Community gathers to open Laskay Hall

Laskay Hall now stands proud at its new home on the property of the King Heritage and Cultural Centre. Dignitaries and members of the community gathered to cut the ribbon Sunday afternoon.

The Hall was moved Aug. 30 2017 from its previous home on Weston Road. The 62-tonne Hall inched its way up Weston and along King to its new home that morning, in the historic, four-hour journey. The Hall is now a new focal point for the community and will host many events for years to come. King-Vaughan MPP Stephen Lecce joined the residents to mark the occasion.

"If these walls could talk they would tell us stories of first dances, first kisses and new-found love – weddings, community gatherings and celebrations – Laskay Christmas and raspberry pie," said Councillor David Boyd. "If these walls could talk they would tell us stories of conversation, consultation and deliberation of how to best preserve their heritage and honour 158 years of memories."

"The move was an innovative solution. Laskay Hall now rests on steel beams and a new foundation. The Hall is fully accessible, and we are enjoying the benefits of air conditioning."

Laskay Hall is now ready to continue to serve the community and house the memories created by generations to come.

Plenty of parking in King's villages, consultants say

By Mark Pavilons

Despite what motorists may think, there seems to be abundant parking available in all of King's villages.

Some low-cost methods to promote the fact may be all the Township needs to encourage drivers to find parking.

Nearly six months of work by IBI Group resulted in the King Township Core Areas Parking Study, presented to councillors recently. The study examined existing and future parking in the core areas of King City, Nobleton and Schomberg.

Peter Richards, of IBI Group, said at the busiest times, only 42 per cent of King's total parking spots are occupied. His conclusion is that contrary to popular belief, there's plenty of parking available for King residents.

He added many people have the mind set that they must park in front of their destination and are not prepared to walk even short distances. This attitude, he said, has to change. Through signage and education measures, the message has to get across to residents.

Richards did point out that discussions with Metrolinx and York Region, as partners, are critical.

In the IBI report, it was noted that King City has 384 on-street parking spots, 560 off-street spaces and 626 GO Transit parking spots. At peak periods during the week, only 42% is being used in the village, while 100% of the GO spots are taken.

By 2028, the consultants predicted residents will use 71% of the total spots in the village. The GO spaces will have to increase, as demand will continue to rise in the coming years.

In Nobleton, 37% of the 127 on-street spots and 322 off-street spots are being used during the week. It rises to 38% on Saturdays and predictions indicate the parking is sufficient for years to come.

In Schomberg, only 24% of the spots are being used during peak hours. This is not expected to rise much in the coming years. There are currently 140 on-street spaces and 235 off-street spots.

While parking is largely adequate,

IBI did make 52 strategic recommendations for the villages, mostly to improve accessible parking and parking management. They recommended shared-use agreements with other property owners; creating an online parking map; improved markings and better signage, including "dynamic signage" at the GO lots indicating the number of spots in use.

THE BEST MOVE YOU COULD MAKE

Editorial, Letters & Opinion

"A newspaper is the center of a community, it's one of the tent poles of the community, and that's not going to be replaced by websites and blogs."

~ Michael Connelly

Bullying a world-wide problem we need to solve

"Courage is fire, and bullying is smoke."
- Benjamin Disraeli

Half of students aged 13 to 15 years in Canada reported being bullied or fighting at school.

According to a report released by UNICEF, upwards of 150 million students worldwide experience peer violence in and around school.

Fifty per cent of students aged 13 to 15 years in Canada reported being bullied at school at least once in the past couple of months and/or having been involved in a physical fight at least once in the past 12 months. This is a higher rate than more than two-thirds of wealthy countries.

"Too many teenagers across Canada carry a large burden of violence. Bullying and fighting at school affects learning and mental health, and it can affect children long into the future.

"Education is the key to building peaceful societies, and yet, for millions of children around the world, school itself is not safe," said UNICEF executive director Henrietta Fore. "Every day, students face multiple dangers, including fighting, pressure to join gangs, bullying - both in person and online, violent discipline, sexual harassment and armed violence. In the short-term this impacts their learning, and in the long-term it can lead to depression, anxiety and even suicide."

In Canada, 34% of students experience bullying (at least once in the past couple of months) and 25% report bullying peers.

In 2017, there were 396 documented or verified attacks on schools in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, 26 on schools in South Sudan, 67 attacks in the Syrian Arab Republic and 20 attacks in Yemen.

Nearly 720 million school-aged children live in countries where corporal punishment at school is not fully prohibited.

While girls and boys are equally at risk of bullying, girls are more likely to become victims of psychological forms of bullying and boys are more at risk of physical violence and threats.

"I am disappointed to have more evidence that violence is a persistent problem that disproportionately affects Canada's children. We need to empower our kids to speak out against bullying and learn how to resolve conflicts peacefully, but it is adults' responsibility to protect children from all forms of violence in our homes, in society and in schools," Morley added.

Most of us have experienced some form of bullying in our lives.

I vividly recall one instance in high school where a student constantly bullied me. He was younger and smaller than me, but had a behemoth of a big brother. He felt he could do and say whatever he wanted because his big brother would back him up. I tried to brush off his comments but he was relentless.

At one point I had enough. I pinned him up against a locker and not so eloquently told him to cease and desist.

I firmly believed that his sasquatch of a brother would pound me out after hearing what I did. I did receive some evil glances; a few words were exchanged, and we knocked shoulders a few times. But the big brother and I never did exchange blows.

A minor victory for those standing up to bullies.

In all my years, I don't recall many real fights at all. There were few school yard brawls and other than some pushing and shoving, no blood was spilled.

We never carried knives and guns were unheard of.

While raising three children, I did learn about different forms of bullying that exist today. We all know that kids can be cruel, and it seems the bullies have learned a thing or two.

Both of my girls had on-again, off-again friendships with others. A few ill-timed comments would get you shunned in quick fashion, followed by online attacks and nasty texts.

