Holy Name marks its 50th anniversary

Many dignitaries were on hand Saturday to help Holy Name Catholic Elementary School officials celebrate the school's 50th anniversary. King Mayor Steve Pellegrini and King-Vaughan MPP Stephen Lecce both brought greetings and offered their praise to the school community.

King Fire to receive new SCBA units

By Mark Pavilons

King volunteer firefighters will be better equipped to face any emergency.

King council approved spending $152,000 to equip King Fire and Emergency Services with 15 new Self-Contained Breathing Apparatus (SCBA) units with spare air cylinders.

The new SCBAs will replace the current units that date back to 2005-06.

Council okayed including the new equipment in the 2019-2022 budget and business plans.

Replacing the current SCBA units will ensure that King is continuously complying with current industry standards as well as best practices. By sticking with the same brand of SCBA, it helps in areas of staff training, maintenance and repairs.

Mackenzie hospital facilities will be on cutting edge

By Mark Pavilons

While the pressure continues to mount to meet the health care needs of York residents, the new Mackenzie Health facility in Vaughan is on track. In less than 600 days, the new hospital will open its doors, and stand ready to serve King residents.

Altaf Stationwala, president and CEO of Mackenzie Health, provided an update to King councillors recently.

It will be a “pivotal point” when the facility becomes a two-hospital model, which will serve all of King, Vaughan and Richmond Hill with services split between the new Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital and the Mackenzie Richmond Hill Hospital.

Stationwala pointed out Mackenzie Health has the 7th highest emergency department volumes in Ontario, and they continue to see an increase in emergency volumes. Over 2017-18, an estimated 124,000 patients came through the ED urgent care centre. That’s equivalent to almost 350 per day. They stand at roughly 103% over capacity.

Officials have come up with a creative interim solution, the Reactivation Care Centre (RCC). Stationwala explained multiple units were opened up in late 2017 in the RCC in Humber River Hospital’s former location. It’s a collaboration between Central LHIN hospitals to care for patients who no longer need acute care. The RCC ensures that patients being cared for in acute care settings have access to specialized, focused care and attention, aimed at increasing their mobility and independence.

“The model is working incredibly well,” Stationwala said. “Patients love it.”

The RCC will continue even after the new Vaughan hospital opens.

The two-hospital “ultimate solution” will not only benefit residents, but it will attract the best medical talent. By combining the bed capacities at both Mackenzie Richmond Hill and Mackenzie Vaughan, it creates a “critical mass” and they can create many more sub-specialties, given their volumes.

The new Mackenzie Vaughan site will be Canada’s first “smart hospital,” and the Richmond Hill facility will also be enhanced. They’re working on digital pathology, lab automation improvements in the diagnostic lab, to make way for new, state-of-the-art automated chemistry and hematology systems.

Stationwala stressed with these “smart” innovations in place, patients can get consults from specialists anywhere in the world.

The Vaughan site, located directly across from Wonderland, is 70% complete. They have already secured 60% of the equipment, fixtures and furniture.

Stationwala said they will soon begin the “enormous exercise” of recruiting some 2,000 staff. They will hire 100 new physicians and the facilities will enjoy the help of some 700 volunteers.

The hospital has come to fruition, thanks to many layers of funding. The total cost is pegged at $1.6 billion and the Province is pitching in $1.3 billion. York Region has pledged $50 million and $250 million will come from Mackenzie’s “Exceptional Care Belongs Here” campaign, with $120 million raised so far. Stationwala pointed out this is the largest fundraising driver ever led by a community hospital in Canada.

More than 20 York-based companies are involved in the construction.

There are 600 days until we open our future two-hospital model.

Editorial, Letters & Opinion

"A newspaper is the center of a community, it's one of the tent poles of the community, and that's not going to be replaced by websites and blogs."

~ Michael Connelly

Our lives are definitely not made from scratch

Renowned astrophysicist Carl Sagan is often quoted as saying in order to make an apple pie from scratch, you first have to invent the universe.

In other words, in order for us to make anything, the universe had to be created first. To expand on this, think of all the things that came before our kitchen:

The Big Bang, neutrons, ions, atoms, moon, sun, ocean tides, dinosaurs, homo erectus, fire, water, soil, seeds, cows, milk, apple trees.

Our story – yours and mine – began a very long time ago.

I love being an old dog and grasping the new tricks that come my way. And they can come from many sources.

I recently learned some valuable lessons, thanks to my offspring. The one "bonus" of having children reach a certain age is they begin to teach the teacher.

I learned that my kids aren't what they're cracked up to be, and there's much more than meets the eye. They have a tremendous amount to offer the world.

My wife and I took our son Liam to a music studio, to record his first two songs, as admission submissions for a college course on songwriting and performing. At this point in time, this is his passion and drive should never be discounted or ignored.

I have interviewed dozens of musicians, accomplished singers, songwriters and chart busters. While I had an idea of the intricacies involved in the engineering and mixing of music, seeing it first hand gave me a new appreciation of the skills and talents of those behind the scenes. They are the magicians, the miracle workers, the gem polishers.

Okay, we all have to be realistic. My son may not be the best singer, but his original lyrics and his passion for performing is not only obvious, but really cool. The words and messages he's created go beyond his mere 18 years. Being a poet myself, I am impressed.

He said he felt like a natural in front of the microphone. As I watched him, I felt all warm and fuzzy inside, like when you add another log on the campfire.

I mentioned that it's likely the best money he's spent and the results are a couple of concrete examples of his creativity. Music has always been subjective and there are so many genres to choose from, there's something for everyone. Liam likes Eminem-esque old school rap. Not my cup of tea per se, but hey, there's a lot to be said for "going for it."

In my youth, there were no public recording studios, digital mixes or laptop programs. There were no laptops!

Back to the universe. In order for Liam to be standing in front of a studio microphone the universe had to create sound, those pleasant combinations of notes and rifts and rhymes and verses.

During a BBQ session in the backyard, my youngest decided to grab some "we" time and bombard me with questions. We talked about TV shows, religion and the origin of the universe. Not your typical BBQ conversation, but I was more than happy to partake.

A deep thinker this one, our third born.

A fan of the Netflix show Lucifer, my daughter questioned stereotypes of Satan. Could he be less evil and more judgemental? Wasn't he an angel once? Just what is the Prince of Darkness's job anyway?

Good questions all.

Surprisingly, Lucifer is associated with the planet Venus. Its unique movements and irregular appearances in the sky led to a mythology surrounding celestial gods falling from the heavens to the earth and its underworld. In classical mythology, Lucifer is the bringer of light.

One of the earliest biblical references comes from Isaiah 14:12: "How you have fallen from heaven, morning star, son of the dawn! You have been cast down to the earth." It refers to an unnamed Babylonian king, not the devil.

