King Fire and Emergency crews responded to a house fire in Nobleton in the early morning hours of April 2. The house was fully involved and mostly destroyed. There were no injuries.

Nobleton home was destroyed by fire

King Fire and Emergency Services personnel responded to a fully involved structure fire on Wedgeport Court in the village of Nobleton in the early morning hours of April 2.

The call was received at 2:30 a.m. and the fire was confirmed shortly after by York Regional Police who happened to be patrolling nearby.

The initial call stated the fire was in the garage although at this time the cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Five occupants in the home self-evacuated and there were no injuries.

King Fire and Emergency Services had seven units on scene and a total of 30 staff. As is standard procedure in fires like this, vehicles and staff at King's two other stations in King City and Schomberg were prepared to cover off the Nobleton station in case any of any other incidents in the Township.

As a result of the fire, the roof was burned off and there was extensive damage throughout the entire structure. Although the remains of the structure are still standing, they will need to be assessed by structural engineers to determine the extent of the damage. Three vehicles were also damaged.

Due to the efforts of King Fire and Emergency Services personnel there was minimal damage to the homes to the immediate east and west of the burned-out home.

The Office of the Fire Marshal (OFM) has been notified and is expected to attend the scene this morning.

King Township's Fire Chief Jim Wall thanked his staff, York Regional Police and York Region paramedics for working together at the scene.

King Township provides input into York Official Plan

By Mark Pavilons
Editor

While generally supportive of York Region's revamped Official Plan, King Township staff and council want to retain local planning authority.

York has been updating its OP through what's called the Municipal Comprehensive Review (MCR) process and part of that involves getting input from municipalities.

The updated York Region Official Plan will guide growth throughout the Region to the year 2051 and will bring the Region's Official Plan into alignment and conformity with Provincial Plans. The Township must then bring the Our King Official Plan into conformity with the Region's no later than one year from the date that the Province approves the Region's Official Plan.

The Province's "A Place to Grow: Growth Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe" (Growth Plan) sets out the population and employment forecasts for Regional and single-tier municipalities that are within the designated growth areas in the Greater Golden Horseshoe (GGH). The Growth Plan requires upper- and single-tier municipalities to plan to achieve these forecasts within their jurisdiction.

York Region is forecasted to grow to a population of 2.02 million people and 990,000 jobs by 2051. This represents a growth of approximately 800,000 people and 345,000 jobs between 2021 and 2051, which is the highest proportion of growth in the GGH.

The draft forecast and lands needs assessment pegged growth for King to hit a population of 49,600 and 16,400 jobs by 2051. The draft also contains a proposed target of 35% intensification and a goal of 30 residents and jobs per hectare.

The ROP places priority on building complete communities, sustainable growth initiatives and ensuring financial responsibility.

In terms of land use designation, Schomberg, King City and Nobleton remain as towns and villages in community areas of the ROP.

The plan also identifies "local centres and corridors" and "major transit station area - other" in King with the latter in King City.

The draft plan also predicts 750 rental units be built in King by 2051 and a density of 55 jobs per hectare within King City. That target drops to 25 jobs per hectare in Nobleton and Schomberg. The plan also sees a minimum intensification of 4,600 new residential units by 2051.

Local municipalities, according to York, are encouraged to plan for these densities.

Employment targets are pegged to be concentrated in King City and adjacent to Highway 400. They're geared toward commercial, retail and other services or knowledge-based uses.

The ROP does identify specialty crop areas, agriculture, rural areas and the Holland Marsh area.

King staff have looked at specifics in the ROP and how they will impact King's future planning. Forecasts are provided in 10-year increments.

Medium density development, commonly referred to as the "missing middle," provides for a wide range of housing types and directs them to the villages.

While King staff are largely supportive of the ROP recommendations, they note it's critical for York to ensure policy framework provides for the appropriate local planning process to occur, and that infrastructure such as water and sewers be provided in a timely manner.

Future growth in King will be directed to the villages, staying away from whitebelt lands.

King will have to conduct a review and studies to see just where growth can be accommodated in the three villages.

A section of the ROP calls on any urban boundary expansions to be done through a Regional review. King staff contend this may hinder local authority and they want the Region to revise this, allowing urban uses to be at the municipality's discretion.

King staff also ask that York consider adding provisions for the sustainability of complete communities and community areas.

They want additional flexibility built in to these provisions to encourage environmental protection. They also want the ROP to include tools for creating a green development standards program, including bylaws and incentives.

Township staff also want the definitions widened for agri-tourism opportunities.

The bottom line is King wants to ensure planning control at the local level is not hindered.

Mayor Steve Pellegrini noted it's much better to have control in our own hands. While some residents may not want further intensification, he said it's up to council to balance the wants and needs.

He pointed out that King has completed its own OP and has not increased local settlement areas or boundaries one inch.

"We want a King solution, not a York one," the mayor observed.

Steve Naylor said staff recommendations provide for greater flexibility and local options.

The conformity exercise will continue over the next 12 to 18 months, which will include public input.

Councillor Bill Cober stressed that local autonomy is very important. Development pressures will continue in years to come and major decisions should be made at the local level.

York Region staffers make over $300k

By Mark Pavilons
Editor

Running the Region of York is a costly undertaking.

According to the annual "Sunshine List" - those civil servants earning $100,000 or more annually - York Region had 1,445 staff in that category, pulling in a combined $186.27 million in 2021.

Topping the list as Medical Officer of Health Karim Kurji, who brought home $379,720.66 in 2021.

Following Kurji was Director Corporate Communications Patrick Casey, who had annual earnings of $330,512.11. Chief Administrative Officer Bruce Macgregor made $328,100.24 and Associate Medical Officer of Health John Richard Gould made $307,413.22.

Associate Medical Officer of Health Faren Karachiwalla rounded out the top-five highest-paid employees, with $288,772.39.

Among the 1,445 employees, 442 received earnings between $100,000 and $110,000 followed by 746 who received between $110,001 and $150,000. Some 215 received between $150,001 and $200,000 and 36 received between $200,001 and $250,000.

"A newspaper is the center of a community, it's one of the tent poles of the community, and that's not going to be replaced by websites and blogs."

- Michael Connelly

Frugality becomes a necessity these days

"I think when you're spending 16 hours of every day to pay your rent and get food, I just don't see where there's time outside of that to be creative and make things."

- Jake Shears

They say a fool and his money are soon parted.

While consumer spending is integral to keeping the wheels of our economy turning, there comes a point where frugality must step in.

My dad was known for being what we call "cheap," and yet, I find the older I get, the more "frugal" I become. It's a much nicer word!

When I was in my 20s, money didn't flow freely, but I was able to pretty much buy whatever I needed. Of course, there were times I had to make withdrawals from the Bank of Mom and Dad.

