Second phase of Nobleton sewer work

By Mark Pavilons

As King Township moves forward with phase two of the Nobleton sanitary sewer works, councillors are pleased the costs to homeowners have been kept down.

Ainley and Associates will conduct the design, contract administration and inspection aspects of the two contracts associated with the project. Homeowners will get a breakdown of the proposed capital charge amount of $21,870 per household. The Township will also apply for grant funding through the Ontario Community Infrastructure Fund.

There were no public delegations at council. Councillor David Boyd noted this is a substantial amount of money for homeowners and he praised the collaborative effort between council and staff to bring the costs down.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini said he's proud of staff and he's pleased he can look residents in the eye and say "we got the price."

"It's the most responsible and respectable thing we've done," he added.

The Township requires an easement for the sewer outlet to King Road, and plans are under way to acquire the needed land. This summer, King got word that it will receive funding from the Clean Water and Wastewater Fund.

Initially, phase two involved 63 properties but the Township plans to add 11 more properties on Russell Snider, with an option to extend even farther north. Staff will host a public meeting soon to introduce the project team, and provide schedules and costs to residents.

The estimated cost of the building the sewer, watermain and road work for phase two (areas 1 & 2) is pegged at between $5.1 and $5.9 million. The net cost is estimated at between $2.8 and $3.6 million.

Costs have risen substantially since then, and if council delayed phase two any longer, it would only add to the costs down the road.

Fall colours in King

PUBLIC NOTICES

Notice of a Public Meeting Concerning a Proposed Zoning By-Law and Official Plan Amendment

The public are invited to attend a public meeting to be held by the Council of the Corporation of the Township of King on:

Monday, November 13th, 2017 at 6:00 P.M.

at the Township of King Council Chambers at 2075 King Road, King City to receive information and provide comments on a proposed Zoning By-law Amendment, Official Plan Amendment, and Site Plan Control Application, under Section 22 and 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter P.13.

Subject Property

Location: 66 Main Street, Schomberg, ON
Part Lot 3, Plan 87
Applicant: King Ridge Developments Inc.
File Numbers: Z-2017-04, OP-2017-03 and SPD-17-53

The proposed Official Plan Amendment, Zoning By-law Amendment and Site Plan Control applications submitted by Weston Consulting on behalf of the owner, King Ridge Developments Inc., under Planning Files OP-2017-03, Z-2017-04 and SPD-17-53 concern a site located on the north side of Main Street, approximately 250 metres west of Highway 27. The subject site supports a dwelling and a shed and measures approximately 1.219 hectares (3 acres) with approximately 35.65 metres of Frontage on Main Street.

What are the Proposed Changes

The subject property is designated 'Low Density Residential' and 'Environmental Constraint Area' by the Schomberg Community Plan (OPA #47) and is zoned Urban Residential (R1) by Zoning By-law #74-53, as amended. The new zoning by-law for the Schomberg Community Area (2017-66) has zoned the property as Residential – Single Detached "D" (R1D). The purpose of the Official Plan Amendment application is to provide a medium density designation to permit a 32 unit townhome development, representing a density of 26.25 units per hectare. The purpose of the Zoning By-law Amendment application is to establish a medium density zone which provides for the proposed housing type and establishes site specific provisions to implement the development. The owner intends to remove the existing dwelling and shed and construct a single full access entrance from Main Street.

Appeal Procedure

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to the Township of King before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted, and the By-law is passed, the person or public body is not entitled to appeal the decision of Council of The Corporation of the Township of King to the Ontario Municipal Board.

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to The Corporation of the Township of King before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted and the By-law is passed, the person or public body may not be added as a party to the hearing of an appeal before the Ontario Municipal Board unless, in the opinion of the Board, there are reasonable grounds to add the person or public body as a party.

Any person may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed Official Plan or Zoning By-law Amendments. Written comments will become part of the public record.

How to Stay Informed

If you wish to be notified of the passing of the proposed Official Plan and Zoning By-law Amendments, you must make a written request to the Clerk of the Township of King, 2075 King Road, King City, ON L7B 1A1.

Additional Information

A copy of the proposed Official Plan Amendment, Zoning By-law Amendment, and Site Plan Control Application, and additional information about the proposed applications are available for review at the Planning Department located at the Municipal Offices. # Little support at council for municipal election rebate

By Mark Pavilons

Political contributions are a recognized way for residents and businesses to get involved in the democratic process.

Taxpayers can write off provincial and federal political donations on their income tax, but there's no provision for municipal contributions. The idea of giving taxpayers a rebate on their municipal donations garnered little support around the King council table recently.

Municipalities can enact a policy to provide such rebates to residents, through the Municipal Contribution Rebate Program (MCRP), funded by the local tax base. It's at the sole discretion of the municipality. The MCRP would require candidates to issue receipts to donors, who would then apply to the township for a rebate.

Bill 181, the Municipal Elections Modernization Act, 2016, prohibited corporate and trade union donations to municipal election candidates. So, local campaigns may only be funded by donations from individuals, fundraising events and self-financing. The subsequent Bill 68 increases the maximum individual contribution from $750 to $1,200 to lessen the impact.

The idea is the rebate policy would encourage greater public participation in local politics, and reduce the financial burdens placed on candidates and donors.

Seven municipalities, including Markham and Vaughan, have implemented MCRPs. The cost to Vaughan in 2014 was $48,615.

Markham, which has paid out a whopping $1.5 million to date, admitted there was no conclusive data to support the fact the program was meeting its intended objectives.

The cost of the program to King depends on many variables, including the number of candidates who register, amount of contributions, eligibility criteria and percentage of rebate.

Based on certain parameters, King staff estimated the total cost would be between $8,000 and $11,000 for the 2018 election.

As it stands, the municipal election process is funded by annual contributions of $30,000 to the election reserve, from the tax pool. If King implemented an MCRP, the annual contributions would have to rise to offset the costs. There would also be administrative costs associated with the program.

Opinions on the idea varied among councillors.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini opposes the scheme, noting small municipalities like King shouldn't subsidize political campaigns. Through recent changes, the province is making it tougher for new candidates to enter the political arena. Elections are costly affairs and the mayor pointed out the election of a regional chair in York next year will be the fourth largest election in the province.

Councillor Debbie Schaefer was the lone supporter, noting funding the rebate is not inconsistent with the Township's mandate of making elections as "good as we can." Citizens are better served, she said, if there's a good slate of candidates. Allowing more revenue sources levels the playing field and encourages more people to get involved.

"There is value in that," she said. She called the idea progressive and noted the cost would be minimal.

The ever-frugal Councillor Bill Cober noted any rebate or income tax break should be in the hands of the feds and province, not municipalities.

"We don't have the budget for this," he said. He's adamant that he wouldn't support spending anything on a rebate program, until every pothole is filled and every fire truck is repaired.

Councillor Cleve Mortelliti agreed, noting the Township shouldn't designate more tax dollars in this area.

Following the meeting, Schaefer said she was "disappointed" that there was no support from rest of council to introduce a rebate program.

Schaefer said the move to eliminate corporate and union donations was done to reduce outside influence that is often centered on private interest and not on public interest; it is not perfect by any means but to my mind it is a valuable change. Campaigns may only be financed by donations individuals, fundraising events and self-financed candidates.

The province did not implement tax credits same for municipal elections when they introduced the ban on corporate and union donations in 2016.

"I believe the municipality needs to step in and address this gap. As indicated in the report the only source of funding for this rebate program is municipal taxes.

"A rebate reduces an individual's donation. (They donate $100 and receive back $50, for example). Very importantly it is an acknowledgment to a donor that the taxpayers in the municipality appreciate that an individual has made a personal donation."

Schaefer added the health and quality of a municipal council is affected by those who seek to be elected. A municipality and its citizens will benefit with broad engagement by the public as to who runs in the election.

"I don't believe it is in the municipality's best interest to be one where it is perceived that candidates need to be self-funded or where a couple big donors essentially fund a candidate or where there is significant advantage to incumbents."

