Why Summer Camp in Ontario is Something All Kids Should Experience

Camp Can-Aqua
Andrew Martin, Camp Director
canqua.ca • 613-339-2969
andrewmartin@canqua.ca

Each summer, hundreds of thousands of children venture away from home and embark on one of Ontario's greatest summer traditions: Residential Summer Camp!

Different camps hold different philosophies; some are modern and some traditional. Some are sport focused, while others are more artistic. If you're new to the process, picking the right summer camp within so many options can be overwhelming. While this is true, rest assured that taking the time to look into specific camps is one of the most responsible things you can do to promote the development of children.

Quick camp facts:

1. Sending your child to overnight summer camp might be one of the most important decisions you make them. If done right, the impact of this decision will last well into adulthood. It will help shape them into the person they become. Parents often send kids to camp unaware of the specific programs or philosophies that make each camp unique. Camper retention at most established overnight camps is over 80%. What this means is that the camp you pick for your children now will most likely be how they define what the word "camp" means forever.

2. Found somewhere in the natural splendor, forests and lakes of Ontario is a camp that is perfect for your child! With hundreds to choose from, taking an afternoon to search through options with your child will go a long way in matching them with their "perfect camp." Involving them in this process will also get them excited and help ease any anxiety about time away from home.

3. Overnight summer camps in Ontario are respected globally. Each summer thousands of kids from across the world register to attend camps in this province. Parents living in Ontario are often not aware of the international reputation of the phenomenal camps in this province.

4. Camps accredited by the Ontario Camps Association (OCA) are held to nationally recognized standards for safety and undergo regular evaluations for re-accreditation. Finding a camp that is affiliated with the OCA will provide you with peace of mind and ensure that the camp is transparent with their programming focus, and that they place emphasis on "best practices."

You live in a province that is known worldwide for an industry in camping that is second to none. The social benefits, the personal growth, and the independence that overnight camp instills in children are remarkable.

Find the perfect summer camp for your child.

While all camps have aspects that make them unique, at the core of most summer camps are similar experiences and opportunities for your children.

While program options are important, so are other considerations such as food service, management style, and camp philosophies. Any camp should be able to clearly talk about these components of their programs, but before we get too ahead of ourselves, here are 3 simple steps every parent should consider:

1. First, start by doing some research. Probably the greatest resource you can access online to find a perfect camp is the OCA's "find a perfect camp" link. (<http://www.ontariocampsassociation.ca/find-your-perfect-camp/>).

2. Talk with your kids. Tell them about camp. You would be surprised at how many don't really know what it is. Tell them why you want them to go to camp. Show them your list of activities and ask them to pick 5 or 6 things they really want to do. Making a list before you go online is a good idea because it will help narrow your search.

3. Call the Camp Director in person. While you may be tempted to email, don't do it. Speak to the camp director and if they aren't there leave a message. When you connect, ask them why they think you should send your child to their camp. It's a tough question but will hopefully start a conversation that will provide you insight into how this person manages their camp. Remember...there are no questions that are too dicey! You're about to hand over your most important asset. Do not let any of your questions go unanswered.

While there is no one perfect camp, there is without a doubt a perfect camp for your child and once you find it, it will be a part of them for the rest of their life. See for yourself, go to canqua.ca.

Residents request change in new subdivision

By Angela Gismondi

Residents living in the new Nobleridge subdivision in Nobleton came to the committee of the whole meeting with request for council this past Monday.

In July 2012, the Township's engineering and public works department received a petition from 12 of the 14 residents living on James Bowman Court, part of Nobleridge subdivision. The petition asked the Township to remove a landscaped island proposed for the middle of their cul-de-sac. In the report presented to council at the meeting, staff recommended that the residents' petition to eliminate the cul-de-sac island be denied and that the developer be directed to install the island as per the subdivision plan design.

The original proposal included a lane width of 6.2 metres around the outer perimeter of the cul-de-sac to provide on street parking and one lane of traffic. The remaining centre portion of the cul-de-sac would have an enhanced landscape island completed with curb, one-metre-wide interlock pavers and a planting bed at the centre.

The proposed size of the cul-de-sac island was one of the concerns cited by residents. In particular, residents were concerned there wouldn't be enough space for parking on the street, would cause visibility issues for drivers and would be difficult for snow plows to get around. Another concern raised at the meeting is that the cul-de-sac island will require considerable maintenance, especially if it includes a landscaped area.

In order to address the concerns of the residents, staff and the developer's landscape consultants worked together and widened the lane to 8.5 metres to allow for better access. But in August residents submitted another petition asking for the complete removal of the island from the cul-de-sac.

At the committee meeting Monday, a James Bowman Court resident told council he signed the petition to have the cul-de-sac removed. He said the cul-de-sac is not needed, not wanted and will cause safety concerns for the people living on the street.

"There is no purpose for having that island," said the deputant. "Nobody wants it. I just don't understand why we would go ahead with it. The island would likely not get maintained. It's going to create more work and make our street look ugly. I think it's going to create more of a problem."

There was only one resident at the meeting who spoke in favour of keeping the island. He believes the island will act as a traffic calming measure, which is a concern for him as he has two small children.

"I think we should keep the island," he said. "I think it would be safer."

In addition to the developer being required to provide landscaping throughout the new Nobleridge subdivision, the cul-de-sac islands serve as an attractive feature and result in less storm water runoff resulting in less impact on downstream watercourses. It also reduces the temperature of storm-water run off and is a benefit to the downstream watercourse.

Staff expressed concern that the removal of the island on the court could also set a precedent for the new subdivisions in King. Nobleridge subdivision has six cul-de-sacs with similar landscaped islands proposed for each. The removal of the James Bowman Court island may lead to residents from the additional cul-de-sacs to request similar removal of the landscaped islands on their courts.

Councillor Linda Pabst said the island could be a safety concern.

"When you're driving it's hard enough to see around a bend without plants in the way," said Pabst. "I don't see why it's necessary on a court with this few homes. I understand the concerns of the residents."

Councillor Bill Cober wanted to make sure that if council decided to remove the island from the cul-de-sac, the money which was going to be used to install them be put somewhere else in the community. He asked for the issue to be deferred.

