King okays ground lease for recreation complex

By Mark Pavilons

King Township has officially become a tenant on 25 acres of land at Seneca College, King Campus. The parcel will be home to the new multi-purpose recreation facility.

Council approved the ground lease for the project, situated on lands at the northwest corner of Dufferin Street and the 15th Sideroad.

The 60-year lease requires payment of $1 per year. The Township will also waive all payments associated with the sanitary sewage connection capital charge.

The Township is fully responsible for the construction of the facilities and will also be solely responsible for the operation of the centre.

The Township will maintain all risks insurance and will fully indemnify Seneca in the event of any claims arising out of the construction and use of the

At this point, there is nothing specific in the agreement about renewing the al of the facilities, including the architectural design, access to the site and parking arrangements. Seneca staff will participate with Township staff at key points through the design process.

"... the strategic collaboration with Seneca represents a significant opportunity to continue to support learning and community development," said CAO Susan Plamondon in her report.

"This will be an incredible partnership," said Mayor Steve Pellegrini.

Council also awarded the contract for architectural and engineering services for the recreation complex, to MacLennan Jaukalns Miller Architects Ltd. The Township will pay just over $2 million for the engineering elements of the project. Staff admitted this is almost double than anticipated, but it is "important to note that the design and engineering service component of the project budget has been identified as cost drivers from an overall budget perspective ..."

"Although the architectural and engineering services component of the project budget exceed the initial budget estimate for this element, staff has reviewed the overall project program and associated sources of funding, with a plan to incorporate the revised project budget into the 2019-2022 capital plan, without a need to incorporate incremental financial pressures from tax supported sources."

The project will be funded through a combination of tax supported capital contributions, proceeds from the may-

Seneca will also have a final approv- or's annual golf tournament, capital facility contributions from developers and development charges.

It's estimated the consulting services will be completed within the next year.

MJMA demonstrated extensive experience designing facilities similar to this one, and received the highest overall score during the RFP process.

Council approves lease for York Regional Police sub-station

By Mark Pavilons

Help will soon be closer than you think.

King council approved a lease with York Regional Police, for the use of some 3,000 square feet of office space in the new municipal complex.

The lease is for 20 years and includes the offices at the northwest corner of the building, along with eight designated parking spaces on the west side of the building. YRP will pay $25,500 annually for the space, as well as its proportionate share of operating costs, paid monthly. YRP will also pay amortization or depreciation costs, at $4.76 per square foot, per year. The lease also includes provisions for insurance obligations and termination. Staff noted the technical terms and conditions of the lease have already been negotiated and both parties are satisfied. The approval of the lease also results in a capital contribution to the cost of the new municipal centre, for $1 million. Mayor Steve Pellegrini said having the substation will make the new offices a true community hub.

Understanding our ever-changing selves

Who am I?

On the surface, this seems to be the simplest of questions.

Really? I think it's the most difficult to answer. When I introduce myself at functions and fundraisers, I offer my name and the fact I'm the editor of the King Weekly Sentinel. But that's not who I am. That's what I do.

A more appropriate introduction would be, "hello, I'm Mark and I'm a compassionate deep thinker with certain academic skills, yet I suffer from a lack of self-esteem and I find I'm always searching for answers. I do my best and most of the time, I manage to keep my head above water. And you?"

Ya, a bit of a mouthful, I agree. And perhaps a bit too revealing.

I don't think we pay enough attention to our inner selves, and exactly who we are. Of course, our identity and definition of "self" isn't permanent. Rather, it's constantly changing, evolving. Our "self" is fluid and reacts to external experiences and environmental factors. You could say we change daily in response to the world around us.

"The ultimate mystery is one's own self," Sammy Davis, Jr. once said. How true it is.

Is it too difficult to delve deep into the life roles. recesses of our minds?

"Every one rushes elsewhere and into the future, because no one wants to face one's own inner self," said Michel de Montaigne.

Our "self" is defined by features such as personality, skills and abilities, occupation and hobbies, as well as physical characteristics For psychologists, these are assessed and applied to "self-schemas," which are ideas of oneself in a particular dimension. A collection of self-schemas make up one's overall self-concept.

Self-concept, strictly defined, is the totality of our beliefs, preferences, opinions and attitudes organized in a systematic manner, towards our personal existence. Simply put, it is how we think of ourselves and how we should think, behave and act out our various Confused? To me, this sounds very methodical, logical and compartmentalized. But who thinks that way? We are emotional creatures with many flaws, so nothing in our lives is that orderly.

Each of us have different personality traits, abilities, preferences and idiosyncracies. We often don't really understand what's going on inside of us. And we generally don't spend a lot of time analyzing ourselves. That job is for our

We may not be able to exactly explain why we think this way, or why we be-who is that? Humility, Charles Spurgeon once observed, "is to make a right estimate of

In my mind, I liken this whole thing to a juggler, tossing around a dozen or so balls in the air, each with its own characteristic – funny, intelligent, picky, critical, organized, silly ... They fly around somewhat willy nilly, while we, as the juggler, try desperately to keep them in some sort of synchronicity. If we drop a ball here and there, our other traits will nected beings, or just a collection of fill in the gap and we continue on.

As we investigate who we are, we come up with descriptive qualities and we are unable to give a objective things we show to others.

And, it's not only subjective, it's all about perception. Our self-concept is a mental picture of who we are. We often concentrate on the good qualities – "I'm that bobs around every day, soaking up loyal, considerate" and "pay attention to detail."

These are all part of the really, really big puzzle known as ourselves.

My puzzle has more blue and white sky than it should. Mine has a few pieces missing. Others just don't fit, no matter which way you flip them around. A Reiki Master told me I had great love inside, as well as great sorrow. How's that for an inner conflict?

My wife often mentions that I believe something? Sometimes, when my wife one is perfect, and I am fully aware of asks me why I did something and why my faults. I legitimize and rationalize I did it in a particular way, I shrug my the things I do, believing they are right shoulders. I act, based on all the infor- and true. But again, it's totally subjecmation and personality traits I have at tive. Others may see it in a totally different light.

Some of us compare ourselves to our self-image which is nothing like reality.

Some believe the actual self is our It's just who we are. But again, just soul, and our body is only a mechanism to experience the karma of life. Our soul/self is our incorporeal essence that includes all of our abilities - reason, character, feeling, consciousness, memory, perception, thinking.

