Businesses collaborating to beautify Main Street

Typically, a construction site can be an eyesore. While the site's temporary fence may shield pedestrians from much of the activities behind, the long blank expanse can also feel like a message – you are unwelcome here. Not so on Main Street, Schomberg.

Thanks to the generous support of Main Street businesses Raycor Mechanical and Rona, and the volunteer efforts of Main Street artist and Street Gallery organizer Tom Wray, the 55-foot-long temporary fencing for the construction site at 215 Main Street is being transformed into visual art.

Andrea End is a visual artist whose inspiration is the sunlight – its colours and shapes that are created in the forests and on the lakes of the Canadian scenery. In this case, she has drawn inspiration from her love of forests, but also to complement the theme of sunflowers and monarchs on the new Main Street banners.

It may have seemed a little eerie on May 21, when the image was projected onto the hoarding, and ghost-like, Andrea and her daughter Erica traced the outline of the mural onto the hoarding.

Two weeks later, the mural is taking shape, and is transforming the temporary fencing into something beautiful. The Schomberg Street Gallery organizer couldn't be more pleased.

"While the Schomberg Street Gallery has always been set against a backdrop of heritage buildings and century homes, now it will also be set against a backdrop of art itself," Wray said.

This month-long activity is just one component of the Main Street Revitalization project.

The mural will be completed by the end of June and will remain in place for at least 12 months during the redevelopment of this Main Street property.

Craft beer, food and music on tap at King festival

Craft beer, food trucks and live music are on the menu for this year's King City Craft Beer and Food Truck Festival.

The festival takes place Saturday, June 8 at Memorial Park in King City (25 Doctors Lane).

Running from noon until 9 p.m. this year's event will play host to some of the best craft breweries and gourmet food trucks from across the province.

"Even though it's going to be hard to top last year's event, I think this year's is going to be the best yet," said King Mayor Steve Pellegrini. "We started with 3,000 attendees the first year and had more than 6,500 come through the gates last year. People have really taken to the festival."

At press time, there were 12 craft breweries and 12 gourmet food trucks registered for the festival. There will also be vendors supplying non-alcoholic beverages.

The event will also feature two stages with non-stop musical performances throughout the day by 10 different acts, including this year's festival headliner, Born Ruffians.

The King City Lions Club will hold a cash draw and you can buy a reduced Lions cash draw ticket with an online combo pass at www.kingcraftbeerandfood.com.

A few things to keep in mind if you plan on attending:

A map of available parking can be found here: www.kingcityfestival.com/parking.

Sunscreen and hats are strongly recommended as the event venue does not have a lot of shaded areas. There will be picnic tables but you can bring your own lawn chairs to enjoy the music on the stage.

This year there will be a BMO ATM on site. All event transactions, including ticket sales and purchases of food and drink will be done in cash only.

The event is open to all ages. If you don't want to drink alcohol, you can buy a Music Event Pass which will get you access to the event grounds, music and food trucks.

Kids under the age of 12 get in free.

All dogs must be on a short leash at all times. Please remember to bring water and a drink bowl for your furry friend.

Organizers do allow re-entry, however, upon re-entering into the venue, participants may be asked to re-show a piece of valid identification. Any patron seeking re-entry who appears to be intoxicated will not be allowed back into the event grounds.

The event is being held in partnership with King Township and the main sponsor, Zancor Homes. For more information, or to purchase advance tickets, please visit www.kingcraftbeerandfood.com.

Editorial, Letters & Opinion

"A newspaper is the center of a community, it's one of the tent poles of the community, and that's not going to be replaced by websites and blogs."

~ Michael Connelly

Finding our own sense of 'salvation'

"We save ourselves by saving others. No one has ever been saved alone."

This quote, with roots in biblical teachings, basically means that we must seek "salvation" on our own, and help others do the same.

Now, "salvation" can mean something different for everyone, but in strict terms it means being saved or protected from harm, or being saved or delivered from a dire situation. In religion, salvation is the saving of the soul from sin.

"Deliver us from evil ..."

I take it as a bit of "paying it forward" and "doing unto others."

My driving habits are slow and steady, according to results logged on my Presto app on my smart phone. The app is designed to track your driving and at the end of the trial period, it may result in a discount on one's car insurance premiums. In this regard, I may very well save a life, perhaps my own!

Slow and steady may not be the ideal qualities in a human being, but they're just fine for driving. We all know that life is never slow and steady.

In fact, I can't recall an extended period over the last decade where my life and family could be deemed slow and steady. "Rushed and unstable" are more accurate terms, or perhaps "hurried and wobbly."

If I go back to my opening quote, just what are we humans being saved or delivered from?

Salvation, in Christian teachings, is surrendering ourselves to the ways and cause of Christ. It's like reserving that seat in the VIP lounge of Heaven.

So through deliverance, you guarantee yourself a contented life on earth where all your needs, not necessarily wants, are met by God. "Deliverance" only comes through after salvation. So brothers and sisters get delivered and stop complaining!

Time and again we hear horrible stories on the evening news. Why do bad things happen to good people? This is a question that has plagued humankind since the beginning of time. Perhaps it's the old, survival of the fittest concept. Or the idea that what doesn't kill you makes you stronger.

Here's a question for all of us, believers and non-believers alike. Ask yourself from where do you draw your strength? The answer pretty much tells a tale all on its own, and summarizes who we are.

If we draw strength from the Good Lord and all of his teachings, then we abide by basic Christian fundamental beliefs. These are pretty good ones if you ask me, along the lines of being kind to others; showing compassion for your fellow human beings; being honest and sincere ...

I truly believe that most humans on earth, regardless of their culture and belief systems, abide by some of these codes.

Are we inherently good?

I think so, yes. As babies, we're blank slates entering a new world. We know nothing. At the same time, we fear nothing and hate nothing. We exude joy and love, the purest of human emotions. Babies cry, only to signal that they need something, and more often than not, it's the warm and comforting embrace of our parents.

We learn negativity from the world.

I love to highlight those Good Samaritan stories. We are too often bombarded with bad news that it's nice to celebrate the goodness in our fellow creatures.

On the whole, I think my fellow humans will do the right thing, given a choice. We inherently know the difference between right and wrong.

One recent summer while heading to the Beer Store, I found a police officer's badge and ID on the ground. For some less scrupulous sorts, this was a find worth its weight in gold. I waited, presuming he would emerge from the store. I asked every man who walked past me if they were "Officer X." I presented the owner with his badge and he hastily departed.

I imagine it was not only embarrassing but he would have been in a bit of trouble back at work had he lost this important item.

I routinely cut the neighbour's lawn when I'm out doing my own. Heck, I've been cutting grass since I was 10, growing up in rural Caledon, so a subdivision lawn is no biggie.

In my youth we lived roughly seven kilometres from Bolton so we headed into town regularly. In the summer months, we seldom locked our doors. Our screen doors were wide open, letting in the breeze. Anyone could have come and gone as they pleased. I don't think we'd do that today, but it was a nice feeling back then not to worry about being robbed or ransacked.

So, if we're all basically good, do we even need deliverance?

