Representatives from the King Chamber of Commerce, Kingbridge Centre and King Township gathered last week to announce a unique partnership between the Chamber and Kingbridge. The collaboration will see the Chamber having a physical presence at Kingbridge and open up avenues for future programs and events

Community partners mobilize to foster growth

Editor

Local forces are gathering to pave the road ahead with prosperity in King Township and beyond.

The King Chamber of Commerce and Kingbridge Centre have formed a one-of-a-kind alliance, shoring up not only the local economy, but fostering unlimited potential.

The union will strengthen the local business community with targeted programs, resources and events. The partnership will respond to business needs ranging from recovery after the pandemic, driving innovation adoption, integrating environmental benefits into business models, gathering thought leaders for sharing best practices and supporting the development of new businesses.

As the Kingbridge Centre re-opens to the community in April, the organizations are planning joint events to bring businesses owners and leaders back together, discussing their needs, priorities and opportunities.

Kingbridge has been hosting York region's needy throughout the pandemic, operating as an isolation shelter. Staff at Kingbridge are excited that the centre's facilities, including meeting rooms and the restaurant will once again welcome visitors.

The collaboration will include the Chamber having a physical presence at the Kingbridge Centre for a trial period. This will enable Chamber members to have a regular meeting place, and directly connect King's business community with the ventures that are participating in the new innovation programs. The partnership will also focus on understanding the needs of the business community and for the development of high value programs for the member companies.

Areas under discussion include a grant writing support program, talent attraction and retention initiatives, training and development and joint pursuit of funding opportunities.

"Throughout the pandemic, Kingbridge has been proud to serve the community through its partnership with York Region and the Salvation Army," said Karen Dubeau, Executive Director of Innovation at Kingbridge.

Chamber to hold weekly drop-in sessions at Kingbridge

"Now looking forward to resuming regular business operations, we are excited to build an ecosystem of businesses that are focused on driving innovation, developing climate change solutions and setting the stage for future prosperity," Dubeau added.

The Chamber's new "home" at Kingbridge will facilitate the group's work, and give Alison Mumford, the Chamber's newest "go-to person" an office. Alison will be there weekly, with perhaps more of a presence down the road as her position becomes more perma-

"The King Chamber has worked tirelessly through the pandemic to support local businesses through a Shop Local campaign, advocacy efforts, and rallying business to support community. We are excited to start in-person events again, and to build strong programs that will benefit our businesses," said Angelo Santorelli, President of the King Chamber of Commerce. "Our partnership with the Kingbridge Centre will accelerate the economic recovery of local businesses, celebrate successes, and create strategic project and partnering opportunities."

The King Chamber of Commerce will be holding weekly drop-in sessions for member businesses at the Kingbridge location, on Wednesdays beginning in April. Upcoming joint events will be published on the King Chamber website and all are invited to participate.

Dubeau added Kingbridge has been very active in terms of building partnerships in the past couple of years, strengthening ties with the Township as well as Seneca College. They've assembled a unique mix of companies who offer a diverse arsenal of ideas. They include Seneca Innovation, Compass Foods, Boreal Greens, AlteX Academy and Element3 Robotics - everything from agricultural to robots.

Kingbridge has been far from idle during the pandemic, developing its Living Lab and focussing on the sustainability of forests, pollinators and food sources.

King Councillor Debbie Schaefer noted this partnership will enhance the input into King's newly minted Climate Action Plan, which is in the final stages of development.

"This kind of partnership will help make the CAP better," she said.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini said the Township has always valued its relationship with the Chamber and this new collaboration will take things to a new level. Council, and King's Economic Development Officer Jamie Smyth are here to help, he said.

Smyth said the new affiliation will help mold and shape the future as we work together to implement new initia-

King for Refugees holds fundraiser

By Mark Pavilons Editor

A local group has been working tirelessly behind the scenes, helping newcomers get settled in.

King for Refugees and its partners have been serving efficiently, but with renewed immigration numbers, they're looking to the community for help. "The need for help to spread awareness is urgent," the group says. "Unfortunately, the world will continue to see displaced people and refugee applications rise and so we are looking for help to do our part here in beautiful King Township."

King for Refugees is proud of their work of sponsoring refugees and helping them settle into a safe life here in Canada away from war and with many prospects for a brighter future ahead. Their mission is an ongoing undertaking. To date, they have helped 25 people from different parts of the world.

The group is 100% volunteer based. None of their efforts would be possible without the help of donors, volunteers, and supportive community members.

"We would like to thank you for any previous efforts and contributions and hope that we can count on your support.

"Help us reach our fundraising goal so we can sponsor the next family."

You can make online donations at www.kingforrefugees.org. You can send a cheque to King for Refugees, P.O. Box 135, King City, L7B 1A4.

All donors will receive an official donation receipt. Full name and mailing address are required.

King for Refugees is a flat, grassroots organization and volunteers work together in pairs or on teams. Such teams include:

The Planning and Administration Team (planning, government liaison, support to all teams, oversight on finances).

Donations Team (monetary and non-monetary).

Communications (both internal and external).

Events Team (fundraising and community building events).

Special Team (usually expert advisors, depends on needs).

Helping Hands and Hearts Team (formerly Welcome and Support Team), which supports the Settlement Groups, often working directly with the families.

Disarming foes without a shot being fired

We are definitely living in sobering times.

The conflict in Ukraine, and response from around the world, shows just how important social media, and "instant" messages are these days.

We get to see, almost instantly, the massive crowds gathered in the streets of Toronto, London, Tokyo, Riga, even Moscow, in opposition to aggression.

Here in Ontario, these protests and various levels of government response have been lightning-fast. Large-scale protests and rallies are organized and carried out in hours.

It's like someone lit a fire and it has spread across the world, in a matter of minutes.

And that's all thanks to technology and social media platforms. Posts on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and You-Tube are showing us sights and sounds from Ukraine continually. We are listening to Ukraine President Zelenskyy and his brave, passionate speeches, calling on his citizens to protect what's dear to

Some of his cries for assistance have been answered, some within hours.

Elon Musk activated Starlink in Ukraine – roughly 10 hours after a plea from officials. Musk launched thousands of Starlink satellites around the globe, which increase broadband service and provide data links to areas of Ukraine that lost internet access.

U.S. President Biden's State of the rights and common good is all about. Union Address was broadcast live, and it featured a condemnation of Russia's aggression. Biden, too, was passionate in expressing democratic resolve in the face of aggression.

He undoubtedly sparked a great deal of patriotism.

What this means goes way beyond technology and innovation. It's about bringing human beings together.

We have seen an amazing, almost unbelievable coming together like-minded people – not unlike you and me – from around the world. Citizens from countries far removed from the conflict are standing up, standing out, shouting loudly.

Whatever the outcome, President Zelenskyy has given the world a hero to root for and he has won over the hearts of people in a way that authoritarian dictators will never be able to.

And that's the power of media, virtual or otherwise.

Volunteering

Portal matches volunteers with opportunities

The Ontario government is calling on citizens 16 years of age and older to help their communities in times of crisis by joining Volunteer Corps Ontario. The new program will register, screen and train volunteers so Ontario is better prepared to mobilize volunteers and safely respond to emergencies, from public health crises to natural disasters.

"We saw the true Ontario Spirit in action during the COVID-19 pandemic when countless heroes stepped up and volunteered their time," said Premier Ford. "We want to harness that Spirit by establishing Volunteer Corps Ontario to ensure we are prepared and ready to respond when the next emergency comes and requires everyday heroes to once again stand tall and support each other."