Your vehicle insurance policy likely has some flexibility built in to ensure you are covered in different situations. You should check your policy or ask your broker to be sure.

Renting a car
If you drive a rented car or any vehicle that is not owned by you, your existing vehicle insurance covers physical damage to the vehicle, accident benefits and third-party liability to the same limits that apply in your policy. Note, this is only true if your insurance is issued to you as an individual. If your vehicle insurance is issued to your business, you are not protected when driving non-owned cars. Also, if you rent a luxury car but have a sub-compact insured, you might not be covered for the cost of repairs to the luxury vehicle. In these cases, you should purchase the insurance offered by the renter. If you are a frequent renter, add an endorsement to your car insurance policy. ## Questionable studies, spending raise my eyebrows

We often hear about a "new study" that reveals some weird fact about our current lifestyle. They make the headlines and are repeated on the radio.

Some have made me smile and laugh, while others left me with a look of consternation.

The latest left me shaking my head.

Apparently, a new study revealed that moderate alcohol consumption helps you to learn a new language.

British and Dutch researchers conducted an experiment, published in the Journal of Psychopharmacology. They found people in the study really did speak more fluently after a low dose of alcohol – even when they didn't think so themselves.

The study included 50 native German speakers who were studying at Maastricht University, located in the Netherlands near the border with Germany. Each person was asked to have a casual, two-minute conversation with an interviewer in Dutch. Before that chat, half were given water to drink, while the other half were given an alcoholic beverage. The amount of booze varied based on the person's weight, but for a 150-pound man, it was equivalent to just under a pint of beer.

The authors say it's possible that a low-to-moderate dose of alcohol "reduces language anxiety" and therefore increases proficiency. "This might enable foreign language speakers to speak more fluently in the foreign language after drinking a small amount of alcohol," they conclude.

This is not new. A study conducted in the 1970s saw English-speaking college students complete a pronunciation proficiency test in Thai after a few snorts. Results showed "those who drank 1.5

ounces of alcohol performed better on the pronunciation test than those who had drunk an alcohol-free placebo."

Add this to the study results. In my expert opinion, using first-hand data that I collected over the past three decades, alcohol does expand one's vocabulary of other languages. The top languages spoken after a few drinks include Giberish, Balderdash, Gobbledygook and Babble. There are likely others.

I hope that no taxpayers' money was used to fund this study.

Further, relying on common vernacular from the early 1700s, slurred-speech language skills can be attributed to a person being "stewed, corned, salted or pickled." Further, data from England in 1812 indicated that those speaking in foreign tongues were actually "pissed as a newt."

All kidding aside, there are countless examples of some really weird studies, many of which waste taxpayers' money. And this is really sad, if not downright sick.

Unfortunately, we have some shining examples of government waste on our doorstep.

The federal government spent at least $4.5 million on ads that ran during the two weeks of the London Olympics. They gave out only $214,000 to Canadian athletes who won medals during the Games.

If it quacks like a duck. The province dished out $121,000 for the rental of a 19-metre-tall rubber duck, seen floating in Toronto harbour this summer.

The Toronto District School Board came under fire a couple of years ago for some questionable spending on maintenance work. My favourite was a bill for $143 to install four screws to secure a $17 pencil sharpener. They paid $266 to hang three pictures on a wall, and then $857 more a week later to hang them again.

How many school board officials does it take to change a light bulb? None; they paid someone $2,670 to replace bulbs in a school lunch room.

Justin Trudeau's government spent more than $416,000 to renovate a two-year-old office building in Ottawa, including paying more than $5,000 for 56 coat hooks. Of that, $3,426 was to "modify the lighting to an existing quiet room" by installing a window film and a dimmer switch.

Of course, our spending pales in comparison to our counterparts around the world.

Professors at the Newcastle University in the UK visited dairy farms over 10 months, discovering that cows give more milk if you call them by name.

In the 2015, the U.S. Department of Defense spent $2 million on a robot, not as a fighting machine, but one that plays a trumpet.

Two grad students at the University of Washington received a government grant for $1.3 million to study how foam beer can holders keep beer cold.

Hey, will anyone fund my study on the impacts of tequila over the span of 4-6 hours on the ability of left-handed males over 50 to recite Shakespeare while balancing a ball on their nose? That's a trick question. I have already personally amassed plenty of data on this subject.

While tongue in cheek, such ridiculous examples of waste abound. It's sad, really, given the really important stuff that needs to be addressed in our society. The reality is within some government bureaucracies if they hope to receive funding every year, they must spend every penny of their budget, literally by throwing it out the window!

If we took all of the money directed towards inane studies and over-blown contracts, and spent it on health care, homelessness or world peace, we'd actually make a difference.

Letter to the Editor

Resident supports rebates for municipal election donations

The following letter, submitted to King Township, was submitted to the King Weekly Sentinel.

I am totally in favour of a rebate program for municipal elections.

I have never understood why one gets a rebate if one donates to federal or provincial political campaigns and not to municipal political campaigns.

You all know that campaigns cost money and especially when you start out and have no signs, you really need money.

I have thought about this a lot. I know for instance that one of my friends in King donated to a candidate running in Toronto and this donor received a cheque back from the City of Toronto. Now that I feel is wrong.

I think that the donor should have to live in the municipality to receive a cheque back from the municipality.

The higher the rebate the better to encourage more people to donate.