Our more modern concepts tend to come from Dante, Milton and Hollywood, who created some fabulous stories about an angel's fall from grace. In their versions, Satan was cast out of Heaven for starting a revolt against God, and his punishment was to guard the gates of hell.

Demon, or keeper of demons?

My daughter pondered and blurted out her own definition of Hades. She espoused that one's own mental torments, guilt and horrible memories would be far more painful than a world of fire and brimstone.

Had our discussion of the universe come full circle? Not in a long shot.

My daughter then pointed out that everything we perceive as real and proven comes from human beings, and our own minds. In other words, most of what we know is an educated guess, based on the knowledge we have handy.

Should we encounter proof that Einstein's theory of relativity was off, things will change dramatically. If we discover that Pythagoras was merely nuts, some of our mathematical concepts may be in question. He did, after all, believe in the "transmigration of souls" a form of reincarnation. Venus also figured prominently in his field of study.

That pesky Venus seems to have great influence on us humans! Venus is another creation of the universe and perhaps in order to make woolly mammoth stew, we first had to create Venus!

Putting the whole chicken and egg scenario aside, what's my point? Well, in order for people and families to come together, revel in one another's talents and accomplishments, the entire universe had to be in sync, perfect if you will. And questioning our existence is all part of the recipe.

Letter to the Editor

Province chopping and cutting

It seems virtually every day we are witnessing the scrapping or the chopping of vital social programs or environmental protection plans by a group of individuals trying to pass itself off as a responsible provincial government.

Doug Ford and his Conservative party is not like a legitimate government. Yes, they won the election but they were victorious for no other reason than the fact that the electorate was sick of Kathleen Wynne and her Liberals. Throughout the period leading up to the election Ford said nothing; he had no platform that he wished to divulge to the people of Ontario. Other than promising to bring us a beer for a buck and whining constantly about how the federal government was going to lay a new tax on us, he might as well have been mute.

What we have actually ended up with is a group of ultra-reactionary, undemocratic, and, frankly, not too bright zealots who think government is strictly about balancing the budget. What this government doesn't understand is that it has a responsibility to protect our more vulnerable citizens, maintain and grow our public services and set an example of protecting our environment.

Unfortunately, in becoming Premier of Ontario Doug Ford believes that he has inherited supreme power and can dictate how this province will evolve and prosper. But how is Ontario supposed to prosper when his ideas are influenced more and more by special interest groups that are driven simply by the almighty dollar?

Examine any of this government's policies and you will find more flaws than value. Witness the constant protest from health care workers, teachers and people from all walks of life who worry about the deterioration in the quality of life in Ontario.

We live in a democracy and the residents of Ontario generally believe in the rule of law but what do you do if a government that has been given a mandate to rule proves it is incapable and is ruling in a manner that is adverse to the well being of the majority of its citizens?

Maybe we have reached a point that a recall election be held to judge if the Conservatives should retain power in Ontario. Ford was both sly and underhanded in not providing a platform of his party's policies prior to the election. All indications are that had he done so, there is a strong likelihood he would not have been elected.

One thing that can be learned from this sorry mess is that no one should vote for a political party that gives no idea to the electorate as to its policies and how it intends to govern. To do so leads to the situation now occurring in our province.

Much to consider in the SNC Lavalin case

So much has been written about SNC Lavalin.

Please do not let the latest events distract you from the true and vitally important principles which arise from the first causes in this matter.

Please do not tire and turn away from what is vital to protect and uphold.

The government of Canada should not be allowed to "turn the page" and "move forward" until it has also returned to our Canadian principles of fairness, justice and the foundational rule of law.

Let's consider the first causes.

The Director of Public Prosecutions determined that the corruption, bribery and fraud charges (2001-2011) against SNC Lavalin would proceed to criminal trial.

The former Attorney General reviewed and supported the Directors decision to proceed to trial.

The government was advised of the decision.

It should be acknowledged that throughout the progress of any case, prosecutors will evaluate and reassess. They should be free to do so without government pressure, interference or advice.

The Canadian government sought to set aside the decision of the Director of

Letter to the Editor

Public Prosecutions to proceed with an open, criminal court trial to determine the guilt or innocence of SNC Lavalin.

The Canadian government sought to replace a judicial decision with a political decision, in a criminal matter.

It all went wrong when the government made repeated pleas to the former Attorney General and others, to reconsider the Director's decision to proceed to trial and instead use the "DPA tool."

By their efforts, the government has wrongfully impinged on judicial independence.

The Canadian government sought and appears to continue to seek to enter into a "deferred prosecution agreement DPA" (unlikely to be an open process) with SNC Lavalin rather than hearing the evidence and the charges in open court.

The former Attorney General resisted the governments attempts and made clear that the forceful suggestions they were advancing were not appropriate.

These four facts/actions are at the base of the SNC Lavalin issue.

These actions raise many concerns about important, foundational, democratic and legal principles which have not been upheld.

Judicial/Prosecutorial independence - The Canadian government repeatedly sought to set aside/replace the Public Prosecutor's decision.

Independence of the Attorney General - The Canadian government repeatedly sought to pressure the AG to oppose/overturn the Public Prosecutors decision to proceed to trial on the criminal charges.

The Shawcross Doctrine has been referenced with respect to this concern. Justice Rosenberg summarized the principles of Sir Hartley Shawcross as follows:

"First, the Attorney General must take into account all relevant facts, including the effect of a successful or unsuccessful prosecution on public morale and order - we would probably now call this the public interest. Second, the Attorney General is not obliged to consult with cabinet colleagues but is entitled to do so. Third, any assistance from cabinet colleagues is confined to giving advice not directions" (must not consist of telling him/her what the decision ought to be). "Fourth, responsibility for the decision is that of the Attorney General alone; the government is not to put pressure on him or her. Fifth, the Attorney General cannot shift responsibility for the decision to the Cabinet."

These principles are long established and followed across Canada.

Many present and former Attorneys General, across Canada have written to express their objection to the unwarranted, improper pressure exerted by the government on the Former Attorney General.

Criminal Code requirements and considerations for "Deferred Prosecution Agreement" (DPAs) (Section 715).

The Canadian government wants SNC Lavalin to be invited to enter into a DPA even though this is a decision to be made by the Director of Public Prosecutions, (not government) and the directors decision to go to trial, was/is supported by the former Attorney General.

Several necessary conditions/ criteria for a DPA, as set forth in section 715 of the Criminal Code, are not met by SNC.

SNC Lavalin petitioned the Federal Court of Canada to review/overturn the Director of Public Prosecutions decision. The Federal Court Justice dismissed SNC Lavalin's request and made reference to a 2002 Supreme Court ruling.