Most of us today are much too busy to give it any thought. We have places to go, errands to run, projects to complete.

I think "deliverance," too comes in many forms.

My most favourite quiet times are in front of the back yard BBQ in the summer, glancing into the forest and simply listening to the sounds of nature. I become introspective as I relax in the sun. I am thankful for the fact I can cook up some burgers and steaks for my family. I am happy that I can enjoy the freedom of my surroundings and that my family comes together to share our love.

Here, in this place, there is no evil, no crimes against humanity. Until a neighbour's lawnmower or chain saw breaks the silence, it's pretty much paradise. It's a way to cleanse the soul.

If I could impart this feeling of euphoria to everyone around me, it would be a sort of salvation. I hope from this you get just a glimpse of it, and it makes you smile and fills your heart.

Whether we attend church, pray, or simply close our eyes and hope, we are asking for a bit of salvation. If we fill our hearts with love and respect we're on our way to "deliverance."

"To live (and to die) will be an awfully big adventure."

~ J.M. Barrie, Peter Pan

Letter to the Editor

Groups call on Clark to review Bill 108

The following letter, to Steven Clark, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing, was submitted to the King Weekly Sentinel.

Minister Clark,

On behalf of the millions of Ontarians that we represent as municipal governments, housing advocates, and environmental leaders, we are writing to request that your government provide additional time to consider Bill 108. We are ready to work with you to ensure that the legislation's intent of delivering more affordable housing is achieved.

We believe that our common goal of delivering suitable homes that are within the means of all families can be met without compromising the livability of our communities. Ontarians are telling us that they have significant concerns that their quality of life will be negatively impacted if the More Homes, More Choices Act proceeds as planned.

The provisions in Bill 108 would limit the ability of municipal governments to plan for, and provide amenities for the people we all serve. Our residents expect their neighbourhoods consist of more than just a grouping of homes. Parks, daycares, and recreation centres are not nice-to-haves but necessary building blocks of a thriving community.

Residents are also concerned about losing Ontario's natural heritage if Schedules 2, 5, and 6 of the Act is passed. Bill 108 threatens conservation areas, wetlands, and the plants and animals that call them home, particularly endangered species. Ontarians value and cherish their natural areas, and will not accept losing them to sprawling subdivisions when better options are available.

Thirty days is too short a timeline for our residents to properly assess, and make meaningful contributions, to legislation that proposes significant changes to 15 separate Acts. Further, since much of Bill 108 is enabling legislation for regulations that have yet to be released, we are commenting blind in regards to critical aspects of the Act.

Our constituents expect us to take the time this issue deserves to ensure we get it right.

We therefore request that you extend the comment period from June 1st to September 1st, and release draft regulations in that period, to provide an opportunity for meaningful consultation before moving ahead with Bill 108.

ED says Bill 108 is a 'dream list' from developers

New analysis from Environmental Defence shows that Ontario Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act, fulfills most of the demands submitted to government by the Ontario Home Builders Association (OHBA) that roll back protection for the environment and enable sprawl.

The recommendations include weakening the Endangered Species Act, bringing back the Ontario Municipal Board and expanding urban boundaries at the request of developers. The government's catering to the regressive elements of the development industry ignores the needs, concerns and recommendations of citizens, community groups, municipal leaders and planning experts.

"Catering only to requests from the development industry means a bleak future for Ontarians. Bill 108 will mean less community control over planning their towns and cities, threatened forests, streams and wetlands and more gridlock and sprawl. Ontario appears 'open for business' for only a few friends of the government," said Tim Gray, executive director, Environmental Defence.

Some of the key demands from the development industry that are contained in Bill 108 include:

- Repealing Bill 139 and bringing back the OMB. Bill 108 will restore OMB rules which allow override of planning decisions made by democratically elected municipal governments.
- Urban boundary expansions. Bill 108 removes previous restrictions on urban boundary expansions meaning sprawl will again dominate new development.
- Recalibrate and cap development charges. Bill 108 proposes to amalgamate and cap development charges, depriving municipalities of needed funds for parks, community centres and libraries.
- Gutting the Endangered Species Act. Bill 108 includes a new mechanism that will allow developers to pay a fee to avoid protecting the habitat of species-at-risk, and will allow for reduced protection if the species exists somewhere else in the world.
- Limiting the role of Conservation Authorities. Bill 108 will reduce the scope of Conservation Authority activities and allow the Ministry of the Environment, Conservation and Parks to decide areas in watersheds that can be developed, which will enable sprawl development in natural areas.

"Ontario's More Homes, More Choice Bill will do little to increase housing affordability. What it will do is set back the progress on building smart sustainable communities while increasing urban sprawl and developer profits. The Bill does a lot for developers and too little for Ontarians looking to live in walkable communities, with local services and green space. Instead, we will get more gridlock, lost farmland and houses people can't afford," Gray added.

Environmental Defence is a leading Canadian advocacy organization that works with government, industry and individuals to defend clean water, a safe climate and healthy communities.

Letter to the Editor

OMB model never worked

The most awful organization that ever existed was the OMB.

For years it appeared to be "in the pocket" of developers and that was no more apparent than right here on the Oak Ridges Moraine, which is a sponge to provide water to our local aquifers.

In the past years already we have areas of development, courtesy the OMB, that have allowed so many areas to develop and reduce our means of collecting water!

MPP Stephen Lecce, do you realize that a major part of our human body is water? If we continue to deplete our sources, eventually we will all die!

Lack of water is no question the greatest problem the world faces; we are so fortunate here to have that abundant resource, which a reinstatement of the OMB would be an absolute disaster!

KING FIRE & EMERGENCY SERVICES

What to Teach your Children About Bicycle Safety

Most Canadian children age six to 16 ride bicycles. Children start cycling as play when they are very young. As they grow older and become more experienced, the transition from toy to transportation is made. With increasing independence, parents have less control of where the bicycle is ridden and how it is used. The attitudes you, as a parent, instill in your children from a young age will determine how they will ride for years to come.

Starting out

Make sure your child's bike and helmet are the right size. He or she should be able to straddle the bike with both feet on the ground; a bike that is too big or too small is a safety hazard. Bikes that are equipped with multiple speeds are not a good idea because small hands often cannot make the handbrakes work. Buy a bike with a coaster brake. As a minimum, your child's first bike should be equipped with a bell and reflectors.

When choosing a helmet, your child should try on several helmets carefully. Level the helmet over your child's forehead and adjust the chin strap to fit snugly and comfortably. It should protect the forehead without slipping forward or backward; and it should not move unless the scalp moves. A trained salesperson will help you ensure the fit is right.

Insist your child always wears a helmet when riding. (It goes without saying that parents must set an example by always wearing theirs when cycling.) Remember, a helmet only works when you wear it!

For young children, set the following hard and fast rules:

- No playing on the road.
- No riding on busy streets.
- No riding at night.
- Stop for all stop signs.
- Ride on the right with traffic.
- Make your own decisions

Common dangers

The majority of bicycle injuries do not involve motor vehicles. Most are falls, collisions with stationary objects, and collisions with other bikes or pedestrians result from the bicyclist losing control, and most occur less than five blocks from home, in familiar surroundings.