Councillor Debbie Schaefer agreed the issue should be deferred and more information is needed.

"This is not a one cul-de-sac decision," said Schaefer. "It will affect others."

Rob Flindall, director of engineering and public works for the Township of King, said the developer is anxious for a decision on the matter so the subdivision can be completed.

Councillor Peter Grandilli also wanted the matter deferred. He said the developer should concentrate on fixing up the mess at the parkette until the issues with the cul-de-sac are resolved.

A motion was carried to defer the matter and refer it back to staff for further information.

Flags lowered to honour Bruce Jessop

Flags were flying at half staff at various locations early this week, to mourn the passing of retired fire chief Bruce Jessop.

Jessop, 67, passed away at Southlake Regional Health Care Centre in Newmarket Monday.

The owner of Jessop's Auto, he served King's fire services for 28 years, 18 as chief.

A firefighters' service will be held at the Rod Abrams Funeral Home in Tottenham Thursday evening at 6 p.m. Funeral service will be held in the chapel at 1 p.m. on Friday, followed by interment at Schomberg Union Cemetery. Visit www.RodAbrams-FuneralHome.com.

'Wish lists' change with each generation

What a difference a generation makes!

I know those among us who are in their 70s and 80s know full well the meaning of that observation.

Our world has experienced the greatest strides, conflicts, inventions and technological prowess in the past 50 years, than in all the previous eons.

The whirlwind changes were continuous, not really limited to any particular generation or decade. But boy did the world experience a wild ride, from the peace and love era of the 1960s, a time when millions of post-war baby boomers became young adults. They wanted change and protests abounded.

Minimum wage was $1 per hour and a teacher's salary averaged $5,000 per year. Woodstock, Elvis, the Beach Boys and the Beatles.

In the 1970s, the Beatles broke up; we saw the first computer floppy disks; the U.S. pulled out of Vietnam; Sony introduced the Walkman; Elvis died and Star Wars arrived.

The 1980s were highlighted by John Lennon's murder; Pac-Man; Rubik's Cube; E.T., Michael Jackson's Thriller; the invasion of the Falklands; Space Shuttle Challenger explodes and the Berlin Wall falls.

The '90s were characterized by Nelson Mandela; the Hubble Space Telescope; the fall of the Soviet Union; Waco, Texas; the trial of O.J. Simpson; Operation Desert Storm; mad cow; the visit by Comet Hale-Bopp; the Euro and Viagra.

With each decade came different expectations.

For me, now a young mature adult, life in the '80s and '90s was rather simple. We worked, could afford gas, car insurance, going to the movies and having a couple of drinks at local watering holes.

We seldom worried about the future, natural disasters or how strange the world had become.

I suppose when you're immersed in it, living it, things seem different.

Sure, there were changes all the time and most were met with optimism, even excitement.

Dating, marriage and starting a new chapter of your life wasn't that complicated, or expensive.

It took me a while to truly enjoy life, however.

After I met Kim and we dated for several months, my mom urged us to take a trip to the sunny Caribbean. Prior to that, it never really interested me. I'd been to Florida, parts of the U.S., Europe and Vegas, but never the islands.

I recall our first trip vividly, for a number of reasons. It was March Break for Kim, so we decided to go to Jamaica. But, as fate would have it, the airline we booked went bankrupt a week before our departure, so we scrambled for an alternative.

We chose Freeport, Bahamas and simply loved it. It was fun, crazy and hot. From there, Kim and I enjoyed Vegas, the Dominican Republic, Atlantic City, St. Maarten and Nassau.

My last trip was more than a decade ago. Kim convinced me to accompany my aging mom down south for what would be her last trip abroad. We chose Cancun, Mexico, even though it was commercial and a haven for young antics. But the hotel and all-inclusive package couldn't be beat.

My mom thoroughly enjoyed herself and even praised me for my karaoke rendition of Foreigner's Cold as Ice one night at the hotel.

Trivia

The guillotine was used in France until 1977.

She watched me climb the Mayan ruins at Chichen Itza and we got stuck in a tropical downpour. We enjoyed good food, a great view and a nice time together.

She mentioned years later it was the best trip she'd ever had.

And that made me glad.

They say we live vicariously through others, mostly our children.

I am just beginning to experience that with my eldest, Lexie, who's only 15.

She just returned from San Juan, Puerto Rico, enjoying a vacation. And now she's off with the Girl Guides on a tour of several European countries.

My daughter, the world traveller! She's known for her use of the term YOLO - "You Only Live Once." A good philosophy to have, especially at such a young age.

She already has her wish list of countries she'd love to explore - Egypt, Australia and the Orient.

She has a heart of gold; is grounded; has solid morals, and a genuine desire to help others.

And we'll continue to feed her appetite for exploration, even if it means going without for the rest of our lives! At least I know she's somewhat conservative - her dream car is a lime green Ford Fiesta!

And this generation gap is reflected in my own personal wish list.

At the top of that list is the hope that my 2002 mini-van keeps running without needing expensive repairs.

Next would be landing that job of a lifetime, or at least securing a second job to pay for household necessities.

And I would follow that with hopes of getting away with my wife for a weekend, and trying to put money away for a special trip to mark our 20th anniversary in 2015.

Next would be putting more aside for our children's post-secondary education. We already have modest RESPs, but as the costs of a good education continue to skyrocket, so too does the need to invest even more.

I've never expected a great deal out of life, or for anything to fall into my lap. And as I grow even more wise (that's a nice way to say I'm aging), my entire raison d'être centres around my children and my wife.

As a believer in something beyond, hopefully I'll be rewarded up above, or be returned to the earth in another life befitting my stature! If not, I hope one of my kids becomes a cutting-edge scientist and puts me on ice!

A guy can hope.
YOLO!

Agricultural Society urges saving old arena

Over the past few weeks, there have been a number of write-ups referring to announcements with respect to the future of the old Schomberg Arena, including the fact that the King Township council had voted to proceed with an Request for Proposal (RFP) process with consideration of only a brewery/commercialized retail site and that of an aging centre development on the existing site.

In one newspaper it said "End of an Arena" but it's not yet. At that point of time, the Schomberg Agricultural Society's "Expression of Interest" (EOI) proposal was not being considered as an option going forward.