But again, a neurologist could likely point out each part of the brain, and the electric current responsible for each of these things. With a poke here or a prod there, a surgeon can drastically alter who we are.

So are we spiritual, universally conpulses, signals and hydraulic fluids?

Maybe we're too close to the situation opinion. Perhaps we should be asking others: "what do I mean to you?" Maybe then we will get an idea of who we are.

We're like a really annoying sponge this attitude and that insight. We absorb information, make choices and form opinions. We laugh, cry, pout, churn and smile politely.

Maybe the best way to approach our inner selves is to think of baking that blue ribbon pie. Use the ingredients that add to the whole, and ignore those that just don't work. Try new methods. Fill our pie with the best stuffing possible, and share the love!

That, or, just eat it and move on!

Great time to be a King resident!

We are living in interesting, and spectacular times!

As the 2018-2022 council term dashes out of the starting gate, there are amazing things on the horizon for residents.

The fabulous new municipal centre and town hall has just opened its doors. It really is something to be proud of and a great deal of thought and innovation went into this building to make it the new hub of the community.

King will enjoy an increased police presence, thanks to a deal with York Regional Police to use a portion of the new town hall. Not only will this add to improved local response times, the comfort factor and peace of mind is soothing.

We will see the construction and completion of the new, modern library and seniors' centre in King City. Again, thanks to forward-thinking councillors and staff, we will have another community gem that will provide generations of residents with the services they need.

Another exciting project is the new recreational complex at Seneca College, King Campus. This state-of-the-art facility will serve King residents for generations.

Sure, all of these projects come with hefty price tags. But King has always been frugal, innovative and savvy. By leveraging partnerships, benefitting from development charges, and perfect timing, the Township has managed all of these literally on a shoestring budget.

Of course, the new council will have to deal with some challenges, too, such as coping with the influx of development in and around King City; freeing up employment lands; dealing with traffic, and more.

There will be a learning curve for two new councillors, but we're sure the veterans, and staff, will help them along the way. Also, eagerness goes a really long way in serving your community!

King may not be a paradise, but there are a lot of reasons to smile.

I also want to thank all those who helped me win in a variety of ways: erecting and collecting signs, distributing flyers, promoting me to their friends and neighbours, financial donations, hosting events, accompanying me as I door knocked. It's that spirit which kept me energized.

Guide Light makes seconds count in an emergency

By Mark Pavilons

We all know that our lives can change in an instant.

Just ask anyone who's been in a car accident, or suffered a stroke.

In an emergency, every second counts. It not only means the difference between life and death, but also between recovery and a lifetime of suffering.

According to the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Canada, stroke is a medical emergency. The faster someone gets medical help, the better their chances of a full recovery. Knowing the signs and calling 9-1-1 can make the difference between life and death, or between full recovery and lasting disability.

A simple device, used by King Fire & Emergency Services, makes every second count in an emergency.

Guide Light, the brainchild of GTA inventor Tony Nowzari, has already been installed in many King homes and its response has been amazing.

Nowzari, president and founder of Safety Aid, said the light is not only for first responders, but neighbours as well. If an emergency occurs and the victim cannot call 9-1-1 but manages to activate the light, neighbours can still respond. The Experience You Deserve

Mayor Steve Pellegrini, Grazyna Tonkiel, Sandra Longo, King-Vaughan MP Deb Schulte celebrate the successful Navy Street Charity fundraiser.

Navy Street Charity holds its first event at Pine Farms Orchard

Charity was born from a lifetime of personal experiences navigating a world full of barriers for individuals with disabilities. The charity's founder Sandra Longo has an intimate familiarity with caring for loved ones with mobility issues.

When a serious car accident left Sandra trapped in a submerged vehicle, in the middle of winter, she marvelled at the absurdity of living a life full of pointless struggle. At that moment Sandra realized she was put on this Earth to accomplish something more. At that moment, she knew that if she survived her life had to hold a higher purpose.

When she was rescued and needed a place to heal she ended up serving apples and cider at Pine Farms Orchard, located in King, just north of her busy life and telecom career in neighbouring Woodbridge. That orchard was where the idea of Navy Street was born and why she selected it as the venue for its first fundraising event, "its unofficial launch party," as Sandra puts it. For her, Navy Street Charity is a way to bring purpose to the experiences that defined her life up to now. Though not officially launched until that night, Sandra's efforts have yielded fruit, donating several ramps to families in need and garnering recognition through Women of Influence – Toronto Non-For-Profit Leader 2017.

According to Statistics Canada roughly 12% of people over the age of 15, living within our communities, are struggling with mobility issues. Based on her personal experiences with close family members, Sandra Longo knows how much a simple lightweight, portable wheelchair ramp can improve the lives of people struggling with mobility. The charity's mission is to deliver this simple and effective solution to any Ontario resident in need.

On Oct. 20, Navy Street held a soft launch at Pine Farms Orchard, raising $10,000 thanks to event ticket sales, generous donations and sponsors such as Signature Lifestyle Communities and Nature's Emporium.

The evening was MC'd by celebrated radio show host Drew Marshall and featured special guest Unstoppable Tracy, motivational speaker, author, decorated athlete and four-time amputee. The Established in 2016, Navy Street guests included numerous prominent members of the community, celebrated artists and local dignitaries. By all accounts, the event, meticulously planned and executed with the help of Sandra's dedicated team of volunteers and board of directors, was a terrific success.

> "I was touched by how many people approached me and told me they felt it was a truly inspirational and moving evening," Longo said.

> Between Unstoppable Tracy and Mary Longo, guests got to hear about two ends of the disability spectrum.

