MPP-elect Lecce says relief starts now

By Mark Pavilons

"Relief is on the way!" That was the promise made by King-Vaughan's new MPP Stephen Lecce.

Lecce easily won the riding with a 17,124-vote margin over second-place Liberal Marilyn Iafrate, in the Conservative sweep last week.

Lecce addressed a packed house of enthusiastic supporters at the Premier Hall in Maple on election night, saying the PCs' victory is the "start of a movement" and a change for something positive.

Lecce said he's blessed to have the high caliber of strong and capable Conservative MPPs join him at Queen's Park.

The hall was filled with young PCs and supporters, a testament to the future of politics in Ontario.

"This journey began more than two years ago, having assembled a team of more than 470 volunteers, with more than 100 donors supporting our mission, has now resulted in more than 29 thousand voters who gave us a mandate to work on their behalf," he said.

Lecce lauded the young people who joined the campaign, noting they can make a difference. "Tonight proves that it does," he said during his victory speech.

Lecce also praised the other candidates in the riding, noting "our democracy has been strengthened" by their participation.

People voted for change and for a better government that will put "money back in your pockets."

"We, under Doug Ford, are going to deliver."

Lecce said he was humbled by the outcome and the incredible show of support from voters and campaign volunteers.

"Ontario's best days are ahead," he said, noting his team demonstrated what teamwork means.

"You will have fighters who will make sure there's common sense in government."

Lecce's mother Theresa provided a proud introduction of her son, the new MPP. The people around him, she said, made him a better man and motivated him to serve. Stephen, she said, represents the "next generation of leadership in Ontario."

Lecce's campaign manager Brian Patterson said Stephen was tireless in his efforts, which began almost two years ago. This riding could not have asked for a better candidate. He said he's worked with a lot of politicians over the years and Lecce is one of the best.

"Ontarians have voted overwhelmingly for positive change across Ontario and right here King-Vaughan," Lecce said. "It is exactly the type of change that we will deliver ... we are committed to working hard for you and your families."

King-Vaughan MPP-elect Stephen Lecce promised relief is on the way for taxpayers, during his victory speech following Thursday's night's provincial election.

Nobleton Streetscaping update

Improvements to the intersection of Highway 27 and King Road are expected to be complete by late fall 2018.

We recognize that construction may be disruptive and York Region is working to minimize disruption to those living, working and travelling in the area. York Region will continue to monitor traffic flow throughout construction and make adjustments to signal timing as required to minimize disruption.

The current traffic configuration is expected to remain in place until mid-July, at which point the current two lanes will be shifted to the west side of Highway 27 until September.

Once completed, enhancements to the intersection will provide more capacity for traffic movement and better travel options for all road users.

•Dedicated left-turn lanes in the northbound and southbound directions on Highway 27 will improve traffic flow through the intersection and general traffic flow along Highway 27 and King Road in the area

•Enhanced streetscaping, new sidewalks and the reinstatement of street lightings will support walking options along Regional roads and provide more travel options for residents

•Updated traffic signals and improved intersection accessibility will meet the needs of our communities today and into the future

Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Be a good neighbour

The Clean Yards By-law sets out minimum standards for properties in the Township including some rules on litter, waste and property maintenance to help ensure that properties are safe, clean and attractive in relation to adjacent properties.

Reminder to Owners and Tenants:

- All properties must be kept free and clear of long grass and weeds.
- All properties are to be free of garbage, litter, yard waste, standing water, storage bins and demolition project material, and construction equipment.
- All properties need to be clear of derelict vehicles, including vehicles that are not currently licensed for operation.

The Clean Yards By-law is the Township's tool for addressing and responding to concerns about property maintenance. By-law Enforcement Officers work with property owners and tenants through education to achieve voluntary compliance, but alternatively orders may be issued to obtain compliance with the by-law standards.

King representatives ready to work with new MPPs

By Mark Pavilons

With the election over, King representatives are gearing up to work with our newly elected MPPs – Stephen Lecce and Caroline Mulroney.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini said he's "excited" and "optimistic" that King's voice will be heard at Queen's Park. "The future looks bright."

Pellegrini noted both Lecce and Mulroney, during their campaigns, pointed to the needs of King – infrastructure and high-speed Internet.

The mayor pointed out that the election of Paul Calandra will also be "good for King." Calandra defeated Dr. Helena Jaczek in the riding of Markham-Stouffville. Calandra served as Parliamentary Secretary to Prime Minister Stephen Harper.

"The more support we can get from those who understand King, the better," Pellegrini observed.

The mayor also pointed out that Premier-elect Doug Ford has a depth of people to draw from as he forms his cabinet. King may very well be represented by at least one cabinet minister.

Pellegrini is optimistic the next four years should be good for King.

Tom Allen, president of the King Chamber of Commerce, is also anxious to work with our new MPPs.

"As a Chamber of Commerce we look forward to policy from Queen's Park that will set an environment in which local business thrives, so we can provide great service to customers and hire more staff," he said.

Allen also thanked all of the candidates who participated in the election and all-candidates' debates.

"We need candidates who provide clear alternatives to the electorate and an engaged electorate so there's a clear mandate for the eventual winner; we had both of these in this elections," he observed.

Deb Schulte, MP for King-Vaughan, said she's looking forward to working with both Lecce and Mulroney. She pointed out there's a lot of co-operation among all levels of government and there are a lot of issues in this riding that need to be addressed.

Infrastructure, affordable housing, help for seniors, and high-speed internet are issues both the provincial and federal government are interested in.

Moving forward, Schulte said she's anxious to work closely with Lecce to help King-Vaughan constituents and "make the community even better."

Injuries, fatality in two Schomberg-area collisions

By Mark Pavilons

Two serious collisions near Schomberg last week resulted in injuries and one fatality.

A 12-year-old girl was airlifted to a hospital after a two-vehicle collision at the Highway 27 and Highway 9 intersection in Schomberg Thursday evening.

King Fire & Emergency Services responded to the collision with two Engine Companies and one Rescue Company along with a Chief Officer. King Fire and York EMS arrived on location to find a T-bone style of collision with multiple persons trapped in a collision between a pickup truck and mini-van.

Collectively, with the help of York Regional Police, Aurora OPP, York EMS, South Simcoe Paramedics, and ORNGE Air Ambulance, King Fire extricated two occupants from a small passenger van.

"The extrication which was performed by King Fire & Emergency Services went extremely well," said King Fire Chief Jim Wall. "Our counterparts from the paramedic services did a great job in assessing and triaging the patients."

Once the extrication was complete and the patients were airlifted to the hospital by Air Ambulance 799 and ground ambulances, the scene was turned over to Aurora OPP who were continuing their investigation. Local roads were closed that evening well past 10 p.m.

The girl was an occupant of the mini-van. There were two other passengers inside the mini-van who also suffered injuries. OPP reported an adult female was also transported to a local hospital with life-threatening injuries and a young male is suffering from minor injuries.