The future of the Schomberg Community and Agricultural Arena is still up in the air.

Recently, due to a revised vote at council, it is with great excitement that the Schomberg Agricultural Society has been now included in the formal RFP process that allows us to submit a proposal for the "repurposed usage of the Schomberg Arena."

As for a bit of history on this arena it starts with the land being donated by the Wray family. A committee was selected and the fund raising began. The Agricultural Society had an agreement that they would be able to use the arena for the Fair and other agricultural events. This led to the Agricultural Society applying for a grant to aid in the construction of the arena in the amount of $12,500. There were four massive car draws held by the Schomberg Lions Club which helped raise $37,000, almost half the cost of the construction of the arena. Canvassing brought in $37,000 more, activities large and small raised another $6,000. Surplus from 1962-63 operation booth and ice was $8,000.

The arena was built on the policy of "pay as you go" because the committee had no borrowing power. Construction could only be done when money was available. So fundraising was ongoing. Many, many volunteers helped with the construction of this arena and helped keep costs down.

In 1960, the grading of the property, the front or cement block portion was built. In 1961, there was enough money to purchase and erect the steel or skating part of the building. In 1962 the task of getting the ice area ready and raising funds to purchase a freezing plant and accessories was done. There was about seven miles of pipe laid over the 75 by 175 foot ice area.

The first skating took place on Nov. 1, 1962 at the open house. Seats had to be built and cement laid over the freezing pipes but this had to wait another year until money was raised for it. On Nov. 15, 1963 the arena was ready for the official opening. The original figure for building the arena was about $75,000, but building costs had exceeded $100,000 and yet it stood debt free.

Many will not know why the word "Agricultural" is in the name of the arena.

It is because the Schomberg Agricultural Society donated a one-time grant that they received towards the costs to build the arena.

The arena was the centre of the community for 48 years for hockey, figure skating, curling, the Schomberg Spring Fair Homecraft Centre, Lions Car draws, weddings, receptions, church meetings and almost all other events in Schomberg for all those years.

With the opening of the Trisan Centre, focus was placed there. However, it soon became apparent to many of the community based groups that the old arena that had served so well for 48 years was still needed. There has been much discussion with respect to the funding needs of the Township to offset the cost of the Trisan Centre.

Should this come at the expense of losing an important fixture in the Schomberg and surrounding community?

The Schomberg Agricultural Society, with the support of many volunteer groups in Schomberg, is making a proposal to the Township that the arena should be re-purposed for a wide range of community uses focused around, but not limited to, the continued use by the Agricultural Society for the annual Spring Fair and the possibility for many other agricultural and community uses with the full synergy of the arena and fair grounds together.

Of note, the Schomberg Agricultural Society, now in its 163rd year, has more than 150 current members and volunteers. The board is comprised of the executive plus 12 directors. The secretary-manager and treasurer are appointed positions. Together with approximately 50 committees, we orchestrate one of the province's best agricultural fairs. We also participate in many other community events throughout the year.

This reflects a unique strength of the Schomberg Agricultural Society.

We are very proud of our society and the people who represent it, especially our junior members who are our future and our senior members who are there to mentor and guide us in the right direction.

Specifically, the proposal represents a Schomberg Agricultural Society Fair and Agriplex plan.

The vision is to be a society with a broad base of agricultural support with a first class facility, well operated and maintained.

With a mandate to continue to serve the membership through the energy, dedication and expertise of the past and present membership by developing and expanding from the longstanding Schomberg Agricultural Fair over the many years, to be become a high quality, year-round facility combining the Agricultural Fair and the new Agriplex. It will become a focal point in King Township, upholding our agricultural heritage and traditions and serving the needs of the community in a responsible and safe environment through education, programs and the use of the facilities.

The development of the Schomberg Agricultural Society Fair and Agriplex plan would provide:

- Expand to 365 days/year business model incorporating arena and fair grounds.
- Strong community provider: long term community "hub" that facilitates King Township agricultural/sporting/equine events.

• It provides a business partnership with King Township and commercial partners (on-site retail partners).

The benefits are that it would keep it local, fill the need for an agricultural "community" facility. Would offer year-round usage rental revenue opportunities.

It would also provide a member riding arena, space for community/seniors' groups.

It could be used for the farmers' market, a cattle penning/sorting/working facility. It could be home to auctions, tractor pulls, youth crafts, 4-H events, indoor sports such as soccer or volleyball.

The Schomberg Agricultural Society Fair and Agriplex business plan and strategic long-term business plan provides sustainability of sufficient economic viability to support the needs of members of the community and revenue generation to support the King Township financial requirements over an extended period.

The proposal makes full usage of the combined fair grounds and the inclusion of the Agriplex (old arena) to fulfill its mandate to the community.

There is still a lot of work to be done and no decisions on the future of the arena have been made. It is clearly in the hands of the community to show support for the Schomberg Agricultural Society / Agriplex proposal by speaking directly with your area council representative to let your views of support be heard.

With the support of the community and the Township, our proposal will save the arena and bring first class agricultural based activity to King Township.

Letter to the Editor Look at the science of speed limits

I see where the council has determined to establish lower speed limits on gravel roads within the township; dropping them from the provincially established 80 kilometres per hour to a more sedate 60 km/h.

Speed limits are supposedly determined by the science of, "what is a safe rate of speed for the road conditions and environment?" and as such vary from road to road and place to place.

For example, the 15th Sideroad, between Weston and 7th, is rolling with blind hills and in wet weather conditions can be a little more challenging to drive. Thus it may easily be argued that 60 km/h is appropriate. While the 8th Concession, between the 18th and the Lloydtown-Aurora Road, is flat, straight and well-surfaced allowing a presumably greater rate of speed.

Where speed limits are established arbitrarily low, it's a simple assumption that a great many cars will choose to exceed that limit. And if the road is patrolled and tickets handed out, it is generally perceived as a ridiculous cash-grab. It's a formula for the creation of the us vs. them mentality that is already a challenging enough issue to attempt to avoid.

If the speed limits are established realistically for the road conditions, it's shocking how many people will stay within 10 km/h of the established limit. And should adverse road conditions warrant, it is fairly common to find people slowing below the established limit and adjusting their driving appropriately.