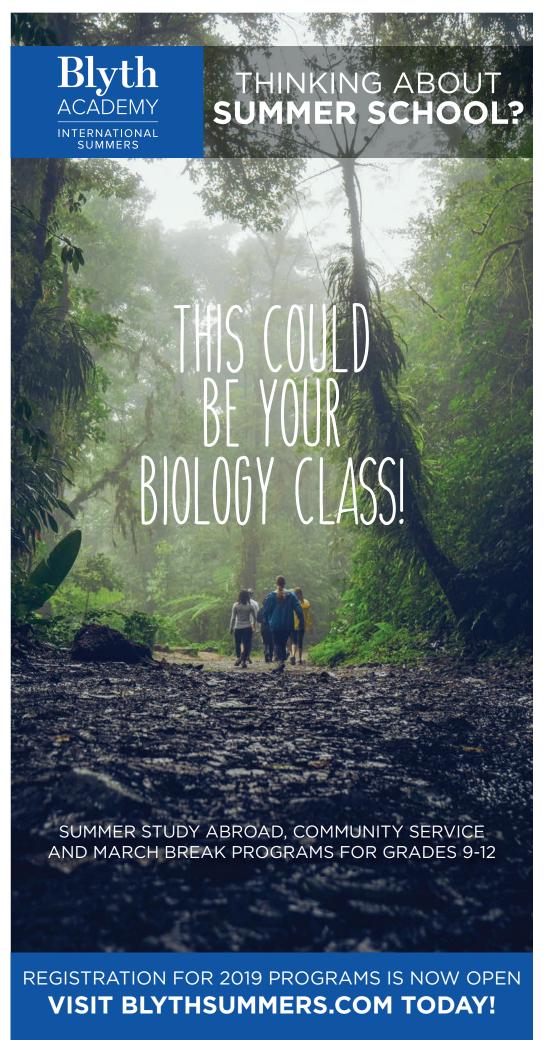

> "When my mother took the floor and talked about how, unlike Tracy, she wasn't born with a disability and what it was like to, in the same instant, lose her mobility and her sense of self. My mother used to live a full and vibrant life, completely immersed in social activities. When she suddenly developed paraplegia, the invitations stopped coming. She felt that she had suddenly become invisible; there wasn't a dry eye in the house. People approached me and said: 'I never knew! I'm so sorry!""

> Navy Street Charity aspires to double the number of ramps donated in the coming year. To help get there, Sandra and her team are planning something special for the fall of 2019. Based on the great job the Navy Street Team did on their Oct. 20 event, the Navy Street Charity 2019 Fall Gala promises to be an event not to be missed. To learn more about Navy Street Charity, how you can get involved, or to donate please visit navystreet.org.

Teen Challenge Women's Centre hosts open house, marks opening

By Anna Cianni

Teen Challenge Ontario hosted an open house on Sept. 29 to celebrate the dedication of a newly renovated space. Teen Challenge is a local women's centre that supports females as they recover from addiction to drugs or alcohol. This year they are celebrating their 10th anniversary.

The faith-based centre can house up to 20 people, but there was limited space for the residents. So renovations began on "The Barn" and now the big, shiny, red barn that juts out from the middle of a clearing has been completely transformed. It has become a comfortable, modern place to worship and study. Inside, there's two cozy floors of student space with desks, tables, chairs, and a chapel.

The barn offers much-needed functional space for the women who want to take control of their lives. Women battling life-controlling addictions are welcomed into the spiritual place, where they spend 12 months living at the centre. During their time there. the students study, pray, and learn how to recover. After a year, they graduate from the program, move out, and get a fresh start on life.

However, not all the women who graduate end up leaving Teen Challenge. Julie Bouman graduated from the program two years ago, but after trying to go back to her old job, she realized it wasn't what she was meant to do. Her purpose was to help change people's lives, the same way the staff at Teen Challenge had helped her.

"They saved my life. I don't know where I'd be without them, I was a mess," said Bouman, who is now a development team leader at Teen Challenge. She helps other women overcome substance addictions so one day they can lead full, productive lives too.

Just like Bouman, you too can save lives! One way to help someone you know who is suffering from substance abuse is to refer them to a rehabilitation centre. You can also donate to recovery programs, or even sponsor someone. Sponsoring a survivor is a great way to

Specialty shopping returns to Schomberg's Main Street

Just in time for the festive shopping tionship with nature and what we are season, there is a new pop-up art gallery on Main Street.

Eleven artists have partnered to establish The Olde Mill Art Gallery and Shoppe, a cooperative gallery which opens on Thursday, Nov. 8. The gallery will be open Thursdays through Sundays, noon to 6 p.m.

The art gallery features an eclectic assortment of art, including acrylic, watercolour and oil paintings, creations crafted from wood, quilting and hand woven items, all beautifully displayed within the historic ambiance of the Old Feed Mill.

Inspiration features largely in this gallery. Shoppers will find prints and watercolours that challenge our reladoing to our planet, wooden creations that reveal the complexities of that medium, and even a tribute to the special role that vehicles play in our lives.

The 11 artists are Andrea End, Bill Lunshof, Dan Glassco, George Burt, Inge Dam, Karen Bowen, Karen Hunter, Mary Morganelli, Marianne Broome, Michelle Hudson, and Patricia Earl.

The Gallery could not have come at a more opportune time. King Township has just completed Phase 3 of a Downtown Revitalization Strategy for Main Street. Not surprisingly, the project has identified the demand for more specialty shopping on Main Street. This initiative is the very first of Phase 4 of the Revitalization Strategy- where it goes into implementation.

"There is an extraordinary economic opportunity for destination retail on Main Street," commented Jamie Smyth, Economic Development Officer. "The population of the Schomberg trade area is over 204,000 people, and they spend $6.7 million per year after income tax. They are looking for a destination with specialty shopping, and Main Street is the perfect location to provide it."

To support the launch of the art gallery, and as part of the implementation of the Main Street Revitalization project, King Township has built a gallery website within www.experienceking. ca, has provided a complimentary sign and will be actively engaged in marketing support, including Facebook adver-

Arts Society King is also helping to promote the gallery, as all 11 artists are members.

The gallery is slated to stay open until Dec. 10, but already some of the artists are considering extending their

"The combined results of us all working together is so much more effective than when we work alone," said Patricia Earl, one of the exhibiting artists. "We welcome any artist who is interested in exhibiting their work for future pop up art galleries in Schomberg to consider joining us."

CDS presents The Diary of Anne Frank

This year's Grades 7-9 theatrical production promises to be an extraordinary experience for cast, crew and audience members alike as The Country Day School presents the stage adaptation of The Diary of Anne Frank.

