King hopes to create stormwater management plan

By Mark Pavilons

King Township will begin the process of creating a comprehensive stormwater management plan for the municipality.

As well, councillors agreed to add a flood study component, and will look into the feasibility of a stormwater utility.

The Township is responsible for an extensive network of stormwater infrastructure in King City, Nobleton, Schomberg, Laskay, Snowball, Lloydtown, Ansnorveldt and Pottageville. The Township also manages an extensive network of culverts in the rural areas.

While King initially included stormwater within its Water and Wastewater Servicing Mater Plan, staff determined a more comprehensive study was needed. Recent storms and flooding in Schomberg and Nobleton, as well as impacts of commercial development in King City, all point to the need for an up to date stormwater management plan.

"... stormwater infrastructure is being challenged by events of significant rainwater duration and/or intensity. As a result, municipalities are identifying deficiencies within the support infrastructure and determining there are potentially significant budget impacts to respond to these identified deficiencies," staff noted.

Maintaining such infrastructure is costly and some municipalities – nearby Aurora, Vaughan and Newmarket – have turned to a stormwater utility fee.

This is meant to ensure a stable base of funding to support development, maintenance and replacement of the pipes. Staff will be examining the feasibility of this in King.

Staff concluded a comprehensive stormwater management plan is "imperative to the long-term evaluation, operation and maintenance of the

King actor part of powerful mini-series

By Mark Pavilons

Good stories make for great TV drama. Canada's organized crime is the subject of the City original series Bad Blood. The first screening of the mini-series takes place Sept. 1 at Fan Expo Canada in Toronto.

Starring Anthony LaPaglia (Without a Trace), Kim Coates (Sons of Anarchy), Paul Sorvino (Goodfellas), and King's own Enrico Colantoni (Flashpoint), Bad Blood is inspired by the Canadian true-crime story of reputed mobster Vito Rizzuto. Colantoni portrays Bruno Bonsignori.

"Bad Blood is a story of family, loyalty, deceit, power, greed and ultimately revenge," the official press release states. "Montreal Mafia boss Vito Rizzuto is a criminal anomaly – the only man to bring peace among the disparate wings of the Montreal crime world who would serve as a de facto CEO while ensuring a lucrative payday for all. When Rizzuto is suddenly arrested and extradited to Colorado's Supermax Prison for the 1981 murders of three Bonanno crime family members, the powerful empire he built begins to crumble.

"Rizzuto watches helplessly as his family and friends are killed one by one. Upon his release from prison in October 2012, a revenge tale unfolds, leading to the brutal murders of his closest companions, and ultimately, to the death of Rizzuto himself."

The series is based on the book Business or Blood: Mafia Boss Vito Rizzuto's Last War, by authors Antonio Nicaso and Peter Edwards.

It's a six-part series, produced in partnership with New Metric Media and Sphère Média Plus in association with DHX Media and Skyvision.

The premier of Bad Blood is on Thursday, Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. ET/PT, and Ghosted on Sunday, Oct. 1 at 8:30 p.m. ET/PT, on City.

Much of the series was filmed in Chelmsford, Ontario, northwest of Sudbury.

Applicant: Tribute Nobleton Holdings Corp.
Agent: Weston Consulting
Location: Block 208, Plan 65M-4448; Nobleton

Proposal:

The applications for Zoning By-law Amendment and Draft Plan of Subdivision propose to allow the creation of 22 new residential lots fronting onto a new public street. The purpose of the Zoning By-law Amendment application is to rezone the lands to Residential Urban (Nobleton) One (R1N-1), Residential Urban (Nobleton) Two (R1N-2), Residential Urban (Nobleton) Three (R1N-3), and Residential Urban (Nobleton) Four (R1N-4), and provide for the subject lands to be subject to Holding (H) provisions which require sanitary and water servicing allocation to be assigned to the development prior to the lifting of the Holding (H) provisions.

King urges motorists to mind school zones

Slow down, keep your head up and obey the rules of the road.

These three simple actions are something King Township is asking motorists to keep in mind since students will soon be heading back to school.

"Motorists need to adjust to an increase in traffic as people return to work from vacation and students return to school after the summer break," said King Township Mayor Steve Pellegrini. "Be mindful of school busses and children walking or biking to school. Trying to shave a couple of minutes off your trip by speeding or passing busses with lights flashing is not worth the risk."

Speeding, distracted and impaired driving are three entirely preventable behaviours, said Pellegrini.

"Slow down, put your phone down and concentrate on driving," Pellegrini said.

Here are some safety tips:

- Leave early to avoid rushing and disobeying the rules of the road.
- Stop when a bus has its arm extended and lights flashing. Do not proceed until the lights are turned off.
- Slow down in school zones and keep an eye out for children.
- Do not park in bus loading/unloading zones, even if you're only going to be a couple of minutes dropping off a child.
- Avoid three-point turns and U-turns in school zones.
- Obey crossing guards and signage.

Schomberg's Jayne is top 10 Showdown finalist

By Brock Weir

Inspiration was just a channel flip away for Schomberg's Zoe Jayne.

Recently named to the Top 20 in the 2017 Hoedown Showdown, the annual competition hosted by Magna International to find Canada's next country star, Jayne was just about at a loss as to what song she was going to perform before the judges for the semis.

Time was running short as the semi-finalists were due to hit the stage at Aurora's Ribfest on Saturday afternoon, but the muse called and she hit the boards as a woman on a mission.

"The news came on in the background and I thought this song was more meaningful today than it has ever been," Jayne told judges as she launched into "That's Why I Pray" by Big & Rich.

"Than on the TV's gone insane, everybody's just laughing," the song begins.

"People 'cross the world holding on
The earth caved in, the ocean came crashing

"My neighbour lost his house 'cause he can't find a job

"Don't you dare pledge allegiance, don't you dare speak of God

"Now I'm begging for forgiveness

"I want to make a difference even in the smallest way

"I'm only one person but I can feel it working

"I believe in better days

"That's why I pray."

The timeliness of the 2012 lyrics was not lost on judges Tom Cross of Metalworks Studios' TV personality, philanthropist and King resident Joan Walker, and Steve Hinder of Magna and Neighbourhood Network. Nor was the quality of her voice, which landed her in the Top 10 on Saturday afternoon.

"I have been playing this song for a long time and I thought it was a very good time to share it," she said.

"You are my surprise of the day," said Cross. "You came up, you sang great, and sang a song I actually have never heard and it sounded like your song. Then I looked back (at the semi-finals) and thought the last time you sang, it was a song I had never heard and you're through until here. You're onto something. You know who you are and I really enjoyed it."

Walker agreed, adding: "You could probably sing anything. I just love your voice, the power and subtlety."

Before securing a place in the Top 10, Jayne was keeping her fingers crossed she would make it over the next hurdle. Between now and the finals on Friday, Sept. 14 at Magna's annual Wild, Wild West Hoedown, the Top 10 will undergo an intensive mentorship week with industry professionals who will be on hand to help the musicians hone their craft.