- Stop at all stop signs regardless of what is happening.
- Scan both directions for traffic.
- Wait for any cross traffic to clear.
- Proceed when safe.
- Above all, practice what you preach!

Nobleton Lions walk for guide dog services raises over $9,000

Lions walking dogs, what a sight! The Nobleton Lions joined members of the community May 26 for the annual Pet Valu Walk for Dog Guides. This year's walk was blessed with warm, sunny weather. Roughly 15 walkers with 10 dogs participated. With the support of the community, the event raised a little over $9,000.

Bev Berger, a long-time supporter of the walk, celebrated her 30th year along with her current dog guide, Lotus.

The 2019 Pet Valu Walk for Dog Guides was yet another reason for the Nobleton Lions Club to be proud of their accomplishments. The Walk, arriving on the heels of the Victoria Day dedication of the Paul Olsen pavilion was a success. Perfect weather, a smorgasbord of dog breeds and dedicated supporters all came together to create for me a memorable event.

"For 30 years my dog guides, the Lions and the Walks have given me and my family an opportunity to share a simple reality – people with disabilities are simply people first," Berger said. I suppose 30 years is a milestone of sorts, however, the party ain't over yet!

The yearly walk helps provide funding for six different specialty streams including Canine Vision dogs, Hearing Ear dogs, and Service dogs to help challenged Canadians overcome a variety of impairments.

King, York support two-tier municipal government

By Mark Pavilonis

York Regional council passed a resolution supporting the Region's two-tier government structure as the most effective means to deliver critical infrastructure and services to York Region communities and residents.

The move came in response to the Province's ongoing review of regional government.

"Since 1971, York Regional council has been dedicated to providing responsible, high-quality and cost effective programs and services to the residents of our community," said York Region chairman and CEO Wayne Emmerson. "In passing this resolution, council endorses York Region's two-tiered municipal government structure as the best model to serve residents now and in the future."

King council, too, voiced their support for the current system.

At their last council meeting, councillors passed a resolution supporting the two-tier system, noting King welcomes all opportunities to improve both regional and local service delivery to achieve greater efficiencies and costs savings. All York municipalities "would receive greater benefit from a review of provincial permitting/approvals and municipal government powers and authority under the Municipal Act."

The current system, King argues, provides for regional services throughout all local municipalities, resulting in "cost-effective, quality services that respond to the needs of the local municipalities and citizens."

King has demonstrated its fiscal responsibility by delivering direct and accountable services through shared service agreements and partnerships with members of the N6.

On Jan. 15, the Provincial government announced a review of regional governments to ensure they are working efficiently and effectively to provide vital services. The review specifically looks to improve on governance, decision-making and service delivery at the municipal level.

Over the past 48 years, York Regional council has considered the issue of governance on a number of occasions, mostly with respect to council composition and representation by population. Demonstrating a commitment to responsible government, council currently consists of 21 members, increasing by just four members since 1971.

When York was created in 1971, it consolidated 14 former municipalities into nine new municipalities.

King's resolution will be sent to all York municipalities as well as AMO, local MPPs and the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

At the same time, the Region's population has increased by more than one million people to today's 1.2 million residents.

"As York Region's scope of services has expanded, council has demonstrated a relentless commitment to drive efficiencies and remain accountable to residents," added Chairman Emmerson. "By building strong partnerships and working collaboratively with our nine cities and towns and senior levels of government, we are able to deliver our programs and services while finding ways to optimize service delivery and reduce costs."

The Provincial Regional Governance Review included two consultations with elected and appointment council members, municipal and business stakeholders and members of the public who live and work in York Region. The Honourable Steve Clark, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing, is expected to report back to the Provincial Government on consultation findings in fall 2019.

The Regional Municipality of York consists of nine local cities and towns and provides a variety of programs and services to 1.2 million residents and 52,000 businesses with 620,000 employees. More information about the Region's key service areas is available at york.ca/regionalservices

Schomberg Village Pharmacy opens doors in Kingsgate Plaza

By Jake Courtepatte

The new Kingsgate Plaza in Schomberg welcomed its newest member on Saturday in Schomberg Village Pharmacy, who hosted a ribbon cutting and car show to commemorate the event.

Owners Anna Patrizio and Christina Privado Azzopardi welcomed dozens of members of the community to join in the celebration, including King Mayor Steve Pellegrini.

"We are absolutely delighted you've joined the community of Schomberg," said Pellegrini. "It's a family here."

Patrizio said the outpouring of support she has already seen from the community "means a lot" to her.

"We've really put our heart, soul, sweat, and really have put in a lot of work ... all we really want is to make sure we give out a service, and be able to prove ourselves to be that healthier worker for the whole family."

The new pharmacy will offer professional pharmacy services, health and wellness products, as well as active lifestyle products.

MP Schulte hosts town hall on CRA

Deb Schulte, Member of Parliament for King-Vaughan, hosted a town hall in Vaughan May 30, to highlight the Canada Revenue Agency's (CRA) commitment to listen to Canadians and improve its services. To progress towards this goal, the CRA has launched public consultations where Canadians will have the ability to provide feedback so the Agency can better meet their expectations moving forward.

The town hall at Vaughan City Hall provided an important opportunity for local residents and stakeholders to share their concerns and suggestions in person and contribute to the consultation process as the Canada Revenue Agency continues to fulfill its commitment to serving Canadians better.

Schulte also joined the Honourable Diane LeBouthillier, Minister of National Revenue, for a visit at one of the CRA's call centres in Hamilton May 31 to mark the end of the 2019 tax-filing season.

They highlighted that the CRA has been making it easier, faster, and more secure to file taxes and get credits and benefits. It has introduced online and software improvements such as "Auto-fill my return," which automatically fills in parts of a tax return; moved to a new modern telephone platform featuring improved accessibility for callers; and quadrupled the budget of the Community Volunteer Income Tax Program, helping vulnerable Canadians access the credits and benefits to which they are entitled.

Canadians can participate in the online consultation until June 18, at the following address:

https://www.cra-engage-arc.ca/en/collections/serving-canadians-

"Our government is committed to ensuring that the CRA puts people first as it moves to improve its services. With our ongoing public consultations and events like (Thursday's) town hall in King-Vaughan, we are taking the necessary steps in hearing directly from constituents and responding to their concerns," Schulte said.

Annual 'Let's Rock 'n Roll MS Away' car show nears

Mark your calendars for the 6th annual "Let's Rock 'n Roll MS Away" Classic Car Show and Family Fun Day on Sunday, June 23 at the Schomberg Fairgrounds. Spend a fun-filled afternoon of good wholesome fun including a classic car show, live entertainment, children's activities, food and much, much more. Past events have featured 350 to 400 cars and hosted over 2,000 guests annually.

Attractions throughout the fairgrounds include an incredible car show featuring classic, custom, European and street rods, complete with "Best in Show" prizes. There are also children's attractions, food and games – everything for the young and young at heart. Main stage entertainment will include local bands and a DJ.

This year, organizers are excited to once again have Elvira Caria, an award winning radio and TV broadcaster, as MC.