As the UNICEF study pointed out, no kid should go to school afraid for their safety. School is tough enough as it is and we don't need other kids destroying what's supposed to be a great building experience.

In my day, teachers had no trouble grabbing us by the shirt collar or getting involved. Alas, in this era of enlightenment, teachers aren't allowed to touch or admonish students.

No parent wants their child bullied, abused, insulted or hurt. When I heard the stories from my kids, I wanted to have a discussion with the offenders' parents, but cooler heads prevailed.

The issue of bullying has never been more talked about than it is today. Many school boards have a zero tolerance when it comes to bullying and there are countless campaigns and online support tools. And yet, it continues.

My experience is that young bullies grow up into adult bullies, and awkward situations flow over into the workplace.

I find it odd that we can't wipe out this one blemish on society.

The awareness programs may be helping, but I think kids need to be reassured there is help and it's not okay to suffer in silence. We need to be there for them, 24/7 and encourage them to let loose and share.

I don't know about you, but I would not want to be a teenager growing up today.

We all need to be on guard and be prepared to meet this menace with courage and gusto.

Wouldn't it be nice to read the headline one day: "Bullying eliminated, humans finally get the message?"

Candidates address issues at back-to-back events

Municipal candidates will present their platforms at back-to-back all-candidates' meetings, presented by Concerned Citizens of King Township.

The first meeting, specifically for candidates in Wards 1 and 5, will take place Wednesday, Oct. 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Villanova College. The school is located on the 15th Sideroad and doors open at 6:30 p.m.

The second meeting will be held the following night, Oct. 11, at the Kettleby-Pottageville Lions Community Hall on the 7th Concession.

Candidates for Wards 2, 3, 4 and 6 will hit the stage for this meeting.

All the candidates will have equal opportunity to give an introduction, answer two prepared questions and each of the questions from the floor, and then make a closing comment.

Help meet target of blood donations

On behalf of Canadian Blood Services, I'd like to invite the residents of Schomberg to come and join us at our next blood donor clinic.

We took a break over the summer but we'll be back at the Trisan Centre on Thursday, Sept. 27, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. with an aim to collect 58 units of blood.

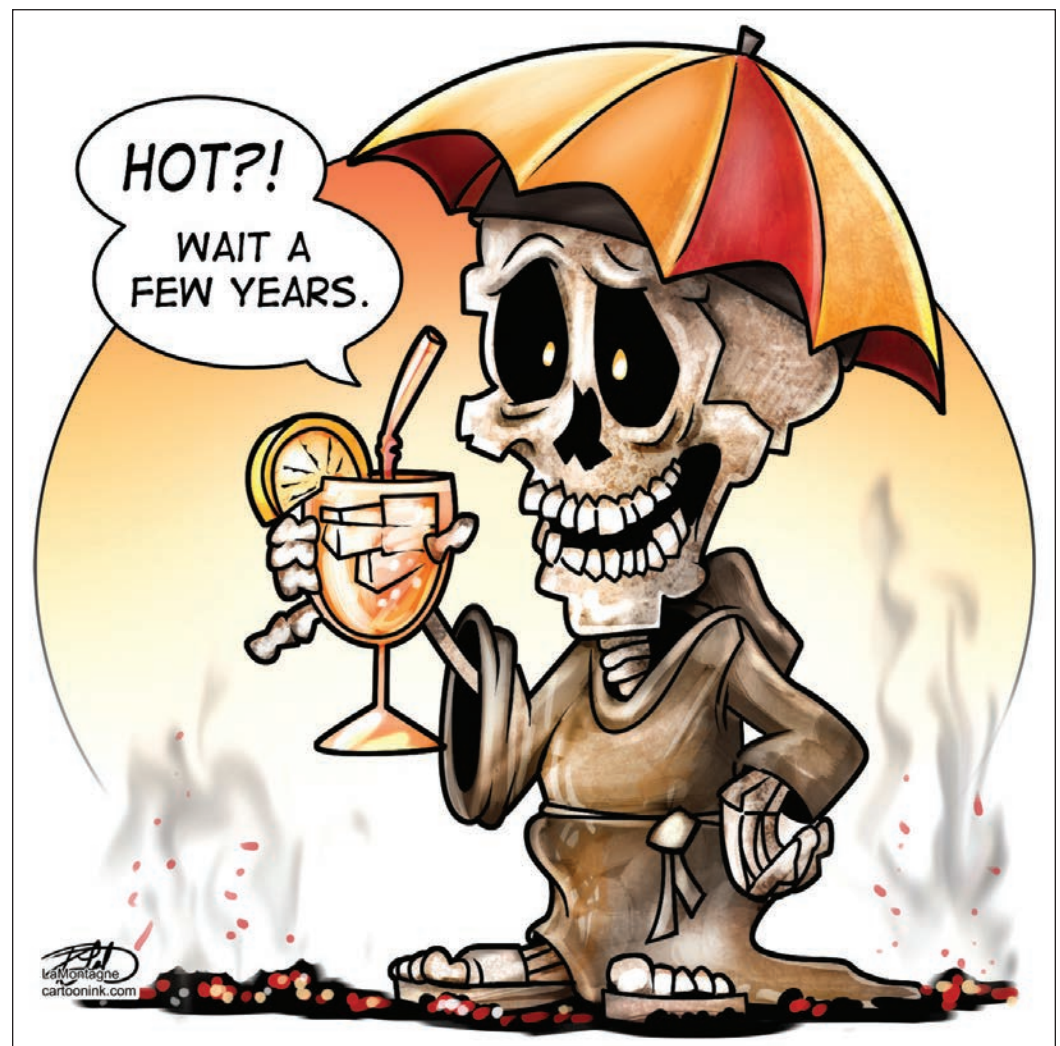

One in two Canadians is eligible to give blood, however, last year only one in 60 eligible people donated.

We need your help to collect 232 blood donations in Schomberg this year. With two clinics left in 2018, we are on track to meet that target but we need your help to accomplish our goals. I hope that existing donors will keep saving lives and that more residents will choose to become new donors.