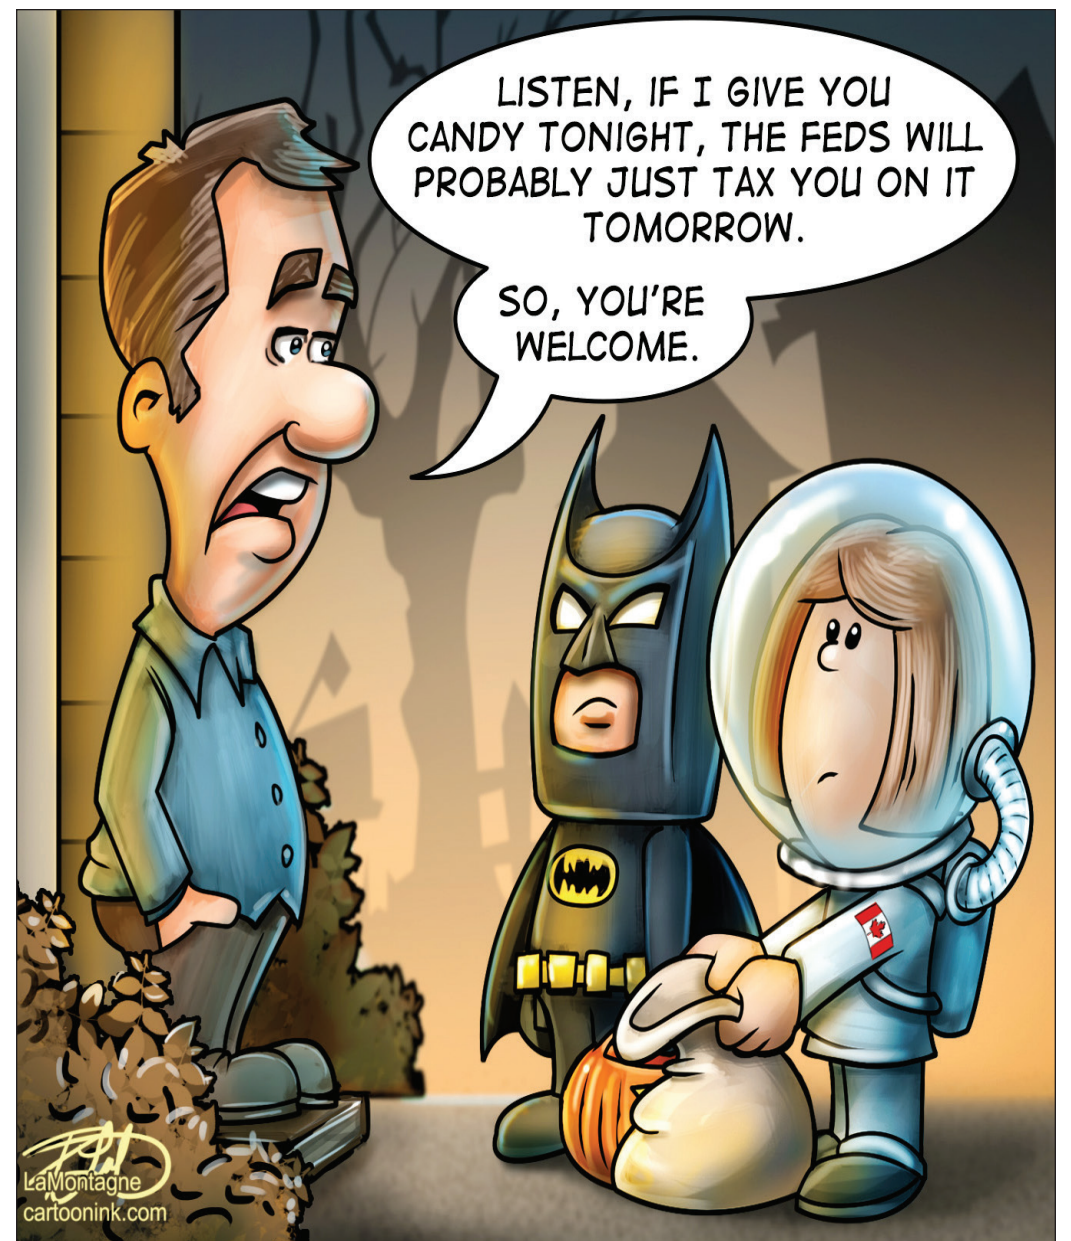

I like Toronto's formula for calculating the rebate, so the higher the donation, the lower the percentage rebate past a certain point. I like a high rebate on smaller amounts to encourage more lower income people to contribute to democracy instead of having only the rich make contributions which tends to make the elected officials feel beholden to those richer individuals.

I skimmed the report and got the impression that only one donation would count. That to me does not seem right. If a person gives to their local councillor candidate and to a mayor candidate, then I believe that the rebate should apply to both.

To my mind, a vote for rebates is a vote for democracy!

Thanks for considering these views.

Nancy Hopkinson

Megatrends: Sustainability Summit 2017

By Skid Crease

“Science is just science until it’s applied to something” – Mojdeh Poul, President of 3M Canada

“Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic” – Clarke’s Third Law

“Never attribute to malice that which is adequately explained by stupidity” – Hanlon’s Razor

Put those three quotes together and you have a basic idea of what the 3M Corporation was trying to accomplish in one day at their Sustainability Summit 2017 on Global Megatrends. It took place near King City at the magnificent Kingbridge Conference and Retreat Centre, and it was my honour to interview the opening keynote speaker, Richard A. Matthew (BA McGill; PhD Princeton), Associate Dean for International Programs and Professor of Urban Planning and Public Policy at the University of California at Irvine.

I first became aware of the 3M company when I was doing coast to coast leadership seminars in the early 1990s. I was trying to break educational administrators out of their straightjackets, so I used the story of the Post-it® sticky notes developed by a 3M “skunkworks” team. A skunkworks is a project developed by a small and loosely structured group of people who research and develop a project primarily for the sake of radical innovation.

In other words, free the creative thinkers from bureaucratic procedures and they just may come up with something new and functional. In my old North York Board of Education, it was the IDEA (Inter-Disciplinary Educators Association) group of creative wing-nut program leaders who kept the board innovative, and was the first group to get surgically neutered when the TDSB amalgamation took place. Can’t have too many creative thinkers around when you’re changing regimes.

That was the warning and the message brought by Dr. Matthews. He started off by asking the audience to “perhaps move the conversation away from Trump’s tweets.” Stop worrying about the inane distractions, and start forward thinking! Or, as 3M likes to say, “If you want to innovate for sustainability, start caring for tomorrow by spending time today.”

As Dr. Matthews outlined his Nine Megatrends, he also cautioned us that the pace of change makes studying complex systems very difficult. We can identify a trend today with all the best knowledge at hand, and it could all change overnight with the current speed of high tech data gathering. The new normal is change and uncertainty, so don’t shoot the messenger.

The first Megatrend that caught my attention immediately: dealing with an aging population that could easily live on to 100. As a 70-year-old, brought back to life through medical science advancements, I fully intend to make it to the century mark. But the society in which we live has us taking early retirement at Freedom 55, or more likely 66 for full Canada Pension Plan (CPP) and Old Age Security (OAS). That gives a healthy aging population another 30 years to go before we start recycling.

How will our aging urban infrastructure deal with the needs of this community for safe transportation, medical centres, wellness facilities, and accessible housing? There are now more people over 65 than under 20. There are now workplaces where the needs of four generations need to be considered. We have a 65-year-old that needs face to face communication and human empathy working beside a 16-year old who needs Facebook and constant electronic affirmation via “likes.”

Add into this mix an increasing diversity in the workplace as global demographics shift. In a world where our young are unable to read human facial expressions and our seniors are coping with understanding the cultural nuance of “the others,” it creates a challenge to human communication perhaps not seen since the Tower of Babel came down.

Megatrend Two dealt with the speed of technological change bringing artificial intelligence, nanotech development, cyberlife, and even meddling with evolution as we genetically modify our customized children. As if this weren’t enough, consider the raw speed at which we now process data – what took us a 1,000 years to gather and process we can now do in one day.

Megatrends signal change

Matthews spoke here of the need for “disrupting the world through positive innovation” in contrast to the “negative disruption” being caused by President Trump. Too much negative stress leads to depression, withdrawal, and cardiac arrest. His solution: put the phone down, turn off the black mirror, and take a walk in the woods with a friend.

Megatrend Three dealt with the realities of the rich getting richer and the poor falling further and further behind. He presented the sobering fact that 3 million people in our society are worse off than serfs in the Middle Ages, that the 8 richest people in the world make as much as that earned by 3.7 billion people. That trying to live on $2 a day was a recipe for grinding, consuming poverty leaving the most vulnerable the most easily displaced in times of crisis.

Number Four dealt with severe planetary degradation: the load of toxins, food scarcity, water depletion, deforestation, topsoil loss, and the titanic volumes of plastic waste that are choking our oceans. And what will we do when 65 million environmental refugees fleeing flood, drought, and war come seeking shelter and safety and nourishment and a little human empathy on our high dry lands?

Megatrend Five examined another form of degradation, this on our aging infrastructures in everything from roads and bridges, to sewer and water lines, to energy production to flood and fire disaster management. We have for decades chronically underfunded infrastructure maintenance and improvement and the current model is now unsustainable.

Six looked at the crisis in public health care, the increase in mental health issues, and the role that extreme poverty plays in sickness and depression for the most vulnerable. We should all be painfully aware of what happens when stress causes our immune systems to collapse into dis-ease and we retreat into our reptilian brain stems. As a species we tend not to paint the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel when our bodies and minds are in survival mode.

Megatrend Seven looked at the total collapse of trust (or a “blind trust” in Canada) in governance – how we have declined in confidence in our political democratic system as we moved into the influence of the military/industrial/pharmaceutical complex and became a corporocracy. So much so that citizens are simply not voting in elections they feel the outcomes have already been hijacked by the 1%.

In this atmosphere of mistrust, Matthew stressed the need for positive partnerships with clear conditions for success negotiated between the public and private sectors.

Number Eight dealt with Global Security Threats. Matthew smiled at the audience and said, “I think we’ve all heard enough about this for now.”

Number Nine, Education. We have an industrial model school system with a largely irrelevant curriculum that is boring students to death. They often get more relevant information about the world around them from a YouTube seminar or a TED talks podcast on their cell phones.

The lyrics Gord Downie first sang in 1992, about another travesty of justice in Canada, could easily be applied to high school students enduring their final four years of yesterday’s curriculum:

“where the walls are lined all yellow, grey and sinister

“Hung with pictures of our parents’ prime ministers.”