Anne Frank had just celebrated her 13th birthday when she went into hiding with her family to avoid Nazi persecution. With her, Anne took her most prized gift, a red-plaid diary. Over the two years she spent in hiding, from her Grade 7 to August of her 9th Grade year, Anne recorded moments and observations in her diary that would later challenge, amuse, sadden and inspire millions of readers throughout the world. While Anne physically could not withstand the disease and exhaustion that would consume her in Bergen-Belsen just weeks before the camp was liberated, her spirit, preserved in her diary, could not be extinguished.

It is hard to imagine a more fitting way to honour Anne's continuing impact than by having students her age perform her story.

Officials, candidates offer post-election comments

By Mark Pavilons

The decision-makers for King Township are poised to usher in a new term of council.

Several candidates and politicians shared some post-election reflections.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini is excited to work with this "very unique council," with two young representatives. He's very optimistic and looks forward to working with his council colleagues.

King-Vaughan MPP Stephen Lecce said he looks forward to continuing his relationship with both Mayor Pellegrini and Vaughan Mayor Maurizio Bevilacqua, and all elected representatives "in our community to advance our shared priorities – affordability, better jobs, reduced gridlock, and the delivery of the Vaughan Hospital and quality healthcare. I express my gratitude to all candidates who put their name forward to run in this election and strengthen our democracy."

Ward 5 candidate Rob Payne, a former King councillor, said he was very proud of his campaign and very much appreciates the tremendous support from supporters and volunteers.

"We knocked on all 1,300 doors in Ward 5 and we had very engaging conversations at the door. We listened to their concerns regarding the lack of high speed internet in the rural areas, increased traffic and speeding in our neighbourhoods and on regional roads, safety and policing concerns particularly in our new neighbourhoods and feedback on property taxes and the impact of reassessment. We strived to inspire the community to get involved and participate in local government, however, we're disappointed with the voter turnout. I congratulate Debbie Schaefer and wish her all the best."

Ward 3 councillor-elect Jakob Schneider said after a very well run campaign, "I'm very please with the results. It has not just been the last few months but the last four years of hard work that have led up to this victory. With the assistance of an amazing campaign team, awesome support from friends and family, and direction from my campaign manager and veteran councillor Linda Pabst we were able to win the Ward 3 seat on council. I have big shoes to fill, as Linda was an amazing piece in the council puzzle, the last 24 consecutive years she has worked hard for the residents of Ward 3 and the township of King. And I am honoured to have the privilege to sit in her seat! Let's get to work!"

Returning Ward 2 councillor-elect David Boyd said he's thankful for the tremendous show of support from the community.

"It has been a pleasure and honour to work with council, community groups and businesses over the past four years. I am excited to continue the effort on behalf of Ward 2 residents and work diligently towards enhancing the quality of life in our villages."

Contender Sherry Draisey congratulated Boyd, adding she hopes "manages to get Laskay a walkway in this term."

"What a spectacular adventure it has been running for Ward 4 council" is how Marry Asselstine put it.

"Although I approached the task with some trepidation and a profound feeling of responsibility I never imagined that the process would give back to me in so many ways. Before I started the campaign in earnest, I spent several months meeting and talking to people and examining my strengths and weaknesses. I discovered that people had faith in me and shared my values and ideals. As I ramped up the campaign I had to set aside my comfortable introverted personality and tap into my extroverted side. Although this took a lot of emotional energy, I discovered a side of me that was more energetic, happier and had a better sense of humour. And I can tell you I needed all those attributes to lead me forward."

During her door-knocking she spoke to so many people should would otherwise never had met.

"The result is that I feel energized and empowered ... not a feeling I would have expected given the election re-Asselstine noted Bill Cober's "gentlemanly nature" contributed to a campaign process that was respectful and positive.

"I want to thank all my campaign team who worked so hard to support me. And to all those who voted for me, thank you for placing your trust in me. I am not going away. I will continue to work hard in our community as I have always done. "

Avia Eek, re-elected in Ward 6, observed that incumbents can never take getting re-elected for granted. Elections can sometimes yield interesting results, as we evidenced in some wards.

"I have been given the opportunity to continue representing our community of Ward 6 for the next four years, and I look forward to bringing the issues and concerns raised with me, as I canvassed door-to-door, to light with Staff and my council colleagues.

"We will continue to sow the seeds of success through teamwork and collaboration."

Eek extended her thanks to campaign volunteers and her husband Bill for encouraging her and working tirelessly on the campaign.

She praised her "campaign manager extraordinaire who assisted me with organizing my newspaper articles, my campaign literature, and who advised me throughout the campaign on a variety of things. A huge thank you to Luch, your experience and expertise is second to none. I am grateful for your involvement!

"I'd like to thank my volunteers Mario Leonienco and Garrett MacSweeney. Your support in this campaign was greatly appreciated! In this group of volunteers, I am also including all of the residents and business owners who contacted me for a sign on their properties. I appreciate your support and enthusiasm for getting me re-elected."

Bob McRoberts, elected as the York Region District School Board trustee, said he was humbled and grateful for the show of support by the voters in King and Aurora.

"As your new YRDSB trustee, I aim to represent you at the board table to the best of my ability. To my competitors, Ken Turriff and Peter Adams-Luchowski, I say thank you for a good, clean, friendly race. All the best to you both! Now, the work begins."

Rebellion Atom AEs invade Huntsville, win title

lion Atom AE team headed to Huntsville to participate in the Huntsville Otters Winston Watson Memorial Atom AE Classic.

Riding a four-game winning streak in the regular season, the Rebellion came out strong in their first game with a 3-0 win against the Elmvale Coyotes! Posting his first shutout of the year was Justin Guerra and leading the offence with a hat trick was Christian Toma.

Not to be outdone, Damiano Panetta followed up with a shutout of his own with a 2-0 win against the Lincoln Blades in game two Saturday morning. Luca Garcea supplied the offence this game scoring both Rebellion goals. Game three was Saturday at noon against the Avr Flames – with a win, the Rebellion would secure first place in their pool. On Olympic sized ice, the Rebellion held on to lock up first place with a 2-1 win.

In three round-robin games, the Rebellion defence made it nearly impossible for the opposing teams to enter their zone.

"Our defence played exceptionally strong and executed our primary focus for the tournament which was to hold the opposing blue line," said John Fi-

This past weekend the King Rebel- acco, head coach, King Rebellion, Atom AE. The Rebellion defence includes Paul Calleja, Marco Viola, Tyler Duggan, Owen Lewis and Brady Fiacco.