I think it's a reasonably safe assumption that the majority of drivers do not wish to damage their cars, animals, people, or end up in a ditch, drive according to their comfort levels.

There will always be drivers, of course, who believe they're never going to have an accident and will pass you at 150 km/h while you're driving 80. Whatever limit is established is of little meaning or value to them.

If one wants to adjust speed limits within King Township, my perception is that they are generally too low already.

For example the speed limit on 27, from the Nobleton Senior School to just north of the 15th, is set at 60 km/h. This may, in due course be appropriate, as Nobleton builds out, but currently is too slow for the existing road and environment conditions. The fact that there is often a speed trap set up here suggests that a large enough number of drivers feel similarly.

Let's get back to the science of appropriate limits, as opposed to playing the politics of desired limits.

Taxpayers purchased property

Regarding the article "King Township purchases former Holy Name school for $2.95 M," the headline should read "Taxpayers purchase school."

A number of years ago taxpayers purchased the property, constructed the school, and over the years poured millions of dollars into staffing, repairing and operating the facility as a school. In addition, taxpayers have recently paid for a sparkling new facility to replace this abandoned facility.

By allowing the school board to manage the property, I suspect that over the years the board took the position that it was "our" property. What I would call the "entitlement syndrome." As a result the taxpayers are now purchasing a piece of "public" property a second time.

There is a second abandoned school in King City which should be looked at in the same way. The Eva L. Dennis school with its playground adjacent to the King Memorial Park is publicly owned, having been purchased and operated using taxpayer funding for many years. Several years ago a new taxpayer funded school was built to replace it.

Mayor Pellegrini has stated that the Holy Name School will be purchased using reserves. Rather than rob the taxpayers of the reserves that have been built up in case of emergencies, the school boards should "re-gift" the properties to the taxpayers.

The Daunting Aspect of the Move

For some consumers, the most daunting aspect of the buying or selling process is the move itself.

Moving is not only labour-intensive, but it can also unleash a range of emotions at a difficult time. If the catalyst for the move is a family death, divorce or other major lifestyle change, a bad moving experience can rub salt in the wound, aggravating an already challenging situation.

Many resources are available to determine whether a mover is reputable. The Canadian Association of Movers (CAM), the Better Business Bureau, and any of the major national van lines (such as Allied, Atlas, Mayflower, North American or United) are all good sources. Also check out the Consumer Beware page through the Ontario Ministry of Consumer Services for movers to avoid.

One of the best tips is to place more weight on reputation than price, says John Levi, president of CAM. With about 350 members across the country, CAM represents Canada's largest moving companies, many small to mid-sized movers, national van lines, suppliers and many international movers. It also works with government agencies to represent member issues and with consumers to provide referrals and assist with complaints.

"Many people don't realize that their prime concern should be a having a good moving experience, not getting the cheapest price," says Levi, who has been with CAM for 16 years. Be sure your clients understand that the lowest quoted price does not actually guarantee the lowest cost or a good-quality job, he advises.

Consider the value of your

Peter T. Clark MVA
Broker
Royal LePage RCR Realty
www.petertclark.com

possessions as well as the potential cost of loss, damage, tardiness or claims, he says. All of those factors should be weighed to determine the move's total price tag, and doing some homework before selecting a mover is well worth the time.

Because the moving industry is largely unregulated, Levi warns that choosing a reputable mover is vital in avoiding problems. His organization receives about 150 complaints a year about movers. The most common complaints pertain to overcharging, lateness, damage or loss, but issues also arise with inexperienced crews, poor communication, and failed promises.

To join CAM, a mover must be in business for more than a year, be reputable, and undergo a due diligence and verification process. The association checks out companies through the Better Business Bureau and asks other members to offer a fair opinion on potential members.

"Loss or damage claims can end up being drawn out for years," says Levi. "Consumers who take steps to do some preliminary research usually avoid claims," he adds.

Many problems are preventable. A good mover should be prepared to answer questions and provide clear expectations about the move for the individual or family. Consumers can spare themselves grief simply by asking potential movers questions such as:

What is your experience with moves like mine? How experienced is your crew? What is the bottom-line price? What is the not-to-exceed price, including all charges and taxes? What happens if loss or damages occur, and how will we be protected?

The most important step, often overlooked, is getting an in-home estimate. "Consumers can get sweet-talked over the phone by a company that claims it can do the job," says Levi. "Unfortunately, that's an invitation to disaster. If movers are willing to give you an estimate by phone, don't hire them. If they can't see your place or belongings, they have no idea how the move will go."

An experienced mover will visit the consumer at home and examine furnishings and possessions, give a more reliable estimate, and outline difficulties that might occur during the move, he adds.

What can I do to help when my child is having their first filling done?

First of all, it is helpful to be flexible with your time. Most dentists prefer to treat a child during morning or early afternoon hours. Usually, children are much more well rested at these times of day, and are therefore more compliant and relaxed.

When you arrive, if you feel more comfortable to accompany your child into the treatment room until they are adjusted, you should do so. However, during the treatment, we often recommend that parents wait in the reception area as children are usually much more cooperative when we have their complete attention and no distractions from a parent. Also, if a parent is nervous, children can often sense this and this will create more apprehension for them.

If you choose to remain in the treatment room, there are several important things to remember. As we mentioned in last month's article, say as little as possible about what's going to happen at the appointment. Questions about details of the procedure are best answered by "just ask the dentist and they will tell you". The dentist and their assistant will always do their best to show and tell your child everything to expect throughout the appointment. Avoid using words such as pain, blood, or drill. Especially, do not mention anything to them about getting a needle. Anaesthetic techniques have changed so much, that often we can do an injection, without your child even knowing they got a "needle".

Don't ask your child while we are working if anything hurts. This often leads a child to believe that perhaps something should hurt. This can either serve to upset them or it may lead them to state that something does hurt (even when it doesn't) if they think this is going to get them more attention. Dentists have ways of monitoring these things and will be very careful to make sure the procedure is as comfortable as possible.