The driver of the mini-van was not injured. The three occupants of the pickup truck involved were taken to the hospital with minor injuries.

A 22-year-old man was killed in a head-on collision between a dump truck and mini-van on Highway 9, between the 11th and 12th Concession last Monday morning (June 4).

The driver of the mini-van was trapped inside the vehicle and emergency crews had to work to extricate him.

Emergency crews from ORNGE tended to the man, but he was pronounced dead on scene. Killed was 22-year-old Joshua D'Archi of Belwood. The driver of the dump truck was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

"A newspaper is the center of a community, it's one of the tent poles of the community, and that's not going to be replaced by websites and blogs."

- Michael Connelly

Residents are all so intricately connected

No man is an island, wrote John Donne in the 1600s.

He was referring to the fact we are all connected as friends and members of the same community. In order to thrive and prosper, we must be part of something bigger than ourselves.

I realize that at times, we're like leaves floating in the river, being dragged along by the current, sent this way and that. But when we come to rest, we rest at home. Our home is not just the brick and stone of our dwelling, but our neighbours, friends, service clubs, hockey teams, local shops and yes, the team that makes up our municipal government.

This is where our heart, and our biggest investment is.

Many people are somewhat removed from their community and their municipal government. Some have an aversion or apprehension of politicians at all levels, and put councillors in the same basket.

But our local politicians and many of our Township staff are friends, neighbours, homeowners and consumers. They're right next to us as we line up for gas or grab our coffee in the morning. They have the same concerns and worries that we do.

Henrik Ibsen said a community is like a ship, and "everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

"Real, sustainable community change requires the initiative and engagement of community members."

- Helene D. Gayle

Casual observers and busy taxpayers may not fully realize just how entwined and inter-connected everything is in our community.

Take a sidewalk for example. It's a device to move pedestrian traffic, but it impacts a village's walkability; improves walk-in traffic for local business; provides dog-walkers with a safe path and even adds to a town's aesthetics.

A stop sign or speed hump are traffic calming measures. But they're safety devices and they show that a neighbourhood or village cares about its residents. They're reminders about how to behave as motorists and how to respect our friends and neighbours.

Both take engineering, planning and coordination to achieve.

In King, we have an innovative, all encompassing Integrated Sustainability Plan. It's a master strategy that ties together all aspects of society - finances, infrastructure, parks, agriculture, cultural and social needs. This goes far beyond any engineering document or planning report. But it's the very nature of this guiding document that's intriguing. It marries people and their lifestyles, with government and local priorities. It's genius, really.

Last week we elected our newest MPPs and both Stephen Lecce and Caroline Mulroney will step up and serve King Township residents. Many were put off by provincial politics this year, but it's essential we have a working relationship with our MPP and close ties with Queen's Park. Again, no municipality is an island, and we not only receive top-down mandates from Toronto, but we can leverage this relationship to ensure King gets its fair share.

The same is true with our federal representatives and the decision-makers in Ottawa. Some aspects of our lives are governed by the folks we sent to Parliament Hill. Deb Schulte is our King-Vaughan representative and it's essential that we maintain a good relationship with her and her staff.

Our councillors and staff work together with these representatives and bureaucrats to ensure King's voice is heard. Should the need arise, help will be readily available.

That takes work, schmoozing and even some arm-twisting at fundraising dinners or conferences.

Township staff and politicians don't clock out at the end of the business day. Nor do they stop promoting King, ever.

Our municipal staffers and our leaders care about the success of local businesses. They know how important public transit is. They worked to ensure we'd have more of a police presence locally.

A lot of our political clout outside our borders is about image; how we are perceived. That image is tied to our hard resources - the parks and modern facilities provided to residents.

Despite what some may think, the new municipal office, library and seniors' facility represent more than fancy glass and steel. It's about giving residents what they deserve and giving us all something to be proud of.

The new sports complex planned for Seneca campus will be the envy of all of our fellow municipalities in York. Again, this plan involved building bridges and cementing partnerships, so everyone benefits.

Say what you will about your taxes, this municipality has an abundance of services that are almost unrivalled. These facilities, along with the world-class Trisan Centre, are things typically found in much larger, richer municipalities.

Nearby Caledon, with a similar topography and citizenry, has none of these things.

King has managed all of this on a shoestring budget, by cleverly leveraging those ties, relationships and mutual arrangements.

We can all contribute by working together. Our service clubs, Chamber of Commerce, ASK, CCKT, church groups and horticultural societies all bring together engaged citizens, who work toward a common goal.

All of these are tied together, by invisible threads - hearts and minds. King has become what it is today because none of us are "islands."

"People crave comfort, people crave connection, people crave community."

- Marianne Williamson

Editorial

New MPPs understand King

The new Conservative government at Queen's Park has a depth of talent to draw from.

The two MPPs representing King - Stephen Lecce and Caroline Mulroney - will provide strong, capable voices as they enter some very interesting waters in provincial politics.

Our Mayor, Steve Pellegrini, is excited and optimistic about the prospect of dealing with MPPs who understand King. Both Lecce and Mulroney have shown an understanding of local issues and needs.

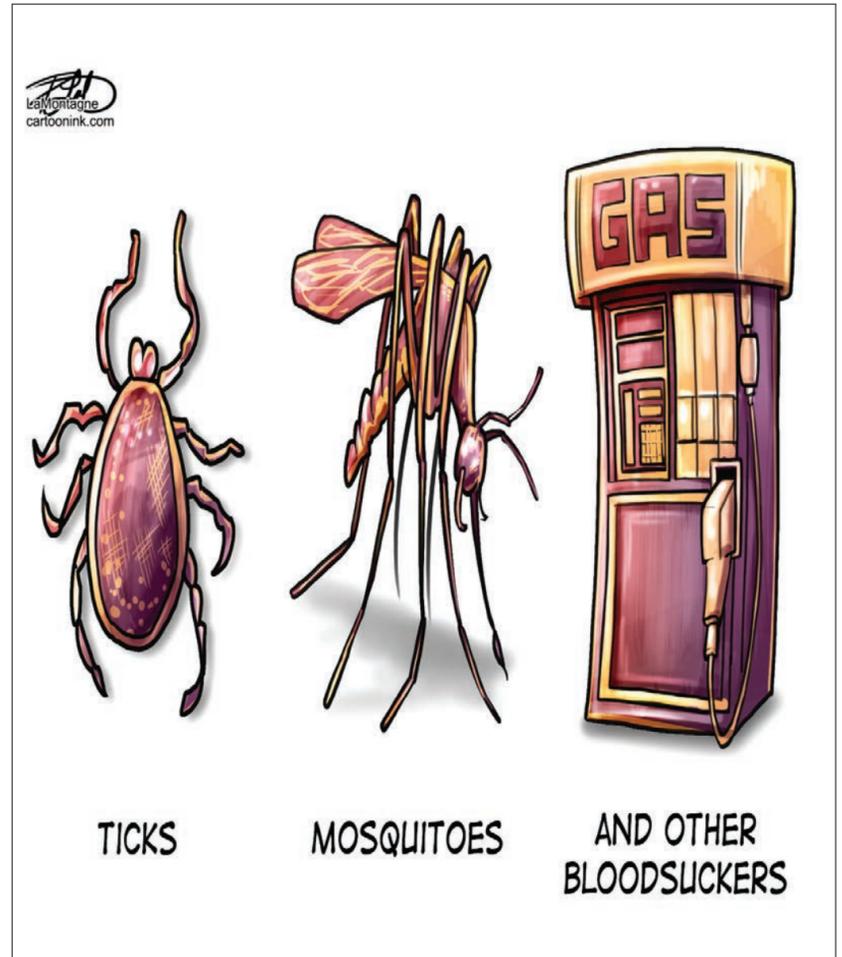

They are our champions and hopefully they will return the favour for the trust voters placed in them.