Being able to experience that would be "unreal," said Jayne, but now reality is setting in.

Joining her in the Top 10 are: John Anderson (Barrie), Sarah Campbell Mills (Burlington), Mike Chianelli (Sutton West), Patrick James Clark (Mulmur), Abby J. Hall (Burlington), Jamie Lynn Reid (Keswick), Katie Sacco (Toronto), Lauren (Renee) Vandervecht (Sharon), and Cameron Von Criegern (Peterborough).

Aurora was well represented in the Top 20 by Collette Zorzella, who wowed the crowd with her rendition of Dolly Parton's "Jolene," as well as former Aurora Teen Idol Melissa Suma, who also borrowed from the Dolly's songbook with "I Will Always Love You," which won praise from the judges.

"That was a really powerful performance and I keep finding myself looking (at the sheet) to make sure you are only 15 because it has been a treat sitting in this seat for three years and watching you grow," said Hinder of Melissa. "Watching your vocal progression has been great and you sure make Aurora proud."

The judges, however, encouraged the 15-year-old to embrace her youth and try out more contemporary work.

"Sometime I want to hear you sing a song a 15-year-old would sing," said Cross. "You're always singing songs that are about yesterday, that older entertainers should be singing. Sometime I would like to see the fun girl in Melissa who has her whole life ahead of her because you are a great singer and a great talent."

How much is enough?
Liability insurance is mandatory, but you can adjust the level to meet your needs and risk.

What is liability insurance?
Liability insurance covers the cost of damages (for accident benefits, medical costs, lawsuits and awards) in the event of personal injury or death from an accident involving the insured party. In other words, you are financially protected if you are injured or if you are held liable for an injury or loss by others arising from the operation of your vehicle.

What is no-fault insurance?
Many provinces in Canada now have some level of no-fault insurance in which each person's own insurance company pays for injury or damage up to a certain limit. This applies regardless of whether or not

When to consider extra coverage
The recommended level of liability insurance coverage is usually about $1 million. There are some situations in which you might want to increase your liability limit depending on the use of your vehicle. For example, if you drive into the U.S. on a regular basis, where liability settlements are generally higher than in Canada, you might want to consider higher coverage. If you carpool to work or drive groups of children in your car to school or after-school events, you might want to increase your coverage to reflect the higher risks to which you are exposed.

Umbrella Liability Policy
You can purchase an Umbrella Liability Policy that provides additional liability coverage to your home and car insurance. For example, if you have $1 million on your home and $1 million on your car, but don't feel it is sufficient, instead of adding $1 million to each, you can buy an Umbrella Liability Policy for an additional million that covers both.

Township stormwater infrastructure."

Staff also believe there is value in exploring funding options.

Nobleton resident Susan Lloyd Swail appeared before council, asking that a comprehensive flood study be included in the master plan. The Kinsley Street resident noted she's experienced flooding on her property for many years, and it's getting worse.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini noted the comprehensive stormwater management review is long overdue and he's please to see this work progress. He asked staff to include a flood study in the evaluation of needed remediation work.

Councillor Cleve Mortelliti stressed council's priority is a detailed flood plan. Once this is created, council can then look at finding ways to fund the necessary work.

Staff will return to council in early 2018 with a report presenting their findings, and looking for further direction.

We can't erase racism from our history

In our haste to promote love and understanding for all, I wonder if we're trying to erase our past.

In an effort to combat racism, our American cousins are removing memorials to the past. In the U.S. south, there's a move to eliminate all statues that pay homage to the Confederacy.

I fully understand that there's no room to promote hatred and racism in our society. But is removing historic statues the answer? Will eliminating all signs of past racism solve our problems?

Absolutely not.

If we follow this example, we'd have to tear down many world wonders, which were built by slave labour.

Many believe the U.S. Civil War was fought over the moral issue of slavery. That's not completely accurate. It was the economics of slavery and political control of that system, that was central to the conflict. And a key issue were the rights of states to usurp federal laws, and yes, one was for the South's right to keep slaves. The Southern states wanted to expand slavery into the western territories.

With the election of Abraham Lincoln, one of the most revered presidents in history, the South knew they lost all federal support, and the only recourse was war.

Our human history is filled with racism and slavery and we simply can't wipe the slate clean and start over. We can't ignore what happened over thousands of years and just turn the page.

We often hear people saying we must learn from history – from our mistakes

Mark Pavilons

– in order to move forward and evolve. That's indisputable.

Sure, if human beings never had slavery or racism, just think how far ahead we would be today.

It's easy for us to judge our ancestors using today's moral code. We simply can't grasp their primitive and narrow-minded ideals.

Nevertheless, our species endured many "growing pains" over the millennia to become a modern, civilized society.

Volumes upon volumes of historic texts and documents paint a rather awful picture of our ancestors. There's no shortage of examples from our past of brutality, genocide, mass murder and slavery.

Many of our most revered statesmen and figures have uttered politically incorrect statements. Many former heroes were slave owners, or promoted slavery. That's a historic fact. There's no debating it – it happened.

Even Lincoln himself made many racist statements – racist by today's standards, but common in the 1800s:

"A separation of the races is the only perfect preventive of amalgamation, but as an immediate separation is impossible, the next best thing is to keep them apart where they are not already together," he said.

"I am not, nor ever have been, in favour of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races ..."

Should we now rewrite or edit some of his writings and speeches, eliminating all racist comments?

One only has to look at Mount Rushmore for examples of former "racists."

But the Americans weren't the only ones to blame.

The international slave trade of the 18th and 19th centuries involved most of Europe, the Americas and Asia. The African slave trade – the epitome of suffering and exploitation – furthered the economies of all of these countries. Perhaps we should all bow our collective heads in shame.

In Canada, we bear a similar cross in respect to our aboriginal peoples. Statues honour Louis Riel, who taught in a residential school. He was also quoted as saying Blackfoot and Blood First Nations "were nothing but savages."

We're still trying to right many wrongs to this day and our track record is less than stellar.

We're confronting our demons, admitting guilt, and learning from our mistakes.

There's a push to remove the name Sir. John A. Macdonald – Canada's first prime minister – from schools because of his policies towards Indigenous Canadians during the 19th century.

Our society and government policies are changing to reflect our disdain for our past indiscretions.

That's all we can do. Instead of rallying to tear down statues and rewrite our history, this should be an opportunity for an open and frank discussion. We should be debating all of these rights and wrongs, and work towards finding solutions, or at least preventing us from falling backward.

We have abolished slavery in North America. In the U.S. you can still find segregation. And slavery, physical or economic, still exists in some parts of the world today.

We are making inroads in terms of gender liberalization and sexual orientation. Yet, in some countries, being gay results in ostracization and even death.