For the semi-finals, the Rebellion were now facing the Ingersoll Express with a trip to the finals on the line. It was the third game of the day for the Rebellion on the Olympic sized ice and the team had a slow start. Down 1-0 at the start of the third, the Rebellion speedster, Nolan Bindi broke in and scored top shelf to tie the game. After that, the Rebellion poured in three more goals to win the game 4-1.

"Our entire team is committed to playing a team game. It shows in their overall team defence and how well they pass the puck," added Fiacco.

Strong offensive pressure was applied all weekend by the Rebellion forwards including Peter Lakkotrypis, Dante Palermo, Nicholas Montemarano and Mateo Rojas.

In the finals, the Rebellion faced the Port Stanley Sailors who secured their spot with a convincing 7-0 win in the pool B semifinals.

first period to take a deep breath and focus on two things. One, 2-0 is the worst lead in hockey and two, they (Port Stanley) haven't seen the real Rebellion yet - so let's go get them," explained Fiacco.

From that point, the game's momentum changed. Massimo Mignosa got the Rebels on the board with a hard working wrap around goal. Luca Garcea followed that up by finishing a beautiful two-on-one to tie the game at the end of the second period. The fans were there to witness Nolan Bindi's incredible speed as he broke in and put the Rebellion ahead 3-2. Luca Garcea added one more to make it 4-2 and then the Rebellion closed the door with relentless team defence to secure the championship for King Township Minor Hockey.

Added Fiacco: "Hockey is an amazing sport that has so many ups and downs. As a coaching staff, we could not be prouder of how these boys gave it their all. To see them rush onto the ice, throwing their sticks and gloves in the air is an image we will never forget. And, when we looked in the stands and saw the tears of joy on the parents' faces, it truly was an unbelievable moment."

Villanova Knights debut on new turf

By Jake Courtepatte

Despite being on the wrong end of the scoreboard, the Villanova Knights were winning in atmosphere for the school's first ever Friday night varsity football game last week.

Hundreds of students and staff lined the sidelines for the Knights' York Region Athletic Association match-up with the Bill Crothers Colts, a brisk fall night with noisemakers and signs creating the "Friday Night Lights' vibe they were going Close until the very last down, Bill Crothers managed a couple of late touchdowns in the fourth quarter to take the game 16-1, though head coach Marcello Lio has high hopes for the future of the program that is only in its sophomore year.

"We are very young, with no Grade twelves playing," said Lio. "We hung in there and are proud of the kids."

With ground broken in 2016, the new turf field on the King City campus was opened in May of 2018 in a joint project with King United Soccer Club and the

York 9 FC starts building roster

By Jake Courtepatte

With staff signed, and kits at the ready, York Region's budding Canadian Premier League team has taken its first steps towards filling out the roster.

Players from across Canada, the United States, Mexico, Europe, and even Asia converged on the Ontario Soccer Centre for a two-day trial in Toronto recently, the fourth stop in a nationwide scouring of talent to fill out the league's seven initial rosters, including that of York 9 FC.

Head coach Jim Brennan was pleased with the talent he saw on the field.

"We were actually pretty surprised just how fit and determined that a lot of these kids were," said Brennan. "They were all ready to go, they all want to be pros. It caught us all off guard with just how good the quality was."

The first professional football league of its kind in Canada, Brennan said the unique open trials offer an opportunity for footballers who otherwise would have gone unnoticed, giving all players equal opportunity.

"With this league coming, it's creating opportunities for the Canadian kid who wants to be a professional footballer to play here in his own country in a domestic league," Brennan said.

Skip Torrie Abbotts, Carol Herzog, Jessica D'Arrigo, and Nicole Redigonda were "Halloween" ready when they brewed up a solid performance in last week's ladies League. The Witches swept to victory and now sit in 2nd spot overall in the 10-team league roster.

The Witches brew it up big in King ladies' curling action

By Shellee Morning

Some will believe that the magic in the air on Halloween is so powerful that even we warlocks have no con-

During the Tuesday Ladies League, there was definitely something spooky taking place. Every sheet in play had the "yellow" stones in complete control, and not by just a point or two, but by a very big margin. Yes, Tuesday was the day before Halloween, but the eerie and chilling air down at ice level was already present that left the divas wearing goose bumps.

Team Stronach led by Skip Kelly Stronach, accompanied by Laurel Nelson, Edith Mussato and Tannis Sherwood are undefeated after 5 games so far this season. Playing solid and in control of their game, Stronach throwing yellow stones won easily over Team Jessop. Team Gorsline, with back-to-back wins and also playing vellow stones, found the win column against Team Bones.

Skips Kay Sinclair and Diane Howard were the only team on the early draw that made their game any kind of a close match. But, the yel- needed some of her own wizardry to their final end with Sinclair adding to the board sweeping for the win.

The Witches, led by Skip Torie Abbotts and her squad came Halloween ready dressed in matching costumes. The Be-Witching 4-some brewed up a potion that left their opposition trapped in a haunted spell with no way out. Once again the yellow rock "spell" prevailed and the witches of King celebrated a broom sweeping victory.

The late draw, or in this case "The Haunting Hour," has only a few teams on the ice so the frightening silence compared to when the rink is full, brandished a creepiness of echoes one would only find in a horror film.

Sheet 3 featured Skips Morning throwing yellow and Brown throwing the red rocks, started out with caution as Morning earned singles in the first 2 ends. Brown came back with one in the 3rd, but Morning played a devilish 4th end collecting 2 more for a 4-1 lead.

During the 5th, Team Brown pulled out their magic wands delivering some chilling take-outs leaving 6 rocks for the count. With Brown taking over the lead by 7-4 Morning low stones were a collective matter in get back in the game. Total team efforts by Morning, Wilson, Russo and (spare) Gerrits, the girls were able to tie the game up with a deuce in the 6th and a steal in the 7th.

The final end was spine-chilling as it came down to the last rock. Brown and her team of Mckenzie, Franshetto and Mellow, faced a house of granite and thin takeout for the win. The red rock cruised down a path that haunted the ladies all game hanging out in a curl-less path giving Morning the 8-7 decision. Both teams displayed great team work and executed timely hits and draws.