What to Teach your Children About Bicycle Safety

Most Canadian children age six to 16 ride bicycles. Children start cycling as play when they are very young. As they grow older and become more experienced, the transition from toy to transportation is made. With increasing independence, parents have less control of where the bicycle is ridden and how it is used. The attitudes you, as a parent, instill in your children from a young age will determine how they will ride for years to come.

Starting out

Make sure your child's bike and helmet are the right size. He or she should be able to straddle the bike with both feet on the ground; a bike that is too big or too small is a safety hazard. Bikes that are equipped with multiple speeds are not a good idea because small hands often cannot make the handbrakes work. Buy a bike with a coaster brake. As a minimum, your child's first bike should be equipped with a bell and reflectors.

When choosing a helmet, your child should try on several helmets carefully. Level the helmet over your child's forehead and adjust the chin strap to fit snugly and comfortably. It should protect the forehead without slipping forward or backward; and it should not move unless the scalp moves. A trained salesperson will help you ensure the fit is right.

Insist your child always wears a helmet when riding. (It goes without saying that parents must set an example by always wearing theirs when cycling.) Remember, a helmet only works when you wear it!

For young children, set the following hard and fast rules:

- No playing on the road.
- No riding on busy streets.
- No riding at night.
- Stop for all stop signs.
- Ride on the right with traffic.
- Make your own decisions

Common dangers

The majority of bicycle injuries do not involve motor vehicles. Most are falls, collisions with stationary objects, and collisions with other bikes or pedestrians result from the bicyclist losing control, and most occur less than five blocks from home, in familiar surroundings.

- Stop at all stop signs regardless of what is happening.
- Scan both directions for traffic.
- Wait for any cross traffic to clear.
- Proceed when safe.
- Above all, practice what you preach!

Local tree planting

Local youth turned out for a tree planting event at Hill Farm Meadow in Nobleton. The planting made possible in part thanks to a grant from Sustainable King, done in partnership with Parks and Rec. and the TRCA. King-Vaughan MP Deb Schulte also turned out to support the group.

Unnecessary damage was done

It stated “the quasi-judicial function of the Attorney General can not be subjected to interference from parties who are not as competent to consider various factors involved in making a decision to prosecute. To subject such decisions to political interference, or to judicial supervision, could erode the integrity of our system of prosecution.”

Note, the office and Director of Public Prosecutions was created in 2006. This Supreme Court ruling also applies to the Director of Public Prosecutions who has the authority and responsibility to make the decision.

Integrity and an independent, principled application of the rule(s) of law, exercised by those with the required competencies to do so, must be the basis of our country’s application of justice.

There has been a great deal of unnecessary damage done by the government of Canada’s actions in the SNC Lavalin matter. This needs to be corrected.

King company leader in commercial use of UAVs

By Mark Pavilons

In a world of seemingly infinite possibilities, you still need the right tool for the right job. And that bottom-line business mentality is where a Schomberg company separates the wheat from the chaff.

A little more than a decade ago, Infinite Jib was one of the industry trend-setters, one of only four drone manufacturers in North America. They set the standard for today's major players. It offers a tailor-made solution that provides customers with financial rewards.

Jeff Jackson and his wife Deborah St. Clair are at the controls of Infinite Jib, which has established itself as a world leader in remotely controlled Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs). They design and manufacture these cutting-edge flying robots that serve a multitude of purposes. Put simply, they give cameras wings, sensors and thermal imaging, offering the perfect tool for many industrial, commercial, agricultural and mining applications.

Infinite Jib drones have found their perfect role in mining operations.

Mineral properties are often in remote areas where maps are either non-existent or of poor resolution. In early stage exploration it is beneficial to have a quick overview of the prospect area. In the past a conventional aerial photography company would have acquired this, however, it was expensive and as a result aerial mapping surveys would often not be conducted until later stages of exploration.

"Today our UAVs are used to complete this work in less time and provide higher data quality. You can map an area in high resolution in less than a day, usually a couple of hours. The Surveyor 630 DSLR cameras have the advantage of producing unparalleled image resolution to that of a conventional aerial survey," Jackson said.

There has been a proliferation of drones and their applications in recent years. Like any technologically advanced product, drones have to continue to evolve and be on the cutting edge. They have to deliver.

A firm like Infinite Jib is not some fly-by-night backyard drone flyer looking for a quick buck. They are established, proven professionals, with many world firsts under their belts. They know exactly how to outfit a customer with exactly what they need to do the job well.

Infinite Jib's custom, high-end remote sensing UAVs are second to none. They have a track record to prove it.

"When faced with a unique, specific requirement, our highly trained technicians not only help to determine the feasibility but develop a design strategy for the custom build."

Jackson said they remain competitive by being innovative and providing custom-built machines for unique and very specific applications. They provide the whole package – custom drone, imaging system, hardware and training.

Technology has gotten to the point where anyone can buy a cheap drone at a local chain store and start flying. But Infinite Jib does not make toys, they make sophisticated workhorses, ready to tackle any job, in any part of the world, under any circumstances.

Infinite Jib is a low-volume, high-quality company that gives customers a useful tool that improves their bottom line.

Jackson pointed out that yes, drones can pretty much do anything you want them to. One customer in India wanted one to deliver a tub of ice cream a few kilometres away. While the gizmo can do just that, the applications have to be practical and cost effective.

"It is our mandate to develop the means whereby new technologies can be retrofitted onto existing Infinite Jib aircraft systems to add more value and sustainability to your investment."

There's been a lot of interest in using drones to monitor plants and crops, which would benefit the agricultural industry. However, scanning crops for a farmer, while amazing in its detail, may not be affordable. Farmers work on extremely tight margins.

There's also a lot of buzz around drone delivery services by giants like Amazon. Jackson said we're still a decade away from safe, trouble-free drone delivery. There are many issues yet to be overcome by technology, such as pedestrian safety, neighbourhood obstacles and legal issues.

Where others dream, Infinite Jib delivers. The firm mainly serves engineering and survey companies who need extremely accurate data to map and create 3-D models of the landscape. Engineering firms, construction companies, mining operations require such laser-accurate data.

In fact, one system, known as lidar, illuminates the target with pulsed laser light and measures the reflected pulses with a sensor. Differences in laser return times and wavelengths can then be used to make digital 3-D representations of the target.

Drones can also be equipped with thermal imaging equipment, high-resolution digital cameras and multi-spectral imaging sensors. Why would you need such James Bond gadgetry?

National Defence Canada wanted to know just where unexploded ordinance was buried at an abandoned test range.

A drone equipped with a magnetometer can detail deposits in the ground.

One fitted to the company's Surveyor 630 helped pinpoint a sapphire deposit in Montana.