Our U.S. neighbours are struggling with white supremacy. Almost every country in the world has some form of ethnic "superiority complex."

We're well aware of the "deadly sins," and yet, we still live with, even encourage, greed, gluttony, wrath and vanity.

These are the real reasons we can't seem to break the mold and move forward. These are the reasons we choose to hate.

You can't mandate good behaviour, and we all have a role to play in making progress towards a truly unified society.

Taxes are largest household expense

Despite high housing costs across the country, the average Canadian family spent more on taxes in 2016 than housing, food and clothing combined, finds a new study released today by the Fraser Institute, an independent, non-partisan Canadian public policy think-tank.

"Many Canadians may think housing is their biggest household expense, but in fact the average Canadian family spent more on taxes last year than on life's basic necessities – including housing," said Charles Lammam, director of fiscal studies at the Fraser Institute and co-author of the Canadian Consumer Tax Index, which tracks the total tax bill of the average Canadian family from 1961 to 2016.

Last year, the average Canadian family earned $83,105 and paid $35,283 in total taxes compared to $31,069 on housing (including rent and mortgage payments), food and clothing combined.

In fact, the average Canadian family paid nearly twice as much of their income in taxes (42.5 per cent) as they did for housing (22.1 per cent). The basic necessities of life, which include food, clothing and housing, amounted to just 37.4 per cent of income – still less than the percentage of income going to taxes.

This represents a marked shift since 1961, when the average Canadian family spent much less on taxes (33.5 per cent) than on food, clothing and housing (56.5 per cent).

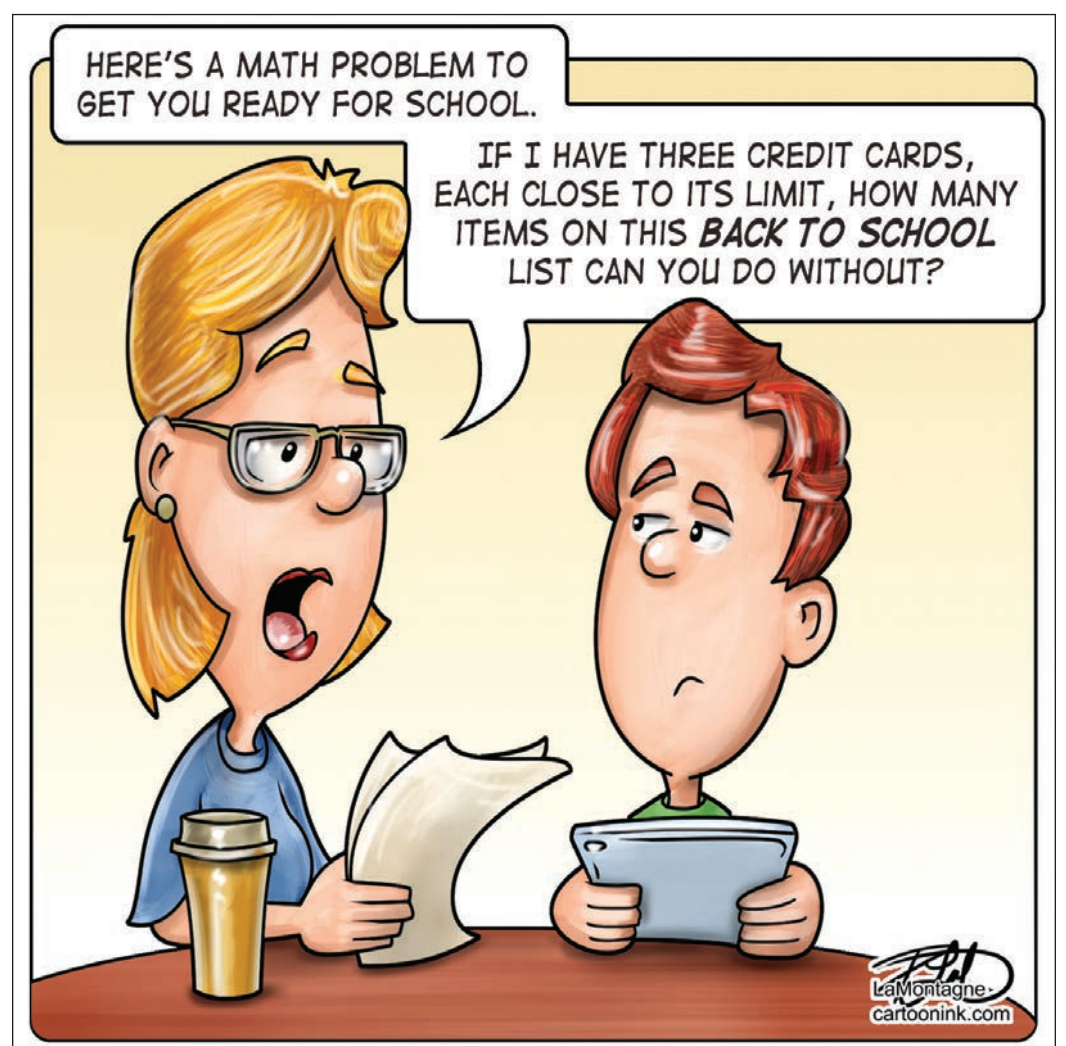

The total tax bill reflects both visible and hidden taxes that families pay to the federal, provincial and local governments including income, payroll, sales, property, carbon, health, fuel and alcohol taxes and more.

Since 1961, the average Canadian family's total tax bill has increased by a staggering 2,006 per cent, dwarfing increases in annual housing costs (1,527 per cent), clothing (677 per cent), and food (639 per cent).

Even after accounting for inflation, the tax bill has still increased 157.6 per cent over this period.

"Taxes help fund important public services that Canadians rely on, but the issue is the amount of taxes governments take compared to what Canadians get in return," Lammam said.

"With more than 42 per cent of their income going to taxes, Canadians might ask whether they're getting good value for their tax dollars."

INGREDIENTS:

FOR THE TERIYAKI SAUCE

- 1/4 c. low-sodium soy sauce
- 1/4 c. water
- 2 tsp. cornstarch
- 4 tbsp. honey
- 2 tbsp. pineapple juice
- 2 tbsp. rice wine vinegar
- 2 cloves garlic, minced

FOR THE SALMON

- 4 salmon fillets, boneless with skin on
- kosher salt
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 4 to 6 green onions
- Toasted sesame seeds, for garnish
- Fresh cilantro, for garnish

DIRECTIONS

1. Make the teriyaki sauce: Add all ingredients to a saucepan and whisk together. Place mixture over medium-low heat and simmer until mixture has thickened enough to coat the back of a spoon.
2. Preheat grill to 375°. Place salmon, skin-side down, onto a cedar plank board (that has been soaking for 30 minutes) or place salmon onto a parchment-lined baking sheet. Season with salt and pepper.
3. Grill salmon with the lid closed until salmon has barely cooked through, 18 to 20 minutes. Brush teriyaki sauce generously over salmon and cover grill again. Grill 5 minutes more, then remove from heat and coat with more glaze, if desired.
4. Place green onions directly on hot grill surface and sear on each side, 2 to 3 minutes. Top salmon with sesame seeds and cilantro and serve with grilled green onions.