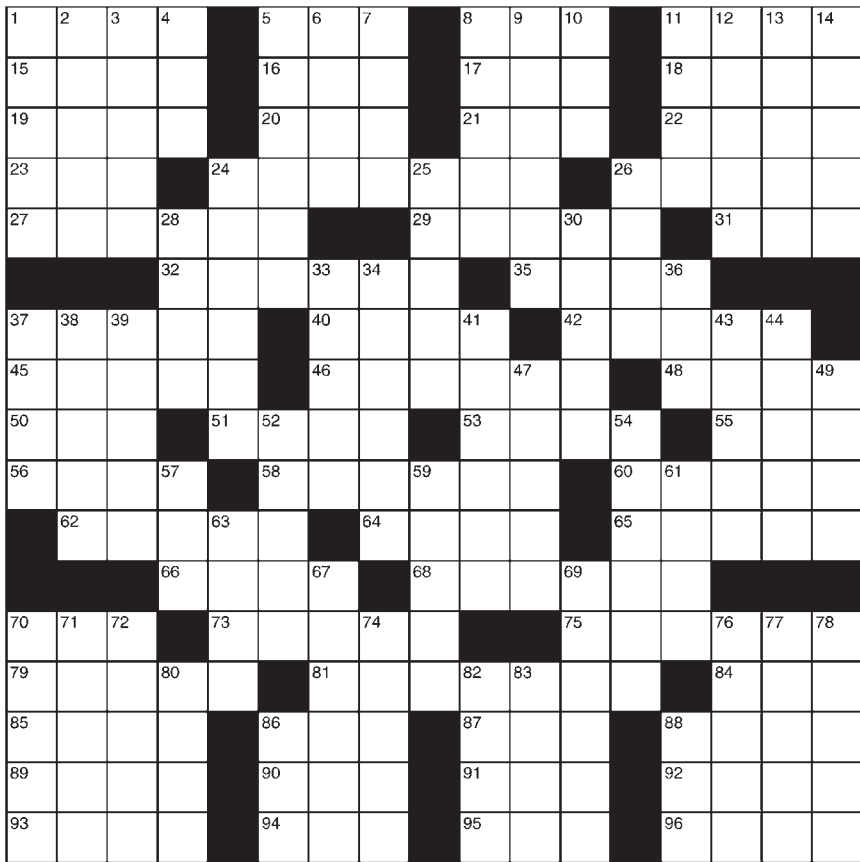

I was reminded of Jared Diamond’s novel “Collapse: why societies choose to succeed or fail.” If we have learned the lessons of Mesopotamia, and the Roman Empire, and Easter Island, perhaps we can avoid the next collapse. If not, we can at least plan to rebuild from a post-apocalyptic world. But we will never be able to change our direction or mitigate our disasters driving at high speed looking in the rear view mirror.

As Richard Matthew challenged us at the beginning of his talk, the time is right now to move the conversation towards innovative disruption and a sustainable future.

Megatrend Nine: Education, Irrelevant to Relevant: “Most of us no longer have any idea where to find the line between fact and fantasy, between what is scientifically plausible and what is scientific nonsense.

Weekly Recipe

Spinach & Apricot Stuffed Pork Tenderloin

- INGREDIENTS
- 2 tbsp. extra-virgin olive oil
  - 1 tsp. extra-virgin olive oil
  - 1/4 c. chopped Vidalia onion
  - 2 tbsp. chopped dried apricots
  - 3/4 tsp. pumpkin pie spice
  - 1 bag baby spinach
  - 1 clove garlic
  - 1/4 c. chopped walnuts
  - 1/2 c. apricot preserves
  - 1/4 c. chicken stock
  - 1 tsp. Chopped flat-leaf parsley
  - 1 1/4 lb. pork tenderloin
  - kosher salt
  - ground black pepper

DIRECTIONS

1. Preheat the oven to 375 degrees F. In a large ovenproof skillet, heat 1 teaspoon of oil over medium-high heat. Add the onion, apricots, and pumpkin pie spice and cook, stirring, until softened, about 5 minutes. Add the spinach and cook, stirring, until liquid evaporates, about 5 minutes. Add garlic and cook 1 minute more. Stir in walnuts and season with salt and pepper. Scrape the filling into a bowl and set aside to cool.

2. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, combine preserves with stock and a pinch each of salt and pepper. Simmer over medium heat until slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove glaze from heat and stir in parsley.

3. Butterfly pork: Place tenderloin on a cutting board. Using a sharp knife, run blade along length of tenderloin parallel to board. As you cut, open meat until you have a flat piece. Using a meat pounder, pound tenderloin to 1/2-inch thickness. Season with 1/8 teaspoon each salt and pepper and spread filling over meat. Roll tenderloin into original shape. Using kitchen twine, tie pork at 2-inch intervals. Season pork with 1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper.

4. Using the same ovenproof skillet, heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil until shimmering. Add rolled pork and cook over medium-high heat, turning, until browned all over, about 8 minutes. Transfer pan to oven and roast until an instant-read thermometer registers 145 degrees F in the thickest section, about 15 minutes. Loosely cover pork with foil and let rest 10 minutes. Remove strings and cut pork into 1-inch-thick slices. Transfer to a platter and drizzle with glaze.

Your Voice for Business in King

King Township shines the 'Spotlight on Local Businesses'

It was only fitting that during Small Business Week, King Township unveiled the four businesses being recognized this year for the roles they play in achieving the Township's Economic Development goals.

The event took place during the Mayor's Annual Business Breakfast, and was held at the Manor by Peter and Paul's. Roughly 120 members of the business community were in attendance.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini personally congratulated each of the business owners; provided them with a commemorative plaque, and unveiled a video profiling their business.

"These businesses are excellent examples of achieving King's key economic goals of commitment to community and sustainability, fostering an entrepreneurial spirit and creating a strong rural brand. It is businesses like these that make King such a special place to live, work and play," said Pellegrini, who likened King Automotive Repair Service to the "Cheers" of automotive shops, because everyone there will know your name.

King Automotive Repair Service has been in King for nine years, and their team of mechanics offer quality automotive repairs and highly personalized service to their loyal customers. They are active members of the community, well known for giving away turkeys every Thanksgiving.

King City Natural Health Centre has been in business for over 50 years, offering chiropractic and physiotherapy services, as well as massage therapy, osteopathy, naturopathy and iris analysis. Their philosophy focuses on using the body's innate healing abilities, and in the true spirit of King, they also treat horses.

With 175 employees, Trisan Construction has been in business for three generations and over 40 years. They are a common sight around King Township working on infrastructure projects, including Church Street in Schomberg in 2016 and Cook Drive in Pottageville this year. Trisan is very active in the community, sponsoring the Trisan Centre, and recently providing the Schomberg Community Farm with a new bridge to access their location.

They also recently received the 2017 Excellence in Large Business Award from the King Chamber of Commerce.

Dandyland Holsteins is a family run farm with about 75 Holsteins, providing milk for a variety of products, including Sealtest Milk, Silani Cheese and Astro Yogurt. A recipient of the 2013 Master Breeder Award, the highest award that a Holstein Farm can receive, Dandyland Farms is committed to cow comfort, with their Holsteins housed on comfortable sand and in free stalls, which allows them to roam freely in their barns.

"This is the seventh year we have profiled businesses in King, and the second year that we are profiling them with a video, which also provides them with a free promotional tool," said Jamie Smyth, Economic Development Officer. "Not only are we increasing awareness of their excellent products and services, we are also giving them tools to continue to drive future success."

To see the videos and all 27 businesses that have been in the spotlight, visit the business section of king.ca.

Mayor touts economic development strategy

By Mark Pavilons

King is celebrating yet another milestone, and the public is being encouraged to participate.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini provided an update to the scores of residents and business people who attended the annual Mayor's Breakfast last week. Along with a stirring pep talk, four local businesses were honoured with the Township's Spotlight on Business certificates.

The Township is embarking on a new Economic Development Strategy for the next five years and they need your input!