I ask you to please make an appointment to give blood by downloading the Give-Blood app, or visiting blood.ca.

Somewhere, a patient and their family will be thankful!

Letter to the Editor

Chair Crowe explains closed door meetings at the board

Mr. deRoos, a candidate for trustee for the York Catholic DSB, states in the Sept. 13 edition of the King Weekly Sentinel that he would end the practice of closed door and secret board meetings, because in his view, every meeting and every decision should be open and transparent to the taxpayer. As the chair of the YCDSB, I am very diligent with regards to following provincial legislation, specifically section 207(2) of the Education Act which states that all meetings must be conducted in public, except for the following:

- (a) The security of the property of the board, for example decisions regarding IT System security.
- (b) The disclosure of intimate, personal or financial information in respect of a member of the board, an employee or prospective employee or a pupil or his parent or guardian, for example: decisions regarding promotion to the position of Principal, information with regards to retirements, dismissal of employees for just cause, expulsions of students
- (c) The acquisition or disposal of a school site.

(d) Decisions in respect of negotiations with employees.

(e) Litigation affecting the board, for example legal advice which is solicitor-client privileged.

Discussing and setting mandates with respect to (c), (d), and (e) in a public form would be like playing poker with your hand revealed to the other player. This would critically weaken the Board's ability to be fiscally responsible on behalf of the taxpayer.

The York Catholic DSB is one of the largest employers in the Region with over 8000 employees, 5 unions, 53,500 students and a budget of $694 million. In camera, closed door, meetings are required monthly to deal with the issues listed above, that fall within the legal responsibility of the Board, and eliminating them as Mr.deRoos suggests would jeopardize the Board financially and legally.

Council wants its OP wrapped up

By Mark Pavilons

King council wants the review of the Official Plan completed as soon as possible.

Councillors voted to award a consulting contract to WSP for $75,610 to complete the document.

Staff recommended hiring WSP to provide a secondary evaluation, given their competency in completing planning related studies over the past two years.

The Township's new Official Plan will be a comprehensive document that guides growth, planning, development and community infrastructure through 2031. It also brings King's land use planning policy into conformity with the 2014 Provincial Policy Statement, all application provincial plans and the 2010 York Region Official Plan. The new OP will define the long-term vision of King that serves both stakeholders and staff.

"It is important that the new Official Plan be easily understood by council and the public," staff noted.

The first draft of the OP was presented in November 2017 and requires considerable revisions to refine and clarify policies.

Staff is "highly committed" to the completion of the new Official plan as soon as possible.

Work will continue over the next year and a new draft of the OP is scheduled to be presented to council in March 2019. It's hoped it will be adopted in September 2019.

In my 12 years on Council, I have worked to protect and enhance our community while we face inevitable growth and change. Together with my Council colleagues and with the support of staff, residents, business owners, and local volunteers, I am pleased to say that we have accomplished many of our goals. For example, we have:

- rebuilt infrastructure reserves and paid down crippling debt
- installed and revitalized parks
- enhanced our village core with new sidewalks and streetscaping
- incorporated a York Regional Police substation and public recreational facility into the new municipal centre
- negotiated non-tax supported funding sources for the new combined King City Public Library and Seniors' Centre
- reconstructed rural roads
- installed traffic signals and cross-walks in school safety zones
- installed traffic calming measures in residential neighbourhoods
- enforced strict architectural controls on new development

KING CITY, SNOWBALL, & RURAL OBJECTIVES

For the 2018-2022 term I will work with my Council colleagues to:

- attract more industry like Magna International
- control greenfield & village core development
- continue efforts to calm traffic in our neighbourhoods
- stabilize property taxes
- support appropriate, complementary development
- maintain and upgrade our rural roads
- advance the new developer-funded recreation complex
- advocate for the distribution of natural gas to rural areas
- advocate for distribution of broadband internet to service our rural homes and businesses

"A significant number of these recommendations address ways to increase the awareness and education of core area parking users and stakeholders and influencing their behavior via providing better and more information on alternative and readily available parking options," staff said. "For example, effective and increased signage and pavement markings should significantly reduce driver confusion, and should elevate the parking experience, while improving the safety and operational performance of the road network."

IBI recommends regular meetings with Metrolinx and York Region and shared-use agreements with landowners. They also suggested that King allows residential permit parking in municipal off-street lots if parking is not available on-street.

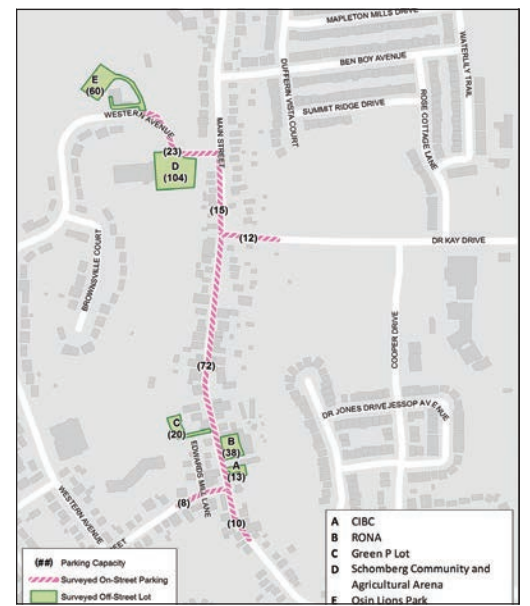

Councillor David Boyd said he believes some wayfinding signage would be helpful in his area.

Councillor Bill Cober is a fan of the "walk a block" idea. Parking is available, so drivers simply have to get out of their vehicles and walk.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini said he wants a clear indication of the peak period parking on Keele Street in King City. An understanding of the existing rules is necessary so council can make decisions regarding improving traffic flow during peak hours.