Volunteer Corps Ontario builds on the success of the COVID-19 Volunteer Portal launched last year which matched volunteers to public health units to support vaccine deployment. The new Volunteer Corps Ontario database will be made available to ministries, municipalities, First Nation communities and NGOs in need of emergency volunteers so they can respond quickly and consistently should an emergency arise.

"During times of crisis, our province is stronger when we come together to support our communities," said Parm Gill, Minister of Citizenship and Multiculturalism. "With the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, and flooding and fire seasons around the corner, I hope people from all backgrounds and abilities will answer the call to join Volunteer Corps Ontario."

Ontarians can register online at volunteercorps.gov.on.ca.

Many celebrities, organizations and even school children, have come to Ukraine's aid with various fundraisers. Millions are being raised to help Ukrainians. This "virtual" aid translates into real-time work on the ground.

While some say economic sanctions don't go far enough, in today's connected world, they can mean everything.

Cut off a country from foreign imports, raw materials, trade and money and you can cripple a society. Plug-in, hybrid or fully electric?

By Ron Fischer

With fuel prices seemingly on a never-ending upwards trajectory, many people are asking themselves if their next vehicle should be a plug-in hybrid (PHEV) or a Battery Electric Vehicle (BEV). As with many things in life, the answer is "It depends". Many factors should go into your decision, and one of the first among them should be what exactly do you do with your vehicle. If your daily commute is greater than a 300 kilometer round trip, than a Hybrid might be right for you. Most new BEV's have ranges that go from about 400 to 500 kilometers, some even more, so if your daily drive exceeds 75 per cent of the range of an electric vehicle, you should consider a PHEV instead, for the moment anyway. If you do not have a daily commute that exceeds a 300 kilometer round trip, then I think your best choice would be a full Battery Electric Vehicle. This technology has come a very long way and is moving well into the mainstream for most people. If you can charge at home, your electricity cost will run you about 20 per cent of a similar Gas or Diesel vehicle, I know it sounds far-fetched, but I have been getting this in the real world for about five years. If you have to fast charge, you will still likely be at about half the fuel cost of a combustion vehicle and depending on the type of car you buy and the charger you use, you can charge 10 to 80 per cent or about 300 kilometers in as little as 18 minutes (based on the Hyundai Ionic 5).

With a BEV you will have almost no service on your vehicle whatsoever, certainly no oil and filter changes, etc. In short, many of the things that need service or can go wrong on your vehicle (engine, exhaust, emissions control, transmission, etc.) don't exist in a BEV. By some estimations your let Bolt EV.

Comment

average Internal Combustion vehicle has about 2000 moving parts. On a BEV, you are looking at about 20, and all those parts are subject to eventual failure. BEV's are not perfect; i.e., you do have some maintenance, of course, on things like, tires, windshield wipers and washer fluid, but that's about it ... even your brakes ware slower due to regenerative breaking. Both a BEV and a PHEV will usually be more fun to drive than a comparable combustion engine (ICE) vehicle, but even here the performance of a BEV is just so much better than just about anything else on the road. It's a blast to drive, with lower stress, less noise and you just feel more in control than you do in an ICE

For good reason, many people were nervous about taking the plunge into this new technology. They were worried about battery life, reliability, and range, not to mention charging on a road trip, so these vehicles were mostly purchased by the wealthy and early adopters. Well, mainstream electric cars have been in production for more than a decade now, and many of the kinks have been worked out. The batteries will last the life of the vehicle. Reliability of electric cars is generally higher than their combustion counterparts and it truly is easy to find a fast charger when you need it.

In the end, I would not choose the PHEV because it has few of the advantages of the BEV, and all of the disadvantages of an ICE vehicle, and you still have to buy gas!

Magna halts Russian operations

By Brock Weir

As Russia continues to advance its war in Ukraine, Aurora-based auto parts giant, Magna International has announced it will halt operations in Russia.

In addition to stopping operations in Russia, Magna announced its support for the United Nations Refugee Agency, which has been working to assist Ukrainians fleeing violence.

"Like most in the international community, we remain deeply concerned with the very unfortunate situation in Ukraine," said Magna in a statement. "Given current conditions, Magna is idling its Russian operations. Although we do not have facilities in Ukraine, we have the privilege of working with thousands of Ukrainian colleagues in our Magna operations around the world as well as those from Russia who share the same values of human rights, diversity and inclusion. We are making a significant donation to the UN Refugee Agency and will match employee contributions for the well-being and safety of Ukrainian people, which remains a paramount concern during this difficult time."

Magna encouraged employees to make donations to the UNHCR with donations

"automatically counted towards the Magna Match."

"The Office of the UNHCR, also known as the UN Refugee Agency, is a global organization dedicated to saving lives, protecting rights, and building a better future for refugees, forcibly displaced communities, and stateless people. UNHCR works to ensure that everyone who has fled violence, war, disaster or persecution at home, has the right to seek asylum and find refuge," said the company. "Magna's donation will provide humanitarian relief through protection, shelter and monetary assistance for refugees and displaced people affected by the Ukraine crisis."

Improved curriculum to emphasize critical life, job skills, skilled trades and job skills, the Ontario government is introducing a new science and technology curriculum and de-streaming the Grade 9 science course for the upcoming 2022-23 school year.

The Ontario Curriculum, Grades 1 to 8: Science and Technology, 2022, and the planned changes to the new de-streamed Grade 9 science course, are part of the government's plan to align curriculum changes with the province's economic needs and place an emphasis on critical life and job skills, including the fast-growing skilled trades.

Ontario's elementary science and technology curriculum was last updated in 2007 and the Grade 9 course was last updated in 2008. Since then, significant scientific and technological innovations such as the advancement of smart phones, everyday use of 3D printing and genomic vaccines have emerged, and the global economy has changed. The updated curriculum responds to these changes with the goal of positioning Ontario as a leading jurisdiction in STEM, helping to prepare students for the jobs of tomorrow.

The new curriculum will be implemented in September 2022, in time for the 2022-23 school year as part of the government's plan to ensure that all students have the foundational, transferable and entrepreneurial skills they need to compete in a rapidly changing world.

"Ontario has transformed the curriculum to now emphasize STEM education across all grades, embedding life and job skills that will support the next generation of scientists, innovators and entrepreneurs," said Stephen Lecce, Minister of Education. "From finding new cures for cancer, to space robotics that reach new planets, and the development of artificial intelligence and technologies that are changing the economy, Ontario's new science and technology curriculum is focused on giving young people the skills to think critically, dream boldly and chart new pathways forward for our economy."

For the first time in Ontario history, the revised curriculum includes required learning on real-world connections between science, technology, engineering and mathematics. New expectations include:

Coding: mandatory learning on coding from Grades 1 to 9, consistent with the math curriculum, to further enshrine Ontario as a STEM leader. For example, in Grade 3, students can learn how to program a small robot.

Connecting STEM Learning: for the first time, Ontario has dedicated learning expectations from Grades 1 to 9 which explicitly connects science, tech-

To ensure students have critical life nology, engineering and mathematics to real-world issues.

Emerging technology: students will learn about the rise and application of advanced research, robotics and the development of artificial intelligence (AI) systems. Students can learn about the impact and application of AI in their daily lives, including facial recognition, autonomous vehicles, drones and search engines.

Skilled trades: mandatory learning from Grades 4 to 9 on the relationship between how advancements in science and emerging technologies are enhancing the skilled trades and providing exciting career opportunities.