Monia Isgro, chair of the committee, is afflicted with MS and knows firsthand how important it is to raise awareness of this awful disease that strikes both men and women in the primes of their lives.

"The goal of holding this event is to promote awareness and to raise much needed funds to help those living with MS in York Region. An MS diagnosis is life-changing. We are motivated to raise enough funds to continue to donate to the local MS chapter as well as MS research. Due to lack of funding, many home care necessities are not covered by the MS Society, and therefore, the Let's Rock 'n Roll MS Away organization is stepping forward to enable to make this financial challenge easier for some. Our goal is to be able to help those suffering from MS by providing the funds for assistive devices such as canes, walkers, chair lifts, ramps and much more. These items can significantly change their quality of life."

All who attended are now a little more knowledgeable about MS and its effect on those afflicted with the disease. From the monies raised, donations were made to the York South MS Chapter – Client support services, assisting those who suffer from MS directly; and MS stem cell research, to help to find a cure.

The event would not be possible without the participation and significant contribution of volunteers and generous sponsors. To date, Let's Rock n' Roll MS Away events have raised over $135,000 for those in need.

Tickets for the event are available at the gate. A mere donation of $5 will get you into the park.

The "Let's Rock n' Roll MS Away" Committee, consisting of a group of dedicated and passionate individuals – many of which suffer from MS themselves – are working to improve the quality of life for those living with Multiple Sclerosis (MS).

REVERSING GLOBAL WARMING: INTRODUCTION TO DRAWDOWN WEEKEND 4-session WORKSHOP

Friday, June 14, 7-9:30 PM / Saturday, June 15, 9-11:30 AM
Saturday and Sunday 2-4:30 PM

King Township Municipal Bldg, 2585 King Rd.

The Californian author, environmentalist, and entrepreneur Paul Hawken, gathered a group of 200 researchers and other experts from 22 countries to identify and model the 100 most substantive already existing solutions to global warming. After 5 years of rigorous scientific research, the 2017 results revealed astounding news: it may be possible not just to slow global warming, but to reverse it by 2050. The results were published in the groundbreaking book Drawdown: The Most Comprehensive Plan Ever Proposed to Reverse Global Warming. The most recent news tells us that we have to work even faster.

During this workshop created by the Pachamama Alliance, we will introduce the Project Drawdown results, reveal how we ourselves have been thinking about global warming, take a new perspective, and consider how we want to act. This workshop called "Drawdown Solutions: Getting into Action" is condensed into one weekend of four sessions. A fifth meeting will be discussed for a future date.

King actor Hindle stars in Astronaut

By Mark Pavilons

A veteran Canadian actor and King resident is starring alongside some Hollywood heavy-hitters in an upcoming movie.

Art Hindle joined the likes of Richard Dreyfuss, Lyriq Bent, Krista Bridges, Graham Greene, Richie Lawrence and Colm Feore in the movie, some of which was shot in Hamilton.

The story centres around Angus (Dreyfuss), a lonely widower, who has his long-extinguished dream of becoming an astronaut reignited when a national competition is announced. The prize? One ticket for a trip to space!

Way over the age limit, Angus alters his birth date so he can enter the competition. Against all odds, but with help coming from his dysfunctional family, he must battle against preconceptions, ill health and time, to win the ticket and take the trip of his dreams.

Astronaut is due out Friday, July 26 and will be a limited release. It will also be available on digital cable, Amazon Instant, Google Play, and iTunes.

NCC wants King residents to report bats

The Nature Conservancy of Canada (NCC) is searching for bats. Armed with acoustic devices and echolocation monitors, the national land conservation organization, in partnership with Toronto Zoo's Native Bat Conservation Program, is on a quest to learn more about these furry fliers, and dispel some popular myths at the same time.

Last year, NCC launched an effort, alongside the Toronto Zoo, to monitor bats in King's Happy Valley Forest – one of the key focal areas where the not-for-profit is working to protect important moraine forest habitat. After a successful season of tracking bats using echolocation recorders, the partnership is looking to expand its understanding of the misunderstood nocturnal critters.

This year, NCC is asking residents to keep an eye out and an open mind for the eight species of bats that call Ontario home, most of which face habitat loss, disease and persecution. Throughout the Happy Valley Forest and Pottageville Swamp area, NCC is trying to learn more about Ontario's bats to help us better protect their habitat. And they need residents' help.

Long feared and maligned, bats are actually non-aggressive creatures that are incredibly important to the local ecosystem.

"Bats are important insectivores, meaning that they feed on insects," said Jenna Siu, NCC's coordinator of conservation biology for the Happy Valley Forest. "They help manage the insect population and are in turn food for other species. They are also good indicators of forest health. Without the presence of undisturbed, older-growth forest, bats would disappear."

Locals are being asked to report their bat sightings to NCC by emailing jenna.siu@natureconservancy.ca.

"For too long bats have been shown in a negative light," added Siu. "People fear them because of what pop culture has turned them into something to be feared. But bats are just like any other species. Like the pandas and polar bears we love, bats are just doing what they need to do to survive – finding a safe place to live, feeding and protecting themselves and their young. Who can blame them for that?"

NCC, in partnership with the Regional Municipality of York, is actively looking for potential land acquisitions in the Happy Valley Forest – Pottageville Swamp area. These can be a combination of land donations (which yield significant income tax benefits for donors) and purchases, with a goal to further protect critical habitat for bats and other significant species using this important natural area.

Approximately one in four mammal species in the world is a bat, making them the second largest group of mammals, after rodents.

Contrary to popular belief, bats are not blind and can see quite well. Some species have better vision than we do. Bat (and bird) droppings (guano) generally pose a low risk to human health. If you encounter a large accumulation of droppings, it's best to not disturb it as it could harbour fungi which can be harmful.

Bats are harmless. They avoid human contact at all times and are not aggressive.

Local student part of international youth water project

By Mark Pavilons

A King high school student is reaching out, way out.

Cristina Chapple, a Grade 12 student at King City Secondary School, is the first and only Canadian ambassador for the Thirst Project. It's the world's largest youth water organization that works to provide people in developing countries with clean water so they can survive.

"Our goal is to educate youth on the global water crisis so we can make a difference in the world," Chapple explained. "I am doing various fundraisers to help raise money for the people of Eswatini in South Africa. I started fundraising about six months ago and I have already raised over $3,000!"

Chapple said she started this fundraiser because as a child, she always loved helping people who were less fortunate. During her senior year at King City Secondary School, she decided that food drives and donating clothing to those less fortunate wasn't enough and "I felt that I needed to do more."

She researched for many months on a variety of not-for-profit organizations, until she found The Thirst Project. The more she learned about it, the more "it drew me closer and I just knew, I needed to help."

This cause is important, she said, for a number of reasons. The Thirst Project not only brings water to those who desperately need it, but they are also teaching our youth the meaning of helping others.

"Wanting to help those less fortunate and in addition being a role model to our youth, including my four year old sister, in today's generation is something I am honored to be a part of."

Chapple is confident today's youth can absolutely change the world.