"Our vision for King Township is for it to be a vibrant and sustainable community, and economic development is crucial to achieving that," he said.

The strategy is based on four high level goals, and each of them contributes to our vision in different ways.

The first goal is investment readiness, and King has done a lot to forward it. King has updated its zoning bylaws, have streamlined the approval process and soon Official Plan Review will be completed.

The business section of the website (king.ca) has also been updated to provide much more comprehensive and helpful information.

One of the most innovative tools on the site, the mayor said, is the Interactive Guide to Starting or Expanding Your Business in King. If you are looking to expand, relocate, or start a new business, this guide makes sure you are aware of everything you need to consider.

The second goal is fostering a culture of entrepreneurship. This, he said is being nurtured through several things. One of them is our great partnership with the King Chamber of Commerce. Another great partnership program is the Community Improvement Plan (CIP). So far, King Township has partnered with 18 different businesses and has provided over $80,000 in partnership funding for physical improvements to businesses located in the core of King City, Schomberg and Nobleton.

The third goal is building a strong innovative rural brand. The "Experience King" website was launched in 2015, and its goal is to bring visitor and their wallets into King by making them aware of great events, destinations, dining and shopping. The site features over 50 businesses and destinations in King. In just a little more than two years since it launched, it has had over 55,000 unique visitors, and over 300,000 page views.

The final goal centres around the Township's commitment to community and sustainability.

Council recently approved shining over 2,000 replacement street lights in King with LED lights. Commitment to community also means listening to residents, and last year the Township heard from over 500 residents who completed the Shop King Survey.

Commitment to community also means commitment to quality of life, and our quality of life in King is fantastic.

"When you look at our four goals of our Economic Development Strategy, there is no doubt that we have walked the talk," the mayor said.

Regarding the strategy, the mayor said they can't emphasize it enough - "we NEED your input for this strategy! Everyone who registered for this event will be emailed the links to the surveys. If you live in the community and also own a business, please do both surveys. It is your input that's going to help shape our updated Economic Development Strategy. Please be sure your voice is heard."

Boat stolen from Keele Street property

Investigators with the York Regional Police #1 District Criminal Investigations Bureau are seeking witnesses and public assistance to locate a boat that was stolen from a commercial property in King City.

On Wednesday, Oct. 4 shortly after midnight, a boat and trailer were stolen from a property located in the area of Keele Street, south of King Road. Investigators believe that an unknown suspect drove onto the property with a truck, hooked up the trailer with the boat and drove out of the property, travelling north on Keele Street.

Investigators are seeking witnesses or anyone with information on the whereabouts of the boat and trailer to contact police.

The boat is a 2014 Donzi 38ZR, ON4264539 with trailer plated L9442S.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the #1 District Criminal Investigations Bureau at 1-866-876-5423, ext. 7141, Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS, leave an anonymous tip online at www.1800222tips.com, or text your tip to CRIMES (274637) starting with the word YORK.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini holds his trophy for best soup, from the annual Holland Marsh Soupfest. He's joined by fellow council soup-makers David Boyd, Linda Pabst and Avia Eek.

Accolades all around for Soupfest

By Mark Pavilons

Praise for the success of this year's Holland Marsh Soupfest were shared around the King council table recently.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini was named winner of the best soup at this year's event, which once again drew record crowds.

The Holland Marsh Soupfest was held Sept. 30 at Ansnorveldt Park. This is a "farm to table" food event, showcasing the variety of vegetables that are grown in this micro climate, as well as providing an opportunity to promote other sectors of agriculture and agri-food businesses in the surrounding area.

Roughly 2,300 people attended the event, the only one of its kind in the region. The mayor said it's amazing "how incredible the event has become." It's just another example of the level that many King events have achieved.

He thanked his fellow councillor soup-makers Linda Pabst, David Boyd and Avia Eek.

He noted his success is likely due to the fact his booth is to the left of the entrance to the soup tent and he always runs out first.

The event's success is a tribute to staff.

Eek, a Holland Marsh farmer herself, called the event "phenomenal." She hopes to add more soup-makers in 2018. The Soupfest is a testament to the area's agriculture.

Enrico Colantoni kicks off 2nd season of TV drama Travelers

By Mark Pavilons

Enrico Colantoni has reappeared on the small screen, and he did literally by stealing the character.

The Nobleton actor, hot on the heels of the six-part crime series Bad Blood, kicked off the second season of the Canadian science fiction-drama Travelers.

The show debuted on Show Case Oct. 16 and on Netflix in the U.S. For those who haven't watched the show, the premise is that special operatives are sent back in time from the future, and tasked with preventing the collapse of society. These operatives are known as "travelers," and they take over the body of a 21st century individual via a transfer of consciousness. This transfer occurs moments before the person's recorded time of death.

The teams of travelers must maintain their hosts' pre-existing lives as cover while carrying out missions, dictated by their "Director" in the future, aimed at saving the world from a series of catastrophic events.

The groundbreaking drama has widespread appeal, likely because it touches on a myriad of issues and contains many unique story lines.

Colantoni said he's known Eric McCormack (who produces and plays lead character Grant MacLaren) for years and was thrilled to be asked to join the cast. When he read the script, it was awesome and he immediately became a fan.

"I'm as proud of Travelers as any show I've ever been part of," said McCormack. "And I'm blown away by this extraordinary young cast as any group of actors I've ever worked with. That the entire team is Canadian is icing on the cake, which makes my friend, Brad Wright, the cherry on top."

The introduction of Colantoni's character Vincent blows the story wide open.

Working on the show is "beyond fun," he said, adding he plays a creepy guy, who gets even creepier as the season progresses. He finds the young cast of Canadian talent terrific to work with.

He loves that the Canadian show is filmed in Vancouver and yet has all the benefits of U.S. exposure.

It's a good, solid drama, complete with some philosophical aspects. Colantoni calls it "prophetic in many ways."

"Travelers is an exemplary original production bursting with Canadian talent on screen and off," said Lisa Godfrey, VP Original Content, Corus Entertainment. "We attribute this talent to the series' success here in Canada on Showcase and are very proud to be working with this incredible team on a second, action-packed season."

Known for portraying Elliot DiMauero in the sitcom Just Shoot Me!, Keith Mars on the television series Veronica Mars, and Sergeant Greg Parker on the TV series Flashpoint, Colantoni has also had supporting roles in such films as The Wrong Guy, Galaxy Quest, A.I. Artificial Intelligence, and Contagion. He's made guest appearances on Monk, Numb3rs, Party Down, Stargate SG-1 and Bones. More recently, he starred as Allen Conner in Remedy, and played crime boss Carl Elias in a recurring role on Person of Interest.

Colantoni returned to his roots recently, doing live regional theatre at his alma matter Yale, in New Haven, Connecticut. This is the first time in 15 years that he's done theatre and it has allowed him to "reconnect with his raison d'être."

The Yale School of Drama (also known as YSD) is a graduate professional school of Yale University located in New Haven. Founded in 1924 as the Department of Drama in the School of Fine Arts, the school provides training in every discipline of the theatre, from acting and set design to lighting and theatre management.

Travelers is produced by Peacock Alley Entertainment Inc., in association with Showcase and Netflix, and is distributed by Sky Vision. Created by Brad Wright, the show airs Monday nights on Showcase at 9 p.m.

London called and the community responded!

By Carol Ann Trabert
President
King Township Food Bank

London Calling! the fourth annual Sip & Savour event, was an outstanding success by all measures.

Many of our past sponsors stepped up again, some repeating their support for every one of the four events the Food Bank has held to raise much needed funds to meet the mandate of a week of groceries plus produce and pet kibble every month.

More than 80 businesses, along with added individuals, donated auction items, food for the English menu, financial sponsorships, in kind sponsorships, and professional services to make the evening a total success. Even companies outside King responded to the call.

More online tickets than ever before were sold; more auction items than ever before were donated and sold; more tickets than ever before were sold; more people attended than ever before. And even the weather was better than ever before!