Is it the supernatural or superstitious? All 5 games played during ladies night were won with the yellow stones. One will never know what the evils of the night will do, but rest assured the curling spirits will always be sweeping nearby.

Club hosts fundraising bonspiel for The Olive Branch

By Karen Letwinka

On Saturday, Nov. 17, the King Curling Club will play host to The Olive Branch for Children's 4th Annual Curling Bonspiel.

Founded by former Vaughan resident, Deborah McCracken-Nangereke, The Olive Branch for Children (TOB-FC) is a community-led charitable grass roots organization, operating in the Mbarali District of Tanzania since 2005. What started out as an adventure trip for Deborah, turned into a love story – falling in love with Putiyei, her Maasai warrior and guide at the time, the children she has now adopted (55 at last count including her own biological daughter), and the people of the community and villages The Olive Branch supports.

The main objective of TOBFC is to help remote communities in Tanzania assess their primary needs such as health and education and establish programs designed to assist the most vulnerable in those communities. Since its inception, 28 Montessori schools have been established as well as mobile medical clinics, financial autonomy programs, home based care programs. food support programs, mobile libraries, construction projects, youth development programs, entrepreneurship workshops, and the Kubuni Innovation and Creativity Centre. With these various programs, The Olive Branch for Children touches 65,000 people in 40 communities.

My husband and I met Deborah and Putivei 4 years ago at the King Curling Club Year End Banquet. Deborah and Putiyei travel to Canada every year for about 6 weeks to visit with family and friends, launch her annual fundraising gala (April 12 this year), speak at other fundraising events across the country, and, of course, curl. After speaking with Deborah at that first banquet and hearing her story and passion for The Olive Branch, my husband was hooked. Three years later, the summer of 2017, my husband, son and I, along with my cousin, a nurse, were boarding a plane for Mbeya, Tanzania.

Melding our talents with those of Deborah's children and working in the community were life changing experiences for us. My husband taught Deborah's twin boys, Kulwa and Doto, the skill of carpentry, setting up a workshop and building chairs for the Montessori schools. With these skills, the boys are now work out of the newly established Kubuni Innovation and Creativity Centre ("Kubuni" means to create in Kiswahili) and constructing many more items for the community - triple bunkbeds, doors, windows frames, tables, trusses, etc. As well, they have used their recently acquired welding skills to build a mobile ambulance (with MIT, Boston and Mbeya University students) and to design a toilet aid for elderly seniors in the villages to make their toilets more accessible to them as they lose their manoeuvrability.

My cousin worked with the mobile medical clinics out in the villages, doing HIV and blood pressure testing, infant and maternal health care, provision of wound care, including burns, and many of the other services offered by the clinics. My son helped my husband in the carpentry shop, assisted other volunteers to prepare teaching materials for the annual local Montessori teacher training, took photos for social media, and helped Deborah with various tasks. Having brought with us lots of arts and craft supplies, I worked to foster the children's creative side, having them also make Christmas cards which we sold at last year's curling bonspiel. As well, I taught some of them how to juggle, and I believe Deborah had the children entertain the family with these new skills during their Christmas festivities last year.

Our gifts are meant to be shared and, on the flip side, Deborah's and Putiyei's daughter, Wini (now off to university to study corporate law), helped and taught me how to do my laundry the old-fashioned way - in a bucket. I had the chance to get to know an amazing young woman and hear her dreams. The other children taught us the importance of family, playing and working hard together. This is no small feat when you put this many kids together in a family, vying for Deborah's and Putiyei's attention. But Deborah and Putiyei make it work, stating that although there may be 55 children to love, their heart and love can be divided up between all of the children and still be given wholly to each individual

Cougars topple Terriers in overtime

By Jake Courtepatte

A major overtime upset highlighted a weekend that could mark the start of a turnaround in the Schomberg Cougars' season.

Facing an Orillia Terriers squad with wins in five straight, the Cougars proved their worth early in a tie at one after the opening frame, after Cameron Robinson notched his third of the year.

The sides exchanged more back-and-forth play in the second, each scoring two apiece with Schomberg's coming off of the stick of Brandon Cohen and Lucas Brockie, while Owen Heilemann gave Schomberg a 4-3 lead just before the midway point of the third.

Orillia tied it up before the buzzer, guaranteeing at least a point for both teams heading into overtime, before defenceman Mitchell Robinson picked the right time to notch his first of the year three minutes into overtime to give Schomberg the win.

A 4-1 loss at the hands of the Penetang Kings on Friday was swiftly forgotten on a visit to the Goderich Flyers on Sunday, one of a handful of interdivisional match-ups on the PJHL schedule this season.

It was Graham Dynes between the pipes for the first time in a Cougars uniform, immediately boosting the Schomberg goalkeeping with zero regulation losses in seven games with the Alliston Hornets to start the season.

Dynes started off cold with a new team in front of him, giving up two Goderich goals in the first nine minutes of the game, before turning it on to stop 25 of the 28 shots he faced in a 6-3 Schomberg win.

Heilemann led the way for the Cougars with a pair of power play goals, while Alexander Cordeiro chipped in a three-point effort. Brockie, Thomas Foulds, and Josh Morrison all also found the back of the net.

The lineage of poppies revealed

By John Arnott

It's dard to believe is that for over 6,000 years poppies have been a part of human culture. These plants originated several millennia ago in the Mediterranean area spreading from there east into Asia and west into Europe, often naturally creating new species.

Some species grow only 1 ft./30 cm where others reach 4 ft./1.5 m. Some have blooms about 2 in. across while the blooms on others can be 6 in./15 cm across Most poppy blooms are single with 4 to 6 petals but some that have hybridized naturally or with human involvement can be semi or fully double. All single poppies have prominent dark green to black stamens in the centre of each bloom and dark splotches usually black at the base of each petal. Dusty green indented fern like leaves mainly ground level rosettes are common to most small poppies.

All poppy stems, when cut or broken, exude a white to creamy yellow latex like juice.