Another was used to create a detailed rendering of a crack in an airport runway, all from 100 metres in the sky.

The drones Jackson creates today are "flying computers," complete Windows PCs that can communicate with anyone around the globe. Imagine a drone surveying a far northern landscape, with engineers from around the world logging in and monitoring the flight.

What about sending a drone in to survey the weak spots of a dam facility? Such was the case in 2017 when Infinite Jib's drone was used in California to gather accurate data during the Oroville Dam failure.

All of Infinite Jib's models boast high quality design, power, size and superior wind resistance.

The company's Orion model is the only one in the world that can capture infrared in the air and send a live digital feed to the ground. It can not only find a needle in the proverbial haystack, but read its temperature!

Customers not only receive the UAVs and software systems, but extensive training and followup service.

UAVs are an efficient cost alternative to fixed wing aircraft and full-sized helicopters for all aerial support applications. Designed for vertical take-off and landing (VTOL) Infinite Jib's systems are considered the finest, most advanced multi-rotor airframe technology currently available. The high quality materials engineered with anti-vibration properties, matched with premium components and flight control systems combine to provide an industrial strength platform that allows your camera to capture the smooth video footage and clear images desired in aerial imaging and videography.

Their flight solutions are ready to fly and contain everything need to complete a successful operation. Each system is packed in a custom built aluminum flight case for safe and effective transportation and storage.

Description du projet :

Le Gouvernement du Canada investit dans la modernisation de son infrastructure de prévisions météorologiques et procédera au remplacement des radars météorologiques vieillissants par de nouveaux systèmes modernes d'ici mars 2023. Cette initiative permettra de mieux informer les Canadiens au sujet des conditions changeantes du temps, des eaux et du climat et leur donnera plus de temps pour prendre les mesures appropriées afin de se mettre à l'abri et de protéger leur famille et leurs biens des effets du temps violent.

Le nouveau radar de King continuera de fournir la couverture radar pour la région du sud de l'Ontario et comprendra les installations suivantes : un pylône en acier à treillis ouvert de 28 mètres surmonté d'un radôme (sphère contenant l'antenne) de 11,8 mètres de diamètre, pour une hauteur totale d'environ 41 mètres incluant le paratonnerre.

Emplacement du radar :

L'emplacement du radar se trouve sur un terrain d'Environnement et Changement climatique Canada, au 14780 Jane Street, King City, ON L7B 1A3. Les coordonnées géographiques du site du projet de radar sont les suivantes : 43°57'50.00" N, 79°34'26.00" O.

Canadian Weather Radar Network Modernization; Weather Radar Construction at King City in Ontario

Description of the project:

The Government of Canada is modernizing its weather-forecasting infrastructure and will proceed with the replacement of its aging weather radars with new modern radar systems by March 2023. This initiative will ensure that Canadians are better informed on changing weather, water, and climate conditions and that they have more lead time to take appropriate actions to protect themselves, their family, and their property from the effects of severe weather.

The new King radar will continue to provide coverage for Southern Ontario and will consist of a 28-metre open lattice steel tower with a 11.8-metre diameter radome at the top (sphere covering the antenna), for a total height of approximately 41 metres including lightning protection rods.

Radar location:

The radar is located at 14780 Jane Street, King City, ON L7B 1A3, a property owned by Environment Climate Change Canada. The geographic coordinates of the proposed radar site are: 43°57'50.00" N, 79°34'26.00" W.

Guelph recording studio offers complete services

By Mark Pavilons

"I like being in a recording studio. I like watching a song go from the simplicity of the original music."

- Grace Slick

Grace has a lot of company these days.

Thanks to technology and an amazing crop of talented technicians, almost anyone can create a quality recording in a matter of hours.

The newly opened Royal City Studios in Guelph is a one-stop enclave of art and artistry. Owner Jim Duffield wants it to become a focal point for new and experienced artists, sharing, recording, performing and establishing a far-reaching network.

Duffield, a musician since his high school days, opted for a professional career and is currently an IT project manager. But music was always in his blood and Royal City Studios is his way of getting back into music and making a meaningful contribution. His current passion is jazz from the 1920s through '50s.

The facility is tailor-made to all musicians and Duffield has made the rental rates affordable. Basically, anyone can come in, rent a studio to rehearse in or to create a quality recording for a song or entire album. Rates are as low as $5 per hour, per person to rehearse. The building also features a hall for music release parties, receptions and performances. He hopes to hold his first summer camp programs this year in partnership with Kat Studios.

There are seven rehearsal studios in addition to the recording studio, and each one is physically separated from another with double walls, double doors and materials to minimize sound transfer and vibration.

So far, Royal City Studios has welcomed a huge eclectic mix - teachers, individuals and groups. The genres are as varied as the artists themselves and he's seen everything from folk and Celtic to metal and pop.

Duffield said when he put the call out for staff, he was bombarded with resumes from very talented engineers and mixers. He picked the best of the crop. Staff at the studio actually care about the performers and not only offer extremely skilled support, but encouragement, guidance and constructive solutions.

In one recent studio session, engineer Tobin Stewart guided a high school teen in making his first recording for a college submission. Tobin has an amazing ear for music and he carries out the incredibly meticulous recording work with ease and patience. Each second counts and Tobin says he sometimes has to be a "superhuman" when recording and piecing together sections on the latest computer-assisted audio program.

Frank Jannetta, who provides mixing and mastering, takes something "dirty" and makes it sparkle, like that proverbial diamond in the rough. He tweaks the music so it's "perfect."

You quickly feel at ease, and put your full faith in these miracle workers. The end result? Smiles all around, not just from the musicians, but the staff, too.

The in-house engineers work on a contract basis, so musicians and groups can choose who they want to work with. This improves consistency and everyone's comfort level.

At Royal City Studios, there's space to enjoy coffee and just hang out with other musicians. Spare parts and supplies are also available on-site so it doesn't put a hold on recording.

"I want to enable the music community," Duffield said. He wants Royal City Studios to become part of the community and bring music-lovers together. It's about building relationships and sharing in the industry. It's also about hard work.

Duffield's goal is to expand concept of Royal City Studios across southern Ontario, and would entertain any ideas from potential investors.

Nominations sought for HAC Award

By Augusto R. Nalli
Chair, Heritage Advisory Committee

Nominations for this year's King Heritage Award is now open. As you are walking or driving home from work or just walking around your neighbourhood, look around you. You may find an old gem that you never thought existed.

These old structures were once home to early settlers, community builders and trades people who occupied King Township. A structure tells us how people lived, and it can provide an insight into the struggles and triumphs of our ancestors. The fact that these buildings still exist today – some going back to the early 1800s – is a testament to the craftsmanship and the dedication of the people who have occupied these homes.