Food literacy: learning related to food literacy in every grade that empowers students to make decisions that affect physical and mental health, consider local food production, and the scientific processes involved in agriculture.

The previous curricula did not contain required learning related to the skilled trades. Students will now explore how science relates to careers in the skilled trades and how emerging and new technologies impact these careers. These new learning expectations within the curriculum will ensure Ontario's students are at the forefront of emerging innovation, thought and able to compete in the global economy.

To support the continuum of learning in mathematics, the ministry is also issuing an addendum for each of the Grade 10 Academic and Applied Mathematics courses, to be implemented for the 2022-23 school year. The addenda outline additional learning expectations to support students in their learning as they transition from the new destreamed Grade 9 Mathematics course to the current Grade 10 Mathematics

Results from the province-wide consultation in fall of 2018 showed that only 21 per cent of survey respondents believed that Ontario's schools were doing enough to promote STEM education in elementary school and 65 per cent of telephone townhall participants felt students should be learning more about STEM topics at an earlier age.

To develop the revised elementary science and technology curriculum, Ontario reviewed current research and best practices from leading jurisdictions and incorporated feedback from education stakeholders and partners, including postsecondary institutions and Indigenous partners.

Revising the elementary science and technology curriculum and developing the new Grade 9 science course is the next step to ensure that Ontario students will be prepared with the STEM skills they need to be successful in secondary school and beyond.

Locals rise up to raise money for Ukraine with signs, cards

By Mara Wray

When you see the faces of the children caught in the "conflict" taking place in Ukraine right now, it is impossible to turn your back on the horror that is unfolding there.

Suddenly, our everyday irritations and frustrations seem so trivial and unimportant. This tragedy may be happening in Europe, but it affects us, too. The price of gas is an inconvenience, but we are on the brink of world war three. We never thought it possible, however, it is a very real threat.

This brutal war has hit me especially hard because my parents went through a similar experience with their young baby when the Russians invaded Latvia in 1944.

I can't sleep. I am haunted by the images of innocent children, bundled up in winter clothes clutching a favourite toy, with a tiny backpack, containing what? Snacks? A toothbrush? Change of clothes? What do you pack when you are fleeing the safe place you call home, for the unknown?

This nightmare is a reality for the people fleeing for their lives, or fighting for their country. Frail and traumatized seniors are among the victims. Some of them re-living the horrors of World

The Russian troops are targeting residential homes, schools, children's and maternity hospitals. Newborn babies and sick children have not been spared by Putin's so called "military exercises" in his "de-nazitification" of Ukraine.

Tom and I are horrified, heartbroken and furious. We feel helpless and desperate to do something. We can't stop this war, so we decided to offer support for humanitarian aid by organizing a fundraiser.

Tom's background as a photographer and printer gave us the means to create signs which depict the colours of the Ukrainian flag, and sunflowers which are the national flower.

They could be used as lawn signs, but because the ground is frozen right now we are suggesting people place them in their windows.

The signs are $20 each. We are donating the first hundred signs, with 100% of the proceeds going to humanitarian aid for Ukraine through the Canada Ukraine Foundation as well as the Canadian Red Coss. We will donate 100% of the profits on subsequent signs to the same charities.

offering 6 packs of greeting cards depicting sunflowers for $20 with 100% of profits going to the same charities.

Funds are being used to provide emergency assistance - medical supplies, food, water, shelter, hygiene items, heating fuel etc. (all the things we take for granted). Assistance is needed immediately, but unfortunately Ukrainians will need ongoing support, whether

We are also going to raise money by it is to rebuild their cities and homes when they defeat Putin - or for those refugees who decide to make a new life and start over in another country as my parents did.

'Fight Hunger and Spark Change' for York Food Bank

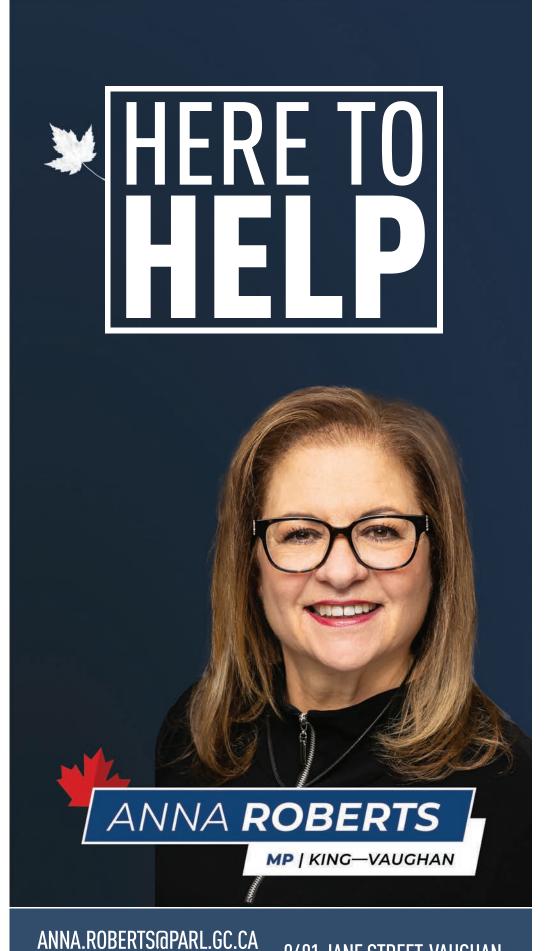

The sixth Annual Walmart Canada Fight Hunger Spark Change (FHSC) campaign will run until March 17. Both Walmart Canada (WC) and the Food Bank of York Region (FBYR) are encouraging shoppers to donate in-store and online throughout the campaign to help keep the communities of York Region fed.

"The Fight Hunger Spark Change annual event has helped us purchase large amounts of healthy bulk produce for our network of community food pantries, social service agencies and housing cooperatives all across York Region," explains Alex Bilotta, founder and CEO of the Food Bank of York Region. "We are forever grateful to Walmart Canada and all the shoppers who donate to the campaign."

Shoppers can support the campaign in four different ways: purchasing participating food products; rounding up their in-store purchases; adding a donation to their online orders; and by donating non-perishable goods in-store. This year, many of the participating Walmart Canada locations in York Region will also be hosting mini-events and giveaways in-store to help increase donations for the campaign.

For more information on how to get involved or ways to donate, visit www. fbyr.ca today or start shopping at www.walmart.ca.

The Food Bank of York Region is the regional food hub and mobile food pantry with a network of 75+ social service agencies and emergency home delivery programs. The network supports food programs in the nine municipalities of York Region, serving 24,000+ individuals in 7,000 households. The COVID-19 pandemic increased the number of people accessing food bank programs in York Region by 42% from 2018, expanding the threshold of food insecurity to a larger scale of members in our community.

Province releases transportation plan, focus on 413, bypass

By Mark Pavilons Editor

The provincial government is moving ahead with highway plans, in an effort to reduce gridlock in the GGH.

Environmental groups, opposed to such plans, remain adamant that this isn't the solution.

The Province notes with the population of the Greater Golden Horseshoe expected to reach almost 15 million people over the next 30 years, the Ontario government released Connecting the GGH: A Transportation Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe.

With more than 100 immediate and near-term actions, including building Highway 413 and the Bradford Bypass, the plan will support population and employment growth, reduce gridlock, connect communities, and improve people's access to jobs, housing, health care and education.