Throughout the procedure, do not make any false promises to your child. As we mentioned, we obviously don't want you telling your child there will be pain as this will upset them. However, telling them it won't hurt at all may lead to them not trusting us, as there is usually some discomfort during the appointment. We don't want to make any promises we can't keep.

Finally, try to refrain from giving your child any instructions during the appointment (unless asked to do so by the dentist). Even though you may be trying to help, this may only serve to confuse your child as to who to listen to and may send them mixed messages. You should be there for your child as a support only. Let the dentist direct the appointment.

Your child's first filling can be a cause of anxiety for both your child and you as a parent (sometimes more so for the parent than the child!). Just remember that your dental team has a lot of experience with treating children and they will do everything possible to help your visit go as smoothly as possible. If you have any questions about what you can do to help during your child's appointment, don't hesitate to ask.

Keep smiling!

Our Lady of Mount Carmel is the title bestowed on Blessed Virgin Mary because she is the patroness of the Carmelite order. The first Carmelites lived on Mt. Carmel in the Holy Land and were hermits in the 12th centure. They built a chapel in honour of The Virgin and entitled it "Our Lady of the Place."

On July 16, 1251, the Blessed Mary made this promise to St. Simon Stock: "Take this Scapular, it shall be a sign of salvation, a protection in danger and a pledge of peace. Whosoever dies wearing this Scapular shall not suffer eternal fire." She continues, "Wear the Scapular devoutly and perseveringly. It is my garment. To be clothed in it means you are continually thinking of me, and I in turn, am always thinking of you and helping you to secure eternal life."

Foley Restoration provides relief to those in need

By Mark Pavilons

King's Spotlight on Business

No one wants to think about the worst-case scenario.

Losing your home or business to a tragedy is everyone's worst fear, but fortunately, there are professionals who make the cleanup process a breeze.

Family-run Foley Restoration of Schomberg has been operating since 1991 and owners Mike and Kelly Foley want to help inform the public about their services.

While the company's expertise lies in response and cleanup services, their trained experts can offer advice, proactive maintenance and clean-ups for smaller incidents.

The number one cause for insurance claims in Canada is water damage. From floods, sewer backups to internal leaks, water-soaked basements keep Foley crews busy. Mike mentioned that house fires are on the decline and today's homes are better equipped in terms of natural gas services and electrical wiring.

The company is quick to react and for commercial or industrial clients, the key is to get businesses up and running after an incident. Fires, damage from water leaks, wind storms and hail can put a business in limbo and it's important to get them back in operation so they don't lose their client base.

Foley Restoration addresses consequences from a wide range of scenarios, from the smoke-damaged bunker gear of fire departments to water damage in a privately-owned business to the destruction of a home caused by a fallen tree. A clean-up can take a day to several months to complete.

For individuals, most haven't filed an insurance claim, and if they do it's likely to be a big one – the result of a major tragedy.

Most people don't know what to do when faced with such a dilemma and it's a very traumatic and emotional time for them. Foley staff are compassionate and efficient, and walk people through the entire process, explaining exactly how they will repair the damage. It is important that all staff be compassionate and sensitive to the needs of the clients.

Technology – drying methods and products to eliminate smoke damage – have come a long way. Mike explained they've even brought teddy bears and leather boots back to life after a house fire. They consult with the homeowners and try to rescue the sentimental possessions.

Their main role is stabilizing a structure and eliminating potential problems. It's largely labour related and Foley has access to staff and sub-trades. They're on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Foley serves all of York Region, parts of the GTA and the Barrie area.

Mike said the best part of the job is helping people and making a bad situation better.

They have not only handled the typical incidents, but those involving vehicle impacts – cars hitting houses or crashing through garages.

Backed by experience, training and association membership, Foley wants to be the go-to resource when it comes to cleanup and restoration services.

All staff is trained on an on-going basis, through the Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC).

Collaboration and cooperation are key elements in working effectively with the various people and organizations involved in the clean-up, including the client, insurance agents, contractors, and local municipal staff.

"We get to rebuild what they have lost. That is why we do this," Kelly said.

Every clean-up is different, nothing is ever the same. Calls are taken during regular business hours and a call centre directs after-hours emergency calls to staff, so that a crew is on site within the hour. Additional crews of well-trained people are drawn from Disaster Kleenup Canada. On site, it is important to recognize quickly what is important to the insured individual or organization. The structure of the clean-up process proceeds from there.

Foley also provides Catastrophe Response (Cat Response) to other areas when a disaster happens. Other clean-up sites include locations in Thunder Bay, Peterborough, Kingston, and Windsor. Crews are mobile, with each vehicle having its own standard equipment to assess damage and call in the talent needed to provide the solutions for the restoration.

Mike explained that originally, 80% of projects were based on claims through insurance. This number has dropped to approximately 65%, with the balance of 35% being outside of the connection to the insurance industry. Diversification generated the need for a greater variety of equipment, and a broader spectrum of talent in both the science of the industry and in the specialty trades brought in to work on the various projects. Marketing strategies have included promoting Emergency Preparedness Measures to insurance companies, to local municipalities, and to the general public at home shows and through community organizations.

Foley Restoration focuses attention to customer service as it continues on its path of steady growth due to a quality product, consistency in respectful and reliable services, and effective communication.

Equipment includes hygrometers, moisture metres, and infra-red cameras to assess the moisture damage on a site. Equipment to measure levels of mould and asbestos is also on hand.

Foley Restoration is dedicated to being environmentally responsible and friendly cleaning products are used instead of chemicals. All waste is sorted to redirect any recyclable and compostable materials away from landfill.

Energy Management Program monitors power use in York Region

Energy use within York Region's environmental services department accounts for approximately 52 per cent of the Region's electricity consumption and 19 per cent of the overall energy costs. To ensure the department is operating as cost-effectively as possible, an energy management program is in place to monitor and manage power consumption. The program was established in 2009 and enhanced last year with the creation of a 36-month energy management action plan, providing the department with programs and initiatives to reduce energy consumption within Environmental Services' facility buildings and operation-related processes. An 8.5 per cent increase in rates resulted in rising electrical costs in 2012, in spite of a reduction of energy consumption. Facilities audited for energy consumption in 2011 show a two per cent reduction in electricity use, one year later.