The King Township Heritage Advisory Committee wants to celebrate these kinds of properties as these properties are vital to maintaining our unique community character. The 2019 King Heritage Award is open for nominations.

Submit your nomination of a heritage building worthy of recognition. The owner of the winning property will be awarded a framed illustration of their building created by a local artist. Award of the framed drawing and announcement of the selected property will be made by Mayor Pellegrini at a fall 2019 council meeting.

You can submit by email (heritage@king.ca) or by mail (Heritage Planning, King Township, 2075 King Road, King City L7B 1A1). The process closes on Tuesday, July 2. The nomination must be a King Township property and include the municipal address of the property being nominated. Also include your own name, contact information and a short description of why you feel this building should be nominated. If feasible provide a photograph of your nomination. Nomination forms can also be used and will be available at the King Township municipal office, libraries and other municipal buildings.

The Heritage Advisory Committee will select the winner using their pre-determined criteria. Consideration is made for a building that "stands out" because of the creativity used to implement a conservation solution or the evident commitment of time and resources to maintain or improve the building.

In 2018 the selected property crowned the "2018 Heritage Award" was 13092 Hwy. 27, referred to as "The Pringle House" built by George G. Pringle, a merchant around the year 1883.

Let's celebrate our heritage together – submit your nominations!

Township boosts local organizations with grants

By Mark Pavilons

Several local community groups will be able to carry out their valuable work, thanks to grants given out by King Township.

King councillors approved the 2019 grant applications, and upped the ante with additional funds.

Kingcrafts Studio & Gallery, a non-profit, volunteer run studio and gallery in King City, missed the deadline for applying for grants. But Tanya Wallgren spoke at the recent council meeting, asking councillors to consider a request.

She said Kingcrafts has been operating since 1950 and this busy group provides workshops, public events, luncheons, and more, all to promote artistry in King. Their sole source of revenue is through membership dues and Wallgren said they'd like to extend their reach across the municipality and spread awareness of their facility and its programs.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini said Township staff are always willing to help local groups find sources of funding.

Councillor Debbie Schaefer supports the group's efforts, noting they'd like to focus on programming.

Council decided to provide the group with $1,000 in funding this year and will offer some guidance in applying for other grants in the future.

Schaefer, a strong supporter of Community & Home Assistance to Seniors (CHATS), asked that the group receive the full amount they asked for. With little hesitation, the mayor recommended group receive $2,000 this year.

Of the $23,000 in grants available, $4,750 was pre-approved, leaving a balance of $18,250. After dishing out the requests, there will still be $7,400 left over to accommodate any requests that arise throughout the remainder of 2019.

Organizations receiving their annual requests include the Legion Poppy Fund, $400; high school graduation awards, $1,600; Nobleton Firefighters (Victoria Day fireworks), $1,000; Schomberg Fair, $1,000; A Main Street Christmas, $750.

Receiving funds this year are Big Brothers Big Sisters of York, $2,500; Hope House Community Hospice, $2,000; Kettleby Cemetery, $500; Kettleby Village Association, $750; King Township Food Bank, $1,000; Southlake regional Health Care Centre Foundation, $2,500; York Region 55+ Games, $600.

Some groups were denied funding and staff pointed out the panel believed other options exist for these groups.

Annual walk for Dog Guides a success

MPP Lecce hosts luncheon with King Chamber of Commerce

Stephen Lecce, MPP for King-Vaughan, held his first MPP lunch, together with the King Chamber of Commerce.

Lecce, who's also Deputy Government House Leader, and Parliamentary Assistant to the Premier and Minister of Infrastructure, outlined the provincial government's continued priorities, including investing in our rural and small communities, the timely construction of the Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital that will serve south King residents, tax relief for middle class families and seniors, and investments in infrastructure and GO Station expansion to reduce gridlock.

"Our government is creating a climate in Ontario that is creating good jobs and enabling families and businesses to save more of their hard earned tax dollars. I am honoured to serve as your representative at Queen's Park and will continue to advocate for the interests of King Township residents every day - from growing our local economy to protecting our environment. Together, we are ensuring that this community has a bright future with opportunities and good jobs for our youth and new investments that are protecting those cherished social services that matter most," he said.

Defender boasts performance, longevity

By Mark Pavilons

When is the last time a tire maker told you to just keep driving?

Michelin now encourages you to “drive on and rack up the kilometres” on their longest lasting tire among leading competitive tires – the Defender T + H.

The “MaxTouch” construction helps ensure the contact surfaces/forces are evenly distributed. This extends the tread life and the “EverTread” compound further improves longevity.

Really, for average consumers, this is the deal-maker. Tough, long-lasting and durable. What more is there? But there is more.

The Defender T + H also has “IntelliSipe” technology, which maximizes the “biting edges” of the tire. This improves grip, handling and ultimately control, in all weather conditions and through all seasons. The special rain grooves also help prevent hydroplaning.

There’s even more. The “Comfort Control” technology produces a quite, comfortable ride, another deal-maker in the tire business. Reducing road noise is undoubtedly an added bonus, and coupled with the other features, make the T + H a winner in my books.

I tested these on a large, North American sedan and they were perfect, and performed flawlessly. Mounted on a smaller, more nimble albeit older import, and these tires come into their own. It’s like they were born and bred on the track, but somehow found their way to the streets.

These tires are workhorses, and also carry a 130,000 kilometre limited warranty, which is substantial. Six years? Time will tell, but if past experience with Michelin is anything to gauge it by, these will perform very well.

The Defender is heralded as “the doers,” Michelin’s longest-lasting tire that keeps you on the go. These babies give today’s drivers more performance and more value per kilometre.

Available in dozens of sizes to fit any vehicle.

York9 FC falls to Hamilton in CPL home opener

By Jake Courtepatte

The newly-stated fans of York9 FC will have to wait a little longer for their team's first Canadian Premier League win.

The York Region squad hosted a touch over 4,000 spectators on Saturday at York Lions Stadium for their first CPL match at their home club, falling 2-0 to Hamilton's Forge FC after a lengthy weather delay.

"It's our home opener, but it's funny that it's coming so many weeks down from the beginning of the season," said head coach Jim Brennan. "We found it difficult as well, being on the road – Forge, we had their home opener, then Cavalry, we had their home opener, and it's been difficult for us. But we grinded through it, had a couple draws on the road, which is fine

A massive 22 shots combined by the two squads failed to find the back of the net in the opening half, before Hamilton buried twice in the second half to take back-to-back wins over the York side.

