ($15) call 705-325-5183 x1.

Would you like to pray with someone? God has promised to hear and to answer our prayers. He also has promised never to leave us! Check out these Bible verses: Jeremiah 33:3, Psalm 17:6, Joshua 1:5, Hebrews 13:5. With the arrival of spring, let Kathy Patterson know if you're up for a Prayer Walk. (905-833-0391).

Should you have pastoral care needs please contact Lynn Vissers, our Director of Congregational Ministries at the office or at 905-833-5762.

A2J will be getting together on of the 2nd and 4th Fridays of the month. It's not too late to join. Contact the church office at 905-859-0843 for more information.

A LifeConnect Group for men will study Growing In Christ from the Navigators for five weeks beginning Thursday, April 5 at 7:30 in the pink room at the church. It is not too late to join us. Call the church at 905-859-0843 if you would like more information.

Join us Sunday, April 15 at 10 a.m. as Jeff has titled his message "What Matters To Us: A discussion on our core values," based on Acts. 2.42-47. Part 2 of this message to be continued the following Sunday.

This would be a great time to come out and check what we are all about. Child care (for children 3 years of age and younger) is provided during the gathering. Our KidzKconnection and Next-Step programs (for children ages 4 to 11) take place at the same time. Following the service we have a great time catching up with each other over coffee and goodies.

Jeff's messages are posted at www.passionatelyhis.com each week. They are also on Facebook Live and are available on the church's Facebook page (@stpaulsnobleton) for viewing.

For more information about ANY of our activities or events, please contact the church office or visit our website at www.stpaulsnobleton.ca

Nobleton United Church By Nancy Hopkinson

On Sunday, April 15, the service will be a version of Messy Church. The theme will be "Spring Festivals," which will include the "Feast of Unleavened Bread" (Passover) and the Easter celebration. The first half will be a more traditional service based on this theme (with lively hymns, 2 stories and an offering) then the second half will be crafts and decorating cookies downstairs for everyone, not just the children. The crafts will all be related to the theme. Our lunch will have raw veggies with dip, fresh fruit, and the rest will depend on the weather! Encourage your children and grandchildren to come for this family friendly service.

Schomberg United is celebrating its 170th anniversary at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday April 22 at St. Mary Magdalene Church, 116 Church St. The Joyful Spirits will be singing "Imagine" and "Bridge Over Troubled Water." There will be no service at Nobleton United that day.

On Wednesday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m., we are having our popular Roast Beef Dinner and a choice of homemade pie slices. You can have more than one piece of pie. The cost is $22 per adult, children under 5 are free, and children 5-12 are $10. There will be door prizes. This is a joyous community event and it sells out every year. Do not be disappointed. Call Helen Bible at 905-859-3924 to reserve your seats. There are white table cloths and flowers and plenty of time to talk to friends and neighbours. It is a wonderful community event.

We are happy to announce that the new chair of our board is Lynda Rogers. Lynda was chair many years ago and has agreed to take on this responsibility. The vice-chair is Gino DiFebo, who has agreed to become the chair in two years. The congregation also approved the branding logo of a red heart with the shape of the front of our church in white on the right side of the heart, to symbolize "inclusive faith, open hearts." The red colour is similar to the red brick of our building.

Minister Carol-Ann Chapman is organizing with Rev. Sheilagh Ashworth, the Anglican minister in Schomberg and Kettleby, to have a field trip on Friday, June 1 to L'Arche Daybreak in Richmond Hill. L'Arche is a non-denominational, interfaith community that welcomes people from all spiritual traditions, men and women with intellectual disabilities and the assistants who live, work and learn with them. The plan is that a group of people would eat dinner together and then join the service at Dayspring Chapel with the L'Arche people. If you would like to be part of this group, please speak to Carol-Ann.

If you would like to meet our minister casually, come to Nobleton's Tim Hortons on Wednesday mid-morning. She plans to be there, if she is not needed elsewhere.

Anglican Parish By John Arnott

This past Sunday, April 8 "Rursus (gratias tibi quia crucem), "Once Again (thank you for the Cross)," was sung as the Easter gradual hymn accompanied by organist Elly Hollander; that brought parish priest Sheilagh Ashford down the chancel stairs (gradus) behind the crucifer carrying the processional cross into the nave. She shared the Gospel with the congregation and took them back up these stairs into the chancel and sanctuary area after the reading. This upbeat hymn that encourages hand clapping written by English Anglican Matt Redman, author of many contemporary religious songs, will serve as the gradual hymn throughout the Easter season which in the church year runs until May 19.

White symbolizing purity, peace and love the liturgical colour for all the church's major celebrations will be much in evidence and reflected in the church hangings, the covers for the Communion vessels and the priest's robe especially the stole (the long knee length scarf like vestment worn around the neck during this time).

The whole parish of Lloydtown (St. Alban's Anglican community in Nobleton, Christ Church, Kettleby and St. Mary Magdalene's, Schomberg) is looking forward to celebrations planned to mark our 175th anniversary (1843-2018).

Established in mid-1800s the parish was centred on Lloydtown where the original 1843 St. Mary Magdalene's stood but by the late 1800s the Anglican communities in Nobleton and the Pottageville-Kettleby areas and grown to the extent that holding services in private homes or barns was no longer feasible. Thus under the guidance of the young enthusiastic Father Ebenezer Sibbald, 2 new churches were built - St. Alban's (now closed) in Nobleton in 1889 and Christ Church, Kettleby in 1891.

Today Holy Communion services are held every Sunday morning in Christ Church, Kettleby on Kettleby Rd. mid way between Jane and Keele Sts. in 1891. at 9:30 am and in St. Mary Magdalene's now at 116 Church St. Schomberg at 11:15 am.

On April 14 and 15, a group of parishioners will attend a "Revive Retreat" at the Convent of the Sisters of St John the Divine on Cummer Ave. Toronto (Newtonbrook-North York). This retreat will be continued and shared with others on 6 following Tuesday nights at St. Mary Magdalene's starting at 7 p.m.

As well Tuesday early morning Lauds 6:30 until 7 a.m. affectionately dubbed the dawn-yawn services continue at St Mary Magdalene's.