"Our government is saying 'yes' to building the roads, highways and public transit needed to unlock our full economic potential and keep our province moving forward," said Premier Doug Ford. "As we attract more skilled workers to Ontario, we need to build more roads and highways to keep up with population growth.

are a critical part of our plan to build Ontario as we connect communities, reduce gridlock and get goods to market sooner."

In addition to building new highways to address gridlock, the province is also moving ahead with the largest subway build in Canadian history alongside the expansion of regional passenger rail services. Doing so will ensure the province delivers on its mandate of two-way, all-day, 15-minute service.

"Our government is building roads, highways and transit to connect communities, fight gridlock and keep goods and people moving across the province, including in Ontario's economic engine, the Greater Golden Horseshoe," said Caroline Mulroney, Minister of Transportation. "No matter how you choose to move, we are building all forms of transportation infrastructure to help you get to where you need to go more safely, quickly, and conveniently. Our bold vision will create jobs, boost Ontario's competitiveness and meet the demands of people in this rapidly growing region."

Connecting the GGH: A Transportation Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe is an evergreen, living docbe updated and improved to meet forecasted growth and future needs of the region. To this end, the province will continue to work closely with municipal, Indigenous and Francophone communities, transportation agencies, industry and businesses to align planning and keep this vital region

"The Greater Golden Horseshoe is home to diverse communities with different transportation needs," said Vijay Thanigasalam, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Transportation. "Our government has developed a transportation plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe that is informed by engagement with local community members, partners, and stakeholders."

As part of the plan, the province will establish a taskforce of local leaders to advise on additional ways to improve connections between modes and communities, support regional tourism and help keep people and goods

"Investments in regional connectivity boost Ontario's quality of life and global competitive advantage. This plan helps inform and prioritize essential investments such as Highway 413 and two-way, all day GO train service. The plan is forward-thinking in that it takes into account both the experience of commuters and the people who bring them the food, medicine and goods they need. We look forward to working with the expert panel to develop ideas that embrace new technologies and ensure Ontarians are able to connect throughout the GGH in a safe, efficient and sustainable way," said Todd Letts, CEO of the Brampton Board of Trade.

Activist group Environmental Defence doesn't see it that way.

keep Ontarians stuck in car traffic for another 30 years," said Phil Pothen, Ontario Environment Program Manager. "It's a plan to fail intentionally, enriching a few land speculators by using huge sums of public infrastructure money for projects like the 413 and Bradford Bypass – push new residents and businesses out into precious rural farmland, rather than accommodating them within existing built up areas."

The group notes the key problems Ontario faces today - from unafford-

Highway 413 and the Bradford Bypass ument that will continuously evolve, able housing and the loss of our best farmland to the decline of endangered species and dangerously high carbon emissions - they are the inevitable consequence of 5 or more decades of misguided car and highway based planning.

Because we have finally bumped up against the limits of car-based transportation planning, our situation simply cannot be solved without a rapid change in "modal split" - a steep reduction in the share of trips we take using private automobiles. The only way to accomplish that, they argue, is to use the next 30 years of transportation infrastructure, workplaces and homes to fix our existing post-war neighborhoods - turning them into denser, transit-rich complete communities places where most people don't need a car to get by comfortably.

Despite a sprinkling of verbal references to public transit investment and active transportation, Ontario government's Transportation Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe "transparently aims to keep most Ontarians dependent on cars to get around. While the Plan pays lip service to reducing carbon emissions from transportation, its efforts to end car-dependency are so trivial that they would produce only a tiny share of the transportation carbon emissions reductions we need. It simply crosses its fingers and hopes for an implausibly-lightning fast 'technology' transition to electric vehicles powered by zero-emissions electricity."

Independent observers have confirmed there is no evidence the government's policies will deliver that transition to electric vehicles and that Ontario would rely on carbon-emitting fossil fuels to generate much of the electricity.

"This plan for failure should be "This Transportation Plan for the tossed in the trash, and the govern-Greater Golden Horseshoe is a plan to ment should start from scratch with a new plan that prioritizes transit, active transportation, and development within existing neighborhoods and built up areas."

> The Greater Golden Horseshoe is the urban region centred around the City of Toronto. It extends from Waterloo, Wellington and Brant County in the west. Peterborough and Northumberland in the east, Simcoe County in the north, and Haldimand and Niagara in the south.

> By 2051, population and employment figures in the Greater Golden Horseshoe are forecast to grow from 10 million to 14.9 million people, and 4.9 million to 7 million jobs, respectively.

> The region is a nationally significant hub for goods movement and business travel that sees $1.16 trillion in goods transported annually on its highways.

Smart Home Essentials

Intelligent mopping bot ensures effortless cleaning

By Mark Pavilons Editor

Consumers today have almost unlimited access to products that make home life more enjoyable and make quick work of tiresome chores.

Leveraging technology is key in making those countless cleanup jobs easier and much more efficient. With one amazing little helper on the market, you will never have to worry about "missing a spot."

iRobot's Braava jet m6 is a wi-fi connected robot mop like no other. Joining the lineup of its Roomba siblings, Braava jet m6 and its precision jet spray tackles those stickly messages, including kitchen grease.

It's ideal for multiple rooms and large spaces. The unit, driven by vSLAM navigation, learns the layout of your home, creating its own smart maps during its travels. You'll be amazed that it cleans in such neat, efficient rows. It can move around objects and furniture and it gives a nice shine to hardwood, tile and stone floors.

You're getting much more than an electric mop, here. It's an advanced robot that contains a mountain of computing power. It's more akin to the latest smartphones and autonomous vehicles, featuring cutting edge navigation, running on super-fast mobile chipsets, with intelligence powered by AI and machine learning.

It's a bit smaller than the Roomba, and it navigates really well in tight corners with a short turn radius.

When there's a spill or one of the kids tracks mud into the house, most of us scramble to find the mop or broom. With the press of a button, or verbal command, you can direct your Braava jet to the foyer, in front of the couch or under a table to do the hard work. What's better than hands-free mopping?

The unit gets to know you, just like a personal assistant. It knows your kitchen from your living room, your foyer from your den. You decide where and when it cleans.

You can also set "keep out zones" so it can avoid play areas or sensitive areas like pet bowls.

It boasts "maximized edge design" that gets into corners

If you already have an iRobot vacuum, the two can work in tandem, in perfect electronic harmony, to do a thorough cleaning. How cool is that? These two devices sync to one another so that when the vacuum is done with its cycle, the mop then sets out to clean the freshly-swept hard floors. Right now, iRobot has cornered the market on these pairings.

That's the epitome of AI tech right there!

and along edges as it rolls along.

One of the best parts is that it's whisper quiet. It rolls along squirting and mopping and you often can't hear it all.

I have gone looking for it a few times, only to find it busy doing its thing under the sofa.

The charging unit comes with a drip tray and the package comes complete with some single-use pads, as well as a washable reusable pad. Replacements are reasonably priced.

The best thing about it is that it's basically worry-free. You can set it and forget it. Unlike robo-vacuums, it's unlikely to get caught up on wires or objects since there's no moving brushes.

It's pretty energy efficient and runs for more than two hours on a charge.

The single-function device (mop only) is better than the hybrids on the market with a vacuum and mop, simply because they don't have the power, or the "smarts" to do both.

Robo mops are meant as more of a maintenance tool, to complement your regular cleaning routine. But used regularly, they are more than up to the task of keeping on top of the floor cleaning regimen.

The battery life, sensors and lightning-fast set up are what makes the Braava jet the machine of choice. For more, visit https://www.irobot.com/

Accomplishments abound as Lions mark their 60th

The first documented meeting of the Nobleton Lions Club took place at the Nobleton United Church on Jan. 10, 1962 with 21 members present.