"Just by doing something so small like turning the tap off when you're brushing your teeth, or building a lemonade stand and donating the money, can change someone's entire life. Today's youth are so focused on the superficial things, that they have forgotten the meaning of helping others. During this journey, part of my mission is to get the youth involved and empower them to help others. Just one small change, will make a world of difference."

Created in California, Thirst Project does school tours every year where they travel across the U.S. and visit schools to teach kids about the global water crisis. This year, they are coming to Toronto for a few days to do the same.

Chapple started with a toonie drive at my school, created a fundraising page on their website, and from there she's been doing fundraisers in the community to help raise more money.

"My short-term goal is to raise enough money to be able to build a well in Eswatini, South Africa (formerly Swaziland), which is approximately $16,000. My long-term goal is to raise awareness and continue to raise enough money to build at least 5 wells and get as many as 7 schools in Canada started with a Thirst Project club."

Others can get involved in many ways such as donating to Thirst Project; being conscious on how much water you use in your daily life and cutting down on it, and just educating as many people as they can on Thirst Project and what they do.

If you would like to know more, visit <https://www.thirstproject.org/> or send Chapple a direct message on Instagram (@cristinaa_tp).

Brothers thank their mother for her unwavering support

By Brittany Greci

Motherhood; no doubt one of the most difficult jobs. Though Mumtaz Syed may agree with that statement, she surely believes motherhood is also one of the most rewarding jobs there is.

Mumtaz came to Canada from India in the 1970s and at the time, never imaged she would be a mother to three sons. Mumtaz and her husband have lived in Schomberg for over 30 years, raising their children there. The family was quite involved in the community, embracing its tight-knit atmosphere. The boys attended Schomberg Public School and worked in the local drug store and the local library. They even volunteered their time at The Manor event venue helping seniors expand their knowledge of computers.

Now, her sons, Dr. Zohair Syed, Dr. Naveed Syed and Dr. Sameer Syed are all working as doctors at Trillium Health Partners.

When asked about her life as a mother, Mumtaz joked: "It's hard work." She went on to say: "I remember some nurse telling me never ask a mother of three boys how she is doing because she is never doing so good, she is always tired."

Doing all she could to ensure her sons had a bright future ahead of them, Mumtaz worked three part-time jobs in childcare while her husband worked as an auto mechanic at the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC). They stressed the importance of education to their children, encouraging them to focus on studying.

"I always said that if they work they're not going to study so we will work, you study," said Mumtaz.

Sameer stated: "When they came to Canada, they came with almost nothing and they built a life here and their whole goal, their whole journey, was for us to make something of ourselves."

"She worked really hard to have us educated and then once we were all in university she went back and did a diploma," Zohair added.

The brothers credit both of their parents for inspiring them to pursue a career in medicine.

"It wasn't like we made a decision one day we're all going to be doctors," noted Zohair.

Naveed explained: "My mom was in childcare. She did her ECE diploma when she was 56 I think ... She always gave us the angle of trying to care for people and making sure people are happy.

"Our dad was the methodical thinker so he was an auto mechanic he worked for TTC for 33 years. so, I think the combination of the two is actually well suited for medicine ... that caring nature and that analytical nature."

Making their mark on the medical field, two of the Syeds initiated the "primary care hospitalist" model at THP, making them Mississauga's first primary care hospitalists.

"A hospitalist is a physician that is mainly focused on inpatient hospital-based care. In Canada, and even in North American and the rest of the world, it is a relatively new definition of specialty physician," explained Sameer.

Hospitalists devote the majority of their time to caring for hospitalized patients instead of splitting their time in an outpatient office setting, allowing for a unique and consistent method of care.

This model of quality patient care is now being practiced at all three of Trillium's sites thanks to the hard work and dedication of the Syeds.

When describing how it felt to be surrounded by her family Mumtaz admitted "I feel complete."

For the recent Mother's Day, each son expressed a loving sentiment for their mother.

"Mom thanks always for everything you have done for us and for being there when we need you," said Zohair.

"Happy Mother's Day mom, thanks for always having our backs and always taking care of us and making the best food," said Naveed.

And Sameer added, "Everything I am today is because of you."

These warm statements are no doubt a testament to the power of a mother's loving support.

Key corridor protects wetlands and woodlands in King Township

Barn swallows, snapping turtles and other species at risk will now have their homes protected thanks to a new 32-hectare (80-acre) nature reserve purchased and protected by the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust.

The MapleCross Nature Reserve has been lovingly restored by the previous owner, who has planted and cared for over 10,000 trees to help naturalize fields and clean our air, while also re-establishing a wetland to help clean and protect our local ground water. With the help of volunteers, the land trust will continue restoration and naturalization efforts to further enhance and diversify the habitats of the nature reserve while eliminating any potential risk of development.

The nature reserve is a key linkage between the Happy Valley Forest, the largest intact block of deciduous forest on the Oak Ridges Moraine, and the Pottageville Swamp complex, both of which are significant environmental features for the community. Protecting this mix of forests, wetlands, cold-water creeks, fields and meadows is vital as a corridor for the local area in combating the impacts of climate change.

With the help of the Ontario Trillium Foundation, the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust will be hosting a Bio Blitz to explore, identify and count all living things within this Nature Reserve this coming September. Find more information at <https://oakridgesmoraine.org/workshops-events/>

The protection of these lands were made possible by the generous support of the MapleCross Fund, the Government of Canada through the Natural Areas Conservation Program, Regional Municipality of York, ECHO Foundation, York Environmental Stewardship and private donors.

"Together, we are creating permanent conservation solutions that protect wildlife habitat, connect natural corridors and meet the needs of people for a more resilient landscape, all of which are critical in times of climate change. We are thrilled that MapleCross Fund has chosen our Land Trust for their first property protection project and are excited to plan future land projects with them," said Susan Walmer, executive director of the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust.

"We have witnessed first-hand the devastating effects of climate change across many countries but especially here in Canada. Consequently, we are delighted that, through our donation to the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust to purchase this spectacular, ecologically-sensitive property, the Trust was able to leverage support from both the Government of Canada and York Region. Together, we are committed to preserving the integrity of our land for our community and Canadians," added Drs. Jan Oudenes and Isobel Ralston (MapleCross Fund).

"Restoring and protecting our environment is a key priority for creating a healthy and sustainable environment. One of the ways we do this is by working with our partners to increase the amount of wetlands and woodlands we protect. This project demonstrates our collaborative effort to enrich our natural environment and have a lasting impact for current and future generations to enjoy," noted York chair and CEO Wayne Emmerson.

"On behalf of my colleague Catherine McKenna, Minister of Environment and Climate Change, I would like to congratulate the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust for protecting the MapleCross Nature Reserve. Through the Natural Areas Conservation Program, we are making progress towards doubling the amount of protected nature in lands and oceans across Canada. We know that protecting green space and preserving biodiversity is helping us to also fight climate change," commented King-Vaughan MP Deb Schulte.

The Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust (ORMLT), a registered charitable organization, was formed in 2000 by citizens interested in protecting the Moraine. The Land Trust ensures significant Moraine and Greenbelt properties are protected for future generations through agreements with landowners, protection of lands and on-going stewardship. To date, the Trust has secured over 1,730 hectares (4,300 acres) of land on 58 properties

The Government of Canada's Natural Areas Conservation Program (NACP) was established to accelerate the pace of land conservation across southern Canada. Federal funds invested in the public-private partnership program were matched by contributions raised by NCC and its partners. Habitat conserved under the NACP will enhance natural corridors and other protected areas.

Report finds Caledon could save millions if it separates from Peel

Joshua Santos
The Citizen

A report produced by Ernst and Young revealed changes to Peel Region could save money for municipalities or increase costs over half a billion dollars.

The Financial Impact Analysis of Service Delivery report was commissioned at the request of Region of Peel Council.

The firm looked at municipal services such as roads, transportation, public works, police, and water under three governance scenarios. They are the status quo in support of the current two-tier government, amalgamation of one new entity comprised of the Region of Peel, City of Mississauga, City of Brampton and the Town of Caledon and dissolution thereby transferring regional services and responsibilities to the respective three municipalities.

"To me there are two key take-aways from the EY report," said Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson. "First, what we've got right now works well. Second, taxpayers could be on the hook for hundreds of millions if the province changes the status quo."

Brampton City Council was in favour of the current regime, while Mississauga on the other, with a population of over 700,000 people, continues to fight for their own independence, wanting to dissolve all ties from the Region of Peel.

"We have a 40-plus year history of working well together at the Region," said Thompson. "I respect the position of both Brampton and Mississauga; I recognize and applaud Brampton for using an evidence-based approach and for looking at the greater good."

This follows a report by Deloitte, commissioned by the Region of Peel, where it was suggested that leaving the Region would cost Mississauga billions of dollars. Mississauga council disputed the claim.

A steering committee, composed of Chief Administrative Officers (CAOs) and Chief Financial Officers (CFO) of aforementioned municipalities, governed the Ernst and Young analysis. This was done to reflect a reasonable interpretation of the potential impact of alternative service delivery models.

Roughly 10 steering committee meetings were conducted and interviews with about 100 municipal officials were held. The firm states over 1,500 calculations of financial impact were completed.

"Since the Province of Ontario launched the Regional Government Review, my priority has been to represent the interest of Caledon taxpayers, ensure their voice is heard and continue to ensure we deliver the services they need efficiently and effectively," said Mayor Thompson. "Council's position to maintain the status quo reflects a 'why fix what isn't broke' approach. We now look to the provincial advisors and the provincial government to consider the findings of this report and make a decision that's best for Caledon."

The current net cost – status quo – of providing services from 2020 to 2028 is $26.1 billion.

EY states under an amalgamation, costs range from a decrease of about $100 million to an increase of upwards of $500 million, according to the report. Similarly, dissolution costs could remain the same as the status quo or they could increase upwards to $600 million.

There is a risk that the net cost of providing services to all taxpayers in the three municipalities could increase by $500 million to $600 million by 2028.

"It's hard to predict but as the report makes clear the potential costs are enormous," said Thompson. "And if costs go up either taxes go up or services are impacted."

The report states a key driver of dissolution costs is the way Peel Region Police (PRP) would be dissolved, and is assessed under multiple options that on its own has a range of decrease of $1 million to an increase of $52 million (2022 in 2018).

It should be noted that PRP only serve Mississauga and Brampton. Caledon has a control with the Ontario Provincial Police who patrol all provincial highways and side roads of large.

"The dissolution scenario has differential local tax impacts that result in a potential shift in tax burden as Regional services are transferred," the report states. "On an annualized basis at 2022, the calculated shift for Brampton ranges up to $45m ($2018); calculated shift for Caledon is as low as $53m savings ($2018); calculated shift for Mississauga ranges as high as $84m ($2018)."

Further, Brampton would gain $7.4 billion in capital assets and $749 million in debt, Caledon would gain $2 billion in capital assets and $71 million in debt and Mississauga would gain $8.8 billion in capital assets and $1.1 billion in debt.

"According to the EY report, if all the municipalities were amalgamated the potential costs could be over half a billion dollars," said Thompson. "And for what? Would we get better service? Would tax dollars be better used? I believe the risks far outweigh the potential benefits. That certainly doesn't mean we, under a two-tiered model, can't change. The report highlights some key areas where we can make improvements to our service delivery models, both at the regional and local level. We should focus on those improvements and not on change for change's sake."

"My focus has and will continue to be on protecting the interests of Caledon and its future sustainability."

EY states more work would need to be conducted if the province does agree to alter the region as part of their plan to evaluate the efficiencies of regional governments across Ontario.

The special advisors are also examining Durham, York, Halton, Niagara, Waterloo, Muskoka District and Simcoe County along with Peel.

Proceeds to fund art display at complex

King council agreed to divert $70,000 from the mayor's annual golf tournament to outfit the new municipal centre with works of art. Mayor Steve Pellegrini made the recommendation recently, to use the money from the proceeds of the golf tournament, meaning no tax dollars will be spent. The tournament profits have always been dedicated to parks, recreation and culture. The event raises between $50,000 and $100,000 annually.

Arthritis:

New Approach
Delivers
Remarkable Results

If you suffer from Arthritis you need to be aware of effective advancements that can eliminate years of pain, suffering, immobility and frustration.

You may have told your doctor you suffer with one or more of the following: sore, stiff knees, painful achy hips, low back pain, mid back pain, neck stiffness or pain, hand stiffness, shoulder pain or elbow pain.

You may find that your pain or stiffness affects your work, housekeeping, leisure activities, exercise, sports or other activities. You go to the drug store or to your doctor and get pills to help relieve your pain. But you find the pain keeps returning. Alternatively, the doctor may refer you to a specialist who may tell you that surgery is needed or is an option for you.

However, many people are hesitant to have surgery given its invasive nature. It is important to know that although surgery is sometimes necessary, it is considered a last resort in most cases.

Also, you may have heard that there are serious health risks associated with chronic use (or overuse) of pain pills or anti-inflammatory drugs that include damage to the liver, kidneys and gut.

There is a new, natural, safe and highly effective approach that has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically: Laser therapy uses light to favor and accelerate the body's natural healing processes. The innovative Multiwave Locked System (MLS) Laser produces a safe, efficient and simultaneous effect on pain, inflammation, swelling and water retention, exceeding the limits of traditional LLLT (Low power) and concerns of HP (High power) laser therapy.

What does this mean for you?

Our patients have reported a 90-95% relief of their symptoms, more mobility, increased flexibility and vastly improved function!

It is the very latest in medical technology, with years of clinical studies supporting its safety and efficacy and we are very proud to offer our patients effective solutions to their recent or chronic conditions.

"This new, natural, safe and highly effective approach has helped many sufferers improve their lives dramatically".

Come in and allow us to help you achieve the results you deserve! Call (905) 773-2225 to book your FREE consultation and examination at King West Wellness Centre 141 King Rd., Unit 10, Richmond Hill (In the Home Hardware Plaza)

Kettleby's Di Girolamo in international sevens tourney

By Jake Courtepatte

Dylan Di Girolamo has been surrounded by rugby his entire life. Yet he faces his stiffest competition next month in donning the red and white.