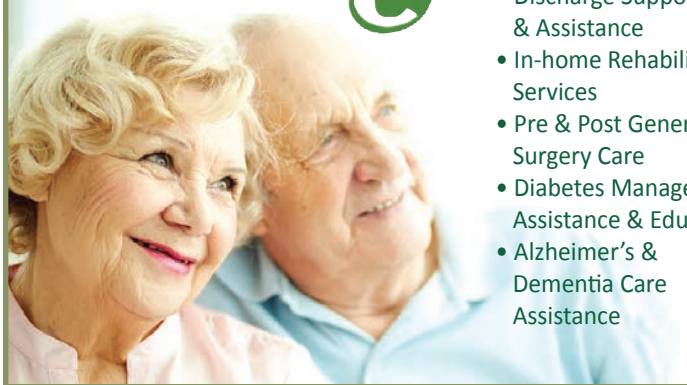

Richards said he recommends that Township staff become more proactive in their enforcement, and not base it on complaints.

Staff recommended the Township continue to monitor parking occupancy and any changes in the core areas. They recommend reviewing the CAPS every three years to ensure future parking needs are being addressed.

Professional landscapers descend on King property

King Township is well known beyond its borders for its high quality of living, its clean air, its rolling hills and breathtaking vistas.

So, it was no surprise that a local 10-acre estate was chosen to be on a property tour for the International Association of Professional Landscape Design Conference, which took place in Toronto last week. Participants from 36 U.S. states, the provinces of Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia toured the Schmied property last Sunday. In all, 150 people on three buses visited the property.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini welcomed the delegation to King in an open letter, pointing out what a unique and special place the Township is and that it prides itself on its natural heritage, scenic beauty, agricultural lands, rural history and its rural traditions of farming, mills and small town feel. He further mentioned that King has been designated a Bee City which demonstrates the Township's commitment towards increasing pollinator awareness, protection and conservation.

When the owners, Peter and Eleonora Schmied settled on Tumber and Associates from Orangeville to design and install their backyard dream they wanted to have a design that would reflect their down to earth personalities and respect for nature.

"We wanted to create different 'garden rooms' for intimate entertaining of friends and family, while at the same time having a space that would lend itself to hosting larger crowds. The areas all flow into each other and are interconnected on different levels," said Eleonora.

Some 90 tonnes of moss-covered boulders were brought in from Owen Sound, and hand-dressed Wiarton flagstone was used to create a massive barbecue, walkways and terraces.

"It was the home owner's intention to create sustainable gardens and landscaping by selecting native trees and shrubs, which are drought and pest resistant and require less watering. Tumber and Associates steer away from current trends in the landscape industry; their designs reflect a statement of permanence and timeless elegance," said Randy Tumber.

The property was awarded the Mayor's Five Blooms award in 2011 as the most outstanding property in King Township maintained by the home owner and it has been written up in magazines. No harmful pesticides and herbicides are used, compost bins receive kitchen and yard waste, rain water is collected for the vegetable garden, there are pollinator and wildlife habitat trails, bird nesting boxes and an elaborate insect hotel completes the whole permaculture inspired garden scape.

The Schmieds stress it's all about "striking a close bond with nature."

Aria Music School marks anniversary

Nobleton's Aria School of Music is a small studio with big hearts. Supporters gathered to mark their first anniversary recently. All of the teachers are highly skilled musicians and teachers. "We pride ourselves on our level of knowledge in our instruments and because we are all professional musicians, we instil a love for music in our students," said founder Sara Papini.

Aria offers private piano, voice, guitar, ukulele, bass, drums and trumpet lessons. Aria was founded by Papini, a Kleinburg native who taught in Nobleton for many years. After returning from New York City, where she received her Masters of Music and was working as an opera singer, she noticed that Nobleton's growing community still did not have a music school and decided to do something about it. "What a better way to bring a community together than through the love of music."

Sacred Heart tourney boosts Food Bank

The Sacred Heart Charity Golf Tournament Committee is shown presenting a cheque for record proceeds to King Township Food Bank. This year's event was sold out, with unprecedented sponsorship due to hard work by Erika Balicki and her Committee of Michael Balicki Paul Rea and Greg Maltby. Sacred Heart organizes a Charity Tournament every year and the Food Bank was the designated beneficiary for 2018. The $6,500 raised will be used to purchase food cards for families who choose cards rather than boxed food each month.

Mayor's office gets art donation

By Mark Pavilons

A local artist is the first to give the new mayor's office some colour.

Melina Lisi of Schomberg, creates unique abstract resin art.

She presented King Mayor Steve Pellegrini with her piece, "Ever Flowing," which will adorn the walls of the new municipal office.

"I felt these pieces were rather fitting as Mayor Pellegrini and staff transition into their new space!" Lisi said.

The pieces represent change, a smooth transition, allowing life flow and looking forward to what life offers. That's where the colour comes in, she said, noting it represents a mind set of not letting anything get in the way.

Lisi is an active member of the Arts Society King. Melina has participated in various juried shows, including the Schomberg Street Gallery event.

In 2002, Lisi became afflicted with a chronic condition known as Trigeminal Neuralgia, a disorder which affects the facial nerves. It was then that her passion for the arts was reignited. One of the outlets she turned to was her love of contemporary art.

She was determined not to have this diagnosis defeat or change her, so with vigorous research she discovered holistic alternatives. Melina strives to create awareness and believes that this condition affecting roughly 12 in 100,000 people can be managed.

Melina began to experiment with acrylic paint and then moved on to other various mediums including ink and resin. She describes her artistry as, "creating my inner peace and becoming totally immersed with my creation. My concentration takes me away and my pain subsides. Art is my therapy. Art fulfills me."

Melina is self-taught and creates her paintings with various media such as acrylics, inks and pigments, just to name a few.