Our parents always put food on the table and in hindsight, there's nothing like a great, home-cooked meal. The moms of the world need to be acknowledged because everything they made, they added a little extra TLC.

When co-workers stopped by for a meal, during our long over-night shifts, they were amazed at the dishes my mom served. They just couldn't believe we ate this all the time.

They say everything is relative. Maybe it was, once. Groceries never seemed to be expensive when I was growing up, and Mom made sure we always had treats.

When I dove into my career, I earned a regular pay cheque, some of which was regularly spent on "entertainment."

But I always had money for bills, gas and incidentals.

As years went on, even though my salary rose, so did the price of all consumer goods. Most of you will know that currently, we're faced with some fairly substantial price hikes in almost every conceivable product.

I join my wife for our weekly grocery shopping duties and both of us have been taken aback by recent price hikes. They say the pandemic, supply chain issues and the rising cost of fuel are to blame.

When did a pound of butter hit the $7 mark? Why are potato chip bags constantly shrinking? And when did the price of beef rival that of truffles?

I see more and more shoppers using credit cards, so I don't know if that's a bad thing or not.

I'm not sure if all 20-somethings are in the same category, but I understand that clubs, with rented booths and bottle service are quite popular. A booth in one of the clubs can run you upwards of $1,000 and bottles cost around $350 each.

Now, I don't know where young people are getting this kind of dough, but it's unbelievable. Sure, you always pay a premium at a nice bar or restaurant, but come on. Who, in their right mind, would pay 10 times for an average bottle of liquor?

Hey, perhaps it's a way to curb impaired driving - at these prices who can afford to have more than one drink?

But back to groceries.

Sure, I understand the pandemic has really altered supply chain economics and given today's cost of fuel, prices are bound to soar.

We're all looking at the same shelves, so a wise shopper is a happy one.

It's not necessarily the grocery stores or chains themselves. Follow the money, as they say, and the increases start at the source.

The classic buy-one-get-one-free (BOGO) offer is a popular one. But while real deals can be great, more often they're just marketing ploys to snatch more of your money.

Do the math, people. If you spend more on two and only need one, where's the savings?

Also, pay attention to package weight. Buying the larger size (such as cheese bars) may not actually save you money, especially when the smaller ones are on sale.

In recent years, potato chip bags have shrunk considerably. When buying bacon or deli, check the gram weight.

When things are offered at a special price, like butter or canned goods for instance, buy as many as you can. Stock up!

Take your time, look at individual prices and compare before you put something in your basket.

Lately, brightly coloured stickers on store shelves loudly announce a special price. But there's a catch. To get that price, you have to buy 2 or more, sometimes 4 of more. Not much of a deal, is it?

Weekly specials and flyer deals may only offers savings of 10 cents. What's the point?

I've never been much of a bill checker, but my wife always glances over the bill after checkout. She wants to make sure some items went in at the sale price, and that price-matched items were entered correctly.

Prudent.

I also love packaging that announces "new and improved" or higher quality products.

These are especially funny on pet food. I'd like to know who tests the "new and improved" flavours.

Also be careful at checkout. I've noticed in many stores - not just grocery stores - that junk food and "impulse buy" items are conveniently located as you leave the store. They are meant to tempt you to buy on your way out.

When my wife and I price match grocery items, we estimate we save roughly $30 per week. May not seem like a lot, but that's $120 per month, or $1,500 per year.

Now, back to the quote at the top of my column.

When we're so busy shopping, looking for bargains and stretching our dollars, it leaves little time for self improvement.

If we're constantly stressed every time we head out the door for some errands, or stop at the gas station, how does that impact our overall health?

I'm getting crusty in my old age. I often grumble under my breath and the feeling that I'm constantly getting ripped off weighs heavy on my shoulders.

This is not the land of milk and honey. It's a great country, to be sure, but an expensive one.

Letter to the Editor

Citizens have responsibilities, too

The following letter, to Moiz Karimjee, a deputy crown prosecutor representing the Crown at the bail hearings for some of the Freedom Convoy protestors, was submitted to the Weekly Sentinel.

Good day Mr. Karimjee,

I hope that this communication is not in any way inappropriate. If it is, I apologize.

I write with regard to the upcoming trials of various individuals involved with the so-called Freedom Convoy to, with respect sir, present a suggestion for you to consider in your submission to the presiding judge with regard to sentencing.

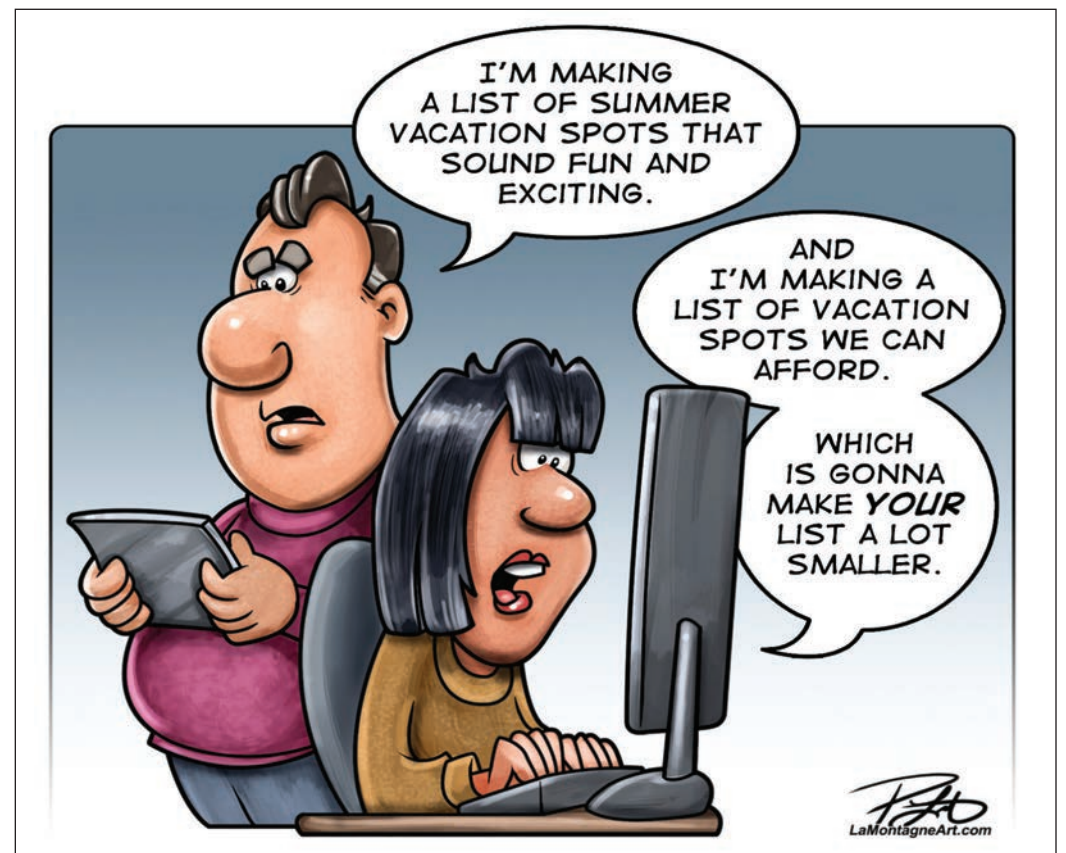

I make this suggestion because of comments I've heard on the media from protesters, because I've read part of the Memorandum of Understanding prepared by the organizers, and because I heard an Ottawa lawyer commenting on the bail proceedings for the accused, referring to them as the most bizarre hearings he had ever attended.

Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada provides new immigrants to Canada with a 66 page Study Guide entitled Discover Canada: The Rights and Responsibilities of Citizenship, which is the official study guide for the Canadian citizenship test. The Guide is also available on-line at <https://www.canada.ca/en/immigration-refugees-citizenship/corporate/publications-manuals/discover-canada.html>.

I respectfully suggest, sir, that one of the conditions of sentencing should be that the accused read this Study Guide from cover to cover and that they sit for and successfully pass the test. I am not in any way suggesting that their citizenship should in any way be tied to a successful outcome, only that they must pass the test as part of their sentence.

Thank you for your consideration of this suggestion. As I opened by saying, I hope that my contacting you with the suggestion is not inappropriate.

Density done right: the Missing Middle explored

By J. Bruce Craig

Comment

As many of us are hearing the news and observing changes in our communities, the question of how we provide suitable, affordable housing that blends well into our established neighbourhoods and accommodates growing population is an important question.

The answer is relatively complex, however, there are forward-looking approaches to planning that are emerging which provide a significant portion of the solution.

For the past 70 years in Ontario, planning has most often been characterized by sprawling, single-detached subdivisions gobbling up prime productive farmland and placing people a long way from amenities and employment. The car has become king, and many of us spend significant amounts of time in gridlock and long commutes while adding more and more carbon and GHGs to the atmosphere.

“Intensification” within our existing communities and urban areas is the buzz word around planning these days, and this can take a variety of forms, some more positive than others.

On the opposite extreme of low density, car-dependent urban sprawl is what might be called “over-development” with extremely high intensification made up of crowded clusters of high-rise condo-apartments and limited open, green space. Do these super dense urban communities provide a liveable, healthy place for residents? What makes for complete communities that contribute to health and well-being?

As municipalities seek to accommodate future residents and conserve remaining farmland and thriving natural heritage systems, some form of intensification within urban settlement areas is required.

In smaller communities such as King City, Nobleton and Schomberg, increasing density through intensification is a delicate issue. Most people in King would agree that lining main roadways such as King Road and Keele Street with rows of six storey apartment buildings with limited trees and open green space, plus a poor transition to adjacent existing neighbourhoods with single-detached homes is not good planning. What other options do we have?

Something called the “Missing Middle” offers a promising solution. The Missing Middle is often defined as housing made up of a variety of residential structures with two or more units on a lot bridging the huge gap between single-detached homes on large lots, as we have in King, and the proposed six-storey apartments, which result in high densities packed into core areas of King’s villages. Think of duplexes, triplexes, quadraplexes, garden suites, laneway cottages and similar residential units which provide what could be called “gentle density.” This approach to housing was very common in past days prior to suburban sprawl where neighbourhoods had a mix of housing that would meet a variety of needs and offered a significant degree of affordability to residents.

Are there opportunities in our established neighbourhoods in King to carefully integrate a variety of Missing Middle housing that would blend well through excellent design and substantial landscaping including abundant native trees and shrubs? Could zoning bylaws be revised and design guidelines be crafted to accommodate Missing Middle housing and ensure that it integrates well in existing neighbourhoods and streetscapes? In addition energy-efficiency and net zero construction could be addressed at the same time in meeting climate action goals.

With this approach of Missing Middle housing more efficient use of the land on larger properties could be realized, a range of housing options could be offered and more complete communities created. And through this, gentle intensification throughout our settlement areas could be achieved without the need to pack in “towering” apartment buildings along our busy roadways.

Even in the core village areas on the main roads, attractively-designed triplexes and quadraplexes could be interspersed with well-terraced four-to five-storey apartment buildings designed at a “village scale” that would blend in well. Mixed uses, including residential units with appropriate commercial units – cafés, fresh food markets, small scale offices – could be incorporated into many future projects. In addition, small scale garden suites and cottages could be built behind our heritage homes with deeper lots in the core areas of King’s three main villages.

Let’s keep the conversation going and work together to achieve something better, more liveable and more attractive that will meet intensification goals while accommodating a variety of needs for the future in King’s villages.

(Note: In writing this piece I give credit to Planner, Brent Toderian, other visionaries and journalists who have highlighted the benefits of Missing Middle housing.)

Alliance offers personal vows for Earth Month

April is Earth Month, a very good time to stop worrying about the environment, climate change, and instead do something about these by taking personal action. The changes we make to green our shopping choices can add up to a sizeable dent in our carbon footprint.

The York Region Environmental Alliance is asking residents to make a pledge for Earth Month to check as many of the boxes below as you can.

I will read labels and choose more sustainable products certified as organic, Energy Star, FSC, Fair Trade, EcoLogo or C2C (cradle to cradle).

I will consider borrowing, renting, repairing or buying used and refurbished instead of buying new.

I will ask myself if I really NEED to buy each item I consider purchasing.

I will re-evaluate my wardrobe and avoid impulse purchases.

I will consider more sustainable fibres such as organic cotton and linen, hemp, recycled polyester.

I will first visit a consignment or second hand store the next time I need clothing.

I will recycle all textiles and clothing by donating to charities or at community drop off centres.

I will get an energy audit for my home.

I will install a programmable thermostat.

I will purchase my hydro, natural gas heating from Bullfrog Power, a green energy provider.

I will convert my lighting to CFL or LED (best choice).

I will choose zero or low VOC or natural paints to improve indoor air quality.

I will install a 3-litre, low-flush toilet.

I will install a tankless or solar water heater.

Household Cleaners

I will inform myself about the toxic substances that may be in my home.

I will dispose of these at a hazardous waste facility if applicable.

I will read the labels and choose products that will not be bad for my health and home environment.

I will buy cold water unscented laundry detergent.

I will buy phosphate free dishwasher detergent.

I will use white vinegar as a window cleaner and fabric softener.

I will use baking soda as an air freshener, drain cleaner and stain remover.