Canada's Under-18 men's sevens team head coach Nigel D'Acre recently announced the squads for the upcoming Men's U-18 Can-Am Sevens Tournament, to be held at Fletcher's Field in Markham on July 11-13.

From a field of over 200 Canadian male athletes, the Kettleby native saw his name make the list.

"This is my first time representing Canada," said the 17-year-old St. Max Kolbe student. "I'm looking forward to a high pace game with a high level of competition. It makes me proud to represent my country for a sport I love."

Set to suit up for the "Canada Red" squad, Di Girolamo and his team will face off against three other squads from across North America, including two from the States and "Canada White," which comprises of athletes from British Columbia.

"The challenge faced in Canada and the USA is giving our players meaningful competition at an affordable price to the players," said D'Acre in a press release. "Competitions such as this is a great progression for the athletes in their development."

For Di Girolamo, that progression comes alongside a familiar face; that of Lucas Vanderburg, a native of Mount Albert and a teammate on the Aurora Barbs for the past three seasons. That's something Di Girolamo said will make the experience "very enjoyable" and "really exciting to play at such a high level with him."

Both Barbs were scouted for the squad after Canada Rugby set up a number of high-level tournaments for the country's top young rugby superstars, including the recent U18 San Diego Tour, Las Vegas, and Tropical 7s tournaments.

"Going on these tours to the states to play, it encourages me to always play my best no matter the score," said Di Girolamo. "I just have such a passion and love for the game."

With his future sights set on collegiate rugby and a possible roster spot with the Toronto Arrows of Major League Rugby, the next step for the budding star is a berth onto the 40-man Canada Under-18 sevens squad.

The series kicks off on July 11 with Canada White facing off against the USA Stars.

Dylan Di Girolamo has been chosen to represent Canada White at the U18 Sevens Can-Am tournament in Markham in July.

Annual Moraine Adventure Relay Race

On Saturday, June 8, the exciting Moraine Adventure Relay Race, a fundraiser for the Oak Ridges Trail Association, begins at Rice Lake and finishes in King City.

The event engages 500 canoeists, runners and trail cyclists in relay stages covering 160 kilometres of beautiful Oak Ridges Moraine trail. It is appealing to everyone from veteran adventure racers to active recreational athletes looking for a brand new challenge or wanting to push themselves further. Participating in the Adventure Relay is a great team-building exercise, and emphasizes the importance of physical activity to overall health.

As the annual fundraiser for the Oak Ridges Trail Association, proceeds from team entries and sponsorships goes towards improving signage, boardwalks and maintenance equipment used to keep the trail clear and safe for all users. The 300-kilometre Oak Ridges Trail helps protect the critical integrity of the Oak Ridges Moraine. Spanning Caledon, King, Aurora, Richmond Hill, Whitchurch-Stouffville, Uxbridge, Scugog, Clarington, Hope/Hamilton and Northumberland, the Moraine acts as an aquifer providing drinking water to over 250,000 people and is the watershed for 65 rivers.

This fun and exciting event has two races – the full relay and the half relay. The Full Relay is an exhilarating 160-km. relay race, divided into 14 stages, including canoeing, biking and running legs. It is an amazing experience for elite, recreational and corporate teams.

The route runs from Rice Lake in the east across forest trails and country roads to the finish line at Seneca College, King City. Teams range from 2 to 15 members, depending on how many racers choose to do multiple stages.

The Half Relay is the last 80-km. of the Full Relay, divided into 7 stages, including biking and running legs. This race is available to recreational and corporate teams. The route runs from Purple Woods Conservation Area in the east to the finish line at Seneca College, King City.

Teams range from 1 to 7 members, depending on how many racers choose to do multiple stages.

Half Relay racers set off between 1 and 1:30 p.m. Full Relay racers mainly arrive and set off between 2:15 and 3:15 p.m.

More information can be found at <http://www.oakridgestrail.org/adventure-relay>. Or contact Michele at 905-833-6600 or 1-877-319-0285 or email info@oakridgestrail.org

Maps can be found at <http://www.oakridgestrail.org/adventure-relay/course>

The Oak Ridges Trail Association (ORTA) was formed in 1992. It is a volunteer-based charitable hiking organization with a mandate to build and maintain a public hiking trail system on the Oak Ridges Moraine, off-road where possible. Additionally, their mandate charges us with the responsibility of protecting the integrity of the moraine through trail development, maintenance, and increased awareness. The Oak Ridges Moraine extends about 300 kilometres from the Niagara Escarpment in the west to the Trent River in the east. It is the source of 65 major streams or rivers and provides clean, safe drinking water to over a quarter of a million people in the GTA. The Moraine forest, wetlands and open meadows are vital in maintaining a healthy ecosystem for Toronto and the GTA. It also provides beautiful space for recreational use.

York9 still in search of first win

By Jake Courtepatte

Of the seven teams across the nation to take to the pitch for the inaugural Canadian Premier League season, York9 FC has found itself the last to reach its first victory through the first five weeks.

Yet where some may see adversity, head coach Jim Brennan sees an opportunity for his team to learn and improve both individually and as a squad.

"The guys are getting there," Brennan said after his team dropped their home opener in late May to Hamilton's Forge FC. "We're a team that's only been together for maybe two and a half, three months, so we've got to keep learning."

It hasn't been all grim for the upstart club in the early season, to be fair: through the first five weeks York9 has seen its schedule flip-flop between losses and draws, with a pair of losses and three draws, including a 1-1 tie with the Halifax Wanderers on the road last Thursday.

It was Rodrigo Gattas who put the York squad up early in just the fifth minute on a penalty kick. Gattas had the opportunity to give his team its first three-point contest late in the match, sending a strike off the bar in the 87th minute.

They will take the one point and move on, in a season that Brennan called a "marathon, not a sprint. We're starting to get our identity of who we are, I'm not worried about the guys that we have in that dressing room."

"We've got a lot of experience in that dressing room. We've got a lot of young guys as well that are making their debuts in the pro game, but everybody's working with each other, everybody's helping each other along, we're sticking to our guns and we're alright."

The squad will be hoping that first three-point effort comes Wednesday visiting the struggling Edmonton FC.

Messy Church at Church is this Sunday June 9, 11:15 a.m., with songs and stories related to Pentecost upstairs in a family friendly 20-minute service, followed by a variety of crafts related to Pentecost downstairs until 12:15 p.m., when we will eat together.

Pentecost is the time that the Holy Spirit descended on Jesus's disciples and others, after Easter. The disciples described this with the images of wind and fire, so most of the activities will focus on wind or fire. We will be decorating cookies in the shape of a candle; making paper airplanes; making windmills; creating a centerpiece for the table using a candle, oasis, and artificial flowers; and doing calligraphy to remind us that the medieval monks used to copy out the Bible by hand. All are welcome.

This will be our last Messy Church before the summer. The next one will be Tuesday, October 22, 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and includes dinner. Visit the posts on our Facebook page to view last month's activities with Messy Church.

The following Sunday, June 16 (Father's Day) at 11:15 a.m., we will have the pleasure of King City's dynamic Sandra Kirby to lead us in worship.