Particular thanks are extended to Meline Beach as event organizer and Marion Hogg as the silent auction organizer, along with Honourary Chair Mayor Pellegrini, and Jim Lang of 105.9 The Region, who was the volunteer Master of Ceremonies and auctioneer. As well, Mark Pavilons, editor of the King Weekly Sentinel, paper, who tirelessly promoted the event both in print and in person. We also thank Joan Kelley Walker for attending the evening as part of her busy schedule.

All of this generous support, combined with your silent and live auction bids and your cash donations, has raised $40,000 – the target amount needed to meet this year's budgetary needs.

Artists come together to celebrate legendary Neil Young

Historic barn is dedicated

The Cold Creek Stewardship gathered to dedicate the historic English wheat barn Oct. 21. The barn was built in the 1840s by the Cairns Family and the barn remained in production until the late 1950s.

On hand for the dedication were (pictured above, l to r) Nigel Hussey, vice-president Cold Creek Stewardship; Councillor Linda Pabst; Chris Jones, Kleinburg, Nobleton Schomberg Rotary Club; Joe Sinopoli of Sinopoli Farms, Peggy Belcher, president Cold Creek Stewardship, and Councillor Dave Boyd.

Speakers provided an insight into the importance of barns in the life of early farmers and how it took a community coming together to raise a barn. The achievement of the restoration is the result of a community of local business, service clubs, municipal government and individual citizens making the necessary funds available to achieve the restoration. As Councillor Pabst stated, the community has been involved for a number of years and the partnering of King Township and the Stewardship provide a place where there are cultural, educational, recreation opportunities in one beautiful natural location.

Nigel Hussey recommends that visitors stop by the barn to read the history and the reasons this barn has been identified as a heritage building in King.

Cold Creek English Wheat Barn Restoration Project

This wheat barn, constructed between 1840-1860 to separate wheat from chaff, was designated a historic property by King Township Council October, 2010. Restoration was begun in stages with roof replacement in 2006; reinforcement of floor joists and foundation walls later; and finally replacement and staining of exterior boards in 2017.

Sponsorship to fund the project was provided by the parties below.

Schomberg Cougars fall twice to Golden Hawks

By Jake Courtepatte

All is not well in the Cougar den. Four regulation losses in a row have the Schomberg Cougars falling behind in the Provincial Junior Hockey League's Carruthers division, after a strong start had the Jr. C club near the top of the eight-team pack.

Looking to recoup from a 7-4 loss to the Midland Flyers the week prior, the Cougars hosted the rival Caledon Golden Hawks at Trisan Centre for their weekly home game on Thursday, the first meeting of the season between the clubs.

It was another high-scoring contest, one of many for the Cougars so far in the early season, with Caledon coming out on top 6-4.

As is often the case in rival contests, the play on the ice often took a back-seat to the rough stuff, with the teams combined for 127 minutes in penalties.

It was actually Schomberg who entered the third period with a 2-1 lead, thanks to goals from Brandon Scholten and Connor Kearney, making it a 3-1 game just seconds into the third off the stick of Mitchell Robinson.

Scrum broke out shortly after Caledon stormed back to tie the game at three, however, and a carousel to the penalty box led to two power play goals for the Hawks to take the lead.

Owen Heilemann brought the Cougars back to within one with just under four minutes left in the game, though captain Matt Magliozzi shut the door with Caledon's sixth of the game just 29 seconds later.

Schomberg goaltender Albert Parente was peppered with shots throughout the contest, making 38 saves on 44 shots.

A rematch the following day in Caledon looked promising to continue the tussle, though remained mostly tame in a game that saw Caledon lead the entire way.

Matthew Lolli was strong between the pipes for Schomberg in the opening frame, only beaten with thirty seconds to go and allow Caledon a 1-0 lead at intermission.

Both teams exchanged goals in the second, with Schomberg's coming thanks to Curtis Dubeau, though Caledon managed two more to sweep the back-to-back by a score of 4-1.

Without a point in four games, Schomberg has fallen behind both the Hawks and the Flyers in league standings, while both the Stayner Siskins and Alliston Hornets remain miles ahead of the competition.

Schomberg will bring a record of 4-8-0 to the Trisan Centre on Thursday, playing host to the Huntsville Otters (2-9-0). Puck drop is set for 7:30 p.m.

They then make their way to Orillia on Saturday to face the Terriers (2-10-0).

For stats, schedules, and more information, visit www.schombergcougars.com.

Derek Neilly rounds the Caledon net in the Schomberg Cougars' 4 - 1 loss to the Golden Hawks at Caledon East Arena on Friday.

Lions upset Mustangs in YRAA football

By Jake Courtepatte

It's a new era of KCSS football.

The Lions surprised the York Region Athletic Association on Thursday with a 15-6 win over the St. Max Kolbe Mustangs on home turf, pulling within one point of last year's division finalist.

A scoreless first quarter was highlighted by a strong defensive effort for both sides, before kicker David Kang opened the scoring with a field goal on a long Lions drive early in the second.

He added one more to his total, while quarterback Kyle Holloway scored the game's only major on a short run in the red zone.

St. Max's only score of the game came on a long scoop-and-score by Josh Torres in the fourth quarter.

Holding onto a record of 2-1-0 on the season, the win has the Lions creeping up on the Mustangs with a game in hand, who have started the season at 2-1-1.

King City can continue their push on Friday when they take on Markham District on the road, the league's only winless team.

Reigning YRAA champion Huron Heights remains the only undefeated team.

Local student competes in worlds

Former World Champion Julian Adriano, 16, and black belt instructor at Nobleton Taekwon Do, travelled to Barneveld, Amsterdam as a member of Team Canada to compete in the 2017 Open Worlds ITF tournament. This was Adriano's third time representing Canada at the Worlds.

Over 36 countries and 1,200 competitors participated in the 5-day event. Canada finished 5th overall in medal count.

Ontario Tournament

On Saturday, Oct. 14, five members of Nobleton Taekwon Do participated in the 2017 ICTF Ontario Tournament held at the Vellore Community Centre in Vaughan.

Rhea Daliwahl, Charles Grozowski Adrian Rossi, Alana Scarfo and Adrian Gallo collectively earned 9 medals for their efforts. Each of their instructors is very proud of their accomplishments.

Classes at Nobleton TKD (15 Old Kind Rd. just above the hockey arena) run Mondays and Wednesdays, 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Contact Adriano at 416-937-7910 if interested in joining.

Knee Pain: New Approach Delivers Remarkable Results

If you suffer from Knee Pain (Injury/strain/tendonitis/Arthritis) you need to be aware of effective advancements that can eliminate years of pain, suffering, immobility and frustration.

You may have told your doctor you suffer with one or more of the following: sore, stiff, painful knee, "clicking" sound with movement, difficulty bending at the knee.

You may find that your pain or stiffness affects your work, housekeeping, leisure activities, exercise, sports or other activities. You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your pain. But you find the pain keeps returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of pain pills or anti-inflammatory drugs that include damage to the liver, kidneys and gut.

There is a new, natural, safe and highly effective approach that has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically: *Laser therapy uses light to favor and accelerate the body's natural healing processes. THE King Weekly Sentinel

Paul McGuire, Bill Salter, Thelma Donnelly, councillors Bill Cober and Debbie Schaeffer were on hand to dedicate a portion of a forest in Schomberg.

Dedication of 'Hughie's Cathedral'

Not so hidden, at the end of Roselena Drive in Schomberg, is a lovely park for children to play. Behind that is "Hughie's Cathedral," a magical little place.

Recently, the McGuire family and neighbours gathered to witness the dedication of signs acknowledging the natural and cultural significance of the forest that will be enjoyed by current and future generations of people living in and around Schomberg.

These lands were purchased from the Phillips family by Hugh Frank McGuire and his wife Roselena. They had a small dairy herd, and bred and trained horses. The dairy was located approximately where the library stands today. Hugh and Roselena had 10 children and had made the move to Schomberg in order to be close to the new continuation school, which was just being constructed (Schomberg Public School).