I will switch from chlorine to oxygen bleach.

Paper

I will purchase paper products made from post-consumer recycled content.

I will reduce paper use by converting to online newspapers, paperless banking & email communication.

I will use both sides of a sheet of paper whenever possible.

Avoid Buying

I will avoid buying bottled water, use a refillable container instead and if I have concerns about my tap water, I will install a water filtration system.

I will avoid buying single use batteries and will dispose of used batteries and electronics responsibly.

It is a learning curve so if you are interested in knowing more about the cradle to grave of some everyday items you use, sign up for York Region Environmental Alliance's free "Shop like the Planet's Watching" presentation hosted by the Aurora Public Library on Earth Day, April 22, at 2 p.m.

Ontario cutting gas and fuel taxes for six months

As part of its plan to keep costs down for Ontario families and businesses, the Ontario government is introducing legislation that would, if passed, cut the gas tax by 5.7 cents per litre and the fuel tax by 5.3 cents per litre for six months beginning July 1.

Vehicle owners in Ontario would see significant direct savings from this proposed gas tax cut and the recently announced elimination of licence plate renewal fees, with households benefiting from an average combined savings of about $465 in 2022.

"Ongoing supply chain challenges and geopolitical conflicts are pushing up the cost of living from gas to groceries," said Peter Bethlenfalvy, Minister of Finance. "With these added pressures, families and businesses need extra help to keep costs low. That is why our government is bringing forward legislation to provide tax relief at the pumps and put money back into people's pockets."

Effective July 1 until Dec. 31, the gas tax rate would be cut from 14.7 cents per litre to 9 cents per litre, representing a cut of 5.7 cents per litre. The fuel tax rate, which includes diesel, would be reduced from 14.3 cents per litre to 9 cents per litre, representing a cut of 5.3 cents per litre.

The Ontario government is also continuing to call on the federal government to help families and businesses in the face of rising costs by cutting the carbon tax, which increased to 11.05 cents per litre on gasoline and 13.41 cents per litre on diesel on April 1.

"Ontario is getting stronger, and with this proposed legislation, our government is doing its part to support workers and families," said Minister Bethlenfalvy. "Now is the time for the federal government to join us in providing relief for hard-working Canadians by cutting the carbon tax."

Ontario's plan to cut gas and fuel taxes is part of a broader package that will provide immediate cost-of-living relief, including:

Cutting costs for millions of Ontario vehicle owners by refunding licence plate sticker renewal fees paid since March 2020, and eliminating licence plate renewal fees and plate stickers on a go-forward basis, saving vehicle owners $120 a year in southern Ontario and $60 a year in Northern Ontario for passenger and light commercial vehicles.

Permanently removing tolls on Highways 412 and 418, effective April 5.

Providing tax relief for workers, families and seniors through the Low-Income Workers Tax Credit, the Seniors' Home Safety Tax Credit, the Ontario Jobs Training Tax Credit and the Ontario Child Care Tax Credit.

Reaching an agreement with the federal government for $13.2 billion of funding for a Canada-wide Early Learning and Child Care System, providing Ontario families with children five years old and younger in participating licensed child care centres with up to 25 per cent in savings, to a minimum of $12 per day, retroactive to April 1. This agreement will deliver an average of $10-a-day child care for eligible children by September 2025.

Vehicle owners in Ontario would see a significant direct savings from this proposed gas tax cut and the recently announced elimination of licence plate renewal fees. For example, a family in Southern Ontario who owns two cars and drives regularly would save about $815 in 2022. Households that do not own vehicles are expected to benefit from the impact of the proposed gas tax cut in the prices paid for taxis, food delivery and consumer products.

The price paid at the pump is made up of the cost of crude oil, wholesale margins, retail margins, federal excise tax, the federal carbon tax, Ontario gasoline/fuel tax and HST.

In 2018, the government passed legislation to eliminate the previous government's cap and trade carbon tax to reduce gas prices by 4.3 cents per litre. When combined with the savings from the government's proposed legislation, the reduction in provincial taxes and charges on gas would total 10 cents per litre.

Ontario's Gas Tax program supports public transit in municipalities across Ontario by providing two cents per litre of provincial gas tax to improve and expand transit. The Ontario government will ensure that this funding would not be impacted by this proposed cut.

Funding for housing initiatives comes as good news

By Mark Pavilons
Editor

The Ontario government's pledge to eliminate some red tape and accelerate housing comes as good news.

The Province plans to inject $19 million to help reduce backlogs and accelerate decisions at the Ontario Land Tribunal and Landlord and Tenant Board (LBT) is being well received.

Funding will help appoint more impartial adjudicators at the OLT and LTB and support additional technology at the land tribunal to resolve cases faster.

"Ontarians deserve the opportunity to find the right home for them, and government bureaucracy should never stand in the way," says Attorney General Doug Downey. "We are making even more investments in the Ontario Land Tribunal and the Landlord and Tenant Board to help clear long-standing backlogs and drive faster decisions so we can get more shovels in the ground."

This investment addresses a key recommendation in the Report of the Ontario Housing Affordability Task Force to increase resources at the Ontario Land Tribunal so homes can be built faster.

"We recognize the important role the Ontario Land Tribunal plays in the province's housing supply, and we remain committed to the principled and timely resolutions of the matters before us," said Greg Bishop, Alternate Chair for the Ontario Land Tribunal. "This investment will allow the Tribunal to schedule hearing events and issue decisions quicker and more efficiently than before, and we appreciate the support of the Ontario government to allow us to provide an even higher quality of service to Ontarians."

Investments at the OLT will support faster case resolution.

"Our More Homes for Everyone plan proposes smart, targeted policies that make the approvals process work better and faster to help more Ontarians find the home that's right for them. It lays a strong foundation for our long-term plan to deliver the Task Force and create multi-generational communities that work in every municipality," said Steve Clark, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing. "As the ultimate impartial adjudicator, investing in the Ontario Land Tribunal as well as the Landlord and Tenant Board will help break the cycle of delays and appeals – getting homes built faster and helping tenants and landlords resolve disputes."

These changes are part of More Homes for Everyone, the next phase in the government's plan to build all kinds of homes faster.

Since 2019, new adjudicators hired by the government have helped reduce a longstanding backlog of Ontario Municipal Board cases by more than 60 per cent.

In 2021, Ontario had the highest level of new home construction since 1987, and the highest level of rental construction in 30 years.

Aurora Mayor Tom Mrakas believes new legislation can help create more affordable housing as well as curbing speculation and making it easier to build more community housing.

The Bill, presented by Minister Clark, abandons the Housing Affordability Task Force's 55 recommendations and commits to delivering short-term solutions and long-term commitments including working with and supporting municipalities.