9 in 10 Seniors Wish to Stay in Their Home While Retired – Poses Risk of Outliving Savings

Sharon King-Todd is a Certified Professional Consultant on Aging and Lifestyle Coach. Founder and Senior Advisor Consultant of The Elder's Advocate

In a recent article from Global News, Ipsos (one of the largest research firms in the world) surveyed Canadian homeowners of all ages. 93 per cent of those aged 65+ felt it was at least somewhat important to stay in their present home throughout retirement. "This may be the best choice for our current aging population and their families, and for good reasons," says Sharon King-Todd, founder of The Elder's Advocate and Certified Professional Consultant on Aging.

Unless planned correctly, retirement living can put a significant strain on cash flow and can pose a risk of outliving retirement savings.

When the average life expectancy was around 75 years of age, private retirement residences were once an achievable option. With the advances of modern medicine and education, the average life expectancy is estimated to increase to 84 by 2030. In Ontario, depending on the individual level of care, the cost for private retirement residences can range between $4,000 and $8,000 per month. Living another 9 years may require up to an additional $864,000 of savings. This has prompted many residents to re-evaluate the feasibility of their original financial plan.

Reliance on the public healthcare system may not be a viable option. Sharon states, "The Senior Tsunami is fast approaching and is expected to double from 5 to 10 million in the next twenty years. The healthcare system is already in crisis with the current aging population. It lacks the needed budget, number of qualified physicians and nurses to meet today's senior demands." Ontario has the lowest number of acute care beds in Canada, with more than 4,500 people on waiting lists for publicly funded in-home personal support services, of which many are high-needs patients.

There is great news ahead for this dilemma and local senior residents of King Township are turning the health care deficit into an opportunity for a whole new lifestyle approach. They are freeing up cash in their home to help achieve a comfortable retirement, providing a steady income stream and the ability to stay at home when they retire. Sharon, who is a dedicated activist for Aging-in-Home and a specialist in creating living plans, also states that planning ahead can minimize the emotional trauma and cost of crisis care.

With the current state of public healthcare and additional savings requirements for private retirement residences, "Aging-in-Home" looks to be a better option. It allows seniors to maintain their quality of independence, continue to grow the equity in their home, and ensure a nest egg for their children. The world has changed, and residents are recognizing the need to adapt now to ensure the options initially intended are still realistic and secure.

JOIN US for an educational evening and find out what you can do to safeguard a happy, healthy and financially bright retirement.

Enjoy the bounty at the Holland Marsh Soupfest

What could be better on a cool day in early fall than a piping hot bowl of soup, or better yet, samples of various soups, made from locally grown, locally harvested fresh produce?

This year marks the 10th annual Holland Marsh Soupfest. Presented by the Holland Marsh Growers Association, The Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury and the Township of King, the Holland Marsh Soupfest is a farm to table festival that showcases the Holland Marsh as one of the top vegetable producers in Ontario.

As always, attendees get a chance to sip and savour delicious soups prepared by some of the finest chefs, and home chefs from around the province. Last year Soupfest attendees were able to sample 26 different soups! In addition to sampling soup, attendees can vote for their favourite soup makers to help them win the coveted people's choice award!

The Holland Marsh Soupfest isn't only about soup. Enjoy the day browsing through 20 different vendors; pick up fresh produce from the farmers market, and listen to live music featuring "The Strange Potatoes." And don't forget about the Kids Zone!

Join the hundreds of other soup lovers on Saturday, Sept. 29 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. (or until soup runs out). Soupfest is hosted in the hamlet of Ansnorveldt (18997 Dufferin Street), right in the Marsh.

King mayor takes the Monarch Pledge

By Mark Pavilons

King is known for being committed to preserving its natural beauty and sharing that with its native inhabitants.

Another testament to preserving habitats came in the form of the Mayor's Monarch Pledge, taken by Mayor Steve Pellegrini at council recently.

The pledge is a commitment to restore the monarch butterfly habitat in King, and encourage residents to do the same.

Township staff is currently undertaking a number of programs and initiatives to create habitat for the monarch and other pollinators.

This builds on King's Bee City Canada Certification, achieved in the fall of 2017, and this involves protecting and fostering native pollinators.

The Township held its first, successful public event called "The Buzz." The day-long event at Cold Creek included seminars, workshops and family activities, all celebrating our valuable pollinators.

The goal of the National Wildlife Federation's Mayors' Monarch Pledge is to help restore the butterfly's habitat. The monarch is one of the most recognizable species. Each fall, monarchs set out on an incredible 5,000-kilometre journey to their wintering sites in the mountains of Mexico.

The North American monarch population has declined by more than 90 per cent over the past 20 years and it's been attributed to a degradation and loss of breeding habitat in Canada and the U.S.

The initiative came to light in King, thanks to a student at The Country Day School, doing research on monarchs. They asked Mayor Pellegrini and the Sustainability Advisory Committee (SAC) to take the pledge.

The Township already implements many of the action items, as part of its Bee City certification. The Township has vowed to implement 11 more initiatives.

King artist butterfly expert Grazy-na Tonkiel presented the mayor with a milkweed plant, so he could start his monarch corner in his garden. Tonkiel has also started cooperation with Bee City Canada and she's currently working on webinars and educational programs for schools.

Schomberg Cougars drop the puck on 50th season

By Jake Courtepatte

Cougars past and present packed the Trisan Centre in Schomberg on Saturday for a season-opening thriller, as well as a look into the club's 50-year history.

The puck dropped on an afternoon matinee to officially kick off the Cougars' 50th season, hosting the Alliston Hornets in front of an enthusiastic crowd.

It was second-year Cougar Brandon Scholten that potted the first goal of Gisela Nouisser displays her gold and silver medals from the Steve Stevens Senior National Championships in Montreal in late August.

Nouisser brings home tennis gold

By Jake Courtepatte

At the age of 75, Gisela Nouisser continues to add to her tennis trophy case.

The Nobleton resident returned home from the Steve Stevens Senior National Championships in Montreal with both a gold and a silver medal, from the 75+ doubles and singles events respectively. More than 500 players from 40 different categories converged on the city for the event.