Life was difficult for the McGuires through the Depression in the 1930s but as they became more successful and the children were grown, Roselena began painting and became an accomplished artist. After the death of both Hugh and Roselena in 1965, the land was divided between the children. Many McGuires still live in the Schomberg area today.

This woodlot was especially loved by Hugh and he protected it from logging, even when money was tight. The family named it "Hughie's Cathedral."

The forest is an example of a Beech-Maple forest which dominated the landscape between the Great Lakes and the Boreal forest up to a few hundred years ago. American Beech and Sugar Maple are the dominant tree species and are found together because they nurture the growth of each other's seedlings. Other tree species found here in smaller numbers are Ironwood, American Elm, and Black Cherry. A grove of Eastern Hemlock is located at the northern corner of the forest. Similar to Sugar Maple and American Beech, Eastern Hemlock is very shade tolerant and can wait for years under the canopy of the forest for a little sunlight to start growing.

The diversity of age and species composition in this forest is suggestive of an old growth forest. Of particular note is the beautiful display of spring woodland flowers, including Trout Lilies, May Apple, Blood Root and Trillium. Because of the shady forest conditions after the leaves emerge on the trees, woodland flowers only have a few short weeks in the spring to store up all their energy from the sun. As a result it may take several years for a plant to mature and flower.

This forest is an extremely high quality ecosystem but because of its limited size is sensitive to disturbance.

The preservation and celebration of Hughie's Cathedral is a result of the efforts of the Dufferin Marsh Nature Connection (DMNC), in partnership with the King Historical Society and the Township of King.

You're invited! – Workshop: November 9th

New "Stress Test" an Opportunity for Investors

Last week, the Office of Superintendent of Financial Institutions (OSFI) published revised "stress test" guidelines aimed at qualifying requirements for home owners who have uninsured mortgages.

This is expected to have an impact on borrowing and create an opportunity for investors to earn between 8% and 12% annually on private mortgages.

Borrowers with a down payment or equity in their home of under 20% of its value must purchase mortgage insurance, such as CMHC insurance. This insurance protects the lender, not the homeowners.

Uninsured mortgages, where the homeowner has equity in the home of more than 20% of its value, are not required to have this insurance.

The new stress test for uninsured mortgages is meant to ensure that the borrower would be able to service the loan if interest rates become higher than they are today.

The borrower has to qualify for the loan using the greater of:

- the 5 year Bank of Canada benchmark rate (currently 4.89%)
- the rate in the mortgage contract plus 2%

The higher the rate, the more income required or higher equity to be injected.

Here is a case study of the potential impact to a typical borrower: A couple in the Greater Toronto Area wish to purchase a home for $1,000,000 and use a $200,000 down payment. They need an $800,000 first mortgage (uninsured) and are quoted a rate of 3.39%. They currently make $150,000 combined annual income and qualify for this loan.

Under the new rules effective January 1, 2018, the couple would not qualify for this loan. In fact, they would need to prove an extra $25,000 in combined annual income for the same loan. Alternatively, they would have to provide additional equity of $125,000 (total equity of $325,000). They could be required to seek a private mortgage to cover the shortfall.

Each government policy has unintended consequences. The drafters of these regulations likely did not consult a mortgage broker or a borrower to determine the impact to a typical borrower from an arbitrary stress test.

"We expect significant pain to homeowners in terms of borrowing ability and to the real estate market in general. The ability to access credit is critical for the real estate market" says Paolo Abate, CEO of UNION Capital Lending.

For those wanting to learn more, there will be a free workshop on November 9th in Aurora. Investors will learn how to get involved, and how to examine private mortgage deals in order to maximize returns and reduce risk.

"We anticipate a plethora of private mortgage investment opportunities in 2018 for the average investor with cash or an RRSP," said Victor Camba, a mortgage agent at UNION Capital Lending who specializes in matching borrowers with individual investors. "They will obtain similar benefits that banks enjoy, such as predictable and stable monthly cash flow, and 'bricks and mortar' security."

For those who want to invest in real estate, register online to attend the free workshop. Seating is limited to the first 25 people who register.

Youth Group now meets on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. Come check us out! Plan ahead for Saturday, Nov. 25 at 9 a.m. On this date, the Youth Group will be traveling to Waterloo to help process Operation Christmas Child Shoeboxes for the long journey to their final destinations. For more details, contact our Youth Leader Taylor Scott at scottie\_taylor@yahoo.com, or 289-338-2539.

A2J is a program for children in Grades 3 to 6 that runs on Friday nights from 7-9 p.m. It's an evening of Bible stories, songs, games, crafts, self-confidence building and lots of fun. A2J meets the 2nd and 4th Friday evening of each month and runs from September to May. Everyone is welcome to join in.

Join us Sunday, Oct. 29 at 10 a.m. as Jeff continues the mission series. Jeff's message this week - "The Mission of Reformation." Child care (for children 3 years of age and younger) is provided during the gathering. Our regular NextStep and KidzKonnection programs have resumed and also take place during the gathering.

Mark your calendars for our Operation Christmas Child Shoebox pot luck lunch and shoebox packing event; which will take place on Sunday, Nov. 12 following the 10 a.m. service. You won't want to miss out on this seasonal mission opportunity!!!

Jeff has a blog and he records his weekly messages there after worship each Sunday. Anyone interested in listening to his messages can go to www.passionatelyhis.com to hear them.

That pumpkin you're about to carve into a Halloween jack-o'-lantern has a history dating back to prehistoric times. Seeds from pumpkin-like squash dating from between 5,000 to 7,000 years ago have been found in Mexico where it is believed most squash and pumpkin, a naturally hybridized variety of squash, originated.

Usually deep yellow to orange with a smooth but more often lightly ribbed shells pumpkins have the botanical name cucurbita - Latin for gourd, pepo from the Greek pepon meaning large melon. Our name comes from pepon to pompon in France through pumpkin in England finally becoming pumpkin in English speaking colonial North America.

In the last few years, white or ghost pumpkins have become popular. There are green coloured pumpkins as well.

All pumpkins are classed as winter squash and now go by that name in Britain and Australia-New Zealand

This North American native is today grown worldwide with Canada, United States, China and India being the largest producers.

Pumpkins here in our area are a warm weather crop with seeds being planted from mid June to early July when the top 3in./8 cm of soil is at least 15.5 C/60 F. Pumpkins need a good amount of moisture to grow well thus the growing soil must retain water but not be soggy. Plants do poorly in sandy soil or soil that's badly drained. They also need to grow full sun.

Pumpkin plants are ground lying bristly stemmed vines that produce both male and female flowers and large edible gently lobed leaves. The large hibiscus like male yellow flowers also edible attract pollinators especially the squash bees [peponapis pruinosa] but due to wide use of pesticides these bees have dramatically declined and honey bees have taken their place but with honey bees becoming scarce hand pollination in some areas is now necessary.

For thousands of years First Nations people grew the squash we call pumpkin as food, even roasting and eating the seeds. Medicinally it was to treat intestinal worms and urinary problems. All this they shared with the incoming European colonists.

Modern veterinarians use pumpkin extract to treat cats for hairballs and both dogs and cats for constipation and diarrhoea.

Today pumpkins are grown commercially as animal feed and for ornamental use such as those often intricately carved jack-o'-lanterns (in the British Isles where jack-o'-lanterns originated they were usually carved from turnips, swedes/rutabagas). The seeds of the green pumpkin are used to produce an unsaturated oil for cooking, healthy salad dressings and for herbal medicines.

The extremely large pumpkins that can weigh hundreds of pounds/kilograms and are best known in pumpkin growing contests originated from the cucurbita maxima-Latin for large, species horticulturists found growing in South America. It is related to the pepo which is probably its main ancestor.

The idea of using pumpkin as a pie filling came from pioneer times when once the seeds had been removed the pumpkin "meat" was mashed inside the shell and mixed with cream, honey and all spice or cinnamon/cassia, then baked.