"Due to the energy management planning in place, Environmental Services reported its lowest electrical energy consumption, relative to population size, in six years," said York Region Chairman and CEO Bill Fisch. "Using the same benchmark, our goal for 2016 is to reduce electricity use to 20 per cent lower than 2006 levels."

The cost of pumping, distributing and treating water and wastewater is a major contributor to operating costs within Environmental Services. To reduce groundwater entry into the system, York Region has undertaken an extensive Inflow and Infiltration Program to monitor and repair pipes. In 2012, more than 750 maintenance hole and sewer repairs were completed as part of the program, resulting in a daily wastewater flow reduction of 4.7 million litres, which reduces unnecessary treatment of rainwater.

This program, along with York Region's Long Term Water Conservation Strategy, identifies a number of programs that support the Region's commitment to conservation, resource protection, energy conservation and greenhouse gas reductions.

"The work by Environmental Services on energy management provides a clear measurement as to how we are doing and where we need to improve in order to sustainably meet our energy requirements," said Town of Richmond Hill Regional Councillor Vito Spatafora, chair of the region's environmental services committee. "Staff continue to investigate new technology to make the most efficient use of our resources."

King City United congregation aids church in Alberta

King's Corners

King City United
By Rev. Evelyn McLachlan

For many people summer is about renewal. People head off to the cottage or to the golf course or on a road trip, hoping that there will be some time to relax, renew their energies and maybe even reflect on their lives.

In worship this past Sunday, we had an opportunity for renewal. The sermon focused on the story of Naaman from II Kings 5: 1-14. He had a skin disease and sought to be healed of it from the prophet Elisha. Instead of being asked to do something difficult, Elisha invited him to wash in the River Jordan seven times. Naaman balked at first but then relented and was healed.

Those waters healed more than his body, they healed his soul and opened him to a relationship with God. At the end of the sermon, everyone was invited to come to the baptismal font and dip their hands in the water, leaving whatever was blocking their relationship with God, with Jesus and with each other. It was a powerful moment as most of the congregation came forward for a healing moment.

Each of us has a place where we experience that feeling of healing, that place where we can leave those things that have caused us hurt or anger or frustration. We can leave it all there, knowing that we are embraced in God's incredible grace, forgiveness and compassion.

Where is your place – the cottage, hiking, golfing, canoeing, sitting in your garden? We don't have to travel far. We just have to open ourselves to the Holy Spirit, and then healing and new life will not only surround us, but be within us!

Towards the end of worship as we were about to enter into the prayers of the people, we saw some slides of the work that Symons Valley United Church did with the High River United Church in High River, Alberta. The church in High River had about two feet of water and mud which destroyed a lot of their "stuff" but the church is pretty much intact. It helped us to see what had happened and how we can be of help. We are inviting people to flood Alberta not with water but with love through the gift of monies and prayers. We will receive loose change until Sunday, July 28 and then on Tuesday, July 30 at 10 a.m. we will have a coin rolling party and a time of prayer for our brothers and sisters in Alberta. We hope to see you there!

The Social Group is organizing a trip to the Halton County Radial Railway near Milton, on Saturday, Aug. 17. It promises to be a fun-filled day checking out antique electric streetcars and railway cars in their museum. You can ride the old rails, have a picnic lunch or enjoy an ice cream cone! If you're a Murdoch Mysteries fan, one of their previous episodes was filmed there! Call the church at 905-833-5181 or email kcuc@bellnet.ca for more details as we will organize a car pool. Each Sunday at 10 a.m. we share in worship, singing and fellowship ... a place to grow, learn and be in relationship! We hope to meet you there! Blessings.

King City Seniors Travel Club

Spaces are still available for the Prince Edward County Wine Tour, Wednesday, July 17. The coach will leave the arena at 8:45 a.m. with the first stop at the Big Apple. Then we're off for a visit to Huff Estates Winery for lunch and paired wine tasting, then a tour of the Lavender Farms with snacks, and finally a wine tasting at the Casa-Dea Estates Winery. All this for only $85 per person. If you would like to join in the fun, contact Jane at 905-833-5870 or Carol at 905-833-3324.

All Saints By Nicola Skinner

All Saints summer service times are at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. in the chapel, which is best approached from the Doctors Lane end of the church building. Services are a little shorter and very relaxed in the summer and we always welcome newcomers.

We hope that you will join us one Sunday for worship, or come along to the next King City Farmers' Market on Sunday, July 14 to pick up some great produce. Office hours are Tuesday and Thursday 10 a.m. to noon and messages are checked daily.

This past week we reflected on the virtue of humility, by way of the Old Testament story of Naaman the Leper. Naaman was a mighty Syrian army general who was brought to his knees by this debilitating disease, which would have made him an outcast. Despite all his wealth, power and influence, he can only receive healing once he has stooped to take the advice of his captured Israeli servant girl, been ignored by the prophet Elisha, and forced to dip himself seven times in the Jordan. Once he has overcome his pride, healing occurs. Most of us struggle with pride and humility.

Sometimes humility is as simple as accepting help or a gift graciously. Too often we want to be so in charge of our own lives that we fail to give others apart in it. Rabindranath Tagore wrote: "We come nearest to the great, when we are greatest in humility." This week, on July 11, we will be supporting our own Maggie Cowles, who is competing in the Special Olympics softball tournament. Go Maggie, go!

All Saints is an inclusive and welcoming Anglican church in the heart of King City. We strive to be a community of compassion and hope, following in the footsteps of Jesus. We are located at 12935 Keele Street, King City. See www.allsaintskingcity.com. Please leave messages for Rev. Nicola Skinner at 905-833-5432, and I will return your call.

KING WEEKLY SENTINEL

Young Kettleby mountain biker is hot in the circuit

By JEFF DONER

At 16 years old, Kettleby resident Graham McDougall is burning up the local mountain bike racing circuit and has his sights set on taking that a few steps further.

The Grade 11 student has recently captured a couple first place wins at Ontario Cup races in Mansfield and just this past weekend at Sir Sam's Ski and Bike in Haliburton.

"The weather was awesome, I was feeling good before the race and I ended up getting another win, so I'm pretty stoked on this seasons accomplishments so far," he said.