Entering the singles event as the third seed following some strong finishes at nationals in the past three years, Nouisser won four straight sets in the round robin to advance to the Saturday final with a perfect record, where a meeting with the tournament's number one seed left her with a silver medal finish.

Paired up with partner Claude Cherniak for the doubles event, Nouisser and Cherniak won Thursday's final match in a marathon, forced to go to a tiebreak in both winning sets to take the gold medal.

Nouisser, who has played with both the Bolton and Nobleton Tennis Clubs since the mid-1970s, took a casual approach to the game until 2015, when she first began to play in sanctioned tournaments.

When the Nobleton club folded years later, she spent her summers honing her craft at the Bolton club and her winters at Veneto in Woodbridge.

It was three years ago when Nouisser decided to rejoin the renewed Nobleton Tennis Club.

"The club is well organize with a terrific bunch of people managing it," said Nouisser. "Who support me in every step of my tennis achievements."

Her recent resume has proved to be impressive: she had a win at an International Tennis Federation-sanctioned tournament in North York early this year, and just recently returned from an ITF Cup event in Montreal with a silver medal in her pocket in June.

Other podium finishes in the past three years include a pair of gold and silver medals at the Easter Nationals in Toronto, as well as a gold and silver win at the provincials at the Boulevard Club in Toronto.

Not bad for someone who only took up sanctioned tournaments three years ago.

"I only started playing OTA, Tennis Canada & ITF tournaments, because I couldn't find enough ladies to play the singles game," said Nouisser, who added she has been "lucky to have won all except Nationals."

Her recent success has also landed Nouisser on a stage she has reached for the first time in her short-yet-illustrious career: she is representing Canada at the Super-Senior World Championships in Croatia. Qualification comes from a successful stint at the handful of sanctioned tournaments held throughout the season.

Yet despite her accomplishments, to Nouisser, she is just "an average tennis player who just happens to love the game."

the anniversary year, continuing on a productive trend from the end of the 2017-18 season just under five minutes into the game.

Brandon Cohen gave the Cougars a two-goal cushion before the end of the first period, but the Hornets stormed back after intermission with three straight goals to take a 3-2 lead.

Scholten then made an opener to remember by capping off a hat trick with two straight of his own to once again give Schomberg the lead in the third period. Spencer Ripley's goal with eight minutes to play gave Schomberg its second two-goal lead of the game, though Alliston returned once again to send it to overtime.

It took less than one minute for Alliston to earn the extra point, winning 6-5 after beating newly signed Parker Hayward-Sword between the pipes.

Forced to contend with 36 Alliston shots, Hayward-Sword made a solid 30 saves in his Cougars debut. The 20-year-old Toronto native is no stranger to the Provincial Junior Hockey League, spending the 2017-18 season as the starting netminder for the Midland Flyers, where he earned 10 wins in over a thousand minutes played between the pipes.

Off the ice, a memorabilia room brought Cougars fans through the storied history of the club, with ex-Cougars donating their old equipment, jerseys, and other notable items to be displayed for the cause.

The Cougars open the season with a string of home games at the Trisan Centre, playing host to the Stayner Siskins Thursday night in the first of back-to-back games with last year's regular season champions. They hit the road for the first time on Sept. 28, when they visit with the Penetang Kings.

Puck drop Thursday is set for 7:30 p.m.

Hometown Hockey to make stop in Aurora

By Jake Courtepatte

Now in its fifth season, the puck finally drops in Aurora this year for Rogers Hometown Hockey.

The broadcasting giant will make its stop on December 8 – 9, one of twenty-five communities across Canada to host the massive two-day festival.

"We are absolutely thrilled to be hosting Rogers Hometown Hockey right here in Aurora," says Mayor Geoffrey Dawe. "Our community is a true sports town and hockey has always been a part of our heritage and culture. We are excited to welcome Canadian hockey fans into our community and to showcase the wonderful people and history that make our town so special."

Live on location, Ron MacLean and Tara Slone will host a pre-game, intermission and post-game show from the Sportsnet Mobile Studio, shining the spotlight on local culture, hockey history and unique stories of the community.

Tenth on the tour, the stop in Aurora will be the first of the season to host a broadcast matchup doubleheader on the Sunday, beginning with the Montreal Canadiens at the Chicago Blackhawks at 5:30p.m. before a showing of the Calgary Flames at the Edmonton Oilers at 9p.m.

Yet the local flavour of the OJHL is sure to be the ultimate hockey draw for the Aurora community on the Saturday, when the junior A Tigers host the Newmarket Hurricanes, a longtime rivalry known as "The Battle of Yonge Street".

The puck drops on the game at the Aurora Community Centre at 7:30p.m. on the Saturday. Aurora's rich hockey culture will be on display on the weekly Sunday broadcast of the Hometown Hockey series, which is shown nationally on Sportsnet.

Nobleton United
By Rev. Carol-Ann Chapman

The new school season has begun and for some reason in the church September feels like our new beginning as well. It is a time when come together and share stories about our summer experiences. It is also a time when we are reflecting on the past and making plans for the future. In Nobleton we are excited about celebrating our 122nd anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 14. I'm thrilled to announce that we will have my friend Erika DaCunha as a soloist that day. Erika is known for her music work on the film Pete's Christmas (2013), has sung with artists such as Mark Masri and has recordings available on itunes. Erika is just one of the youth I got to know a few years ago while leading a youth group. One of my passions is helping others to discover and share their gifts. It is an honour to have her share the gift of her voice with

I'd love to give other youth the opportunity to share their gifts. If you or someone you know is looking for high school volunteer hours there are countless opportunities through our church. Whether it is to offer tech support, run a PowerPoint presentation, gardening, child care, contribute through fine or dramatic arts or something else you are passionate about, there is a place for you to share your gifts with us. Please call me or message me through our Facebook page and we can work on something together.

On Friday, Sept. 28 we are having a Harvest Dinner. This will include a chicken dinner with all of the fixings, homemade pie and coffee. Cost is $22 for adults, $10 for children under 10. Please call Helen Bible at 905-859-3925 for your tickets.