"I was encouraged to hear that the Minister has seen the importance and need for the Provincial Government to have meaningful consultation with municipalities to find the best approach to the housing crisis. If we are to find solutions to the housing crisis we need to work together – all levels of government.

"I look forward to working with this and the next Provincial government to create vibrant, thriving communities to not only spur growth and create affordability but continue to maintain the uniqueness of each of the 444 municipalities in our province."

The Residential Construction Council of Ontario (RESCON) is applauding the legislation that takes aim at the critical lack of housing supply.

"The More Homes for Everyone Act tabled in the Legislature by Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Steve Clark is the type of forward-thinking action that is needed to help increase the supply of housing in Ontario," said RESCON president Richard Lyall. "The measures being proposed in this legislation are a good first step toward a solution to the crisis."

Specifically, the legislation commits to a housing supply action plan every year over four years and proposes measures to streamline municipal approval processes. Municipalities would be required to gradually refund application fees if a decision isn't made within legislative timelines. A new tool called the Community Infrastructure and Housing Accelerator is also proposed that would help municipalities accelerate approvals related to housing and community infrastructure.

The legislation also recommends changes to the Building Code that would streamline modular multi-unit residential building approvals and facilitate more infill and low-rise multi-unit housing.

RESCON has been pressing for action by the provincial and federal governments on the housing front. We held a summit in March to explore the issue and figure out what do to going forward. Importantly, the summit generated plenty of ideas and highlighted that the federal and Ontario governments and big city mayors in the province are all aligned on the seriousness of the housing crisis.

"Lack of housing and high prices are causing talent to leave our cities. Young people are no longer able to afford a house and start families. The cost of buying a new home in Ontario has nearly tripled in the past decade and prices are still rising. Our economic recovery is threatened by the problem.

"We are falling far short of the number of new homes needed to keep up with our immigration and population growth," added Lyall. "Demand is only going to increase and our ability to attract talent and business investment very much depends on adequate and affordable housing. The More Homes for Everyone Act is just the first of many steps that must be taken to address the housing crisis."

Schomberg Vet Services open their doors, hosts event

By Robert Belardi

Following a closed-door policy that lasted two years due to the pandemic, Schomberg Vet Services finally opened their doors to the public recently.

This open house, featured a DJ, snacks and giveaways for everyone who attended.

After purchasing the clinic nine months ago, Dr. Gigi wanted to embrace the power of local community.

“Let’s meet each other in person. I used to go out into the parking lot to greet people. So, people are so excited to come in,” Dr. Gigi said.

Open throughout the course of the day, more than 70 clients along with their pets, came to meet the clinic’s staff. Inspired by one of the employees named Claudia, all staff wore cowboy boots and hats throughout the opening.

Dr. Gigi has worked in and around the Schomberg area. She was previously located in Kleinburg, Nobleton and Tottenham before finally residing here.

The Woodbridge resident, is excited to be providing both veterinary and animal-hospital like services to all pet owners.

“We basically are a full hospital so everything for pets we can provide here. We have our diagnostic, digital x-ray,” Dr. Gigi said. “We have our in-house lab. For lab work and urine analysis. If a sick animal comes, we can have results right away. So, blood, urine and x-rays.”

Accompanied by an in-house pharmacy, Dr. Gigi can perform most soft-tissue surgeries on site. She provides services to dogs, cats and small mammals. Uniquely, she also carries a dental machine to provide oral hygienic services for her clients.

“It’s very important for the body health. A healthy mouth is a healthy body. Owners with puppies, I tell them, start brushing now. Get the dog used to dental hygiene. Even my gifts, half of my gifts are dental. Dental toothpastes, toothbrushes and a pamphlet on how to brush your dog’s teeth. It prevents kidney disease and heart disease. The bacteria enters the blood stream. And they even found it is related to some skin conditions.”

Speaking with clients on site, everyone who attended the open-house, is more than satisfied with Dr. Gigi’s work.

“We’re happy to have a doctor like Dr. Gigi up here. We were having issues with our little pup. Our dog was having four issues a week. Right now she brought it down to one issue every two to three months. We’re so happy about that, it means a lot to us,” said Carlo Peca, who has been a resident in the community for 23 years.

“Dr. Gigi is a beautiful person. She’s very sensitive to everyone. And we want to support this community and come out and do the best for her. Today we’re going to throw a big party for the community.”

Another resident, Teresa Handson, said the best part about being her client, she felt very welcome.

“She’s very personable to me. She also has taken very good care of my dogs they are very happy. I’m very happy with the way my dogs feel,” Handson said, who was previously an owner of

PNK Hair Design Studio, a 25-year-dream come true

By Robert Belardi

There's no better feeling than seeing your dream come true. But what about when multiple dreams become a reality? Things like this don't happen every day.

When Christine Longo was 14 years old, she dreamed of owning a motorcycle. In 2012, Longo said enough was enough. She made her dream come true, as both her and her husband John Mallia purchased a pink Harley Davidson.

Recently, Longo saw her second dream come to fruition, as she officially opened PNK Hair Design Studio in Schomberg.

"I've been a hair dresser and celebrating 25 years this year. For the past 18 (years), I worked in a corporate role as a national educator," Longo said, at her grand opening.

"The past year, I decided it was time to move on and do something for myself. That's where the hair salon came out of. So, 25-year celebration opening up a hair salon."

The Maple resident, named her hair salon after the colour of her motorcycle.

In her search to find a suitable location, Longo chose Schomberg because of its small town feel. Maple, which has been vastly growing since its inception, was not the right idea for her. Being involved in a town like Schomberg, Longo will be able to meet her own goals and be involved with local charities to support causes she believes in.

"We're going to be doing some days where we'll raise money to be able to donate. The first one we are doing is in April, blow dries for ovarian cancer research. And then in May, we're going to do a motorcycle ride. And anybody who would like to participate, is going to donate money for King for Refugees," Longo said.

"We're looking at doing another motorcycle ride for the humane society, the local humane society and the King food bank. Those are on the list this year."

On fundraising days, Longo will display her Harley outside of the shop. It will draw awareness for anything the studio will do.

Longo is an experienced hair dresser, who specializes in colour. She loves a good challenge, working on colour correction and meeting clients' goals.

PNK Hair Design will be offering services such as short and long haircuts for both men and women, she is trained to provide texture services such as barbering and smoothing as well.

Over time, the hope for the future is to bring a full aesthetics menu.

"So, doing manicures, pedicures, waxing, full-waxing, eyebrow tinting, eyelash tinting, all of the things that finish off the beauty services. So definitely actively looking for somebody to work in that area and service the clients," Longo said.

For weddings, Longo is working with the local florist and will be putting together packages to service flowers and hair combined. She also works with a photographer (Ordinary Moments Photography) to help round out the services.