Mackenzie Health recognized for patient care

Mackenzie Health has been recognized by HIMSS Analytics for achieving Stage 6 on the HIMSS Electronic Medical Record (EMR) Adoption Model (EMRAM). This is an international benchmark for the use of advanced Information Technology (IT) to improve patient care.

Mackenzie Health is the first Canadian hospital with a full-suite Epic EMR and one of four Ontario community hospitals to have achieved this designation to date.

HIMSS Analytics is a global health-care advisor, providing guidance and market intelligence solutions that move the industry forward with insight to enable better health through the use of IT. Across North America, HIMSS tracks more than 5,400 hospitals on its Electronic Medical Record Adoption ModelSM (EMRAM) and, following a rigorous review process, grades hospitals on their application of electronic medical records. While approximately 32 per cent of hospitals have received Stage 6 designation in the United States of America, only 1 per cent of Canadian hospitals have achieved this level of functionality in their EMR (Q2 2017 data).

The Stage 6 designation recognizes Mackenzie Health's leadership in being the first hospital in Canada to implement the Epic End-to-End EMR. The state-of-the-art clinical information system provides an integrated medical record that makes it possible for the care team to spend more time with patients, provide physicians with exactly what they need to make important health care decisions quicker and empower patients with easy access to their health records. The implementation was one of the largest transformational projects in Mackenzie Health's history.

"We are extremely proud of our entire team's pioneering efforts to be the first Canadian hospital with a full-suite Epic EMR to reach EMRAM Stage 6. This designation is a testament to Mackenzie Health's commitment to creating a world-class health experience and sets a new standard for how care is delivered in our community and at the health system level," said Richard Tam, executive vice president and CAO, Mackenzie Health our entire organization's mission to relentlessly improve care to create healthier communities and our commitment to the highest level of patient safety in our electronic medical record adoption. Through focused, strategic leadership and sustained efforts from our team, Mackenzie Health took a step forward to help deliver excellent quality care to every patient, every time through state-of-the-art technology systems," Diane Salois-Swallow, Chief Information Officer, Mackenzie Health.

"This important designation reflects

Mackenzie Health is a dynamic regional health care provider which includes the existing Mackenzie Richmond Hill Hospital and the future Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital, as well as a comprehensive network of community-based services. The groundbreaking for the new Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital was held on Oct. 25, 2016. In March 2017, the organization received its second consecutive award of Accreditation with Exemplary Standing from Accreditation Canada for its commitment to safety and quality patient care. This is the highest rating a Canadian health care provider can receive. Guided by a vision to create a world-class health experience, Mackenzie Health has an unrelenting focus on the patient and is dedicated to patient needs now and in the future. With over 500,000 residents in Southwest York Region, Mackenzie Health is proud to serve one of the fastest growing and most diverse communities in Canada. ### Venues join Doors Open in King this fall

The King Township Historical Society is excited to partner with the King Township Heritage Advisory Committee in announcing the return of Doors Open King Township 2017.

This year's event will take place on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This is a great opportunity to visit and enjoy a "behind the scenes" glimpse of some heritage treasures located all across King Township.

The 15 participating venues have one thing in common – they continue to preserve and protect buildings that have a long-standing history in the community. Buildings that have served as former general stores, churches, schools and doctor's offices are continuing to serve the community of King Township in new capacities such as restaurants, coffee houses, real estate offices, and more! Repurposing a heritage structure turns something from the past into something for the future, which is also a little like magic!

Participating venues this year include:

King Heritage & Cultural Centre, King City; Kingcrafts, King City; Marylake Augustinian Monastery & Shrine, King City; Engel & Volkers (St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church), King City; The Roost Café (Crawford & Maud Wells Home), King City; Hogan's Inn, King City; The Country Day School (Eversley Schoolhouse), King City; Christ Church, Kettleby; Dorio's Bakery (Jacob Walton, General Store & Post Office), Kettleby; Nobleton Feed Mill, Nobleton; Women's Institute (Nobleton Community Hall), Nobleton; Dr. Vaux House, Schomberg; Sugar and Spice Bakery and Café, Schomberg; Masonic Lodge, Schomberg and The Scruffy Duck, Schomberg.

Volunteers are needed to greet visitors at each of the venues. Organizers are offering three shift options: full day, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (6 hours); morning, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. (3 hours); and, afternoon, 1-4 p.m. (3 hours). This event would not be possible without the support of volunteers in our community. If you are interested in volunteering, please contact kingtownshiphistoricalsociety.com.

Icelandic fundraiser was an amazing challenge

By Mark Pavilons

Trekking the Icelandic lava fields is not for the faint of heart. For one King City woman, it was a challenging yet successful fundraiser for a worthy cause.

King's Alba DiPlacido was among roughly 90 people from across Canada who trekked across the Iceland's landscape, raising money and awareness for Shelter Foundation.

"It has been one of the most incredibly challenging and meaningful experiences in my life, one that truly aligned the hearts and souls of all participants to helping and supporting this worthy cause," she said.

Prior to going on the this trek, the participants trained to log many kilometres. Alba said she could easily do 20 kilometres in four hours in King. "I believe we were all quite naive in not knowing how challenging the terrain in Iceland would be," she said.

The first day was a 14-kilometre hike that introduced them to the beauty of Iceland.

"To state that the scenery was breathtaking is an understatement."

The group navigated some steep mountain paths to the crest of a crater overlooking a beautiful glacial lake. This trek allowed the guides to assess individual abilities and capabilities.

The second day was "gruelling in the terrain, geothermal hot pools, snow fields, constant inclines and declines and fiercely blowing winds." A steep, 1,300-metre ascent of took 4 and 1/2 hours to climb.

When they arrived at their campsites, the tents went up and meals were prepared by Helga, the amazing chef who elevated camp food and introduced us to some Icelandic fish and lamb dinners.

DiPlacido said every day was an adventure in itself.

"Each day as we set out we would not know what we would encounter in terms of trekking terrain and weather. We were incredibly fortunate to have had five straight days of great weather."

She said it was a "privilege" to be immersed in a landscape that's so powerful and expansive, with deep crevasses and gorges, powerful waterfalls in various lengths and widths, glacial rivers, mountains, craters, snow fields, relatively fresh volcanic ash, "which the winds did their best to blow on our faces."

They group went through the active volcano Katla and their rule was always to support one another along this 100-kilometre hike on the Landmannalaugher Trail.