This number would increase to 31 by year-end. Lion Dalt Higgs, District Secretary from the Canadian Office in Toronto spoke about Lionism in Canada. The Nobleton Club was sponsored by the Maple Lions Club and chartered on April 25, 1962.

The Nobleton Lions are fortunate to have in their midst one of the founding members, David Harper. A true inspiration to us all, this Lion has dedicated most of his life to the service of others; his work and guidance over the past 60 years has been unparalleled and has been a strong force behind the success of our Club. His involvement extended to different areas of the Lions organization outside our own Club, through leadership positions at both Zone and District levels.

When interviewed, he stated that all club members through the years, have given everything they could to make the Lions Club as successful as it is.

"Service in the Lions Club is not about individual contributions. No member is more important or valuable than any other. What we have accomplished is on account of the collective effort."

Most good things do not happen overnight. Very much aware of that, Lions were quick in identifying the most pressing needs of the community. A committee was formed to attract a permanent doctor for the village.

Four years later, they were successful when Dr. Steadman, in the latter part of 1966, moved his practice to Nobleton. Next, the Lions proposed a cottage-style hospital to serve the community's primary healthcare needs, and become a feeder for patients requiring more critical care at the larger hospitals in the region. Nobleton Lions met on different occasions with the Ontario Hospital Board, but that organization would not lend its support for the project. In addition, attention was given to the pressing need for a library, as well as other projects, such as improvements to parks infrastructure, lighting for the arena and support for the Nobleton Athletic Association.

The founding Nobleton Lions were very much aware of their motto "We Serve" and wasted no time in coming up with ways to engage the community in raising funds to promote, start and assist with worthwhile projects. Over time some of these would include support for senior citizens and children in the community by, among other initiatives, creating events such as the Seniors Christmas Dinner and the Children's Skate and visit with Santa, which have continued to this day until interrupted by COVID-19 restrictions.

Fundraising was the order of the day and the founding Lions used their ingenuity coming up with ideas such as: "Suit a Month" draw, auction sales, car washes, Christmas tree sales, "White Elephant" sales and what would prove to be the most successful fundraising event, repeated for years to come, the "Elimination Car Draw." The first car? A real beauty, as the "Car Draw" chairman at the time would so appropriately describe it:

"A Pontiac Stratochief, black with red interior, shall have as extras, automatic transmission, white wall tires, window washers, wheel discs and shall be a two-door."

The Nobleton Lions, in their very first year of existence, sponsored the formation of the Boy Scouts, and at a later date the Girl Guide organization. Lions did provide financial support to both organizations for many years and presently still offer financial support to the Girl Guides in Nobleton.

In their first year of operation, the Nobleton Lions carved the path which successive Lions would follow. Over 60 years of service there are many projects that, with thanks to the continuing support of the Nobleton community, are a source of great pride for all the Nobleton Lions past and present. To name a few:

1962 – Purchased first ambulance for Nobleton ($6,500).

1968 – Provided labour and partially financed the completion of the first Library adjacent to the old Fire Hall, after securing a donation of over 2000 books, and transferred its management to the Township.

1972 – Started and completed the construction of the Nobleton Swimming Pool. The project ($65,000) was fully paid for by the Nobleton Lions in June of 1975 when the operation of the pool was turned over to the Township.

1978 – New Arena Building Fund ($100,000).

1979 – Lighting System for the Baseball Diamond and Tennis courts ($19,000)

1982 – Renovation of the Old Community Hall ($75,000).

1997 – Funded the addition of a second storey laundry facility room at the Senior's Building ($5,800).

2000 – Spearheaded the drive and partially funded the New Arena elevator ($13,500).

2009 – Donated to the building of the Trisan Centre ($15,000).

2010 – Initiated the procurement and partially financed the electronic sign at the Nobleton Library ($25,000).

2017 – Partially funded the construction of the Pavilion by the Baseball Park ($25,000).

The above provides a glimpse into some of the major accomplishments of the Lions and the Nobleton Community. In addition to the above, we have supported amateur sports for children such as Baseball, Figure and Speed Skating, Hockey, and Soccer.

Over the past 25 years we have raised and donated thousands of dollars to both local hospitals, Southlake Regional Health Centre ($39,000) and MacKenzie Health Foundation ($45,000). Over the last eight years alone, $20,500 has been donated to the King Township Food Bank. Three life-saving defibrillators were purchased for the King Township Fire Departments ($6,300).

A long history of giving back to the community

Additionally, donations to non-profit organizations are too numerous to mention. A few come to mind such as Canine Vision, Sleeping Children Around the World, Epilepsy York Region, Homes for the Deaf, needy families, Alzheimer's Society, Special Olympics, Cancer Research, Diabetes Society, Mental Health, etc.

The fight against blindness has been a major priority for Lions International. The Nobleton Lions take a great deal of pride in the fact, that over the years, we have been a strong supporter of the Lions Foundation Canine Vision Programme in Oakville, Ontario, a facility dedicated to the training of service dogs. The Nobleton Lions have been organizing the "Walk for Dog Guides" fundraiser in Nobleton for the past 14 years. This is a special Canada-wide event, usually held on the last Sunday in May.

This event was initiated by the Lions Foundation of Canada Dog Guides, which has counted on local walks and the sponsorship of private businesses such as "Pet Valu" and others, to raise funds dedicated exclusively to the training of Dog Guides. The Nobleton Community has shown its support and to-date we have raised over $125,000.

Furthermore, we are very proud to have been involved in securing a dog guide for Bev Berger, her first, "Reb" in 1990. Bev Berger, as many of you know, is a local resident. Since receiving her first dog, she has been an exceptional ambassador for the Lions Foundation and the Nobleton Lions Club, through speaking engagements at various Lions Clubs and other service organizations throughout Canada.

There are special moments when fundraising takes on another dimension. The following reflect the international reach and scope of Lions and Lionism throughout the world.

A Nobleton Lions book drive in 1964 resulted in over 300 text books being sent to the Bahamas to assist in their literacy project. We donated to the 9/11 Relief Fund, created by Lions International to help victims' families in New York City. We did it in October 2001 by holding a "Boot Drive" at the intersection of King Rd. and Hwy. 27 together with the Nobleton Fire Department. Taking advantage of the traffic lights and of generous drivers, we collected over $3,000 in coins and small bills.

Another special moment happened quite recently. Together with the Nobleton Rotary Club and the Nobleton Womens Institute we were able to purchase 7 life-saving Oxygen Concentrators, which were sent to India during a critical time of its fight against COVID-19.

As we reflect on the history of the Lions Club in Nobleton, it is important to realize the beneficial impact that our members have had in the enrichment of the village. Leaders with vision that, as a result of hard work, determination and no doubt on occasion a lot of fun, participated in laying the foundation for what it is today our caring and vibrant community.

Understandably, the endeavours undertaken by our Club would not have been translated into accomplishments, if not for the strong support of the community over the last 60 years.

Lions unite through kindness to serve our communities and people in need. Fundraising was, as it has always been and continues to be, critically important to accomplish these main objectives of the Lions Clubs. Our fundraising efforts helped cement our relevance and enhanced the support from the community in general.

Back in the '60s and well into the '70s, the big city wasn't as close as it is today. Sources of entertainment were few and far between. However, the Nobleton Lions did provide it on a regular basis.