Nearby, former MP Paul Calandra has become the new MPP for Markham-Stouffville, defeating Helena Jaczek. Calandra is familiar with King and he will be another ally in our quest for help when needed.

There's a good possibility that one, or both of our newly elected MPPs are in line for a cabinet post. That will only up the ante as King asserts itself in the big picture.

For a small municipality to have these brothers and sisters in arms bodes very well for us.

MP, Editor

Stay tick smart this summer

York Region Public Health is carrying out its spring tick surveillance and has found blacklegged at the Cold Creek Conservation Area and the Centennial Park Trail, along with several other locations in York Region.

Spring tick surveillance is being conducted across additional natural public spaces including municipal parks, conservation areas, Regional forest tracts and ravines.

Keep these tips in mind when visiting wooded or brushy natural areas:

- Wear light-coloured pants and long-sleeved tops to help spot ticks
- Choose closed footwear and tuck your pants into your socks
- Use an insect repellent containing DEET or icaridin
- Search your body for ticks, especially the groin, scalp, back and underarm areas
- Bathe or shower as soon as possible after coming indoors to wash off unattached ticks
- Safely remove attached ticks from your body as quickly as possible
- Check your pets for ticks

York Region Public Health conducts active tick surveillance in the spring and fall and passive tick surveillance year-round. More information on Lyme disease, personal protection and tick removal is available at york.ca/lymedisease or by contacting York Region Health Connection at 1-800-361-5653; TTY 1-866-512-6228.

Grass clippings

King Township is reminding residents not to rake or blow grass clippings on to the road. They can clog storm sewers and make maintenance – like street sweeping – more time consuming for staff. Please rake up your clippings and place them in a yard waste bag.

2018 MUNICIPAL ELECTION

2018 Municipal Elections

NEW for 2018 Election of the Regional Chair
The next municipal election will be held on Monday, October 22, 2018. For the first time in York Region, the Regional Chair will be elected by general vote as part of the municipal election. Residents of King Township will have the opportunity to vote for their local Ward Councillor, Mayor, School Board Trustee and Regional Chair.

In Ontario, Regional Chairs are responsible for chairing Council for the province's Regional municipalities. As head of Regional Council, the Regional Chair acts as Chief Executive Officer of the Regional Corporation.

Regional Council in York Region is comprised of 21 members, including the Regional Chair, Mayors from each of the nine local municipalities and eleven Regional Councillors.

Role of the Regional Chair

The Regional Chair is responsible for, among other things, presiding over Regional Council meetings, and representing the Region in dealings with other levels of government.

He or she also serves as an ex-officio member of all Regional Committees and acting as a member of the York Regional Police Services Board and Director on the York Region Rapid Transit Board.

For more information on the role of the Regional Chair, please visit www.york.ca. To ensure you're on the voter list for the municipal election, visit www.voterlookup.ca.

Hot Car Warning

Never leave a child or pet alone in a vehicle, even for a few minutes

- Leaving a window slightly open, or "cracked," did little to prevent the inside the vehicle from becoming dangerously hot.
- Look twice before locking. Always keep cars locked while in garages or driveways to prevent children and animals from inadvertently becoming trapped. The Canada Safety Council suggests making a habit of placing your cell phone, purse or wallet in the back seat — a strategy that requires you to turn around and check the back seat whenever you leave the vehicle. If you come across a child or animal in distress that has been left in a hot vehicle, call 9-1-1.

King Township Food Bank centres open this Saturday

Visit www.ktfb.ca for the latest news and updates, including distribution dates, that are always the third Saturday of the month. Attendees must note the first Saturday can be at the very beginning of the month, as in June, September and December this year.

This Saturday, June 16, the three Distribution Centres are open from 9-11 a.m. to receive those registered with the Food Bank. If you need help, please call ahead 905-806-1125 or ktfoodbank@gmail.com so food can be shipped to the appropriate centre in the right quantity for you.

Saturday also marks the time for registration for the Back to School program. There's a new opportunity for families wanting to help. Adopt-a-backpack is moving into full gear, and families may adopt a student and provide the specific items needed for the upcoming grade. So, a student going into Grade 8 might "adopt" a student entering Grade 7, knowing what was most needed for that academic year, which can include things like an insulated lunch bag and small serving containers for a litterless lunch. Needless to say, detailed information is confidential. Adopting families can choose which grade they wish to supply needs for. If this interests you, please email ktfoodbank@gmail.com or call and leave a message as 905-806-1125.

The Food Bank does not expect that all students will have their needs adopted, so the Nobleton Lions cheque for $1,500 that was recently awarded for the Back to School program is a welcome assist.

The next distribution Day will be Saturday, July 21. Don't forget to let the Food Bank know if you are unable to attend a monthly Distribution to avoid de-registration.

Local donors help

In addition to the private donations received by Canada Helps and through the mail every month, Drive for Change, incorporating jars and pails at cash, has added over $400 to the bank account this year. Customers at Grackle Coffee in Schomberg, Humber Valet Cleaners and Guardian Drugs in King City, and Pharmasave in Nobleton are particularly generous, judging by the amounts coming in from various locations.

The Township of King awarded KTFB $750 under its Community Grants Program, and many Loblaw $25 cards are coming in through all channels, by hand, mail and at the drop off locations across the Township.

On a Tuesday afternoon in early June, a team from RBC Wealth Management, led by Michael Hogg, packed menu boxes at the Depot and awarded KTFB a cheque for $2,500. Not only does the regular Pack Team get the summer off, but the bank account receives a generous boost. Now there's a win-win!

Sip & Savour 2018

It's official! Sip & Savour will be held Thursday, Oct. 25 at Nobleton Lakes Golf Course for the fifth year. You are invited to stroll the streets of Rome, to celebrate "Ciao Roma" with strolling entertainment, a fabulous auction, both silent and live, and of course Chef Roger's amazing food. Mark your calendars now; tickets go on sale early in August. Remember the great cocktail party last year? Meline Beach, who coordinated that event, is again directing activities, so you can expect another wonderful evening.