"We are all incredibly proud of our achievements," she said. "To tackle the challenge that was presented to us, to work together as a community with a shared purpose. This we talked about every evening in our dinner tent as we discussed our reason to undertake the trek - to raise awareness and funds to help victims of domestic violence so they can find their strength to seek support and help."

"I am proud to report I was able to complete all five days of the Trek, made possible only by the genuine love and support from all the amazing members of group two. They nourished my soul, expanded my heart, and by sheer example, pushed me beyond my limits."

The group, according to DiPlacido, raised more than $650,000, which will go directly to shelters in local communities across Canada. It is the largest single fundraising initiative in the history of the 20-year Royal LePage Shelter Foundation which has raised over $22 million so far for this worthy cause.

The foundation directs funds to shelters (80% raised stays in the community). The funds are used for domestic violence prevention and teen healthy relationship programs.

Shelter Foundation was founded in 1988 and has raised over $24 million, supporting approximately 200 shelters and other charities focused on ending domestic violence in Canada.

It is the largest public foundation in Canada dedicated exclusively to supporting women's shelters and violence prevention programs.

Former Seneca basketball star scores big in the real world

By: Mari Satoh

For Felix Adjei, doors of opportunity have been flying open since he completed his accomplished athletic career at Seneca. But if you ask him, Seneca was the key to all of his successes.

A former Seneca Sting basketball star, Adjei was best known around campus as the former scoring champion of the Ontario Colleges Athletic Association and player of the year.

Off the court, Adjei studied Recreation and Leisure Services at Seneca's King Campus. The program, which integrates the natural backdrop of King Campus into its curriculum, provides students with the skills necessary to provide top-notch leisure and recreation experiences for members of the community. Areas of study include business management, adaptive recreation, risk management and community development.

After the program, Adjei secured a position as a personal support worker for Reena, one of GTA's largest service agencies for individuals with developmental disabilities. Then, in 2016, he was called up by Eskilstuna, a professional basketball team, to play for the Swedish Pro Hoops League. He packed his bags and moved overseas to Sweden, where he locked down another position in his field.

"The experience was incredible," says Adjei. "During the day, I used my skills gained at Seneca to serve as a behaviour specialist at a local public school. At night, I was playing against some of the top players in Europe. It changed my life."

Adjei now has the option to return to Sweden for another season, or sign a professional basketball contract in the Philippines.

To support future stars like Adjei on and off the court, Seneca's King Campus expansion will sport new fitness facilities, a gymnasium, student centre, study spaces, labs and classrooms.

Caledon firefighter speaks out for double-hatters at AMO

By Bill Rea

Caledon's "double-hatters" are continuing with their efforts to continue serving in their community, and they have lots of support.

And that includes from the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO).

Caledon District Chief Mandy Gould drew two standing ovations last week when she addressed more than 1,000 delegates at the AMO conference in Ottawa. She was one of five double-hatters in Caledon found to be in violation of the rules of the International Association of Firefighters (IAFF) Local 1068 (Brampton). The ruling came down in June, and is being appealed.

Double-hatters, also known as two-hatters, are full-time professional firefighters who also volunteer their off-duty time answering calls in their home communities.

"I was not really sure what to expect, but it was quite the experience, that's for sure," Gould said.

AMO has been supporting double-hatters in their struggle for some time, and Gould said she was glad for the opportunity to raise awareness of the situation, since many municipalities make use of these professionals as part of their fire service.

Gould's presentation drew very positive reviews.

"Mandy Gould was a star in her performance," Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson declared. "She did an excellent job," he added. "She nailed it."

"There wasn't a dry eye in the house; in the whole conference," AMO President Lynn Dollin said. "She was the only one who drew a standing ovation."

Dollin is the deputy mayor of the Town of Innisfil, and she said they've had some issues there involving double-hatters and their union.

AMO is continuing with its efforts to keep the fight going.

"Hopefully, at some point, common sense will prevail," she remarked.

There have been some improvements over the last couple of years.

The government passed Bill 109, the Employment and Labour Statute Law Amendment Act, which addresses the double-hatter situation, among other things.

AMO made a presentation to the Standing Committee on Justice Policy in November 2015.

"Full-time firefighters have valuable skills to offer local communities in Ontario," the presentation stated.

"It is important to remember that full-time firefighters love their communities and want to contribute," it added. "Volunteer firefighting is one central way in which they do so. AMO appreciates the courageous position of volunteer firefighters who believe in the principle of freedom to volunteer in their communities."

Dollin said the bill provides some security. It prevents these people from losing their jobs for volunteering, but it doesn't stop the unions from fining them, or pressuring them to stop.

"So it's not enough," she observed. "It's something, but it's not enough."

She added AMO is looking to see legislation that will prevent unions from taking such action. She pointed out Ontario and Newfoundland are the only province that don't have such legislation.

"It's just not fair, and you shouldn't be picking on people just for being good citizens and volunteering in their own community," she said.

Truck safety blitz in Nobleton

There was a flurry of activity in the Nobleton area recently, as York Regional Police officers from the Community Oriented Response and Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Units held a commercial vehicle safety blitz on Highway 27 in Nobleton. It resulted in 24 Highway Traffic Act charges laid and four vehicles were taken out of service. Mayor Pellegrini and Councillor David Boyd were on site for a first-hand look and to thank the YRP for their cooperation and presence in our community.

You're invited! – Workshop: September 14th

Learn How Local Experts are Investing in Mortgages

Ever wonder how banks earn big profits? Last quarter, the big 6 banks posted a net profit of $10.15 billion. According to the Canadian Bankers Association, 56% - a significant portion of their profit - is generated from net interest income, such as from residential mortgages.

Local investors can now follow this proven formula for success by becoming mortgage lenders.

"Our investors earn between 8% and 12% annually on private mortgages," said Victor Camba, a mortgage agent at UNION Capital Management who specializes in matching borrowers with individual investors.

For those wanting to learn more, there will be a free workshop on September 14th in Aurora. Investors will learn how to get involved, and how to examine private mortgage deals in order to maximize returns and reduce risk.

Private lenders can invest using cash or registered funds (such as their RRSP). In return, they obtain similar benefits that banks enjoy, such as predictable and stable monthly cash flow, and "bricks and mortar" security.

It is becoming increasingly more difficult to obtain mortgage financing through traditional banks. As a result, these borrowers are turning to private lenders.

A misconception is that these are bad-quality borrowers. "Bad credit? No Credit? No Problem," are advertisements sometimes seen. This is far from the truth.

In 2016, 2.7 million Canadians were self-employed (Statistics Canada). These people are generally in the sales and services industry, such as Realtors and Contractors. There were also 1.2 million small businesses. These borrowers do not meet the bank's lending criteria, and are therefore turned down. Their tax return may show a significantly lower figure than what they actually take home as income.

"We take into consideration all sources of the client's income, including stated business income, something the banks don't do," Victor said. "But we are not going to take undue risk. We will take a calculated risk."