"We felt, just before that delay, we had them on the ropes, had plenty of chances, lots of opportunities, we felt it was coming," said Brennan following the match. "That delay took the wind out of our sails. The second half, our momentum kept on taking us forward, had some good possession, plenty of shots today – 20-something shots – just we couldn't find the back of the net.

"They break on the counter and they score on us. That's the way the game goes. So we're frustrated, the way it came about. We felt we were the better team today."

After a quick counter attack put the home team down by one at the 70th minute, it was just eight minutes later that Hamilton was able to put the game away for good.

"You keep learning as you go along," said Brennan. "If we take away the two goals, we look at our performance overall, we think: we're alright, we're on the right track here."

The club issued a statement on Monday about the weather delay, offering tickets to a future home game and stating "our fans, supporters and partners are of the utmost importance to us and we will continue to strive to offer the best match-day experience at our next home game."

Yet the most diehard supporters have already received a glimpse of a successful future for the squad: the team's first-ever win actually came last Wednesday in non-CPL competition, where they defeated AS Blainville out of Quebec 1-0 to advance to the next round of the Canadian Championship.

York9's Kyle Porter (right) looks to take the ball from Forge FC's Kyle Bekker in Saturday's 2-0 win for the Forge over York.

Strides for Stroke raises record in support of Mackenzie Health

Mackenzie Health Foundation hosted its 14th annual Strides for Stroke May 4, which raised more than $287,000, beating last year's all-time record. It also hit a new milestone of $2 million raised since the event's inception in 2006.

More than 1,300 people hit the streets of Richmond Hill and Vaughan for the 5KM run/walk in the Foundation's largest community event. This event attracts a significant number of community members, patients, doctors, nurses, volunteers and hospital staff, and helps ensure that Mackenzie Richmond Hill Hospital and the future Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital have the lifesaving equipment it needs to deliver the best patient care.

Devon Briggs of Uxbridge was first to the finish line with a time of 18:43. The top fundraising team again this year was UniversalCare Movers and Shakers, who raised more than $31,000, and Cathy Messina took home the prize for top fundraiser, raising more than $26,500. The post-race celebration featured live music courtesy of Arcadia Academy of Music, a frenzy of food trucks, vendor fair and Family Fun Zone.

Mackenzie Health is home to the York Region District Stroke Centre, recognized as a centre of excellence. Over the last four years, the number of stroke patients admitted to inpatient care has increased across Ontario. Last year alone, Mackenzie Health cared for nearly 500 stroke patients which is an increase of more than 100 patients since 2014.

Since 2006, Strides for Stroke has raised $2 million to help fund critical programs, care, services and equipment like CT Scanners, MRI and ECG machines, vital sign and bedside monitors used throughout the hospital and in the diagnoses and treatment of stroke. For more information, please visit stridesforstroke.ca.

"Strides for Stroke shines a light on the heart and spirit of York Region. I live in this community and I run in this race every year. This event is a special opportunity for thousands in our community to participate, give back and make a difference to the hundreds of patients who turn to Mackenzie Health for stroke care each year," said Altaf Stationwala, president and CEO of Mackenzie Health.

"We are so inspired by the dedication and enthusiasm of our communities in Richmond Hill, Vaughan, King and indeed across York Region. We're grateful to all our supporters, volunteers and participants who have helped make this year one of the most successful Strides for Stroke events yet," added Ingrid Perry, president and CEO of Mackenzie Health Foundation.

"Strides for Stroke brings together people from all walks of life in community to celebrate and support the incredible work that the Mackenzie Health's regional stroke program provides for those in need. It shows the dedication our community has in giving to initiatives so important for families today and tomorrow. I'm so proud to be a part of the volunteers and participants who, each year, contribute to a successful celebration of community, health, with stories of inspiration, all in support of exceptional patient care," noted Patrick Ciccolini, Strides co-chair.

Guitar duo performs at house concert in King

By Mark Pavilons

A renowned guitar duo from Ottawa will perform in an intimate setting June 1 in King.

Duo Waqay, a young Latin guitar duo, will perform at an afternoon concert, organized by Caledon's Heather Morand Clark.

They will perform at Winsong Farm at 2 p.m. that day. The farm is located on the 15th Sideroad of King.

Guitarists Gabriela Iznardo and Alejandro Vega have been performing alongside one another since early adolescence and are both graduates of the University of Ottawa in Performance Guitar. While growing up playing together, they developed an inseparable bond; they quickly discovered their passion for Latin American and Spanish rhythms. The fusion of Alejandro's Cuban heritage and Gabriela's Peruvian and Argentinian background led to the creation of a unique sound which sparks energy and creativity into the hearts of their audience. It is this fusion of culture which created their name "Waqáy," a Quechuan word that means "the cry and timbre of a musical instrument."

You can see the Duo in action here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c2DmQUYctPc>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q4VbqUfn3Po>

Tickets are $20 (cash only at the door) and include the concert and post concert refreshments. Concert proceeds will go directly to the artists.

Reserve your spot early, as seating is limited to approximately 20. To make a reservation contact Winnie at winsong.farm@gmail.com or by phone 905-859-6282.

Clark is a classical guitarist who lives and teaches in the area. She's also the president of the Guitar Society of Toronto, and they present international artists in Toronto for six regular season concerts, as well as a weekend festival with two more. Part of their mandate is to promote young talent, and as such, are bringing back the house concert.

Clark said having small, intimate venues accomplishes a couple of things – hopefully people who might not want to travel all the way into downtown Toronto will be happy to have the opportunity to attend a cultural event close to home.

"I also hope to provide exposure to classical guitar to people who may not have heard it before, particularly some of my students who have probably never seen a live performance," she said. "The charm of a house concert is of course the intimacy of the surroundings. Classical guitar is particularly well-suited, being rather a quiet instrument."

Clark said she saw Duo Waqay perform in Ottawa, and was impressed by their energy, love the music they play, and they are just a very engaging young Duo. Their program is Latin music, which is lively, and they are very impressive both technically and musically.

As a classical guitarist, she became involved in the Guitar Society of Toronto as a volunteer, about 10-12 years ago.

"It has become an important part of my life, sharing my love of the instrument with our audiences. I believe anyone who likes guitar would like this type of guitar music, and anyone who likes music (which is pretty much everyone!) but in particular classical music, will love classical guitar. I would love to see it expand from something only available in the city."

Clark herself has been playing classical guitar most of her life, and she's been teaching in the Caledon area for almost 20 years. She has attended numerous guitar festivals in Canada, the U.S. and the UK, and her articles on international festivals have been published by Classical Guitar Magazine (UK), Soundboard (USA), on line at www.thisisclassicalguitar.com

Schomberg United Church By Nancy Hopkinson

Today (Thursday, May 30), from 2-3 p.m. there is coffee with Rev. Carol-Ann Chapman at Kitchen Breedon Manor's living room.