We invite you to spend some of your leisure time with long-time residents who experienced some of the events. They will tell you about dances, some featuring well known and loved bands of the day, like Tommy Hunter's Band; draws for just about anything (including ponies); stag nights, turkey shoots, pancake suppers, autumn harvest celebrations, Klondike Days, Oktoberfests, and the list goes on.

For instance, could you imagine a ski-doo race right in your subdivision? Well, as hard as it might be to imagine, it did happen in the late '60s early '70s when farmland surrounded the village. The most successful racing day brought together about 75 racers and generated a $600 profit. Can you imagine the noise? And, how about the fun?

Would you bring a band all the way from Germany just to take the Nobleton Oktoberfest of 1977 to an extra level? Well, we did! A 30-plus member band arrived and arrangements were made for "in-town" accommodations for all the musicians, some accompanied by their wives. The event was initially scheduled to last from September 29 (Thursday) until October 1 (Saturday). However, as the story goes, the fun lasted a lot longer, as the party extended well into Sunday. Needless to say, it was a moment for the ages. Attendance doubled the most optimistic expectations and the event generated one of the highest revenues of any fundraising held before or since.

The events were, for the most part, a source of fun and entertainment for the community. They were of particular importance and relevance in bringing people together. Neighbours meeting neighbours, forging the makings of new acquaintances and lasting friendships; in short, building community.

Over the years, the Nobleton Lions have also extended their desire to serve and influence to areas outside Nobleton. We are proud to have encouraged and sponsored the formation of the Bolton Lions Club in March of 1970. We are also proud of our members who have carried their commitment of service by, in addition to their responsibilities in our own Club, volunteering in our Club's Zone and District organizations. To date, in addition to several Zone and Regional Chairs, our Club has sponsored and elected two Deputy District Governors and a District Governor.

As we all know too well, time does go by and quite inevitably things do change. The 40-plus years of "Car Draws" are in our rear-view mirror and there will be no more "ski-doo" races in the middle of our sub-divisions. At some point in all our lives, a sense of nostalgia for the "good old days" will settle in.

It is true, that for the past several years we have not organized a "car draw" or hired a band for a fundraising dance, or even pulled off a "draw for a pony"

Lions moving full steam ahead with community events

Still, Lions fundraising and community service has and will carry on, as it must.

The Nobleton Lions Golf Tournament, which started in 2014, has been the main fundraising event for the Club in recent years. We have been fortunate to receive the support of golf enthusiasts and friends. We have also received the generosity of local businesses who have donated some amazing prizes for the tournament's auction.

We hope to repeat that success this year as we swing into action and start the planning stages of our Annual Golf Tournament tentatively scheduled for Sunday, June 5 at the Nobleton Lakes Golf Club.

Also in the recent past, we have hosted a few very successful "Texas hold 'em" nights, which we are determined to repeat in the near future. We have held cash draws each with a total in combined prizes of $5,000, which have traditionally taken place in the fall. No doubt, many of you will remember some of our senior Lions sitting by the Post Office, quite often wrapped up in blankets, selling tickets and challenging the cold westerly winds of early fall, while enjoying it all for the opportunity of a quick visit with an old friend or the easy small talk about the Nobleton Lions with a new neighbour in town.

Because of the pandemic, Lions Clubs and other volunteer/service organizations, in fact most of society, have been tested for our ability to be strong, resourceful and more than ever in our lifetime, caring. COVID-19 has had an impact in many profound ways on all of us. It has changed most people's lives, relationships and perspectives. The Nobleton Lions, however, are still together, strong and willing. Our Zoom meetings are not as much fun as our meetings in the past. Our activities and fundraising, because of restrictions, have been curtailed to a great extent.

We are still here, though. In November, together with the King City and Schomberg Lions Clubs, we participated in the "Advent Calendar." This initiative generated over $10,000 in food donations to the King Township Food Bank. We were able to hold a couple of very successful "E-auctions" over the past two years which, yet again, with community support generated profits over $5,000. In December, at the invitation of the Township of King, we worked side by side with the Rotary Club and other volunteer organizations in the Nobleton Christmas Tree Lighting by serving free and delicious chili. Lions have also been engaged in small acts of kindness by delivering prescriptions and groceries to those who need help.

As the dark clouds of the pandemic clear away, we are looking forward to our main fundraising activity, the Annual Golf Tournament. We remain hopeful that public health guideline will enable us to schedule some other fundraising events, soon. As for other service activities, we cannot wait to participate, as we have for decades, in the Victoria Day festivities and the hosting of the Nobleton Seniors Dinner and the Children's Skating and visit with Santa.

The Nobleton Lions look forward to continuing being an integral part of the community. We are all very lucky to live here. We hope that should you hear the call to service, you will give us the nod and let us know of your interest. We can promise you that you will be rewarded not just by the joy of fellowship, but also by making our community a better place. We will be looking forward to hearing from you. More importantly, should you feel that Lionism is not for you, please do not stop there. Consider other options. Remember, volunteers make communities. Take the time to talk to any volunteer in town. They will be unanimous in saying that they ended up getting more than they have given.

Thank you to all for your support over the past six decades. We are looking forward to serve and continuing to earn your trust and help for years to See you around town. Stay well.

Schomberg United Church By Rev. Evelyn McLachlan

Schomberg UC is once again worshipping IN PERSON at St. Mary Magdalene Church, lower level at 9:30 a.m. Masks are required. There is a hand sanitizing station. The chairs are set to two metres apart.

Rev. Evelyn McLachlan led the worship with the focus being P.I.E. (Public, Intentional and Explicit) since this past Monday was March 14, P.I.E. Day, not to be confused with Pi! Pi is 3.14159265 to infinity, which means in the mathematical community Pi is an irrational number. March 14 is numerically indicated as 3.14 ... just like Pi! It's irrational, just like God's love, which is irrational as God's love is inclusive and not exclusive!

Rev. Evelyn focused her Time With the Child in All and parts of her sermon to talk about P.I.E. The Schomberg congregation is working through the process to decide whether or not it wants to become an Affirming Congregation, one who welcomes all those who are 2SLGBTQ+ or people of colour or differently abled or various ages or ... God's love is inclusive and as such we are called to be Public, Intentional and Explicit about our faith.

Rev. Evelyn even brought a bumbleberry pie to help everyone understand how the church is like the crust of a pie – flour being justice, shortening being affirmation, water being compassion, vinegar being challenge, egg

Thursday, March 17, 2022 - THE WEEKLY SENTINEL - 15 being prayer, salt being courage. That is the foundation for the filling, and in this case bumbleberry which is a mixture of berries. The congregation is a mixture of people - different genders, abilities, sexuality, ages, colours - all mixed together with a bit of sugar being love. We hope you enjoyed some pie on P.I.E. day to remind you that all of us are called to love.

Teams solidify standings as playoffs approach

By Shellee Morning

As the 2021-22 curling season starts to curl down one can only reflect on the season that the curlers have had to en-

In the early days of the fall season, members were left with the question whether there would be any curling at all. Then when the light went green, the anticipation and enjoyment for their return to their beloved sheets of ice came with a number of newly imposed restrictions. For the members it was all about getting back on the ice and so with brooms, shoes, and masks in tow, the games began.

The women's team entry league concluded their final round robin schedule last week with all teams playing for position for this year's Ladies Championship playoffs. Sheet K had Team Morning against Team Sinclair witnessing the traditional draws and tap ups by Sinclair and take-outs and guards by Morning. Solid efforts were delivered by both teams but it would be Morning that collected the win and claim second place overall in the league standings.