Festival 175 this Saturday

Saturday June 16, from 10-2, the Anglican Parish of Lloydtown is holding a festival at 116 Church Street, Schomberg. There will be displays indoors and out, as experts, and artisans (all volunteers) gather to present information and opportunities to try a new (old) skill.

Grab a burger and some lemonade, and then head over to Paint with Jenn, where Jenn Scherle of "Art in the Park" will offer trials in acrylic painting to all ages.

It's all going to be there with free admission, but be sure to head over early to catch the show and make your way to all the exhibits!

CVC provides creative, digital tools to get your message across

By Mark Pavilons

“Communication and communication strategy is not just part of the game – it is the game.”

– Oscar Munoz

Humankind has always had a need to communicate and express ourselves.

While the tools and methods over delivering a message have changed over the millennia, one thing has remained constant – effective communication is key.

King’s Robert Angeloni is a consummate professional, offering integral corporate communication tools. Designing marketing, promotion and training platforms, over a variety of media, CVC Agency really is “an in-house powerhouse.”

But Angeloni, CVC’s President and owner, can’t take all the credit. The talent comes from his family of experts and Angeloni is like a conductor leading an orchestra. Each staff member has a role to play in the big picture and they never miss a beat.

CVC has built an incredible repertoire of services, catering to some high-profile corporate clients. Companies like Home Depot, Allstate, Estee Lauder and American Standard are repeat customers, bolstering CVC’s portfolio.

Angeloni was perhaps ahead of the curve, realizing early on that by bringing a multitude of services in house, you can provide “full circle communications.”

For more than 40 years, CVC has been “performing” miracles for clients across North America, and around the world. From advertising campaigns and training videos, to websites and conferences, CVC brings together top creative minds.

CVC created its own niche by providing the full gamut of marketing, digital production and learning services.

Today’s successful brands realize the importance of strong communications to their bottom line success. CVC helps them with internally-focused communications to keep employees trained, aligned and inspired and externally-focused communications to advertise, attract and engage customers. That’s what Angeloni calls Full Circle Communications. A unique proposition from a unique creative Agency.

Branding, promotions, custom audio – pretty much anything you can think of – is in their wheelhouse.

The company was always innovative and everyone wears a lot of hats. There are few fancy titles and nameplates. Instead of doors, you’ll find offices containing a multitude of knick knacks, often gifted from clients, that are reflections of the creative atmosphere that permeates the place.

Angeloni keeps redefining CVC because their clients demand it. Angeloni has always had a creative eye since working as a photographer in his youth. He’s also an accomplished drummer and played with a band for roughly two decades.

CVC utilizes the latest in technological gadgets and computer software to produce videos, photo campaigns and instructional eLearning products. But it all comes down to human creativity, something CVC members have in ample supply.

CVC is a corporation’s digital partner and works closely with CEOs and front-line workers to present the proper image and message. While technology has created a venue for cheap and easy video options, if you want a professional look it has to be done right.

Every project is unique and CVC can transform its in-house studio set from kitchens to bathrooms to workshops. CVC can handle all aspects of video production, working with company reps and professional actors.

Angeloni enjoys working with people at all levels, telling stories, providing educational tools and even coming up with catchy jingles. It’s integrated communications at its finest.

Every aspect of video production has its unique challenges and intricacies, all guided by human hands.

CVC staff Producer/director Edward Majkut notes digital effects are their own universe. Majkut, like other CVC talent, often pull together seemingly boring subject matter and create quality productions that rival prime time TV shows. From food preparation to power tools, CVC experts are always looking for new ways of doing things.

Majkut said the often complicated processes are an adventure, with solutions around every corner.

Majkut, like Angeloni, is a musician with an affinity for jazz. The two often jam with clients and colleagues at all hours and have come up with some amazing original scores. The creativity abounds, long after the sun goes down and the office closes for the day. It’s known as CVC after Dark.

The large, state of the art recording studio is a “palette,” Majkut said, a room that provides all the bells and whistles. But it’s the human factor that brings every idea to life.

CVC may be the unsung heroes of strengthening corporate identity, but they don’t mind. They take a great deal of pride in the end result.

It’s a digital legacy for all to see. For more, visit www.cvcagency.com or call 905-282-1449.

PC majority predictable; smaller parties hoped for gains

By Mark Pavilons

The massive PC victory in Ontario was not unexpected and some of the other parties would have liked to see more support sent their way.

In King-Vaughan, there were seven candidates who offered an option for voters.

The people of Ontario wanted change and no one should stand in the way of that.

Liberal candidate Marilyn Iafate said the party "has been reduced to the proverbial ashes but from those ashes will come the rebirth of the party which I think is actually quite exciting."

"I personally am proud to have run a campaign with honesty and integrity and have no regrets."

"In terms of the future, I have made no decisions as this is always a matter that I discuss with my family first given the tremendous workload on them."

"It's been an incredible experience getting to know so many wonderful people in King and have made many friends for life."

Andrea Beal, the NDP candidate who finished third with 7,921 votes, said Andrea Horwath's NDP ran a strong and focussed campaign. The platform was centred on people, families and communities.

"I was happy to be the face of the platform here in King-Vaughan. As the official opposition, the NDP has promised to keep those priorities."

"I was pleased with the support for a progressive agenda here in this electoral district. As a new riding we can't look back to other provincial elections for comparison, but this was significant. I want to thank all those who chose to vote for change for the better, and to encourage them to hold on ... there will be a next time."

"Get ready Ontario! We're not in Kansas anymore," said King-Vaughan Green candidate and Schomberg resident Greg Locke.

Locke was thrilled that Green Party leader Like Schreiner became the first Green MPP in Ontario history!

"This is joyous. Greens will have a voice in the Legislature, and I know Mike will be working hard to ensure the PCs and NDP address our continuing environmental and societal challenges."

Locke said the Green Party will work with Schreiner's presence to hold Ford and the PCs feet "to the fire" on pressing issues.

On the local front, it is clear from the results that there is strong support for the Green Party in King-Vaughan. Locke pointed out that his 1,754 votes, representing 3.41% of the vote, may not seem like a lot, but there were many ridings where the Green Party didn't break 1,000, or even 500 votes.

"My result is outstanding in this regard. We will now create a Provincial Riding Association to continue to raise awareness of the Green Party, the values and issues we support and advocate for, and to build resources to be even more effective in four years time."

To that end, Locke said they are seeking riding association members and supporters to get going on this right away! He's asking that those interested contact him (greglocke@GPO.ca) or Ann Raney (ann.raney@greenparty.ca).

Locke extended his thanks to the dedicated and tireless campaign team, and "every single person who voted for me." Locke also found success in every single person they spoke with, who stopped and thought twice about their vote.

Trillium Party's Roman Evtukh garnered 252 votes.

"As a representative of a smaller political party, I expected that people will be more willing to explore other options, rather than strategically voting."