Many poppy seeds contain an edible oil and are used as an ingredient in

Now the annual blood red field or corn poppies that carpet the fields of Europe and were immortalized by Canadian doctor Col. John McCrae in his famous World War 1 poem "In Flanders Fields," are much in evidence as we re-

Popular in local gardens, Shirley poppies were first hybridized by Anglican priest William Wilks from one wild field poppy with a white border he found growing in his garden in Shirley, England. Over the years he developed poppies that bloomed white, mauve pink, pink or apricot and some bicolours. These poppies, if they like where they've been planted often self-seed and come back year. after year. You can sprinkle the seeds of small poppies on the ground now for late spring bloom. Poppies do not transplant well at all so put them where you want them to grow.

Closely resembling the field poppy is the Iceland poppy, a short-lived perennial that now with hybridization flowers white, orange and lemon yellow and salmon.

Another favourite in local gardens are perennial oriental poppies or paft./45 to 60 cm. tall and produce large blooms in vivid orange, red and white with dramatically contrasting large black splotches at the base of each petal. Their large hairy leaves are deeply indented.

California poppies, named after 19th century German physician and botanist Johann Eschscholtz, with small cup shaped apricot orange flowers and fine fern like leaves, grow about 6 in /15 cm tall and readily self seed. These attractive easy grow easy care plants native to the American southwest and Mexico are not true poppies but belong to the same botanical family.

Most notorious of the poppy family is papaver somniferum, Latin for sleep inducing. It is this poppy whose juice is the source of opium which is refined into highly addictive heroin and morphine. This 3 ft./1 m plant with white, pink, rarely red flowers, grey-green stems and indented leaves has been cultivated from China across central Asia the Middle East into Egypt and North Africa for thousands of years. In ancient and medieval times it was the only source of pain-killer available. Its seeds were chewed to relieve minor pain but its processed juice was used to handle major pain.

I well remember the first time I saw them growing wild these poppies of remembrance. North-eastern England in early summer was the place and the fallow fields were awash with blood red. Nothing would do but have my cousins stop the car so I could wade out among them, if only briefly, but that served as a lasting memory. And though the fields were Lincolnshire not Flanders, McCrae's stark words came to mind.

Flanders poppies are thought to be native to the Mediterranean region and found their way into northern Europe naturally as well as accidentally or on purpose with the migration of people northward particularly the Celts.

Seeds under the name Flanders Poppies can be bought in our area at most all year garden centres and scattered on broken ground before freeze up or wait till late winter into early spring and scatter them on the last disappearing snow which as it gently melts will carry them into the previously dug pain in the buttocks or leg that is worse when sitting, hip pain, burning or tingling down the leg, weakness, numbness, or difficulty moving the leg or foot, a constant pain on one side of the buttocks and/or a shooting pain that makes it difficult to stand up? You may be suffering with a condition known as sciatica.

Sciatica is defined as compression of a spinal nerve root in the lower back, often owing to degeneration of an intervertebral disc.

Sciatica most commonly occurs when a herniated disc, bone spur on the spine or narrowing of the spine (spinal stenosis) compresses part of the nerve. This causes inflammation, pain and often some numbness in the affected leg.

You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your symptoms. But you find the symptoms keep returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of medications that include damage to the liver, kidneys

St. Paul's Church

On Nov. 11, the world will mark the 100th anniversary of the end of World War I, the "war to end all wars." In recognition of this event, we will be tolling our church bell 100 times beginning at sunset on Nov. 11. Young people are encouraged to participate; contact the church office at 905-859-0843 if you or a youth you know would like to help toll the bell that evening.

St. Paul's is involved in Operation Christmas Child, a hands-on project that brings joy and hope to children in desperate situations around the world through gift-filled shoeboxes packed by Canadians. It is one way to remind children suffering as a result of war, poverty, famine, disease, and disaster that they are loved and not forgotten. You can find out more about this opportunity at www.samaritanspurse.ca/ about-operation-christmas-child.

Lunch will be served after worship on Nov. 11 at which time shoeboxes will to fill a whole shoebox, but would rather contribute items. If you are interested in filling a shoebox, just e-mail the church office at secretary@stpaulsnobleton.ca. The deadline for collection of shoeboxes is Nov. 11.

Joyful Spirits will sing a funny piece called "All God's Creatures Have a Place in the Choir." The Joyful Spirits are mooing, croaking, neighing and braying as well as singing in harmony. There will be some humorous videos and funny jokes. All are welcome and encouraged to participate.

On Monday, Nov. 19, we are having a Christmas Pot Luck Social. Yes we know Christmas is a month away, but things get too hectic in December, so we are celebrating early. Come and join the fun. King's Corners

King City United By Sheryl Sinka

Thank you to Rick McKinley who was our guest speaker this Sunday past. His service on loving one another was a message that definitely found its audience and should be reflected in our lives and actions. Our greatest commandment is to love God with all we have and the second is to love our neighbours as we love ourselves.

On Sunday. Nov. 11, Remembrance Day, we honour the men and women who served our country by pausing, remembering and giving thanks for their service and sacrifice in our names. We can never thank them enough for what they did for us and 100 years to the day of the end of WW1 we still remember and take time to reflect.

Tickets are still available for the annual Men's Dinner and Show, a wonderful roast beef dinner hosted and performed by the men of The United Church and friends. The dates for this entertaining event are Nov. 23 and 24 at 7 p.m. For tickets (at $30) you can call the church office (contact is below). This is a ticketed event so get your tickets early!

Please join us for worship on Sunday at 10 am (Sunday school runs at the same time).

For those looking for some conversation and company, Tea and talk takes place on Friday mornings at the Sunset Grill (1700 King Rd) at 10 a.m. All are welcome to come out and join in a cup of coffee or tea and some conversation.

If you have any questions please contact the church office at 905-833-5181.

King Bible Church

Please join us on Sunday, Nov. 11 as Pastor Mark, will be continuing our journey on "The Guaranteed Places to Encounter God" with "The Word Gifts-Part 2."

"Every day is full of various encounters, encounters with our families, encounters with our neighbours, encounters with those we work with or go to school with. Each one of those encounters in varying degrees has had a part in shaping who we are and who we will become. This coming year we as a church are going to focus on another encounter, the encounter to meet with God. We are going to walk through 8 different places that God has said through his Word he will meet us and transform us. We would like to invite you to join us on this life changing journey."

Please take advantage of our excellent children's ministry. Our Sunday morning "Celebration Zone" provides age-appropriate programs for children aged 4 to Grade 8. Our children's program is staffed by screened volunteers who care about your kids! The children in Grades 1-8 will join their parents for the beginning of the service until they are invited to go downstairs. The children in kindergarten can go directly to their class at the start of the service.