This Sunday, June 2, the service is at 9:30 a.m. at Kitchen Breedon Manor. Last Sunday many of us went down to Nobleton for a joint service and afterwards, we socialized in the quilting room!

On Sunday, June 9, at 9:30 a.m., the service is at St. Mary Magdalene, on the theme of Pentecost, the coming of the Holy Spirit to the disciples and others.

The following Sunday, June 16 at 9:30 a.m., we will have the pleasure of King City's Sandra Kirby to lead us in worship.

At our May Joint (Nobleton United and Schomberg United) Board Meeting, we discussed the Affirming Church process. Affirming Churches are officially welcoming to the LGBTQ2SIA+ community and have a logo with a stylized rainbow around a cross. Although both of our churches have inclusive marriage policies, we have not taken the additional step to become officially Affirming. Both churches have 3 members willing to serve on this Affirming committee. The Schomberg members are Andy MacPherson, Jack Campbell and Wendy Tushingham.

At the board meeting, we saw a video called Affirm PIE. PIE stands for Public, Intentional and Explicit. Affirming is shorthand for faith communities that have taken intentional steps of education, discernment, and theological exploration including hearing stories and community engagement. The Jt. Board voted to begin the Affirming Church process.

Shining Waters Regional Council had their AGM in Barrie this past weekend. Rev. Carol-Ann Chapman and I, as Regional Rep, attended from our congregations. For one of the hours, we were invited to join various groups depending on our interests. I went to the Affirm table and met some people from Aurora United who are a little bit ahead of us in the Affirming process. Also at the table were people from way up north near Windermere, at Evergreen Pastoral Charge, who would like to begin the process of Affirming.

The next Seniors' lunch starts on Tuesday, June 25 at 11:30 a.m. with entertainment by the Joyful Spirits, followed by a lunch. As always, please contact Sheila Kelly at 905-939-2315 to let her know that company is coming. Donations are welcome to cover the cost.

Schomberg United meets at St. Mary Magdalene, 116 Church St., at 9:30 a.m. most Sundays, but at the Kitchen Breedon Manor usually on the first Sunday of the month. For more info, visit nobletonunitedchurch.com and click on the Schomberg United link, or call 905-859-3976.

Anglican Parish

Holy Communion services are held even on misty Sunday mornings starting at 9:30 a.m. in Christ Church, Kettleby on Kettleby Rd. mid-way between Keele and Jane Sts. and at 11:15 a.m. in St. Mary Magdalene's, 116 Church St in Schomberg. Keep in mind the delicious mac-cheese and ham supper with home baked goodies, in Christ Church, Kettleby's hall, adjacent to the church that awaits diners at 5:30 and 7 p.m. Saturday evening June 1. Nobleton Notes

St. Paul's Church

The date has been set for St. Paul's Bible Fun Camp! This year's theme is "Roar." Mark the week of July 8 to 12 on your calendar! If you have or know of children that would benefit from this amazing week, registration forms are available at stpaulsnobleton.ca.

The Community Youth Group meets every second Thursday at 7 p.m. with extra events organized throughout the year. Come join in the fun. Follow our Instagram account, "4.12.youth.group," to stay up to date on current events. Check this space for details, or contact our church office at 905-859-0843. A2J, our program for kids in Grades 3 to 6, will continue to meet the second and fourth Friday of the month at 7 p.m.

It is said that what goes into a mind comes out in a life. What you read, watch and listen to really matters! You are welcome to borrow from our church library, which contains many Christian DVDs, books and CDs to help stretch and grow and encourage you.

The first and third Tuesday of the month we have a group of people that get together at 1 p.m. to do quilting. The second and fourth Tuesday of the month, the focus is on knitting. Last year alone we were able to donate 28 quilts for refugees, plus many knitted items. All handcrafted items are donated to various mission projects. Consider joining us.

This Sunday, June 2, Jeff will lead us in worship. His message is titled "He stoops to conquer," based on John 13:1-17. We offer ministry to children aged 0 to 11 during worship. Following the service we always enjoy some delicious refreshments. Come and join us. You will be glad you did!

Jeff's messages are posted at www.passionatelyhis.com each week. They are also on Facebook Live and are available on the church's Facebook page (@stpaulsnobleton) and YouTube page (search St. Paul's Church, Nobleton), or stpaulsnobleton.ca for viewing. For more information about ANY of our activities or events, please contact the church office or visit our new and improved website at www.stpaulsnobleton.ca.

Nobleton United Church By Nancy Hopkinson

This Sunday June 2, the service is at 11:15 a.m. Last Sunday we were delighted to share our service with our sister congregation, Schomberg United.

The next Messy Church at Church is Sunday June 9, at 11:15 a.m., with songs and stories related to Pentecost upstairs in a family friendly, 20-minute service, followed by a variety of crafts related to the Pentecost theme downstairs until 12:15 p.m., when we will eat together.

Pentecost is the time that the Holy Spirit descended on Jesus's disciples and others, after Easter. The disciples described this with the images of wind and fire, so all the activities will focus on activities to do with wind or fire. We will be decorating cookies in the shape of a candle; making paper airplanes; making windmills; creating a centerpiece for the table using a candle, oasis, and artificial flowers; and doing calligraphy to remember us that the medieval monks used to copy out the Bible by hand.

All families are welcome. This will be our last Messy Church before the summer. The next one will be Tuesday, Oct. 22 from 5 to 7 p.m., and includes dinner. Visit the posts on our Facebook page to view last month's activities with Messy Church.

The following Sunday, June 16 at 11:15 a.m., we will have the pleasure of King City's Sandra Kirby to lead us in worship.

REVERSING GLOBAL WARMING:
INTRODUCTION TO DRAWDOWN
WEEKEND 4-session WORKSHOP
Friday, June 14, 7-9:30 PM / Saturday, June 15, 9-11:30 AM
Saturday and Sunday 2-4:30 PM
King Township Municipal Bldg, 2585 King Rd.

The Californian author, environmentalist, and entrepreneur Paul Hawken, gathered a group of 200 researchers and other experts from 22 countries to identify and model the 100 most substantive already existing solutions to global warming. After 5 years of rigorous scientific research, the 2017 results revealed astounding news: it may be possible not just to slow global warming, but to reverse it by 2050. The results were published in the groundbreaking book Drawdown: The Most Comprehensive Plan Ever Proposed to Reverse Global Warming. The most recent news tells us that we have to work even faster.

During this workshop created by the Pachamama Alliance, we will introduce the Project Drawdown results, reveal how we ourselves have been thinking about global warming, take a new perspective, and consider how we want to act. This workshop called "Drawdown Solutions: Getting into Action" is condensed into one weekend of four sessions. A film screening will be discussed for a future date.