"I believe that a pluralism is the essence of a true democracy, and having two parties and eight independents (7+1), is not quite the way to represent 14 million Ontarians."

Evtukh said the fact that the Green Party has won a seat, gives "me a hope that we are on the right track to explore new ideas and hopefully, to free up some space to the new players at Queen's Park."

He congratulated Lecce who will work to win constituents' trust, especially those who voted for a different party.

Libertarian Yan Simkin said he was expecting a bit more votes, but he's extremely thankful to "those 235 voters who cast their votes for me."

From a rookie perspective, this election campaign was an eye-opener and a wonderful experience, he noted.

"I thank fellow candidates, the press and the meetings organizers for being part of this campaign and giving me the opportunity. I congratulate Stephen Lecce and hope he will be a worthy MPP for King-Vaughan and wish him best of luck in representing our riding."

Lecce, Mulrone win ridings easily

By Mark Pavilons

Stephen Lecce and Caroline Mulrone will represent King residents at Queen's Park, in the new Conservative government.

Both won handily over their opponents in last Thursday night's election, that saw the PCs gain a clear majority. Lecce and Mulrone were part of a Conservative sweep that turned York Region blue.

Lecce is the first MPP for King-Vaughan, winning with a huge 29,136 to 12,012 total over Liberal Marilyn Iafate, a 17,124-vote margin. Lecce garnered 56.62% of the vote.

The NDP's Andrea Beal was a distant third with 7,921 votes.

Green Party candidate Greg Locke was fourth with 1,754 votes, followed by Trillium's Roman Evtukh (252), Libertarian Yan Simkin (235) and Ontario Moderate Party candidate Tatiana Babitch (151).

Mulrone becomes the newest MPP in York-Simcoe in more than 20 years, garnering 26,050 votes, a whopping 57.26% of the vote. She held a 15,395-vote margin over the NDP's Dave Szollosy, who finished second (10,655), ahead of Liberal Loreale Carruthers, who earned only 6,138 votes.

Green candidate Alexandra Zalucky took fourth with 2,195 votes, followed by Libertarian Ioan Silviu Druma-Strugariu (264) and Moderate Party candidate Franco Colavecchia (150).

Poulis finds his niche in the film industry

By Mark Pavilons

A King City native enjoyed working with some of Hollywood's finest, but his career journey was far from typical. Jeff Poulis, a graduate of King City Secondary School, has a very shiny memento to show for his hard work.

Poulis and his team won an Academy Award for Production Design and Set Production for The Shape of Water, directed by Guillermo del Toro. It drew international praise as one of Del Toro's most stunningly successful works.

Poulis said he's worked with del Toro on five productions over the past 22 years. The first was the 1997 sci-fi horror "Mimic."

"We were all pretty amazed at his talents back then. He introduced a style of vision and design that was a welcome change to the industry," Poulis said.

"Getting to sculpt on his sets and receive his thoughts and critique is well, a rush. Not everything is rosy and perfect while making a movie, but the journey getting there and the teamwork involved is what drives our crew."

Poulis said a core team has been working together for a number of years now, and he's known most of them for 20-plus years as fellow colleagues.

"Very talented Canucks we are!" Poulis recently wrapped up working on the latest DC Comics superhero movie "Shazam." He's working for the next five months on another Hollywood sequel.

Poulis has been "entertaining people all my life."

He said he realized at a very early age that he was very good at getting and keeping that attention.

He was a perfect fit for the film industry, but he didn't know it at the time.

He recalled playing a lot of sports growing up, and during his years at KCSS he played hockey, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics and track & field.

After graduating in 1981, he joined the work force, learning retail at Simpson-Sears.

"But something else that had been around me all my life was about to present itself."

His father, William G. Poulis, was a cameraman and film producer, and during the summer growing up, he would occasionally take Jeff to work with him on news stories for the CBC.

In 1984, his world changed drastically. His sister Andrea had followed their father into the industry and through her, Jeff was given an opportunity to join film union IATSE #873.

"In the film industry, I had instant success with directors, producers, actors and cameramen, because I took care of all the details that were going in front of the camera lenses. Now I had their attention. My career as a property master had begun. I was 22 years old."

Poulis admitted he made some mistakes, but he learned a lot in that first year, "and I've never stopped learning to this day."

His first TV show was in 1985, on ABC's Pippi Longstocking. He created props, outfitted actors with accessories and filmed on a pirate ship.

The last three decades have been very rewarding for him. He had gained the trust of his peers, and was working on Hollywood feature films.

"I developed terrific friendships with members of the film community, and am proud of many of the movies that I've helped create."

Some film highlights included Sea of Love, The Cutting Edge, The Santa Clause, Fly Away Home, Finding Forrester, Cinderella Man and most recently the Academy Award Winning Best Picture, Spotlight.

He also managed to find himself acting in front of the cameras a few times, notably in Fly Away Home, and in a very special TV film called First Do No Harm.

"Yours truly got to act in a scene with Meryl Streep. Highly recommended."

Poulis said going to work every day and entertaining people worked for him.

"And I still have their attention!"

KCSS music performs at Rockford's

The Music Department at King City Secondary School (KCSS), completed their performance season with a show by the Big Band at Rockford's Bar and Grill June 5. The 13-piece band, led by the head of the KCSS Music Department, Tom Walker played such pieces as Billy Jean, Soul Man, I Love Lucy Theme, Sly and the Family Stone Tribute and No Moon at All, just to name a few. The performance also featured various instrumental solos, an awesome two-piece trombone section, a rock solid bass player, a vocal soloist and a piano solo.

The group gave a command performance and as Walker said: "Many people spend a lifetime trying to perfect an instrument and look at what these students have done in such little time."

It is very evident that the evening's performance was not only the result of dedication by the students themselves, but a big thank you goes out to Tom Walker who has dedicated a great deal of his time, effort and love of music to this group and the music department. A special thank you to Rockford's for hosting this performance.

Dalt Hicks portrait finds a home at Township office

By Mark Pavilons

A photo of a prominent citizen will be on display at the new King municipal centre.

Karen Merk, founder of Portraits of Giving, presented the framed photo of the late Dalt Hicks to King councillors. Merk was joined by members of the Hicks family.

Merk pointed out that after Hicks passed away, she wanted to find a home for his portrait and story from a few years ago, "so that his legacy of helping his community would be remembered."

"We felt that the Township of King would be an appropriate place and hope there will be a nice spot in the new town Hall for it. It was an honour to present his portrait to council with Dalt's family and hope his story will continue to inspire others in the future to keep giving back to their community."

Mayor Steve Pellegrini observed that the entire Hicks family has been a tremendous asset to King.

"His (Dalt's) legacy will live on," he said.

Hicks was among the recipients of the Portrait of Giving in 2015.

"You get a gut feeling about helping. Giving and receiving is the most important thing."