He prefers to offer loans below 80% of the value of the property to limit losses in case of a housing price downturn. Unlike mutual funds or stocks, a mortgage investment is collateralized with existing residential properties within the Greater Toronto Area, including Aurora and Newmarket. If the borrower defaults, their lender has the legal power to sell the property to recover their funds.

"It used to be investors went to their lawyer or accountant and said, 'I have a few million dollars and I want to lend this out and make a good return,'" Victor said. "They are still around, but now there are opportunities for the average investor with cash or an RRSP."

For those who want to invest in real estate without the hassle of tenants or repairing toilets, register online to attend the free workshop. Seating is limited to the first 25 people who register.

Local women in semi-final golf championships

By Shellee Morning

Nobleton Lakes Golf and Country club was host to The Executive Women's Golf Association Semi Final Championship tournament this past weekend, and the beautiful sunshine and a pristine canvas of golf greens were picture perfect. Blue skies and the crisp morning temperatures welcomed approx. 100 enthusiastic ladies for the Semi-Final Championships in what was anticipated to be an exciting round of golf.

The course, known for its challenging holes of rolling hills, immense trees and of course water, didn't disappoint. Although stimulating for some, others chipped their way through with some incredible hits from the tee, reading the greens with precision, and eventually sinking (at times a 30-foot putt) their ball. Players came from as far away as Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio and of course across the GTA all vying to qualify and move onto the next round.

The Executive Women's Golf Association is a non-profit volunteer organization that is dedicated in connecting women to learn, join and play golf within business and fun. The EWGA consists of 4 Chapters between Canada, the United States, Italy and Bermuda with a total of 300 members and still growing. The event began in 1995 and has grown to be the largest women's amateur golf competition in the world. There are 3 stages to complete in order to qualify for the final championships:

The final EWGA Championship Round is a two-day 36-hole event held Oct. 6-7 in Arkansas.

Competitors compete in flights based on their handicaps as well as a scramble team division. Winners from each flight qualify for the finals to be held in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

There were 57 Canadian women playing in the semis, including 4 local ladies from King Township and surrounding area - Julie Oakley, Orietta Bon, Linda Bullock and Anne Jessop. Jessop not only participated in the event, she is also the Chief Volunteer Coordinator for the event. The (Canadian) York-Simcoe Chapter which plays out of the Cardinal Red Crest Golf Club is host to this year's Upper Mid-East Semi Final Championships also had a Scramble Team qualify for this weekend that included Karen Caume, Lianna Chalbot, Michelle Walma and Orietta Bon. The team finished with an impressive 76 Team net score, behind Team GTA Ontario Chapter who placed 1st overall with a 65 Team Net Score.

Playing in the individual rounds were Julie Oakley, Linda Bullock and Anne Jessop. Jessop won 2nd place Low Net in the 3rd flight group, and Linda Bullock won 3rd place Low Gross in the 3rd flight group, while Julie Oakley placed 3rd Low Net in the 4th flight.

The well organized event was a huge success that applauds its many volunteers to which everyone knows events such as this cannot happen without.

Anne Jessop offers special thanks and deep gratitude to the York-Simcoe chapter executive Jennifer Lynn, Chris Payne, Jacqui Mutch, Ailene MacDougal and Megan Bawn for their endless hours of help and support. Jessop and her team would also like to thank the staff at Nobleton Lakes who were highly professional and very friendly. York-Simcoe wishes best of luck to those headed to Arkansas and congratulations to everyone for a fine day of golf and fun.

Liana Chalbot, Orietta Bon, Karen Caume and Michelle Walma represented the York-Simcoe Ontario Chapter in EWGA Semi-Final Championships Team Scramble division.

Nobleton Dental holds sports guard clinic

Nobleton Dental Gallery is once again offering its annual sports guard clinic. This year's event will take place Saturday, Sept. 9 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Staff will provide free sports guards for NobleKing athletes of all ages. Sports guards cover and cushion your teeth to prevent injuries to your teeth, gums, tongue, and jaws. They are provided free, which is one way the clinic supports the community.

During the clinic, several staff members will be present, and some of them will be bringing family members to help as well. It will be a very fast-paced event as they have a continuous stream of patients. The impressions and molds are done in-house.

By Jake Courtepatte

Ride, run, shoot, swim, and fence.

To be a strong pentathlon athlete, one has to master each of these components, and a handful of local students were given a helping hand with the first of five at Briarwood Farm this summer.

King-Vaughan MPP Deb Schulte met with four students last week at the King City farm who are participating in the Canada Summer Jobs program, aimed to provide funding for employers to give summer opportunities to students.

Max Janousek, Stuart Synnott, Sophia Paonessa, and Daria Przebelska landed at the farm looking to work while pursuing their sport.

"MP Deb Schulte has supported Pentathlon Canada in the King Vaughan riding for the second year now," said volunteer Linda Janousek. "We are grateful for the opportunity to bring our 5 sports to more communities in Ontario."

Located on Dufferin Street, Briarwood Farm was one of two local farms to participate in this year's Pentathlon Partner Project along with Lawriewood Farm.

Charity cycle to remember firefighter

By Jake Courtepatte

At the age of 26, Sara Rosen donated one of her kidneys to her brother, and became an advocate of organ donation ever since.

The 38-year-old, whose passion for giving back to the community was well known, tragically passed away last May after falling off a trail while mountain biking at the Kelso Conservation Area in Milton.

"Sara was passionate about many causes," said Adam Simson, a long-time King resident and friend who completed his Captain's course along with Sara in the spring of 2016. "Sara was the kind of person that gave back to communities in any way she could."

Rosen's accident happened just shortly after completing the course, while working out of Station 413 on Islington

Avenue in Etobicoke.

Her desire to help others was not lost in her death, as her parents Ann and Allen established the Sara Rosen Tribute Fund to raise money and awareness for organ donation and mental health, two causes Sara was adamant about in her life.

"Sara was inspirational and the type of person that believed in standing up against anything that she believed was unjust," said Simson. "In fact, she was about to attend law school in the fall of 2015 and take after her father, who is a lawyer."

This year Sara's friends, family, and fellow firefighters have taken one step further in putting together the first annual "Sara's Ride," a mountain biking ride/race designed to raise funds and awareness while bringing people together to remember Sara's life.

"This is an opportunity for families to get outside, ride, socialize and raise funds and awareness for PTSD, mental health, positive spaces and organ donation," said Simson.

To be held on Sept. 23 at the Albion Hills Conservation Area in Caledon, Sara's Ride will feature both a two and four hour event, with each lap consisting of 12 kilometres, as well as a "youth lap" for those 17 and under.

Families of riders are welcome to come out and enjoy the site with music and food.

The benefitting organizations are the kidney transplant program at Toronto General Hospital, the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health in Toronto, and the Positive Spaces program in Toronto, which works against discrimination in the workplace of which Sara was an ambassador for.