If you have children aged 0-3 then we invite you to bring them to our beautiful and safe Nursery facilities which are located on the lower level. Caregivers will meet vou there.

Our "Legacy" nights are our family Bible Study nights. We chose the theme of "Legacy" because we believe that's what families are looking for; both to be a part of as well as leave a lasting "Legacy."

We will provide Nursery care for children 0-3.

Our children (JK-Grade 5) & Junior High (Grade 6-8) classes will meet downstairs. Our adults will meet upstairs.

Our program runs from 6:45 to 8 p.m. every Tuesday.

We are excited to welcome back to KBC comedian Leland Klassen for his "More True" comedy tour, Saturday, Nov. 24 at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $15 per person in advance or $20 at the door. Family rate $50 total. This is a fun family event, as well as a great opportunity to invite your friends and neighbours for a night out!

Tickets can be purchased by emailing Lisa in the Office (lisa@kingbiblechurch.com) to reserve tickets. You can pay by e-transfer at payments@ kingbiblechurch.com. Please email Lisa with the security question and answer.

Join us on Saturday, Dec. 8 to make homemade gifts for everyone on your Christmas list! We will provide details soon about what gift options there will be; and how you can sign up for them!!

Please contact the Office with any questions.

You can find us at 1555 King Rd. King City (at King Rd.& Dufferin), 905-833-5104, www.kingbiblechurch.com, info@ kingbiblechurch.com

Alvin pointed out that Jesus included the word mind in this passage and emphasized with each presentation that we make a choice to love the Lord our God and our neighbour. If the choice is made, God enables us to act. As he showed the children a tea bag diffusing in a cup of boiling water, Alvin pointed out that you wouldn't get tea if you kept the bag out of the cup!

Henna Kim, a student from Knox College, will be our Pulpit Supply Nov. 18 and Alvin will be back Nov. 25.

The next "Messy Church" is Nov. 25 from 5-7 p.m. We hope you can come and bring your friends for this fun, creative time where we get to know more about God's love for us. Our evening ends with a wonderful communal supper at 6 p.m.!

Soup and Conversation for "the after work gals" continues Wednesday evenings at 6:30 p.m. at the church office.

A women's Prayer Circle is starting this Tuesday morning from 9 to 10 a.m. at 80 Burns Blvd. Perhaps you too believe in the power of prayer and would like to pray with other ladies, but can't join us at this time. Please call Kathy Patterson, 905-833-0391 for more information and other possible venues.

For pastoral care needs contact Lynn Vissers, Director of Congregational Ministries at the office, 905-833-2325 or contact our Interim Moderator, the Rev. Paul Johnston, 705-341-7738.

We are located at 13190 Keele St., 2 blocks north of the King Rd.

All Saints Anglican Church By Patrick Gossage

Mid-week worship – at 10 a.m. in our intimate chapel this Wednesday we hold our monthly mid-week worship service. This is a special time of quiet prayer and meditation to recharge our spiritual batteries during the busy week. All are welcome.

Special Justice and Outreach Sunday, Nov. 18. At our 10:30 service we will welcome Christopher Walker, development manager for LOFT community services. LOFT offers dignity and hope to people with mental and physical health challenges, addiction issues or cognitive impairment who find themselves marginalized, vulnerable and homeless. LOFT currently serve some 6,000 individuals a year and is the largest supportive housing provider in York Region/South Simcoe.

Learning from this veteran in the field is important since Anglican churches this year will be supporting the Diocese's Social Justice and Advocacy Vestry Motion on Affordable Housing and Homelessness. All Saints will join other parishes in urging the provincial government to increase the availability of affordable housing, develop strategies for specific communities suffering high levels of inadequate housing, work with the federal government to take advantage of its National Housing Strategy and insure emergency shelters meet the needs of the homeless in our communities.

Words to Live by – The Gospel this Sunday from John 11 told the dramatic story of Christ raising Lazarus from the dead. On this All Saints Sunday, our patronal festival, Rev. Dr. Elizabeth encouraged us to think about who had been Saints in our lives, particularly those that had passed on. She emphasized that raising Lazarus showed Jesus at his most human – he wept openly and shared the grief of those present. The raising showed the power of God and proves that those that love us are still with us and death cannot separate us from the love of God.

"There is no such thing as death," She said. "We celebrate the communion of Saints who have gone before us and are still with us. We all have experiences of contact with loved ones who have passed on. Their paths overlap with ours. Death cannot separate us from the Kingdom of God."

Temperanceville Bazaar

Fill your Christmas baking needs or your freezer and pantry for the winter!

Anglican Parish By John Arnott

This Sunday morning, Nov. 11, Remembrance Day, the Anglican Parish of Lloydtown (St. Alban's Anglican community in Nobleton, Christ Church, Kettleby, and St. Mary Magdalene's, Schomberg) will hold special Holy Communion services – 9:30 a.m. in Christ Church, Kettleby and 11:15 a.m. St. Mary Magdalene's, Schomberg to mark the 100th anniversary of the signing of the peace agreement on a chill, drizzly fall morning in the a railway carriage of Supreme Allied Commander French Marshall Ferdinand Foch's private train deep in the historic Com-pienge Forest in northeastern France. This peace treaty signed at 5 a.m. on that autumn dawn didn't come into force until later that morning at 11 a.m. Paris time officially bringing peace into affect at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month. On that very day 100 years ago the bells of St. Mary Magdalene's then in Lloydtown, St. Alban's, Nobleton and Christ Church, Kettleby joyfully rang out welcoming the armistice that brought peace if only for just 21 years.

Following the two minutes of silence at 11 a.m. the bells at St. Mary Magdalene's with those at Christ Church will be rung 100 times, once for each year of this anniversary, joining church bells ringing across King Township, York Region and all of Canada.

The singing of O Canada, God Save the Queen and solemn Remembrance Day hymns and the reading of the names of those men and women of the parish who served in the military during both World Wars will be an important part of these Remembrance services. As will be the reading of Canadian doctor Lt. Col. John McCrae's stark words "In Flanders' Fields."

The parishioners of Lloydtown remember and ask that you too proudly wear a poppy and remember.