In July, Nobleton will have shortened services at 11:15 a.m. on Sundays July 7, 14, and 21, followed by discussion. On Sunday, July 28, there will be a joint picnic at the Campbells.

Anglican Parish
By John Arnott

On that early morning as he began to gather driftwood off the beach to make a fire the little fishing boat that had just been a dot on the horizon when he first arrived began to take shape. And, in the shallows just off shore a lazy shadow warned of a sizable school of fish probably tilapia. He took a pair of flints from a small leather bag he carried tied inside his knee-length woollen robe. By the time he had a blaze take hold he could see the men on board and they him.

"Have you caught anything friends?" "No," they shouted shaking their heads. "Throw your net out to starboard then." Quickly the flung net filled to overflow. Now the fishermen realized the man on shore was Yeshua.

Soon they were sitting around the glowing embers of the beach fire eating flat bread and grilled fish.

After the meal was finished Yeshua would ask Simon Peter 3 times "Do you love me?" one for each of the 3 times this the eldest at possibly 25, of the 12 original disciples had denied knowing him on the night before his crucifixion. Peter, upset by the 3rd time of asking, replied to each "You know I love you." After Peter first affirmation Yeshua said "Feed my lambs," after the second "Look after my sheep" and following the third "Feed my sheep."

After the second asking and affirmation in the King James Bible, Yeshua says just "Feed My sheep."

But in the first Greek copies of the original Greek bible, based on the original Hebrew of the first bible, there is no mention of feeding sheep at all!

Even more perplexing is that in gospel accredited to Matthew no beach meeting at the Sea of Galilee is recorded and in fact in it states Yeshua met in Galilee by plan with his remaining 11 soon to be called apostles on the slopes of an unnamed mountain.

Neither is there a Galilee meeting recorded in the gospel to accredited to Mark, which has Yeshua ascending to Heaven on Easter Sunday from the place in Jerusalem where the 11 were hiding out. The gospel accredited to Luke doesn't mention a Galilee meeting either, but records Yeshua ascended from a hillside near Jerusalem also on Easter Sunday.

On Ascension Sunday the message from Rev Bruce was reassuring and empowering.

"We need to trust God, we need to continue to gather, we need to continue to pray." We also need to act and speak meaningfully to continue the ministry of generosity, compassion and love that Jesus lived and that for which we have been empowered by the Holy Spirit. Trust in God and reach out to the world.

St. Andrew's
By Kathy Patterson

St. Andrew's shares the love of Jesus in the community and beyond!

All are welcome! Sunday worship for the family is at 10:30 a.m. The children up to 12 years old leave the sanctuary for Sunday school after the Time for Youth and before the sermon takes place.

Last Sunday, Communion Sunday, Robert Hayashi, newly graduated from Knox College, preached and the Rev. Dr. John Vissers presided over Communion. Robert's sermon was "God is out ahead of us" and read about God's provision for the Israelites from Numbers 11:1-17. He shared how God was always "out ahead of him" during his challenging studies and how grateful he is that God is in control.

Henna Kim will lead us in worship this Sunday and Lynn Vissers will take the service on June 16, Father's Day. After the service we'll celebrate Father's Day with our Sunday school BBQ. We hope you can join us.

All Saints Anglican Church
By Patrick Gossage

Special service of confirmation and baptism - This Sunday, June 9 Bishop Peter Fenty, the area Bishop for York Simcoe, will preside over two baptisms, two confirmations, and several reaffirmation of baptismal vows at what promises to be a very full 10:30 service. It is always special when the Bishop visits All Saints and we look forward to the Bishop making the sign of the cross with blessed water for baptism and laying on of hands to confirm young people. We will enthusiastically welcome these new members to our church family. The Bishop is an amazing preacher as well and we anticipate a strong and inspirational sermon.

Words to live by - In last Sunday's Gospel, John 20, Jesus prays for all believers and makes an impassioned plea to his Father that all believers may be one, "I in them and you in me - so that they may be brought to complete unity. Then the world will know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me."

Rev. Dr. Elizabeth asked why can't we all get along in the world? We are all so tired of death and hate and divisions." She said that in fact in our church community we are an example of being in God and God in us. "We do put the 'All' in All Saints" by what we do in the community and beyond such as the clothing drive for the isolated first nations reservation Pikangikum and now the moneys we have collected for a now postponed trip by students to Toronto."

This was Jerusalem Sunday and Rev. Dr. Elizabeth spoke of her revealing pilgrimage to the Holy Land and how our Primate Fred Hiltz was especially interested in the Anglican Diocese of Jerusalem and all the good works it does in surrounding communities. He established a scholarship for 10 people a year to attend special courses at St. George's College in Jerusalem. She announced she was thrilled to find out last week that she would be awarded one for two weeks in 2020. "Never underestimate your passion, dreams and hopes. God's dream is manifest in the love you show others. The beautiful people of our church are united in the love God brings us," she concluded.

Horticulture
By John Arnott

What with the scarcity of clear skies this cool grey spring the patch of summery sky blue in my garden here in Tecumseth Pines near Tottenham is especially welcome. These little spring gems, possibly because of inclement weather, are late this year but nonetheless a delight to see.

Known as grape hyacinths but in no way related to either grapes or hyacinths, these spring blooming bulbs are native to southeastern Europe and southwestern Asia.

By the time of recorded history they and spread to lands around the Mediterranean Sea from where they made their way into northern Europe adapting readily to heavier soils and a cooler climate. European colonists introduced them into the temperate regions of the Americas and Australia-New Zealand where they soon escaped over the wall and began naturalizing happily.

Botanists call these easy to grow, easy care spring harbingers muscari from the Greek moschos meaning musk scented.

Their common name comes from the fact these small spring flowering plants that grow under 4 in./10 cm high have single stem growing out of each tiny bulb that carries a cluster/column of flowers much like its much larger hyacinth cousin and each floret on this column is like a tiny grape but with an even tinier opening or mouth that holds the pollen bearing stamens. Most of the 42 species of muscari have small narrow bright to darker green which must be left uncut until they start to yellow as they are needed to feed the bulb for next spring's growth. M. latifolium, a 2 toned blue, has a wide leaf, hence its botanical name, that wraps around the stem bloodroot style.

The most commonly grown grape hyacinth in our area is m. armeniacum, a bright blue native of the Armenian region in the Caucasus Mts. A cultivar of this species named "China Blue" is powder blue in colour. M. aucheri is white. A cultivar of same named "Pink Sunrise" is certainly a disappointment though as it just barely has a hint of pink that goes mostly unnoticed. The most interesting grape hyacinth to me and I've only seen pictures is m. macroparum [Latin for big seeds] a native of Turkey and southern Greece which buds in purple that opens to yellow!

This spring beauty should be planted in the fall 4 in./10 cm deep about 3 in./7 cm apart in groups of 10 to 20. They prefer a sandy soil but do well in average garden soil that drains well.

Muscari have recently been moved, even though they grow from bulbs, from their original classification in the lily family to the asparagus family!

There they can sign up for an appointment through Eventbrite, or the online contact form.