Please RSVP to climate.action.king@gmail.com

St. Andrew's By Kathy Patterson

St. Andrew's shares the love of Jesus in the community and beyond!

Sunday worship for the family is at 10:30 a.m. The children up to 12 years old leave the sanctuary for Sunday school after the Time for Youth and before the sermon takes place.

Henna Kim preached last Sunday from II Corinthians 3:7-18 about "Being transformed into Christlikeness" where there is freedom in Him which is eternal and which glorifies Him. Henna will visit us again June 9.

Next Sunday Robert Hayashi will be preaching with the Rev. Dr. John Vissers presiding over Communion.

June 16 Lynn Vissers will take the service. Following, we'll celebrate Father's Day with our Sunday school BBQ.

Looking for a Bible Study? Sunday evenings Niyazi Bilgen, a pastor with The Greater Grace Fellowship leads one starting at 5 p.m. in the lounge at St. Andrew's. Refreshments follow. All are welcome. Call 416-878-8499.

The Women's Prayer Circle meets at 80 Burns Blvd., Tuesday mornings from 9 to 10. What a wonderful way to start your day. Contact Kathy Patterson, 905-833-0391, if you have prayer requests, thanksgivings or need more information.

Art for the Soul led by Lynn Vissers is on Wednesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. at the church. All are welcome. It is an "opportunity to play with colour and paint, allowing expression of joy, sorrow, frustration, and even grief. It can be a time of light happiness, just getting caught up in colouring. No experience required. Guided art expression available if desired."

The weather was perfect for Messy Church last Sunday, 5-7 p.m. Lynn decided our communal meal should be a BBQ, and the children got to prepare a small vegetable garden which they will look after over the summer.

All Saints Anglican Church
By Patrick Gossage

Girls Night Out – A great good time was had last Saturday night by over 60 women from the parish and their friends at our annual Lady's Dinner in which the men of the parish served the women. They prepared the three course meal and dessert, served it, poured the wine, ran the raffle, provided an MC to keep things going and cleaned up. This considerably adds to the enjoyment of our female guests. A DJ provided music and there was some dancing to round out a wonderful evening which will be repeated next year. Richard Spencer was the main organizer and ran the efficient kitchen and got a round of applause at our 10:30 service the next day.

Spring Cleanup and BBQ – Parishioners will gather Saturday, June 1 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. to clean up our hosta garden beside the church and enjoy a BBQ. This is a family affair and all are welcome. Our garden is a beautiful, restful place of peace for the community just off Keele Street.

Words to live by – Rev. Dr. Elizabeth used the story in Acts 16 of St. Paul's trip to Philippi where he had an unusual meeting with a woman, Lydia. Paul had a vision which led him there. Visions have a way of surprising," Rev. Dr. Elizabeth said. "Scripting God's vision, as in making structured plans for our church, is very different from receiving God's vision. When he actually shows up we are changed, transformed."

Paul's vision of what he was going to accomplish in Philippi changed when he met Lydia, a wealthy, independent business woman. She was his first disciple in Europe, said yes to the new life Paul preached and opened her heart and her home to Paul. "Jesus is tugging at you and I now," she said. "We cannot remain as we were when God comes to us unexpectedly. His love is about new creation and new life, even if it is uncomfortable."

Horticulture
By John Arnott

Among the earliest and easiest spring flowering perennials are scilla, a genus made up of some 70 species of small bulb rooted plants, mostly blue but with some pink or white members all native to much of Eurasia and most of which bloom in early spring – wild English bluebells which I grow here in my Tecumseth Pines-Tottenham garden are probably the best known.

While I love these bluebells my favourite is scilla are the tiny up to 3 in./8 cm high scilla are really native to southwest Russia into Turkey and not Siberia at all! Like all scilla they are members of the asparagus family and the wider lily family.

These little spring bulbs have tiny sapphire blue cup like flowers each consisting of 6 petals that enclose 6 pollen bearing stamens that top either singularly or in pairs slim delicate looking single stem of each plant. Their slender short sword shaped rich green leaves like all bulb leaves must be left uncut until they die back as they restock the bulb with nutrients necessary for the following year's growth. The plants spread by the seeds and bulblets produced each growing season.

If left, "Siberian" scilla will form carpets of blue – great for the natural garden. They are ideal for planting in lawns as they bloom early and leaves die down by the time the grass needs cutting. My scilla, late this year because of the cold spring weather are at their best as I write.

Scilla like shade but will tolerate some sun (especially very early blooming scilla bifolia-two leaves). Although they are not soil fussy and will do well planted about 3 to 4 in./8 to 10 cm deep in average garden soil their preference is sandy loam.

European colonists introduced scilla sibirica into Canada the U.S.A. Australia-New Zealand and South Africa where they soon escaped over garden walls and have since naturalized happily.

Not a fish story
By John Arnott

On that early morning as he began to gather driftwood off the beach to make a fire the little fishing boat that had just been a dot on the horizon when he first arrived began to take shape. And, in the shallows just off shore a lazy shadow warned of a sizable school of fish probably tilapia. He took a pair of flints from a small leather bag he carried tied inside his knee-length woollen robe. By the time he had a blaze take hold he could see the men on board and they him.

"Have you caught anything friends?" "No," they shouted shaking their heads. "Throw your net out to starboard then." Quickly the flung net filled to overflow. Now the fishermen realized the man on shore was Yeshua.

Soon they were sitting around the glowing embers of the beach fire eating flat bread and grilled fish.

After the meal was finished Yeshua would ask Simon Peter 3 times "Do you love me?" one for each of the 3 times this the eldest at possibly 25, of the 12 original disciples had denied knowing him on the night before his crucifixion. Peter, upset by the 3rd time of asking, replied to each "You know I love you." After Peter first affirmation Yeshua said "Feed my lambs," after the second "Look after my sheep" and following the third "Feed my sheep."

After the second asking and affirmation in the King James Bible, Yeshua says just "Feed My sheep."

But in the first Greek copies of the original Greek bible, based on the original Hebrew of the first bible, there is no mention of feeding sheep at all!

Even more perplexing is that in gospel accredited to Matthew no beach meeting at the Sea of Galilee is recorded and in fact in it states Yeshua met in Galilee by plan with his remaining 11 soon to be called apostles on the slopes of an unnamed mountain.

Neither is there a Galilee meeting recorded in the gospel to accredited to Mark, which has Yeshua ascending to Heaven on Easter Sunday from the place in Jerusalem where the 11 were hiding out. The gospel accredited to Luke doesn't mention a Galilee meeting either, but records Yeshua ascended from a hillside near Jerusalem also on Easter Sunday.