"We welcome anybody to come to my salon. We welcome children, we do children's haircuts. I also have a lot of friends with children with special needs, I really would like to be able to help out with that too," Longo mentioned.

"I want people to know I'm not just here to cut hair. I want to be everyone's friend and be a part of the community. That's my biggest message."

PNK Hair Design Studio is located at 17250 ON-27, Unit 3 in Schomberg. You may call 905-510-2587 to book an appointment or for more information.

Mayor Steve Pelligrini, Christine Longo, daughter Isabella and husband John Mallia cut the ribbon to unveil PNK Hair Design Studio to the public.

Ontario extends freeze on college, university tuition

The Ontario government is extending the current tuition freeze for colleges and universities by an additional year, through 2022-2023, providing financial relief and predictability for students and families seeking access to affordable post-secondary education.

"Our government recognizes that students and their families make huge sacrifices to attend college and university, so our government will continue to look for ways to reduce financial barriers for learners," said Jill Dunlop, Minister of Colleges and Universities. "By freezing tuition for another year, we are saying yes to ensuring that students have access to affordable, high-quality postsecondary education, and reducing the financial strain on families who have already faced so many challenges throughout the pandemic."

The one-year extended tuition freeze for Ontario residents builds on Ontario's historic 10 per cent reduction in tuition for the 2019-20 academic year, and the subsequent two-year freeze from 2020-22. These reductions represent the first of their kind in Ontario's history. The government's action to reduce and freeze tuition has provided students with tuition relief of about $450 million annually when compared to tuition costs in 2018-19.

King photographer Lisa Pace celebrates women over 40

When you think of fashion magazines, women over 40 probably don't come to mind as the models gracing those pages. In fact, this age demographic tends to take a backseat to the camera.

Local photographer Lisa Pace, of Lisa Pace Photography, is trying to change all that with her brand new empowering campaign. This luxury experience is also raising much-needed funds for the Women's Centre of York Region.

Lisa recently launched her "40 Over 40 Campaign," where she plans to photograph 40 women over the age of 40.

"You can't be too old for this campaign," she said. "Bring on the older, the wiser, and the incredible stories of mature women. They all deserve to be celebrated."

Women in their 40s, 50s, 60s and up will be the models in this magazine-styled portrait session complete with professional hair & makeup, and wardrobe styling. It's the opportunity to feel like a celebrity with lots of pampering and coaching on posing.

Lisa decided to embrace this age bracket after photographing newborns and young families for 8 years.

"It was time to hang out with women my own age," confides Lisa, who's approaching 60 this fall. "I understand how women feel about being photographed, especially as we age."

Lisa's daughter has even challenged Lisa to post a photo a month on social media to fully understand how difficult it is for some people to get in front of the camera.

In the 40 Over 40 Campaign, you will work with Lisa to design a photo session perfect for you.

"We spend a great deal of time discussing your ideas and your outfits, before the session even takes place," says the Pottageville photographer. Lisa also has a studio wardrobe that clients can pick from if they want.

When asked to tell about her experience, the first 40 Over 40 model Marion Knaus said: "She encouraged me to step outside of my comfort zone which gave us some amazing photos. I really wasn't sure what to expect when I went into this, so when I saw the results of her work, I was blown away at what she captured."

The grand finale of the campaign will be a gallery-styled exhibition where the favourite portrait from each session will be displayed, and all participating women will be invited to attend. Each woman will also be on the cover of Lisa's studio magazine SHINE.

Lisa is also donating $50 from every session to the Women's Centre of York Region that helps support women in the community.

To be part of this campaign, you can contact Lisa at www.lisapacephotography.com/40-over-40 or at 416-200-5786. Space is limited.

'More than Meets the Eye' event at gallery a success

The Olde Mill Art Gallery & Shoppe and WriteNow!@King groups hosted a wonderful event on Sunday afternoon, celebrating two art genres, the visual arts and wordsmiths.

In this unique collaboration of the arts, wordsmiths of King Township were invited to come to the Olde Mill Art Gallery & Shoppe in Schomberg to explore the Gallery and to be inspired to write about a piece that moved them. The writer was free to peruse the gallery and let the art work speak to them.

They were asked to put their thoughts of what they feel about a specific piece into poetry, prose or stories.

The written work of 6 authors of WriteNow@King were posted in the Gallery for this event and the 4 of the authors present read their wonderful submissions to the audience: Dorita Peer, Brian Boake, Kyra Walton and Joanne Bailey.

A special thank you to Mayor Steve Pellegrini, Councillor Debbie Schaefer and MP Anna Roberts for attending and showing their support!

Thank you also to the writers for the amazing stories and poetry and to all our guests for making this event very special.

The delightful and creative submissions from the Writers are being displayed alongside the selected art work in the Gallery and will continue to be on display for the month of April.

Councillor Debbie Schaefer, King-Vaughan MP Anna Roberts and Mayor Steve Pellegrini showed their support for the event at Schomberg's Olde Mill Gallery.

Ontario opens new parking structure at Rutherford station

MPP Stephen Lecce announced the official opening of a new major infrastructure upgrade – a 1,200-spot parking structure at the Rutherford GO Station in Vaughan. This project is part of a larger initiative, totalling $239 million in investment to enhance the Rutherford GO station features in order to reduce traffic, while supporting future two-way, all-day service along the Barrie GO line.

"I am firmly committed to delivering better transit options, expanded parking and a better commuter experience for Vaughan families," said Lecce. "We are delivering a modern transit hub at Rutherford GO that will reduce congestion, protect the environment, and get Vaughan moving."

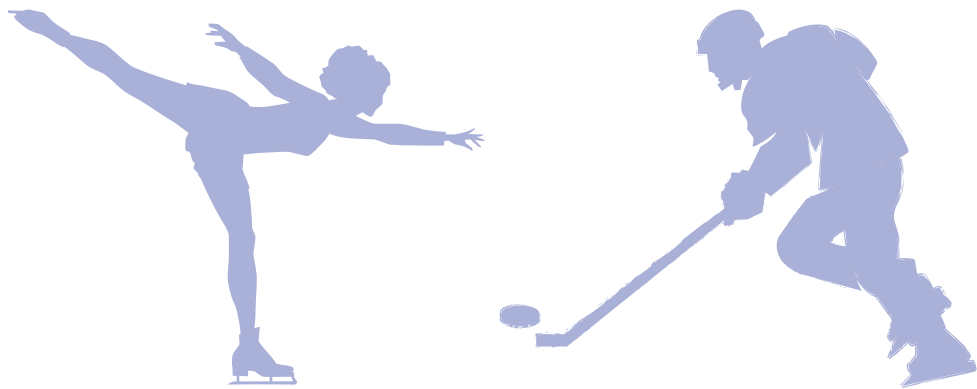

The completed improvements to Rutherford GO station include a new parking structure featuring approximately 1,200 net new spaces and 100 new secure bike parking spots. The structure is fully accessible and provides approximately 30 spaces reserved for accessible parking. The parking structure is also a gold level certification under the LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) program, and includes digital displays, lighting, electric vehicle charging, and a state-of-the-art car counting system.