Dalt Hicks was born in January 1928. As a boy, he collected and sold stray golf balls from the golf course next-door to their dairy farm before progressing to caddy and starting to play golf. He started out in business with only $400 in his bank account with which he bought a tractor. He was in the gravel business for 34 years, but his dream was to build a golf course, and in 1984 he bought land on Davis Drive West where his four golf courses and the Cardinal Golf Club house are situated.

Who was the man behind the Cardinal golf brand known for his volunteerism and generous fund-raising efforts for Mackenzie Health since 1975, and the Southlake Regional Health Centre? He was a man who gave back in quiet and private ways.

When Dalt married his wife, Shirley in 1953, there was a polio epidemic that affected his sister. Dalt's friend Harry Cook, a carpenter from Thornhill, was paralyzed from the neck down as a result of the disease. It was around Christmas time when he saw his friend lying in bed, immobile but for his head, watching a little black and white television. Dalt promptly went out to Firestone Tire company which sold appliances in those days and bought a colour TV.

"That was the best gift I had ever given anybody," Dalt said. "When I saw him lying there, it gave me a real gut feeling. That wasn't a big thing, but back in those days it was a lot of money. I think it meant a lot to him. Laying there all day long looking at a black and white TV was a treat, but to get it in colour was even better. That story never left me."

His start in terms of charity work was when he volunteered to drive a boy who had polio downtown to Sick Kids every week for physiotherapy. Dalt started the Richmond Hill Kinsmen in 1954 with his wife and at Christmas they took hampers around to families in need. Friendships are important to Dalt, his employees called him by his first name.

"My door is always open," Dalt said. "Money is not the big objective, it's not the answer to everything. It is nice to be profitable and have success, but it's what you do with it; you give and that is a good feeling in life."

Dalt was moved by the health needs of others and wanted to see the most advanced equipment available to patients. He served as chairman of the board at Mackenzie Health for 15 years. Another cause he supported is Belinda's Place, a shelter for women in need on Yonge Street in Newmarket. Dalt saw the Cardinal Golf course business as a stepping stone for young people out of school where they have to learn to work with others and do business, as well as seniors who need something to do. "Some marriages have been made too," he once said.

His legacy lives on to this day. He set up a family trust to disperse funds to different requests.

King signs agreement with Caledon

By Mark Pavilons

After years of informally sharing responsibility for the Caledon-King Townline, the two municipalities will have a formal agreement.

King and Caledon will finalize the agreement for road. King will provide routine maintenance and repair responsibility for the Townline North, from the 19th Sideroad north to Highway 9, a distance of 2 kilometres. Caledon will handle the road from the Mount Pleasant north to the 17th Sideroad (3.5 kilometres); from the Albion-Vaughan Road north to King Road (2 kilometres) and from King Road north to Mount Pleasant.

Staff noted that for years, King has had informal agreements with neighbouring municipalities regarding boundary road maintenance. They exchanged maintenance if it made sense from an operational standpoint.

"This has been a suitable arrangement, however, it is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain the 'understanding' due to changing staff and increasing litigation," staff noted. "Liability associated with accidents are becoming more common and having a formal agreement with agreed upon responsibilities between the Township and neighbouring municipalities will form a better understanding of responsibilities and accountability for standard maintenance."

Country Day School has record day on the OFSAA track

By Jake Courtepatte

The Country Day School Cyclones were all over the board at the results table of this weekend's OFSAA Championships, in what is becoming a yearly takeover for the King City school at the provincial level.

The junior boys 4x100 relay team was the first to reach the podium with their record-shattering run on Friday at York University in Toronto, putting up a time of 43.26 seconds in the final heat to guarantee teammates Jonah DeSimone, Caleb Clarke, Luca Masini, and Maxx Railton a gold medal.

The time was good for close to a half-second faster than their nearest competitor, J. Clarke Richardson of Ajax.

The junior boys entered the final as the highest seed, after finishing first in Thursday's second preliminary heat.

Jane Stanton had a personal success on the track Friday with a personal best in the senior girls 100-metre hurdles, finishing in twelfth place overall, while Wilson O'Neill landed in eighth spot in the senior boys 110-metre hurdles.

Railton added to his tally with a fifth place finish in the junior boys 100-metre final.

O'Neill capped off his OFSAA run on Saturday with a 10th place finish in the 400-metre hurdles, while Railton closed out his weekend in fifth place in the 200-metre.

In long distance, Kira Gupta-Baltazar finished seventh in the 3,000-metre run.

The CDS junior boys 4x100 relay team (Jonah DeSimone, Caleb Clarke, Luca Masini, Maxx Railton) set a new OFSAA record at the Ontario championships in Toronto on Friday.

Cyclists take off from the YRP Community Safety Village for the annual Ride For Styles, in honour of slain officer Garrett Styles.

Ride for Styles raises more than $20,000 in honour of slain officer

When cyclists from across York Region descended on the York Regional Police's Community Safety Village on Sunday for the annual Ride for Styles, some were sporting tops reading "life is a beautiful ride."

Unfortunately for Constable Garrett Styles, his was cut tragically short, though his legacy lives on through the charity cycle in his name.

Styles, a seven-year veteran with the force, was struck down by a minivan being driven by an underage driver in the early hours of the morning on June 28, 2011.

This year's ride raised just over $20,000 for the Canadian Tire JumpStart program, Victim Services of York Region, and the Aga Khan Foundation Canada, a non-profit that supports social development programs in Asia and Africa.

A donation was also made to the Canadian Police Memorial Ride to Remember.

With the motto "heroes in life, not death," the Ride to Remember will take place in September to remember those like Styles who have fallen in the line of duty.

"We've raised a lot of money, but we always need more," said Garry Styles, Garrett's father and a retired member of the force, who called his son "a good man."

"It keeps my son's legacy alive, and it's something my son would have supported."

With humble beginnings in October of 2011 as a group of eight YRP cyclists, this year's event featured both a 50km and 75km ride starting from Bruce's Mill Conservation Area in Stouffville.

Now in its eighth year, around 150 cyclists came out in support of the event, many sporting the new 'Sockcess' YRP-themed socks, aiding in making this year's ride the most successful to date.

"I think it should be supported for a long time," said Mr. Styles. "There's no doubt it's helping a lot of people."

YRP detective and event chief organizer Ken Bardai called the continued support for the ride "proof of Garrett's impact on both his peers and the community."

Since its inception, the Ride 4 Styles has raised over $100,000 for charity.

Nobleton Lions Golf Day

On June 3, over $24,000 was raised in the annual golf day at Nobleton Lakes Golf Club. Proceeds are used to support over 20 local community organizations and wider charitable work through the Lions Clubs International Foundation. Seen here enjoying the day are Mayor Pellegrini and the event organizer, Lion Latif (Jim) Kassam.

Arthritis:

New Approach
Delivers
Remarkable Results

If you suffer from Arthritis you need to be aware of effective advancements that can eliminate years of pain, suffering, immobility and frustration.

You may have told your doctor you suffer with one or more of the following: sore, stiff knees, painful achy hips, low back pain, mid back pain, neck stiffness or pain, hand stiffness, shoulder pain or elbow pain.