Graham started racing when he was 11, but has been riding his bike his whole life. He said he was hooked on mountain bike racing at an event that happens Wednesday nights at a little trail in King City and has been doing that every year for the past five years.

"What I do is cross country mountain biking, so it's normally around a really big hill at a conservation centre or something like that. It's a lot of flat trails and a lot of hills – you bike up the hill and then back down. It's also done in laps and at different age categories you've got to do more laps and you've basically just got to do it in the least amount of time possible and try to finish first."

As time went on he realized that he has a passion for the sport and wanted to take it to the next level, so he started registering for Ontario Cup races.

"Ontario Cups are pretty big for me," he said. "Since I do little local race series, like the one in King, that doesn't get you noticed too much, but with the Ontario Cup it's getting pretty big and people will see you and say, 'this person is good, you've got to see him,' but I did a couple Canada Cups last year at the national level and I won a race in Barrie for the Canada Cup, so that's been my biggest win so far. That was just an awesome race for me."

But now that he is conquering the Ontario and Canada Cup circuits, he admitted that he is now even eyeing the next level.

"I definitely have my eye on some of the bigger races like world cups and stuff like that – that would be awesome," he said. "I want to start doing World Cups and there's one of those this year at Mont Ste.-Anne, which I'm looking at. Also the Olympics in 2016. I've just got to keep riding my bike and keep doing that and training."

At this point, training at least four days a week is crucial for the young athlete in working toward those higher goals.

"It's definitely a lot about endurance, but it's also about smoothness through corners and fastness uphill, so working on that is also important," he said. "It's basically I've just got to keep biking and what I do when I'm training is just go as fast as I can and then take a break and as fast as I can again and so on. So I just try to be fast and smooth."

This summer is going to be crucial for his training and development. Aside from traveling to Africa, Graham said he will be biking a lot and has more races planned this summer than ever before. "It's going to be fun and intense, I know that," he said.

For a 16-year-old, none of this comes easy as trying to strike the proper balance between school, friends, family and sport becomes a juggling act.

"It can definitely be tough at times," he admitted. "There are days when I know I need to train, but I still want to go out with my buddies, so it's really all about balance. At the moment I'm really trying to put school first, because exams are coming up, but I'm also trying to stay on my bike."

"Last week I did 70 something kilometers to make up for a couple days in the week, just so I can get those kilometers in. I also try and take a couple days off for school, but I try and compensate later for that in training."

It's his competitive nature that keeps focussed and forging ahead, but he admitted the sweetness of winning keeps him coming back for more.

"It's awesome to win a race and it makes me want to go out and race again," he said.

Mental toughness is another trait that comes in handy when you're sitting at the top of the hill waiting for the race to start, but Graham has his steady routine to help him get in the right frame of mind.

"I just throw my iPod on about an hour before and just ride around to get my legs warmed up, so you just have to get yourself in a good mental place and keep telling yourself that you really want to win the race. You've got to convince yourself that you're going to win."

That mentality seems to be working great for Graham lately and he will take that to his next big race on July 14 in Sudbury, where he will be competing in his first Canada Cup this year.

"The rush right at the start line when they say, 'go' is just awesome and the feeling that you get when you're in first place and leading everyone is awesome and I love doing that – I love mountain biking basically, it's just so much fun."

Stanley Cup comes to King

The Township of King would like to congratulate Daniel Carcillo and Mike Kitchen of the Chicago Blackhawks on winning the Stanley Cup.

Daniel will be bringing the Cup back to his home town of King City this Sunday, July 14, to celebrate with the community.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini was extremely proud of this home-grown hero and excited to see the cup coming to town.

"I am absolutely thrilled that one of our local boys is part of this amazing victory for a second time," said Mayor Pellegrini. "Back in 2010 Nick Boynton brought the Stanley Cup to King and now Daniel Carcillo is bringing it home again. Chicago Blackhawks Assistant Coach Mike Kitchen is also from Schomberg. King is definitely a hockey town and we look forward to celebrating this historic event."

The celebration will take place at the King City Community Centre and Arena from noon to 3 p.m. The event will include a free BBQ and an opportunity to see the Stanley Cup and get a picture with Daniel.

For more details visit www.king.ca or call 905-833-5321, extension 3006.

This event is proudly sponsored by RBC – King City.

King United hosts U8 festival

This past weekend King United Soccer Club (KUSC) played host to the York Region Soccer Association (YRSA) at Osin Lions Park in Schomberg for an U8 Festival.

There were 27 U8 boys teams and 9 U8 girls from across the YRSA registered and several KUSC referees that showed up to participate in the festival.

U8 festivals were developed by the OSA in 2012 as a way of promoting skill development on smaller fields with a 5 vs. 5 format, that allows more touches on the ball for under 8 players. These festivals are one day events and are played across the province during the outdoor season.

Many dedicated KUSC volunteers showed up to support the festival and help organize the events of the day. A great day was had by all.

The word around King

Would you support sales of alcohol in corner stores?

Jeff Crawford
 "Yes. It should definitely be. It would be a lot more convenient for everyone."

Sabrina Walker
 "I think a lot of research would be needed to find out the effect on youth and even drunk driving. It's not necessary."

Bill Duggan
 "No because it would be too easy to get. LCBO is doing a good job and we should just let them handle it. We don't want it to be easier for young people to get."

Denise Flys
 "I think that would be ok. It would still be controlled anyways, so I don't think there's anything wrong with it."

Giorno Italia event held in Nobleton

There was a definite Italian theme recently at the Postmaster House in Nobleton. Put on by King Township Museum, Arts Society King and King Township Archive, it provided a place to share stories and experience the food, music and art of Italy. There were also examples of craft. Amanda Brittin of Mount Albert (below) was demonstrating her skill with this crocheted bracelet. Yvana Pontisso of Famee Furlane (left) had lots of information about the organization, as well as the northeastern part of Italy.

Young King Cobras shine on the ball diamonds

By Wayne Rudnitski
VP- KTBA

In a light week of baseball action – shortened by the July 1 Canada Day holiday – KTBA King Cobras baseball teams notched 2 victories against a single loss.