"The new, modern parking structure at Rutherford GO marks another improvement for transit riders in Vaughan. This parking structure delivers more than 1,000 net new parking spaces and 100 new spots for secure bike storage," said Caroline Mulrone, Minister of Transportation and MPP for York-Simcoe.

York Catholic District board launches its spring food drive

The York Catholic District School Board (YCDSB) will be hosting its third annual “Nurturing Hope” spring Food Drive in support of vulnerable children and families across York Region.

In the spirit of the Lenten season, with giving and reflection as cornerstones of the Catholic faith, elementary school communities across the YCDSB will once again join together to provide vital nutrition and personal care essentials to nine different York Region food banks and food pantries.

Through April 8, between 8:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. bins will be located at the front doors of participating YCDSB elementary schools on designated days, ready to receive non-perishable food and/or personal care items from parents, students, family members and the community at-large.

Reminders and event updates will also be promoted through the schools’ social networks and via @YCDSB.

“As a Catholic faith community, we find grace in serving where there is need,” said YCDSB Chair, Elizabeth Crowe. “Now more than ever, our neighbours across York Region are facing uncertainty about the future on so many levels. Our board is proud to be reaching out once again with the Nurturing Hope initiative, and commends staff, students and families for their remarkable work and generosity.”

In 2020, Food Banks of York Region distributed $8.5 million worth of food and supplies to 83 community organization partners who provided food services to York Region residents facing food insecurity.

“It’s been a challenging year for so many, but the resolve of our York Catholic community continues to demonstrate that we are a true force for good,” said Angela Lomuto-Corriero, Nurturing Hope Spring Food Drive Lead/Principal at St. Padre Pio CES. “We are thrilled to be back, and look forward to welcoming new and returning donors to this great cause.”

The number of York Region households that experienced food insecurity between 2009 and 2014, was roughly 24,700 households. As new data emerges, and the long-term economic impact of COVID-19 is felt across the province, household food insecurity and childhood hunger in York Region continue to increase. Between April 2020 and March 2021, close to 600,000 people accessed a local food bank in York Region, representing a 10 to 12 per cent increase over the previous year.

York Region food banks and pantries benefitting from the YCDSB “Nurturing Hope” Spring Food Drive include Newmarket Food Pantry; Richmond Hill Food Bank; Keswick Food Bank; Aurora Food Pantry; King Township Food Bank; Georgina Food Pantry; Whitchurch-Stouffville Food Bank; Markham Food Bank; Vaughan Food Bank.

Local clinic a success

Adam Stewart gave blood for the first time at the Schomberg clinic recently. Canadian Blood Services notes the March 23 clinic at the Trisan Centre collected 55 donations, just shy of their goal. CBS notes as we head towards the Easter long weekend, donors are needed to continue to show up for patients in need. While it is still a requirement to book an appointment in advance of the event, same day and open appointments are often available at many donation events across the country.

The St. Andrew's College campus

A SCHOOL for BOYS

At St. Andrew's College, we habitually and deliberately challenge stereotypes and believe that there are a myriad of ways in which boys can achieve the fullest expression of their most human selves. To best serve boys, educators must understand that boys' behaviour is often a reflection of the backdrop of societal perceptions of masculinity.

To that end, we are able to tap into a rich, longstanding culture in which boys are able to explore, in safety, the breadth of the human condition, and their unique place within it. In this school culture, artistry and creativity are not labelled as 'feminine,' but rather as human.

Eloquence, both written and spoken, is expected. Self-reflection and the quest for meaning is built into the fabric of the daily routine, whether through Chapel or our Advisory program.

But there is more to it than that. Boys carry a natural wariness for things that are not genuine, and become bored easily when the activity at hand does little to forward their own sense of meaning. To that end, our teachers create an authentic curriculum; help boys find purpose in life; train them to care for themselves and others; and endow them with a sense of personal commitment and integrity. These goals become more realizable in a culture that presupposes one can be much more than what can be offered by the limiting stereotypes of masculinity. <<

King Curling Club crowns 2022 champions

By Shellee Morning

As one of the most challenging seasons of curling comes to a close, the final games of who would be champion have left an everlasting mark that will go down in history. A year that brought on player restrictions and another lockdown in the middle of the season had curlers in an up and down swing of momentum.

Year-end championship games are always exciting right down to the last rock thrown, and this year after everything the players endured, was no different.

The Men's A Division final between Teams Doug Brown and Dave Barber had it all with the traditional hits and draws that kept the interest of several spectators. Skip Doug Brown, Sylvain Pelland, Trevor Battershell and Anthony Strickland were in control with a 5-2 lead after 4 ends of play. Skip Dave Barber, Dan Steenhoek, Peter Kamstra and Simon Prigmore collected a deuce in the 5th then stole 3 more in the 6th to take over the lead 7-5.

Team Barber used their drastic swing of momentum by holding Brown to a single in the 7th regaining the hammer coming home. Keeping control of the house, Barber collected one more to win 8-6 becoming 2022 Men's Champion.

Team Barber is forever grateful to ice technician Richard Quick, who commendably spared for them during the quarter final and semi-final play-off rounds allowing them to qualify for the final. This year's Canadian Men's National Championship known as The Brier, went down in the history books as for the first time a team of only 3 players; Team Gushue of Newfoundland, won the Title to advance to the World Championships.

A similar scenario took place in the men's B Division. Team Gerrits missing their Skip George Gerrits, Chris Welch and Rick Ahle were all away for their final championship game. Spare Nick Keehn accompanied 4th team mate; Alan Courneya and James Gillem the team's 5th alternate were matched up against the newly formed team of Jim Smith.

Gillem, who had never skipped before, took the position within stride collecting 3 in the first. Smith along with team mates Charles Pringle, John Urbanski and Eric Mumford earned one in the second before Team Gerrits took control for the remainder of the game securing the B Division Title.

The Women's Championship game was decided between teams Barb Davis 3rd and Cindy Brown 4th place finish in the standings.

The scoreboard exchanged points back and forth to a 3-3 tie after 4. Davis and her team of Kathryn Markle, Pam McKinley and Julie Hymers shifted brooms in the 5th earning a solid 3 for a 6-3 advantage.

Cindy Brown with Ann Gerrits, Diane Bracken and spare Natalia Lebedeva made some very impressive shots during their match but it would be Team Davis who was victorious that night earning their first title of Ladies Champion.