You may find that your pain or stiffness affects your work, housekeeping, leisure activities, exercise, sports or other activities. You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your pain. But you find the pain keeps returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of pain pills or anti-inflammatory drugs that include damage to the liver, kidneys and gut.

There is a new, natural, safe and highly effective approach that has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically: Laser therapy uses light to favor and accelerate the body's natural healing processes. The innovative Multiwave Locked System (MLS) Laser produces a safe, efficient and simultaneous effect on pain, inflammation, swelling and water retention, exceeding the limits of traditional LLLT (Low power) and concerns of HP (High power) laser therapy.

What does this mean for you?

Our patients have reported a 90-95% relief of their symptoms, more mobility, increased flexibility and vastly improved function!

It is the very latest in medical technology, with years of clinical studies supporting its safety and efficacy and we are very proud to offer our patients effective solutions to their recent or chronic conditions.

Butterfly season is officially open

By Grazyna Tonkiel

When I saw a Red Admiral butterfly flying around my garden, like a messenger announcing spring, I knew that butterfly season had started.

According to the Entomology Department of the Royal Ontario Museum, there are approximately 160 registered butterfly species, living in our province. Start looking for them, and if you are really lucky you may discover no more than 10, in any one place in the Township. Let me explain why this is the case.

The presence of butterflies is dependent on larval host plants, or simply put caterpillar food. For example, I have gorgeous Red Admirals in my garden due to the abundance of Stinging Nettles that I grow. The plant is not only the staple food for Red Admiral caterpillars, but also a fantastic source of vitamins and nutrients. What is good for the butterflies is also good for me. I use Stinging Nettles for my summer juicing.

Monarch Butterflies are a great example of the link between the presence of caterpillar host plants and the well-being of the species. The moment we wiped out Milk Weed in Canada, we destroyed the food source for their caterpillars. A tragic drop in the number of Monarchs followed.

When, in 1975, prominent butterfly specialists Fred Urquhart and his wife Norah, confirmed their theory of Monarch migration to Mexico, we had 1 billion butterflies completing this journey each year. At present, the population dropped to 40 million; 960 million Monarchs are gone. Despite all the efforts to preserve the Monarch population, to which I tirelessly contribute, we are not making sufficient progress, and each year we are getting closer and closer to the heartbreaking extinction.

Migrating Monarchs were part of the North America ecosystem for thousands of years, and yet they got decimated during the course of one generation of homo sapiens.

At least in King, things may be changing. We should be energized and proud since our Township has decided to be butterfly friendly, and we all have a role to play.

You can make a difference by simply planting larval host plants in your garden. Plant some Asters and Sunflowers if you want to invite Checkerspot and Crescent Butterflies. Grow Rue and Giant Swallowtail Butterflies will fly above your head. They are so big, that it feels like you have a neighbor's drone spying on you. They are also territorial so you may have one living in your garden at the same place, for the whole summer. At the end of the summer, use dry Rue in sachets as Moth repellent.

I adore tiny Little Blues. All of them, Eastern Tailed Blue, Silvery Blue and beautiful Orange Sulphur. They are the highlight of my summers. I attract them with Sweet Clover, which I reseed each year on my lawn. As a matter of fact, they are flying around me at this very moment, as I write this Butterfly report.

Large Marble, Mustard White, Cabbage White and Checkered White, the four species of White Butterflies, all depend on Mustard family plants. The good news is that you do not need to plant red or white cabbage, broccoli or cauliflower in order to have them in your backyard. It is enough to incorporate some ornamental cabbage in your flower beds. The plant will look very attractive until fall and you will make a lot of our friends, very happy indeed.

They are many Ontario butterflies that depend on trees for survival. If you are surrounded by Willows, Aspen, Poplar and Birches, you may observe the Red Spotted Purple, White Admiral, Weidemeyer's Admiral and Viceryoy (which mimics Monarchs in appearance).

Right now is the perfect time to make butterfly friendly changes. Grow larval host plants and your chances of having Female butterflies visiting you will increase dramatically. Their purpose in life is to mate, lay eggs and find food for their future babies. Help them find what they need in your backyard.

Do it. Do it now, plant some Curly Parsley, Ornamental Cabbages, keep Queen Anne Lace (False Parsley), don't treat it as a weed but as a welcome sign for the butterflies.

For feeding Imagos, this is how we call adult butterflies, keep a lot of Daisies, Dianthus, Sunflowers, and Asters. Plant a perennial butterfly collection: Butterfly Bushes, Columbines, Elke Geranium, Blazing Stars, Echinacea, Milk Weeds and Asters.

Wishing everyone a great butterfly season. Let's make the King Township a true butterfly sanctuary.

We Believe in Abby Day is this Saturday in Schomberg

On Saturday June 16, community members will gather at Hickstead Memorial Park in Schomberg for the 4th Annual We Believe in Abby Family Day in support of The Hospital for Sick Children (SickKids). The event is organized by Becky and Craig Eveson in honour of their four-year-old daughter Abby, who was born without her main pulmonary artery and has a rare congenital heart defect. Abby had her first surgery only 14 hours after birth, and has had three open heart surgeries since at SickKids. We Believe in Abby Family Day is a way for Abby's parents to spread more positive energy, give back to SickKids, and provide the gift of time to other families in their situation.

"We started for our own piece of mind, and people caught on," said Abby's father and event organizer Craig. "The only thing we ever ask is that people be nice to each other, create a nicer world ... we don't know how long we have with Abby. If that's her legacy, I'm alright with that. Becky continues to rally her community, local businesses, friends and family to support the Labatt Family Heart Centre."

All funds raised from the event will go towards The Labatt Family Heart Centre at SickKids to help more children like Abby. Congenital heart defects make up the biggest portion of heart disease in children with about 1 in 100 babies has some kind of congenital heart disease, and many needing critical medical attention before they turn one year old. The Labatt Family Heart Centre at SickKids performs more than 85% of paediatric cardiovascular surgery in Ontario.

In addition to the splash pad, the event will feature henna artists, face painting, a musical performance, bouncy castles, a Disney character meet & greet, raffle prizes, and more.

We Believe in Abby Family Day is a free event. In lieu of admission fees, donations are greatly appreciated. To date, the event has raised over $44,000 for SickKids.

York seeks additional revenue-raising powers

The Regional Municipality of York is forecasted to grow to 1.8 million residents and 900,000 jobs over the next 25 years. Despite these numbers, the Region has similar revenue-raising powers as a smaller municipality.

In order to continue on the path of strong financial sustainability, York Regional Council continues to advocate for revenue-raising powers similar or the same as the City of Toronto Act, 2006.

"York Region is a growing municipality with one of the largest capital budgets in the Greater Toronto Area," said York Region chairman and CEO Wayne Emmerson. "As we continue to welcome new residents and businesses to our communities, we must ensure infrastructure is in place to accommodate current and future needs. New revenue sources are essential to addressing costs associated with building new, and maintaining current, infrastructure."