With the heat and humidity making it definitely feel like the baseball season is truly here, the kids and the coaches are getting amped up over the exciting games set for the next few weeks. Let's support the youth of King Township as they endeavor to learn how to play the game the right way, learn team play and good sportsmanship and have a fun and enjoyable summer, as young kids and teenagers should.

Senior Rookie

On June 26, RCC Waterproofing King Cobras notched their second straight win 5-4 over Vaughan X-mid Truck. Luke Pella had a solid game going 2-2 at the plate and scored the winning run in the bottom of the 4th inning. David Stewart had the game winning hit to bring in Pella.

Ryan Hull was solid with a huge hit to the outfield. Jonathan DiGiorgio went 2 for 2 at the plate with a pair of big hits. Luke Parolin was strong at the plate again. Zachary Perruzza, Gianluca Ianacco and Marcus Cohen all had quality at-bats.

There was some clutch defense from Nicole Jacobs and Daniel Marini. The Player of the Game goes to Stewart with a clutch game winning hit. Coaches Anthony, Sandro, Danny and Sam were once again very proud of the team's effort.

On July 3, Vaughan Sheraton Parkway visited Nobleton to face Omnivex King Cobras. Both teams had slow starts but Omnivex got one run in when Joseph Carvalho doubled to bring in Massimo Amodio. In the top of the second Vaughan showed their power when they drove in 5 runs. By the end of the third inning Omnivex trailed by 4 runs.

Vaughan tried to tack on some runs in their fourth and final but Omnivex showed some great defense as Jeffery Long scooped up a grounder and hustled to second base to get an out. The play of game occurred when William Swanson made an amazing catch in centre field to prevent runs from scoring and ended the inning. In the bottom of the fourth Omnivex was down by 5 and had to play catch up. It started with a bang when Swanson cranked one to outfield, hustled around the bases and scored. There Brandon Petrova and Brogan Grammenz touched green. However Omnivex only managed to plate Petrova. The final score was 6-3 for Vaughan which was only Omnivex first loss of the season.

The Player of the Game goes to William Swanson for exhibiting his power at the plate and his amazing leaping ability in hauling in a fly ball that was going over his head.

Bantam

The Husky King Cobras are the team to beat!

On July 3 at the Nobleton-West diamond,

Husky kept their winning streak alive by defeating Vaughan Royal Le Page 13-4 in an outstanding game. Alex Topp, Alex French and Mac MacDonald all displayed patience and skill at the plate by reaching base three times while Zack Long demonstrated his power with the bat by slamming a double and a triple!

The Cobras also exhibited keen defensive skills by making some extraordinary catches. Pignataro snagged a come-backer to the mound, Leighton Costanzo made a great diving catch at second base.

MacDonald praised for efforts in team's win

MacDonald made a running catch in centre field and Daniel Kandelas deftly tagged out a Vaughan runner attempting to steal third.

Also contributing to the team's victory was Scott Cameron with two RBIs and MacDonald, Topp, French, Long, Pignataro, Michael DeCarlo, Mathew Lancaster, Thomas Galt and Eric Marchetta – each scoring runs.

The team's thievery on the bases was a noteworthy component to the cause and showcased the player's baseball knowledge and quick wheels. It would appear that Hus-ky's motto for the game was, "Opportunity always involves some risk. You can't steal second base and keep your foot on first!" It was evident by all that the team played hard and they were rewarded for their efforts.

Player of the Game honours go to MacDonald who made a successful running catch in centre field, pitched a 1-2-3 shut down fifth inning, collected two RBIs and threw a strike to Kandelas to nail a runner at third.

Player of the Week

The KTBA Player of the honours for last week goes to William Swanson on the Omnivex King Cobras Senior Rookie team. Swanson was large at the plate hitting with power and made an amazing over the head catch of a fly ball robbing the opponents of some runs.

The KTBA Cobra Player of the Week honours for the week of June 24 goes to Ethan Di Giorgio of the Rona King Cobras Junior Rookie team. Di Giorgio drove in the only run to score in an epic defensive struggle resulting in a 1-0 victory for the Rona squad.

ASK Festival King in its final stretch

Arts Society King's popular summer festival is heading into its final 10 days.

There are still some wonderful opportunities to explore art, heritage and nature in King Township.

For boat enthusiasts, the "Golden Age of Boat-Building" exhibit at the Township Museum showcases photos of luxury water craft from the 1930s and '40s, Tuesday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Watch a boat being built, from the ground up, part of our last two Family Nature Days – Saturdays, July 13 and 20.

Come and hear Catsue McBroom as she recounts the exciting adventure of her great-great uncle who, at age 20, went as a recruit from England on the Ernest Shackleton Imperial Transatlantic Expedition in 1914-1917. Catsue will delve into the mystery surrounding the men who might have been lost on this voyage. This final lunch and learn event will be held at the luxurious Kingbridge Centre. Lunch will be served in the dining room overlooking the beautiful grounds.

There are still some opportunities to Discover the Creative You by attending one of our many unique workshops. There is space left in:

Monday, July 15 – Intuitive Painting - Mixed Media; Wednesday, July 17 – Silver Plated Jewellery and Thursday, July 18 – Oil Painting for Beginners.

ASK Festival presents unique activities

Residents watch boat taking shape

By Jeff Doner

For the past 10 years King resident Jacques Cantin has been building boats from scratch and lately has been putting his skills on display outside of the King City museum.

This past weekend he was hard at work, putting the cedar strips in place for the 12-foot row boat, as part of the ASK Festival King activities.

Cantin started building boats when he saw his brother do it first. They built one together and then he got into it himself, eventually building a small boat for his son to get around in throughout the summer.

"I'm not a master builder by any means," he said, while carefully tightening a clamp. "It was something I just wanted to try out and do. It's really not that hard. All it takes is some time and don't be afraid to try stuff."

He has modeled the current project after a Peterborough Car Topper boat that his grandfather and father owned. He has remodeled it into a cedar strip boat, which he explained is a lot simpler.

Those who stopped by got to watch Cantin work on his boat, ask questions and see how it's done.

"It's just something I like to do in my spare time," he said. "It's a lot of fun and it can sometime help you get in a zone and forget about work and everything else for a while."

It's scheduled to be launched at Cold Creek Conservation Area July 20.