King's Corners

King City United
By Earle Laycock

Sunday, Rev. Evelyn McLachlan continued her examination of 1 Samuel 16:1-13. Here, Samuel is directed by God to anoint the new king of Israel. The obvious choices for the new king are rejected by God.

The Lord said to Samuel, "Do not look on their appearance or on the height of their stature, because I have rejected them; for the Lord does not see as mortals see; they look on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart."

Samuel is at loss as to the choice. Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel, and Samuel said to Jesse, "The Lord has not chosen any of these." Samuel said to Jesse, "Are all your sons here?" And Jesse said, "There remains yet the youngest, but he is keeping the sheep." Samuel asked that the youngest, David, be fetched as he was the chosen one.

How often do we judge from outward appearances without really knowing the person? Too many tattoos, piercings, unkempt clothing, the list goes on. Have you ever rejected someone only to later know them and find out to your surprise that they are not at all what you originally thought? Rev. Evelyn asked how do people judge us at King City United? Do they see us as a caring, compassionate, faith-filled, music loving, humorous loving people or do they see overly religious, grumpy, snippy people?

God sees beyond our superficial outward appearance. May others see what is in our hearts by our actions.

Mark your calendars for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 24 and 25. "The Dinner and Show" is returning. Lots of good music, laughter and roast beef dinner makes for a great evening. Contact our Office Administrator Kristen (905-833-5181) to book your tickets. Tickets are $30 per adult.

Note that Bible Study is cancelled this week.

Are your Friday mornings free? Why not join us for breakfast at King City Sunset Grill at 10 a.m. We usually are seated at the table to the right of the entrance. This is a time to make some new friends, enjoy a delicious breakfast and discuss the latest happenings in our lives and the world. You are welcome to drop by and see if this event is right for you.

King City United holds worship services every Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Sunday school, for the young people, has resumed. Young folk are welcome to join their family in the sanctuary for worship and participate in a story for children every Sunday. King City United is located at 50 Elizabeth Grove, King City. For more information, call our Office Administrator Kristen at 905-833-5181 or visit our website: www.kcuc.ca

King Bible Church

We welcome you to join us for worship service on Oct. 22 as Pastor Mark will be continuing our exciting new series, "Transformed" with "Vocationally."

"What is Transformed? The world is shouting for our attention with answers to our relationship struggles, solutions to our financial trouble, and explanations to our search for meaning. But the world's promises leave us empty and searching for more. God's Word is the only answer that promises to TRANSFORM our lives from the inside out.

Please take advantage of our excellent children's ministry. Our Sunday morning "Celebration Zone" provides age-appropriate programs for children aged 4 to Grade 8. Our children's program is staffed by screened volunteers who care about your kids! The children in Grades 5-8 will remain in the service with their parents for the summer while JK-Grade 4 will be in the service for the beginning until they are invited to go downstairs.

If you have children aged 0-3 then we invite you to bring them to our beautiful and safe Nursery facilities which are located on the lower level.

We invite everyone to join us each Tuesday at 6:45 for our Legacy Family nights! Everyone - adults and childrens - will be doing the Transformed series.

The adults will meet upstairs and the children (nursery-Grade 8) will meet downstairs.

New adult legacy studies. These new studies will begin on Nov. 7. Loving God And Others: The Heart Of True Faith (a Precept study).

Jesus's great command is to love God and others. This study will use the study of Bible passages to challenge you to live out these commands. Discover how obeying Jesus's simple commands will transform your life and also the lives of those around you.

The 5 Love Languages: The Secrets to Love That Lasts by Gary Chapman is an insightful study that reveals how different people express love in different ways. Join us to discover your Love Language and to learn principles that will help you to meet your Spouse's unique needs. Soon you will know the deep satisfaction and joy of being able to express your love and feel truly loved in return.

St. Andrew's By Kathy Patterson

Welcome to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, King City this Reformation Sunday, October 29. Lynn Vissers along with the Elders and the youth will be participating in the service.

Our worship service is at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school will not take place this Sunday. Do join us afterwards for coffee and a chance to chat.

Last Sunday we welcomed our new interim moderator, the Rev. Paul Johnston. He preached "On One Foundation" based on Ephesians 2:11-22 and presided over a special Holy Communion service. We look forward to his leadership in his interim moderator role.

Prayer is key in a Christian's life. Let us know if you would like to pray with someone or if you need any resources on prayer. If you have prayer requests or thanksgivings, we'll be happy to pray with and for you. God wants to have conversations with us and has promised to be present, hearing and answering our prayers.

We've been offering "Messy Church" to the community! Come and find out what it's all about. We're having lots of fun together being creative, learning about the Bible and God's love for us and enjoying a wonderful supper at the end. Our next "Messy Church" is planned for Sunday, Nov. 19 from 5 to 6 p.m. Call Lynn at the church for more information.

The King City Lodge Visitation and Worship service is this Thursday at 2 p.m. Come and be blessed. Do you have an instrument that you could play with us? Let Kathy Patterson know, 905-833-0391.

A special dinner honouring our former interim moderator, the Rev. Dr. Neal Mathers will be held at the church, this Friday, Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. Neal is retiring after over 40 years in the ministry and we wish him God's best.

It's our fall Yard Clean Up time again - Saturday, Nov. 4 at 9 a.m. Join us as we rake leaves, tidy up the gardens, enjoy the fall weather and have hot chocolate and coffee together. All the neighbourhood is invited! Bring your rake. High school students, need volunteer hours? Please contact the office.

Should you have pastoral care needs please contact Lynn Vissers, our Director of Congregational Ministries.

Our church office number is 905-833-2325. We are located at 13190 Keele St., 2 blocks north of the King Rd. A ramp is available for accessibility. <http://www.standrews-kingcity.ca/>

All Saints Anglican Church By Diana Armitage

Please join us and bring a friend or neighbour on Sunday, Nov. 5 at 10 a.m. for a very special service of worship with the Primate of the Anglican Church of Canada, The Most Reverend Fred Hiltz, as we celebrate 160 years of Ministry at All Saints.

Anglican Parish
By John Arnott

In early Christian times the new day began at dawn rather than midnight. This ancient tradition is still kept in many Christian monastic establishments and the dawn religious service that begins the day is called Lauds. This from the Latin laudare meaning to praise or honour as the service began with Psalm 148 Laudate Dominum - Praise the Lord through Psalm 149 Cantate Domino - Sing to the Lord and ending with Psalm 150 Laudate Dominum - Praise God (the Lord). Lauds greets the dawn which each day symbolizes the Resurrection of Christ and consecrates to him the new day. The Office (Service) of Lauds is meant to show Christians that first thing every morning they should turn their thoughts to God giving praise and thanks for the new day and asking his blessing before facing the challenges of that day.

Every Tuesday morning now in keeping with this tradition the Anglican Parish of Lloydtown (Christ Church, Kettleby; St. Alban's Anglican community in Nobleton, and St. Mary Magdalene's Church in Schomberg) is holding a morning prayer dawn service from 6:30 a.m. till 7 a.m. at the Schomberg church to parallel Lauds. Irreverents may see it as the Yawn Service!

What a great way to start the day seeking God's guidance for what lies ahead! All are more than welcome to attend this relaxed candlelight service. Bring your morning coffee from home or Tim's if you wish. And a discreet yawn is permitted!

Parish young people will join other Anglican youth to enjoy a religious retreat, with time to learn and time for fun, in the Muskoka region this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

This Sunday morning Oct. 29 Holy Communion services will be held in Christ Church, Kettleby on Kettleby Rd. mid-way between Jane and Keele Sts. at 9:30 a.m. and in St. Mary Magdalene's 116 Church St. in Schomberg at 11:15 a.m.

The parish looks forward to once again taking an active part in Schombergs "A Main Street Christmas."

Christ Church, Kettleby's historic fieldstone Anglican church on Kettleby Rd. will hold its annual Fall Tea and Sale (as it has done for over 100 years) Saturday, Nov. 4. Shop for homemade bake goods and field fresh produce. Browse books and other treasures old and new. But make sure to take time for a good cup of tea or coffee with treats, country style solo or with friends.