Arthritis:

New Approach

Delivers

Remarkable

Results

If you suffer from Arthritis you need to be aware of effective advancements that can eliminate years of pain, suffering, immobility and frustration.

You may have told your doctor you suffer with one or more of the following: sore, stiff knees, painful achy hips, low back pain, mid back pain, neck stiffness or pain, hand stiffness, shoulder pain or elbow pain.

You may find that your pain or stiffness affects your work, housekeeping, leisure activities, exercise, sports or other activities. You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your pain. But you find the pain keeps returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of pain pills or anti-inflammatory drugs that include damage to the liver, kidneys and gut.

There is a new, natural, safe and highly effective approach that has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically: Laser therapy uses light to favor and accelerate the body's natural healing processes. The innovative Multiwave Locked System (MLS) Laser produces a safe, efficient and simultaneous effect on pain, inflammation, swelling and water retention, exceeding the limits of traditional LLLT (Low power) and concerns of HP (High power) laser therapy.

What does this mean for you?

Our patients have reported a 90-95% relief of their symptoms, more mobility, increased flexibility and vastly improved function!

It is the very latest in medical technology, with years of clinical studies supporting its safety and efficacy and we are very proud to offer our patients effective solutions to their recent or chronic conditions.

"This new, natural, safe and highly effective approach has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically".

Come in and allow us to help you achieve the results you deserve! Call (905) 773-2225 to book your FREE consultation and examination at King West Wellness Centre 141 King Rd., Unit 10, Richmond Hill (In the Home Hardware Plaza)

Anglican Parish
By John Arnott

Many of us associate Nottingham in England with its notorious sheriff in its stark castle and his treacherous dealings with Robin Hood in the days of medieval England's King Richard the Lion-heart. But this English city has a much more positive association with history for its St. Mary the Virgin Anglican Cathedral, the 3rd one built on the same site and dating from the 1300s is home to the first Sunday school in modern times opening in 1751.

In other centuries Alfred the Great, St. Charles Borromeo, Martin Luther and John Knox along with countless monks in countless monasteries in earlier times had a hand in teaching at least a few poor boys basic academics giving us, among many, scholars such as Venerable (St.) Bede and Alcuin Charlemagne's right hand man.

Hannah Ball of High Wycombe Buckinghamshire was another early pioneer of the the modern Sunday school movement opening one in her hometown in 1769. In the 1780s William King, a factory owner, started a Sunday school in the Tabernacle Church in Dursley Gloucestershire England and encouraged his friend Anglican Robert Raikes, editor of the Gloucester Journal, to start a similar school in his home city, Gloucester which he soon did. And which proved so successful that Raikes is often credited as "father of the Sunday school movement."

Now the idea of Sunday school began to catch on all over Britain so that by 1800 more than a quarter of a million children were attending. In his age that of the Industrial Revolution education neither compulsory nor free and Raikes, in particular, thought it important that poor children of that era who worked long hours 6 days a week have at least some education so they could try to better themselves and not be so easily tempted to turn to crime.

Although religion was taught in these Sunday classes it was secondary to academic studies with the 3 Rs, then called cyphering, taking precedence. Parents who themselves weren't regular church-goers or even went to church at all began to insist their children attend Sunday school. Sunday school prize days, parades, picnics and excursions soon became as much looked forward to as the long established religious holidays. These Sunday schools eventually forced governments to recognize the importance of free compulsory education for all youngsters 5 to 10 years then 5 to 12 years and finally today 5 to 16 years (18 in Ontario, Manitoba and New Brunswick).

The idea of Sunday school crossed the pond near the end of the 1700s and although dates are blurred it is thought the first Sunday school in what is today Canada was established around that time in Halifax in by the Anglicans. We know Rev. Francis Dick a Congregational pastor started a Sunday school in 1801 in Quebec followed by Rev. William Smart a Presbyterian who started a Sunday school in 1811 in Brockville Ontario.

The St. Alban's Anglican community in Nobleton notes that today's Sunday schools focus primarily on religious teaching often using arts and crafts as a teaching tool.

The first Sunday school curriculum developed entirely in Canada was the United Church's 1963 "New Curriculum" followed by the Anglican "Parish Education" 3 years later. Both were cause for concern and controversy. Thus when American professor and author Ruth Duck of the United Church of Christ published her "The Whole People of God" in 2013 it was widely welcomed and became the basis of Sunday school curricula across the Americas into Europe and Australia and New Zealand. Anglican, Coptic, Eastern Orthodox, Lutheran, Protestant and Roman Catholic Sunday schools have adapted it at least in part as a teaching guide.

Today the idea of "Sunday" school has been adopted by Buddhists, Hindus, and Muslims. The Jodo Shinsu Buddhist churches have even included adapted Christian hymns and poetry into their Sunday school services One favourite old children's hymn "Yes Jesus Loves Me" has become "Yes Buddha Loves Me!"

Over the past decade Sunday school attendance drastically dropped in many Christian churches perhaps due to "open Sundays" with many more attractive options open to young people. But encouragingly in the last couple of years there has been somewhat of an upturn in this situation. Hopefully this will continue as new learning strategies such as "The Whole People of God" are forthcoming.