York Region has more than $220 million per year in infrastructure needs that cannot be addressed by the current limit of a three per cent property tax increase. To address this, regional council again requests the Province of Ontario extend York Region similar or the same revenue-raising options afforded to the City of Toronto, under the City of Toronto Act, 2006. This would include a municipal land transfer tax and vehicle registration tax.

"Regional council has achieved success in meeting three key objectives: keeping annual tax levy increase below three per cent, reducing reliance on debt and saving for asset management needs," said Richmond Hill Mayor David Barrow, chair of the finance and administration committee. "Should the Province of Ontario grant City of Toronto Act, 2006 powers to York Region, we will be in an even stronger financial position to address the needs of our communities."

The Regional Municipality of York consists of nine local cities and towns, and provides a variety of programs and services to 1.2 million residents and 51,000 businesses with 620,000 employees. More information about the Region's key service areas is available at york.ca/regionalservices

Welcome to St. Andrew's! Our Sunday worship services are at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school for school-aged children up to Grade 6 will conclude the last Sunday of June, however, children are most welcome during the summer services. Following the morning worship, join us for refreshments.

Lynn Vissers concluded her sermon series on roads mentioned in the New Testament last Sunday with "Living on Straight Street" based on Act 9:10-19. This Sunday, Sophia Khani will be sharing with us, having just returned from a mission trip to Honduras! Another path in her young life's journey.

Mark your calendars and plan to come! Our next "Messy Church" will be Thursday, July 12, the last day of the Art-in-the-Park program, when there'll be a BBQ. Art-in-the-Park will run from July 9-12, Monday to Thursday in the afternoon for school-aged children accompanied by an adult or teenager. Tell your friends. More to follow.

Do you have clear plastic egg cartons? Lynn Vissers can use them for the art sessions at Canada Youth week at Brock University in July. Please call the church office.

We are thrilled that the Congregation of HanWool Presbyterian Church, King City will be with us for a joint worship service followed by a Korean BBQ Sunday, June 24. We look forward to many happy times of fellowship together. Please let us know if you can be with us too by calling the church office.

Prayer Walks are taking place during the week day mornings. Jesus said: "For where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them" (Matthew 18:20). God is there with us! Call Kathy Patterson to arrange a time for a Morning Prayer Walk or if you'd like to meet for prayer and coffee, 905-833-0391.

For pastoral care needs please contact Lynn Vissers, our Director of Congregational Ministries at the office at 905-833-2325 or contact our Interim Moderator, the Rev. Paul Johnston, 705-341-7738.

We are located at 13190 Keele St., 2 blocks north of the King Rd. www.standrews-kingcity.ca

Please donate to Food Bank this week - special request for young mothers. There is very real need for food for the those who have fallen on hard times in our well-to-do township. This Saturday those in need registered with the very active King Township Food Bank receive a week of non-perishable food, food cards, paper products and pet kibble at one of three distribution centers. The bank helps over 200 individuals monthly.

All Saints and other churches in King collect for the bank and this month have been asked to provide donations for babies and mothers who have special needs for diapers, wipes, baby food etc.

Donations can be put inside the back door of All Saints open Tuesday to Thursday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., or at Coppa's.

Words to Live by – what is family? Jesus redefines family in last Sunday's Gospel from Mark. When asked who were his mother and brothers, He looks around to those following him and answers: "Whoever does God's will is my brother and sister and mother." Many of us have felt we had families outside of our parents and siblings – especially in team situations, in groups striving together for a difficult goal. We are invited to examine our lives in Christ from the angle of being part of his family. And our fellow parishioners are surely part of our family of shared belief and one like our blood families we must never let down. We must try not to let Christ down either. The kind of behavior he wants from us is pretty obvious. And in return we are nourished by His unquestioning love, grace and acceptance.

Horticulture
By John Arnett

My small tree form front garden covers, the place where weeds didn't even grow well because, as I discovered, a lot of rubble from when the house was being built got buried there. Although I removed as much as I could there's still quite a bit deep down. And even though I dug compost including composted cattle manure into the sandy soil it's difficult to get plants to grow here, where they get the hot afternoon sun late spring and all summer long and must compete with the near surface roots of a large tree close by.

But I've found three plants that in our area are sold as annuals, which flourish there – thus diascia, nemesia, and felicia now top my "must have" list.

Twinspurs is a low growing, easily grown annual for containers, rock gardens and along walkways and it is better known by its botanical name diascia – from di Greek for two and askos for sac, bag or pouch but not referring to the pair of spurs that protrude from the back of each flower – but rather for the two sacs found in the upper part of the flower of the wild species. It is thought that these sacs help guide bees to find the best position inside the flower when gathering oil from inside the spurs. As well it is thought these oil gathering bees co-evolved with the plants and developed unusually long forelegs to more easily access the oil in the process. These oil producing sacs or glands often make the flowers appear bi-coloured.

Most diascias do well planted in full sun in sandy fast draining soil that has had humus such as compost and/or composted cattle manure added to it.

There are some 70 species of this plant, mostly annuals but some are perennials and all are native to southern Africa. While perennial plants grow up to 4 ft./120 cm tall the annual diascias that I grow never get higher than 8 in./20 cm and each plant grows about 1 ft./30 cm wide. Each slim but sturdy stem with its tiny oval leaves terminates in a cluster of four or five small five lobed flowers with the bottom lobe being the largest.

The annual diascias have undergone much hybridization and from one or two colours they now come in a variety of colours including brick red, white, pink, mauve and two shades of orange. The original wild perennials and today's perennial garden cultivars come mainly in shades of rose and lavender but while the annual variety is becoming very more popular, I have never seen perennial diascias, which of course won't winter, for sale in local garden centres even as annuals.

Diascias look deceptively fragile but they are tough cookies. When I was first introduced to this plant a few years ago, I had a half dozen pots of them bought in early June that had never got planted with the rest and although they got watered once in awhile they were badly neglected until I finally put them in my front problem garden in mid July. They made themselves right at home and bloomed beautifully right into mid-fall. However, I certainly don't recommend you follow my example to test their hardness!

Now this past winter I had a few plants stay quite green into February but they finally succumbed to the bitterly cold weather and lack of snow that followed.

Nemesias, named after the Greek goddess of justice, Nemesis, is another native of southern Africa and one of my mother's favourite annuals. They have been around a lot longer than diascias to whom they are closely related. They grow 1 ft. to 18 in./30 to 45 cm high (mine are mostly shorter) and each stem with its cover of tiny finely toothed arrowhead shaped leaves is topped by a cluster of small snapdragon like flowers that come in a wide colour range from scarlet and orange through mahogany, yellow, burgundy to blue, lavender and white.

Most nemesias grow well in the same conditions as diascias but they tolerate some light shade and prefer cool nights. I have found them easy to grow in the front garden.