Sheet I featured Teams Stronach and Deathe. The game itself was a match that went back and forth with impressive hits and draws to the button. Late in the game, long time Skip Kathleen Gorsline, who's taking the season off, came to watch her team and at one point made her way down to ice level to offer her valuable knowledge for the team's next move. Marnie Deathe who took over Gorsline's duty as Skip guided her team with leadership and direction against league leader Stronach.

in the last end with an open draw for Stronach to tie the game. The tie game was enough to seal Stronach the top spot as they head into playoffs next Sheet N had Team McDonald versus Team Sheardown. These two teams deliver and execute so much laughter during their game that's not only contagious but desired. Brooms were raised on several occasions with each team making some great shots and timely draws. McDonald came out on top of the scoreboard making it back to back wins for her rink.

The final sheet was Team Brown and turns for the ladies of King.

The score came down to the last rock Team Davis, where both are broom for broom in the standings. With Brown's Skip and Vice both away, alternate Leanne McKenzie stepped into the skip position while Michelle Boynton and Diane Bracken welcomed spare Natalia Lebedeva. Team Davis, who's been a winning threat this season, played with diligence and competitive strategy. Valiant efforts were provided by both squads but it was Team Brown earning the victory. The win for Brown lands them one point behind Davis for 4th spot in the standings.

The Cougars absolutely dominated the visiting Golden Hawks in game one, outshooting their foes 42-18 in a 4-1 victory.

Christian Taylor and Cameron Kokelj gave the hometown boys the quick lead. Skipping over to the third period, Kokeli scored his second of the night and Carlo Lionti got his first of the series on the board.

Kyle Church spoiled Tristan Szymanowski's shutout near the end of the game.

In front of 135 people Saturday night, with members of King Rebellion minor hockey in attendance, the Cougars were uncharacteristically stymied by the Golden Hawks.

Despite cranking a few shots off the iron, it was the Golden Hawks, backboned by their netminder Mason Kameka, who controlled the game.

Justin Callisto opened the scoring in the first period. Noah Crispo, jammed the second goal in on the doorstep in the second period to double the lead.

Coming out with a vengeance in the third period, the Golden Hawks applied salt to the wound as Elias Najem, gave the visitors the three-goal advantage.

On Sunday at Mayfield Arena, Mat-Due to publication deadlines, game to Tarantino got the start for the Cougars in the back-to-back game. On a mission, the boys hammered the Golden Hawks 7-1 on the road, outshooting the Hawks 43-12.

> "We made sure we were on them in taking time and space away. We made sure our defence recognize the fact they're going to come out," head coach Stan Kondrotas said on Monday.

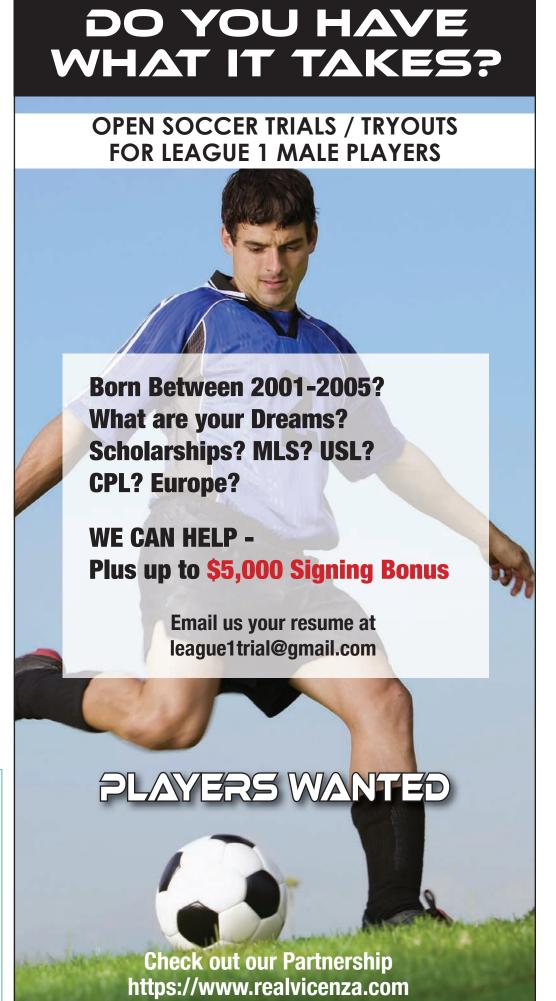

> "We just played the way we were supposed to play and what I'm asking them to do. In all regards, we were disciplined. We were relentless. We capitalized on our opportunities and they just had a parade to the penalty box."

> The Golden Hawks visited the penalty box 12 times on the night. Mason Kameka, received praise from Kondrotas after the game, after being left hung out to dry.

> In what was arguably the best game of the season defensively, Kondrotas praised players on the back end for their valiant effort. He has been impressed with one of the newer arrivals Trevor Dungy, and seen great production from Austin McKibbon and Aidan

> This game was also the return for Luke Miehm, who arrived in the middle of the second period from the airport, and made a substantial impact.

Our live-streamed broadcasts are available directly on stpaulsnobleton. ca or on our YouTube channel each Sunday at 10 a.m. You can watch previous services or messages anytime, also on our YouTube channel youtube.com/stpaulschurchnobleton).

Our Women's LifeConnect Group has begun meeting again on Tuesday mornings, 9:30 to 11 a.m. via Zoom. For details be in touch with us at stpaulsnobleton.ca/connect.

LifeConnect Group is also meeting on Tuesday evenings at the Church and on Zoom at 7:30 for both men and women. Both groups will be going deeper with questions related to the previous Sunday's message. It's a good way to do life together with other believers in a more intimate setting than you can get on a Sunday morning. For details of either group, be in touch with us at stpaulsnobleton.ca/connect.

St. Paul's is coordinating with the King Township Food Bank in the distribution of "St. Paul's Love Bags." These bags will include items that are seldom donated and are in high demand for those less fortunate. If you would like to help by contributing to this mission, please check www.stpaulsnobleton.ca to find a list of items needed.

While we wait for it to be safe for our kids' ministry to meet in person on Sundays, we are providing Family Ministry At-Home boxes each month for parents interested in engaging with their kids in faith development. If you would like to participate, tick the appropriate box on the connection card at stpaulsnobleton.ca/connect. We're planning for the return of in-person kids' ministry, and will relaunch it as soon as it is safe.

Garden Club

The Nobleton King City Garden Club is excited to announce their first meeting of the year will be in person at our new location – Laskay Hall on Monday, March 28 at 7:30. We will be following all safety protocols as dictated by King Township.

Our guest speaker will be Ursula Eley who will speaking on the topic of "Gardening with native plants."

Over the past 20 years, Ursula has had the pleasure of demonstrating design, talking about gardening, and teaching floral design. Thanks to COVID the plant world has become truly worldwide. In addition to the many flower shows she has entered over the years, she has had the pleasure of participating in virtual shows hosted locally and abroad. She also belongs to several specialty plant societies and really appreciates opportunities to learn more about plants and gardens.

Her garden is mainly a shade garden now and she enjoys growing native plants and some of their beautiful foreign cousins.

A representative from King Township will be on hand to distribute tree wraps to help fight the Gypsy Moth infestation.

Nobleton United Church By Rev. Evelyn McLachlan

Worship is back IN PERSON at 11:15 a.m. Every other pew is blocked off to maintain social distancing. There is also a hand sanitizing station for people as they enter. Masks are encouraged.