To donate, or learn more about the ride, visit www.sarasride.com.

Costumes are encouraged. No bikinis are necessary. Greasers, surfers, Jackie Os, debutantes, beehives, beatniks.

So don't be square – see you there!

Schomberg Agricultural Society

The Fair board has a busy month coming up and because of that our whole community benefits.

The board invites everyone to come out and enjoy their annual Community Spirit Bonfire on Saturday, Sept. 16 at 6 p.m. on the Schomberg fairgrounds.

This is the board's thank-you to our community for their continued support. There will be kids' crafts, live entertainment on the stage, food, lots of fun and of course a huge bonfire!

For more information please call Cathy at 905-939-8283.

Diamonds and Denim gala

The fair board invites everyone to their gala on Saturday, Sept. 30 at the Schomberg Community Hall, on our illustrious Main Street.

There will be a dinner, dance with a roast beef dinner, cash bar, live and silent auction and so much more! Dinner starts at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $35 each or $50 per couple. Please contact Cathy at 905-939-8283 or manager@schombergfair.com for more information or to purchase tickets for the event.

Proceeds from this event will go directly to our own Mike and Bonnie O'Hara.

Mike O'Hara has been farming his entire life. He was born on a farm near Brampton and moved to King Township in the early '60s. He is a long-time member and currently vice-president of the Schomberg Agricultural Society. Most importantly, Mike is a true and loyal friend and member of the farming community. He is always ready to help whenever he can.

Mike has been battling a virus for several months, which has been attacking his spine and has left him immobile. He has had some help from his friends and family with his farm work however, his crop has suffered significantly.

We are asking for your help and support in getting Mike out of his wheel chair and back behind the wheel of his tractor – where he belongs!

Hope to see you all on Sept. 30 at Schomberg Community Hall.

King's Corners

King City United
By Earle Laycock

Sunday was a music Sunday. Rev. Evelyn McLachlan reflected on the seasons of faith. The scripture passages Rev. Evelyn focused on were Hebrews 13: 1-8 and Luke 14: 1 and 7-14. As she moves into a new decade of her life, Evelyn stressed how important music is in our faith and our living. Although Jesus has not changed, our perception of his life and teaching do throughout our lives, just as the seasons of each year change and reflect a different aspect of the year.

Congratulations to Jean Kirby who celebrated her 100th birthday Saturday. A party was held at All Saints Anglican Church in her honour organized by daughter Sandra and son Wayne. Blair Day did an admirable job as MC and delivered greetings from Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, Governor General David Johnston and Mayor Pellegrini among other dignitaries.

We wish Jean all the best and hope that she enjoyed the long lineup of friends and family bringing her good wishes.

Another celebration took place after worship Sunday as Rev. Evelyn celebrated her 60th birthday. Congregation, family and friends joined in celebrating her 60 years in this world, including 30 years of ministry. Many pictures, music and stories were shared as friends reminisced about Evelyn and her ministry.

Thanks to all who made this day so special for Evelyn and who donated to the Food Bank or made a donation to the church in Evelyn's honour.

It's not too late to send us a postcard during your summer travels! There will be a prize once again for the person who has travelled the farthest (or maybe sent the most postcards). Wherever you travel, find time to join another community of faith in worship and bring them greetings from King City UC.

Hungry for breakfast? If your Friday mornings are free and you desire something a little different for breakfast, join us for Tea and Talk at King City Sunset Grill Friday mornings at 10 a.m. We usually are seated at the table to the right of the doors. This is a time to make some new friends, enjoy a delicious breakfast and discuss the latest news or scores.

Please remember that King City United will hold worship services every Sunday morning at 10 a.m. during the summer. Join us and give thanks for the gifts we enjoy as residents of this beautiful area. Sunday school, for the young people, will resume in the fall. Young folk are welcome to join their family in the sanctuary for worship and participate in a story for children every Sunday.

King City United is located at 50 Elizabeth Grove, King City. For more information, call our Office Administrator Kristen at 905-833-5181 or visit our website: www.kcuc.ca

KCSC Travel Club

The last trip of the year for the KCSC Travel Club will be a mystery tour with lunch included. It is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 3. The coach will leave the King City arena at 8:30 a.m. and return at 5:30 p.m. The cost is $106 per person. To book your seat, please call Jane at 905-833-5870.

King Bible Church

We welcome you to join us for worship service on Sept. 3 as Pastor Mark will be continuing our Book of Revelation Series with "An Eternal Invitation."

Please take advantage of our excellent children's ministry. Our Sunday morning "Celebration Zone" provides age-appropriate programs for children aged 4 to Grade 8. Our children's program is staffed by screened volunteers who care about your kids! The children in Grades 5-8 will remain in the service with their parents for the summer while JK-Grade 4 will be in the service for the beginning until they are invited to go downstairs.

If you have children aged 0-3 then we invite you to bring them to our beautiful and safe Nursery facilities which are located on the lower level.

Caregivers will meet you there. We invite everyone to join us on Sunday, Sept. 10 for our Kick-Off Sunday! We will be beginning our new sermon series "Transformed!"

Check out our website for further information on this exciting new series!

St. Andrew's
By Kathy Patterson

St. Andrew's welcomes you this September! New to the neighbourhood? We'd love to meet you.

Our Sunday worship service is at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School for children up to grade 6 will be starting once the children are back in school. It runs concurrently with the service. All are welcome to join us afterwards for "meet and greet."

Lynn Vissers is back from vacation and led us in worship last Sunday. She will be leading us Sept. 10 and 17 as well, continuing from John chapter 15 which was "too much to digest for one Sunday Sermon!"

She spoke about The Vine and the Branches - God is the Master Gardener in His Kingdom, Jesus is the Vine and we are the Branches. Are we getting our strength and nourishment from Him and producing fruit? Pastor John Mills will be visiting again with us this Sunday, Sept. 3 to continue his "Walks and Talks with the Master."

Over the summer we have been encouraging folks to pray while they take a walk! Pamphlets are available that may be used as a guide. Call the office if you would like some. Let's get out there on our own or with others. God wants to have a conversation with us. If you have prayer requests or thanksgivings, let us know! We'll be happy to pray with and for you.

As wildfires remain active in B.C., please continue to pray for the affected communities and the first responders. Check out www.presbyterian.ca for reports regarding the Cariboo Mission and how you can help.

Our Welcome Back BBQ is Sunday, Sept. 17 following the morning worship service. We hope to see you there! Bring your lawn chairs and your great summer stories!

Our church office number is 905-833-2325. We are located at 13190 Keele St., 2 blocks north of the King Rd. A ramp is available for accessibility. <http://www.standrews-kingcity.ca/>

These conversations are informal and wide open - there are no "correct" answers, and no exam at the end of the course!