709 IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSON, GORDON 1923-1965

In loving memory of our Dad, Papa and beloved husband of the late Edna.
*You never said I'm leaving
You never said goodbye
The moment that you left us
Our hearts were split in two.
One side filled with memories,
the other filled with pain.*
*We know we are your legacy, and you urged us to move on
Time slips by and life goes on, but in our hearts you are never gone.
We thought of you with love today, but that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday and days before that too.
Those who think that you are gone because no more your face they see,
They are wrong, for in our hearts you live and always will.
Always loved and remembered by:
Linda, Brenda, Larry, Susan, Debra, Grandchildren & Great-Grandchildren*

709 IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSON, EDNA 1928-1999

In loving memory of our Mom, and Nana who passed away September 1, 1999
*Missing You
We are missing you a little more each time we hear your name.
We have cried so many tears yet our heart is broken just the same.
We miss our times together, things in common we could share,
But nothing fills the emptiness, now you are no longer here.
We have so many precious memories to last our whole life through.
Each one of them reminds us of how much we are missing you.
It only takes a little space; to write how much we miss you,
But it will take the rest of our lives, to forget the day we lost you.
Lovingly remembered,
Linda, Brenda, Larry, Susie, Debbie, Grandchildren & Great-Grandchildren*

King Bible Church

Please join us on Sunday, Sept. 23 as Pastor Mark will be continuing our journey on "The Guaranteed Places to Encounter God" with "Gospel-Centred Churches."

"Every day is full of various encounters, encounters with our families, encounters with our neighbours, encounters with those we work with or go to school with. Each one of those encounters in varying degrees has had a part in shaping who we are and who we will become. This coming year we as a church are going to focus on another encounter, the encounter to meet with God. We are going to walk through 8 different places that God has said through his Word he will meet us and transform us. We would like to invite you to join us on this life changing journey."

Please take advantage of our excellent children's ministry. Our Sunday morning "Celebration Zone" provides age-appropriate programs for children aged 4 to Grade 8. Our children's program is staffed by screened volunteers who care about your kids! The children in Grade 1-8 will join their parents for the beginning of the service until they are invited to go downstairs. The children in Kindergarten can go directly to their class at the start of the service.

Our "Legacy" nights are our family Bible Study nights.

We chose the theme of "Legacy" because we believe that's what families are looking for; both to be a part of as well as leave a lasting "Legacy."

We will provide Nursery care for children 0-3. Our children (JK-Grade 5) and junior high (Grade 6-8) classes will meet downstairs. Our adults will meet upstairs.

Our program runs from 6:45 to 8 p.m. Our adults will be studying "Everybody Always" by Bob Goff.

It's a five-session study about Becoming Love in a World Full of Setbacks and Difficult People.

The children are doing the study "The Travel Guide to the Beatitudes."

And our junior highs (Grade 6-8) are doing the study "Freedom Ride."

You can find us at King Bible Church, 1555 King Rd. King City (at King Rd. & Dufferin), 905-833-5104 www.kingbiblechurch.com or info@kingbiblechurch.com

St. Andrew's By Kathy Patterson

Welcome to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, King City! Our Sunday morning worship is at 10:30 a.m. with Sunday school for school-aged children up to 12 years, running concurrently. A nursery is also available. After the service, join us for refreshments in the lounge.

Last Sunday we were blessed to have John Vissers, Principal of Knox College, U. of T. preach the sermon entitled "How Open is your Mind?" based on Luke 24:36-49. John commented that the disciples had assumptions about Jesus which caused them to be confused and not fully understand initially who Jesus was and His purpose for being on earth. Who/what are we listening to? Are we really getting to know Jesus through His Word? How big is our God?

After the service our Welcome Back BBQ took place with Soong Huh and the Vision Group of young people from HanWool Presbyterian Church, King City joining us. The time was enjoyed by all.

This Sunday, Messy Church starts up again at 5 p.m. for the community and we're very excited!

All Saints Anglican Church
By Patrick Gossage

Community Outreach - King City

Food Bank needs macaroni and cheese dinners and soup. All Saints has a basket for donations just inside the east door off Doctor's Lane. Over 200 King residents benefit from the food bank every month.

Sleeping mats for the poor in third world countries are being made from the large outside plastic bags that hold for 4L milk bags. Kristen Doyle, our administrator, is collecting them and they can be dropped off at the office. A great way to recycle.

Blessing of the animals - Saturday, Oct. 13 - mark it in your calendars. All Saints special annual service to bless any and all pets. We have had all manner of pets brought to these services - including, birds, and a rat one year. So come one and all and bring any treasured animal companion. All are welcome.

Healing Service - As Christians we are called to be whole in body, mind and spirit. The healing ministry recognizes the role we all have through prayer and sacramental ministry in helping to bring about that wholeness. All Saints licensed lay anointers offer special prayers and anointing every Sunday, but on Sunday, Sept. 30 we will have a healing service with everyone invited to come up for special blessings, anointing and prayers.

Thoughts on fear - Last Sunday's Gospel in Mark 8 was used by Rev. Dr. Elizabeth to share thoughts on the fear that Peter expressed when Jesus told his disciples about the passion he facied. His lack of understanding led Jesus to rebuke him saying: "Get thee behind me Satan. Fear cuts off our inner strength," she said. "Be not afraid" is mentioned 300 times in Mark. God leads us through our fear and guides us on the way to new life. We must accept fear and danger and set our minds on the divine. We have to know that with Christ all will be well."

Kingscrafts show

Kingscrafts show returns in September - Saturday, Sept. 22 and Sunday, Sept. 23, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The highly-acclaimed "Fine Art by Nine" show is on again. If you have a wall that needs some beautiful new art this is the sale to attend. Starting at as little as $50, these oil and acrylic works are the latest by this gifted group. Book the date and bring an art-loving friend.

Works by Geri Adam, Shirley Binns, Svea Frantila, Maryam MKhani, Janice Kobold, Heather Miller, Evangeline Munns, Karola Steinbrecher and Dorothy Tomaszewski.

Teen Challenge Barn Dedication

Teen Challenge Barn Dedication and Open House event will be held Saturday, Sept. 29 at 10 a.m. This is to honour the completion of the renovations of our "barn" into a chapel and classroom for the women at the centre. They are opening this up to the public who also can attend the open house which includes

Garden Club

Past and co-president Barb Downey will guide us through making an elegant personal autumn swag mounted on a wire base at our upcoming Sept. 24 meeting and flower show of the Nobleton-King City Horticultural Society-Garden Club. Supplies provided free to members but non-members will be charged $20.