We were blessed to have Sue DiFebo's sister Barb from Deep River sharing in worship with everyone. During the "Time With the Child in All," Rev. Evelyn focused on March 14 (this past Monday) being P.I.E. Day. This should not be confused with Pi! Pi is 3.14159265 ... to infinity! This is an irrational number in the mathematical community. If you write March 14 with numbers only, it would be 3.14 ... which looks suspiciously like Pi! So, 3.14 is irrational ...

somewhat like God's love. God's love is irrational as it is inclusive and not exclusive.

In a number of denominations around the world, P.I.E. has come to mean Public, Intentional and Explicit. Nobleton United Church has been working on the Affirming process to decide whether it wants to become an Affirming congregation, intentionally and publicly welcoming all those who are 2SLGBTQ+, or those who are people of colour or those who are differently abled.

Rev. Evelyn brought with her a bumbleberry pie and talked about how the ingredients for a pie crust work together to form the foundation for a pie ... kind of like a church building. The flour is like justice, shortening is like affirmation, water is compassion, vinegar is challenge, egg is prayer and salt is courage. All of that put together is like the church building. The filling was bumbleberry ... different berries, sweetened with a bit of sugar. The congregation, the people of God, are the filling ... all different kinds of people, different ages, genders, sexuality, colours, differing abilities ... and we all work together sweetened with a bit of love. We then enjoyed some bumbleberry pie after worship!

In the sermon we were reminded that we are called to be public, intentional and explicit about our faith, especially when it feels like the world is falling apart. Stand up for what is just, even when it is difficult to do.

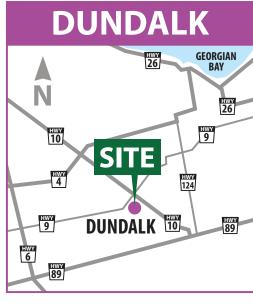

In the scripture reading from Luke 13: 31-35, Jesus brings us hope with the image of the mother hen protecting her brood under her wing. It's what enables us to continue. Get under God's wings. Stand firm. Have faith. We all have a prophetic voice. A voice that challenges cynicism. A voice that shouts hope when everything around us is shouting fear. I hope we are all able to be explicit about our faith in God so we might stand up to the bullies.

If you'd like to chat with others over zoom for a social time, we have Zoom Coffee (or tea!) now every Wednesday 10-11 a.m. Just email nancy@hopkinson.ca or leave a message at 905-859-0761.

Don't forget the famous DiFebo Pasta Dinner on Friday, March 25. There is a drive-thru option (pick up 4:30-5:30 p.m.), and a dine-in option (6 p.m.).

Calling all golfers – are you itching to get out on the links? Save the date! Sunday, June 5 at Nobleton Lakes will see the first Nobleton Lions Community Fundraising Golf Tournament since 2019. This will be the Club's first in person fund raiser in over two years.

The need continues for cozy, homemade slippers at various Ronald Mc-Donald Houses. It seems that people sometimes find themselves needing to stay in close proximity to hospitals when their children require hospitalization on an unexpected basis. Ronald McDonald Houses provide what they can, and here is a chance for us to help them. If you have the time and wool, patterns are apparently available on the internet, for slippers of any size or colour. The Nobleton Lions will collect them and forward them to various RMH's in south central Ontario. For followup details please contact Lion Rick at rick@rickevans.net

The Club continues to offer a free service to people in self-isolation and others unable to leave their homes. The Lions are providing a delivery service for Pharmasave prescriptions. Just call Rick, and we will drop packages outside your door, contact free.

As always, we welcome prospective new members. You may join us as a guest via Zoom at an upcoming meeting by contacting Lion Rick as above.

King's Corners

King City United By Sheryl Sinka

Last Sunday Rev Lee's message was entitled "Tears in Jesus." It was a message that encouraged our sincere prayers during this time of tragedy and war in our world. We pray that "the God of consolation, the God of healing and the God of recovery will be upon us, upon the marginalized, upon creation and upon Ukraine and Russia."

This Sunday, March 20 marks the third Sunday of Lent and we welcome you to join us in person at King City United. We continue to ask that only those fully vaccinated attend the in person worship and that you continue to wear a mask and distance while in the church.

Our worship on Sunday begins at 10 a.m. and the worship will be recorded and available on our website kcuc@ bellnet.ca later in the week for those unable to attend.

The Bible Studies offered on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, led by Lynn Vissers, our Director of Congregational Ministries, are able to be in-person at the church; however, contact Lynn to be sure of the location or if you require a ZOOM link. The discussion is stimulating and there are always great questions about the previous Sunday's sermon.

During March Break, the studies are cancelled, but Art-for-the-Soul is being held. The studies will resume the following Tuesday at 7 p.m. for the "after work ladies" and Wednesday morning

Philippians 4:6,7 has become a favourite verse especially in these uncertain, anxious times - "Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus."

We are available to pray with you or for you, in confidence.

All Saints Anglican Church By Patrick Gossage

Pray with us for whatever is on your heart every Friday with meditation and music on Zoom. Contact Leah49@ gmail.com to register.

Easter is coming. Good Friday, April 15 at noon we will have a special service followed by our Easter celebration on the 17th at 8 a.m. and 10:30. All are welcome.

Rev. Michael Peterson spoke last Sunday on a passage from Philippians 3: "Brothers and sisters join in imitating me, and observe those who live according to the example you have in us."

"I've referred to you in this congregation collectively as saints for some time. The Greek word 'hagios' means holy ones, and when Paul in Philippians begins with this greeting: 'To all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with the bishops and deacons: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.' Paul was using the term saints to remind them that they were being remade in the new life that God in Christ had called them to. The same applies to us.

"God has plans for us, that God wants to improve us. This parish's name All Saints reminds us that God has God's sights on all of us. There are also 'Saints' who are the heroes of our faith. As Anglicans we think of saints as role models, as people that we should imitate. This idea of the role model is behind Paul's exhortation to the Christians in Philippi to 'join in imitating me and observe those who live according to the example you have in us.'

"This statement might strike you as egotistical. But think about what we all expect of coaches, mentors, and role models. Don't we want such people to be examples of good practices and skills that we want to adopt?

"Paul had the same credibility. Remember that Paul used to be Saul, a persecutor of the church, until he was literally transformed by Jesus into Paul, the teacher and evangelist. When Paul asks the Philippians to imitate him, be was pointing to himself as a sign of how God could turn a life around.

"Your own saint may be someone who was a role model to you in your own life, perhaps a Sunday school teacher, a grandparent, or your confirmation teacher. It may be sitting here today, who models a particular aspect of the Christian faith for you. These personal saints can play as transformative a role in our lives as any saint in a stained glass window.

"Paul tells the Christians in Philippi to 'stand firm in the Lord'). What does standing firm mean? During Lent, we think about prayer, fasting, almsgiving, and scripture reading that bring us closer to God. We also acknowledge that there are lots of things that are trying to pull us away from God.

"Recently I read about a spiritual retreat where the retreat leader led participants in discerning formational forces at work in our lives. At the end, the leader reminded participants, 'Remember that as you leave, you will renter the multibillion-dollar formation machine that is American media and advertising.' Many of these influences seek to align us with selfishness and materialism.

"Looking to the saints is one way of re-aligning ourselves with the values of our faith, whether the saints are historic figures, or personal saints. In an age where so many forces try to pull us away from God, the saints are like those radar beacons that guide aircraft at night and in fog, guideposts that lead us home to Jesus.'