We'll be welcoming our ALPHA guests every Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. from Sept. 19 to Nov. 28. Summer worship schedule continues this weekend with 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. services in our chapel. Our organist, Quirino Di Giulio, will be playing at the 10 a.m. service. This Sunday, we welcome back the Reverend Doctor Elizabeth Green refreshed from her holiday and we give a sincere thank you to the Reverend Clare Goodrich-Dyer for her time with us this August.

Nobleton United Church By Nancy Hopkinson

On Sunday, Sept. 3, our normal routine of having our service at Nobleton United at 11:15 a.m. returns. Minister Carol-Ann Chapman will be speaking on the "Marks of a True Christian." Those at Schomberg United will be having their service at 9:30 a.m. at the Kitchen Breendon Manor, located next to the Schomberg Public Library, where there is shared parking.

Messy Church returns on Tuesday, Sept. 19, from 5-7 p.m. "Our Community" is the theme for this month. "An important aspect of Messy discipleship is to serve God in the context in which he has placed us: to value the area where we live, work or go to school, and to see our role as stewards of this area." We are following the Messy Church 3 book which provided that quote. The book suggests various crafts, and activities related to that theme, and a short interactive Bible story followed by a meal. We always have table tennis as an option. The age range is 2 years to young teens, with a responsible adult. The admission price is free. Donations are always welcome. For more info, ask for me, Nancy, at 905-859-0761.

Looking ahead, we will have Communion at the Thanksgiving service on Oct. 8.

Our 121st Anniversary is on Oct. 22. Five people will talk briefly about their families' long history in this church, as we look to the future. It will be a fine time of remembrance and renewed inspiration. Schomberg United will join in our celebration. There will be lunch afterwards.

Our Craft and Bake Sale is always on the last Saturday of October, which will be Oct. 28.

If you would like to meet Minister Carol-Ann Chapman, come to Sunday service or phone the church and make an appointment. You are welcome to come to the church to meet, or Carol-Ann can visit you. Our minister is a resource for the whole community.

For more info, visit nobletonunitedchurch.com, our Facebook page, or call 905-859-3976. Messages are picked up regularly. We are located at 6076 King Rd., north side, about 6 buildings west of Hwy 27. We have a big parking lot at the rear of the building, an accessible ramp at the rear of the building, chair lifts and accessible washrooms.

Anglican Parish By John Arnott

If as Shakespeare wrote "For Apparel oft proclaims the man" and Mark Twain said "Clothes make the man," then what kind of clothes were worn some 2,000 years ago by Yeshua (Joshua), that radical back country Galilean preacher known better by his Latin name Jesus?

From the many translations the New Testament, the Christian writings in the Bible, has undergone we read that baby Yeshua was wrapped in swaddling clothes. Swaddling is bands of cloth wrapped around a newborn to replicate the mother's womb and help him/her adjust to the outside world. Swaddling restricts an infant's movements, quiets the child and helps her/him sleep better. It is thought to also reduce the risk of SIDS (sudden infant death syndrome).

Swaddling is still practised in many cultures today. Swaddling clothes are available in both Sears Canada and the Hudson Bay Co.

Mary's mother would probably have seen to it that she had sufficient swaddling with her for the journey to Bethlehem as the baby was soon due.

Nobleton Notes

When, at age of 12 Jesus went with his parents to the Temple in Jerusalem for his Bar Mitzvah, he would have worn, as he did for school, a knee-length every day brown light woollen tunic. On his head he would have worn a plain brimless kippah (skullcap). But it would have been a fine linen dress tunic (possibly white) with embroidered edging and a fancy kippah he wore at the coming of age ceremony in the Temple.

As an young man Yeshua would have worn a knee-length short sleeved linen under his tunic over his loin cloth, and depending on the weather, a light or heavier woollen long sleeved over tunic falling below the knee to almost the ankle. In the ruins of Europus Dura in Syria on one of the wall of oldest yet discovered house church the earliest painting of Yeshua shows him wearing this type of outer tunic. But though a man appearing in just his under tunic was said to be naked, workers would often dress this way and Yeshua would have done so working as a carpenter/stone mason. During his final year on Earth one of his women followers made him a tunic completely woven without seams, an uncommon and expensive piece of clothing.

The long, ground-touching robe that medieval and Renaissance paintings and mosaics often show him wearing would have been cumbersome when he was travelling through the rocky countryside where he did much of his teaching. And in town it would have picked up dirt and debris that littered the streets and thus needing constant washing. Having no wife that we know of Yeshua would have done all his own shopping in the Capernaum bazaars for clothes and the sturdy leather sandals he always wore. Knowing that cleanliness is next to godliness he would have done his own laundry in the courtyard of his digs at the same time as he washed himself using a mixture of ash, cassia/olive oil and water. On occasion he probably did his laundry in the Sea of Galilee, a fresh water lake, near his lodgings and let it dry on the rocky shore while he enjoyed a leisurely swim.

On warm nights he would most likely have slept on the flat roof of his house in a light sleeveless knee length linen sleeping tunic open at the sides but belted around the waist. If sleeping indoors during the summer it was not uncommon for men in ancient Israel to sleep in the raw and Yeshua would be no different.

He would have also had a long serviceable square woollen cloak called a himation that served as a blanket when he was travelling and had to sleep rough or in the winter at home, as snow is not unknown in Galilee. This cloak, when not in use, could be folded carried over one shoulder much like a Scottish plaid (plaid is the article of clothing -tartan is the pattern).

In accordance with the Law of Moses this cloak would have had tassels fastened with a blue cords to each of its 4 corners to constantly remind the wearer of God's 10 commandments. It eventually evolved into the prayer shawl worn today by Jewish men when attending synagogue.

"And they stripped him and made him wear a red cloak ... And when they had finished making fun of him they took off the cloak and dressed him in his own clothes and led him away to crucify him." Matthew 27: "Then they cast lots to share out his clothing" (Luke 23).

As he hung in terrible pain dying on the cross the Roman soldiers divided his clothes now soaked in blood, urine and sweat among themselves but they didn't want to tear apart his valuable seamless under tunic in the same condition so they gambled for it. According to tradition the Empress Helena, mother of Constantine, the first Christian Roman emperor, acquired this tunic on her pilgrimage to the Holy Land 336-328 AD and brought it home to Augusta Treverorum, the Roman city in Germany now called Trier where it is kept in the cathedral. and occasionally put on public display.

Revamped visitors centre at Cold Creek

By Mark Pavilons

King Township is moving ahead on redesigning the visitors' centre at Cold Creek Conservation Area.

Council recently approved a staff request to hire Brook McIlroy as the prime consultant for the work.

This stage of the project includes design and contract administration for a 3,000-square-foot expansion to the existing visitors centre.

Brook received the highest scores of bidders and their services will cost $155,805. Funds were approved in the 2017-2018 capital budgets.

Staff said the design work could begin this month, with the aim of releasing a tender document for the work in the fall. If all goes according to plan, construction could begin in the spring of 2018.