(More results next week.)

Men's Division A Champions (left) Simon Prigmore, Peter Kamstra, Dan Steenhoek and Dave Barber. Men's Division B Champions (spare) Nick Keehn, James Gillem, Alan Courneya. Missing George Gerrits, Chris Welch and Rick Ahle.

Ladies Champions Barb Davis, Pam McKinley, Kathryn Markle and Julie Hymers.

U11 A King Rebellion made team history

History was written in the Rebellion's books, as the U 11 As became the first team in the minor hockey program to make it the OMHA finals this past weekend.

Ranked 2nd in all of Ontario and entering the tournament in Whitby with an undefeated regular season record, the Rebellion made King Township proud! Despite losing 3-1 in the finals to the Woolwich Wildcats, it was a remarkable season for all of these young men, coaches, team staff and parents.

Full article to come in next week's edition of the newspaper.

Cougars advance to division finals

By Robert Belardi

The Schomberg Cougars booked their ticket into the North Carruthers Division finals after erasing a 3-2 series deficit against the Orillia Terriers.

With this win, the Cougars advanced to the divisional finals for the first time since 2015, when the club was a part of the Georgian Mid-Ontario Junior C Hockey League.

"I'm just happy for the organization and to be a part of it. The Hulls are great people and they do a lot for their team," said Cougars head coach Stan Kondrotas.

"Obviously, we're thankful for the fans that we do have there. But we would also like to see the community and fan base come out more to see exciting hockey; a very offensive hockey team that we have. We score a lot of goals, we're a fast hockey team."

The Cougars downed the Terriers 6-5 in 2OT last Thursday in game six and took care of business in game seven on the road last Saturday with a 5-1 drubbing.

In Thursday's emphatic win, the Cougars went down by one early. After pressing the Terriers for the opening seven minutes, Terriers forward Josh Brown opened the scoring.

Towards the end of the first period, the Cougars relentlessness paid dividends. A point shot from Marc Bottero trickled through Reed Spinola. There to poke it in on the doorstep was captain Cameron Kokelj.

Fueled by the tying goal, Kokelj drifted into the slot and ripped a shot past Spinola with 10 seconds left in the frame to put the Cougars up by one.

At the beginning of the second, Kokelj continued to dominate the game, firing home his hat-trick goal just four minutes into the second period.

Riding on a high, the Cougars lost a step, and in a span of six minutes, conceded goals to Sam Pink and Jayden Murison, setting up an epic third period.

With just over five minutes left to play and down by one goal, the feisty Zach Gallow, slapped the puck through the five-hole from the top of the right hashmarks to send this game to overtime.

In the first overtime, Cougars goaltender Tristan Szymanowski stood on his head to keep the boys in it. In double overtime from the left side of goal, Luke Miehm's shot squeaked through Spinola to give the Cougars the win.

In game seven on Saturday, the Cougars went in with a full lineup. Christian Taylor and Stuart Barber returned. The Cougars, chased Wade Monague out of the net forcing the Terriers to return back to Spinola. Luke Miehm and Chris Dirracolo scored twice, Barber contributed a goal and an assist, as the Cougars, earned a hard-fought victory on the road in front of 792 people at the West Orillia Sports Complex.

Now into the divisional finals, the Cougars have a tough task ahead. The boys will be going up against the top team, the Stayner Siskins.

The Siskins, are coming off a heroic comeback victory, having erased a 3-0 series deficit against the Alliston Hornets in the previous round.

"Our guys are focused and fired up. Everybody is hungry. They want to win," Kondrotas said.

"We have as good a chance as anybody. I know our guys are prepared. Stayner, they're going to be ready. We just have to play our game and try to capitalize on things that Stayner does wrong."

The Schomberg Cougars kick off the North Carruthers Division finals tonight on the road in Stayner at 8 p.m.

Game two will take place Saturday night at the Trisan Centre at 7:30 p.m.

Game three is in Stayner on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and game four, will take place on Tuesday night in Schomberg at 8 p.m.

U9 A King Rebellion (top) won the York Simcoe Minor Hockey Championships this past weekend.

U9A King Rebellion wins York Simcoe Minor Hockey championship

By Robert Belardi

The U9 A King Rebellion were crowned champions of York Simcoe Minor Hockey in the last weekend of March.

It was quite an exceptional tournament for these young boys. The Rebellion, never lost a game in this tournament, earning their third victory in tournament play this year.

With opening victories 3-2 against East Gwillimbury, 5-2 against Bradford and 7-0 against Barrie, the semifinals were a true test up against a good Orillia team. Tied 2-2, the game went to shootout and the Rebellion booked their ticket into the finals with a 6-4 shootout win.

Having opened the tournament against East Gwillimbury, the two teams took each other on once again the finals. The Rebellion defeated East Gwillimbury 2-0.

Recapping the tournament, head coach of the team Steve Mignardi, said the most satisfying thing out of all of this, was coaching this group of players.

"For me personally, I would say, this is the most satisfying thing I've ever done," Mignardi said.

"I think for all of the coaches. Not just because we won. But just for the development of the kids, the good and bad experiences that we've had. Other than having my kids and getting married, this is incredible. I didn't realize that I would get such a love for all of the kids on that level."

Along with Mignardi, assistant coaches on the team were Steve Brown and Paolo Sacilotto. The trainer of the team is Peter Paris and the one managing the group, was manager Sonia Mignardi.

On the ice, goaltenders Alexander Dimitriou and Luca Pupo held it together between the pipes.

On the back end, Matteo Paris, David Filippo, Brayden Brown, Grayson Winhall and Giordano Bisogno protected the goaltenders and contributed offensively.

And the boys up front, helping lead the Rebellion on the scoresheet were Luca Gorniak, Giuliano Bartella, Simon Samaroo, Dante McCague, Stefano Mignardi, Mason Macri, Christian Farro, James Sacilotto, Max Giannone and Rocco McCague.

What Was She Thinking? A sermon by Fr. Michael on the story of Martha washing Jesus's feet in John 12: "Mary took a pound of costly perfume, anointed Jesus's feet, and wiped them with her hair. But Judas Iscariot, said, 'Why was this perfume not sold for three hundred denarii and the money given to the poor?'" Jesus said, 'Leave her alone. She bought it so that she might keep it for the day of my burial. You always have the poor with you, but you do not always have me.'

"What was Mary thinking? Judas sees that Mary's action is a terrible waste. All that 'costly' perfume, wasted. Her motives don't seem to matter to him. Why would she do such a thing for Jesus? For friendship and love, certainly, and perhaps for gratitude. We know Lazarus and his two sisters, Mary and Martha, are friends. After Lazarus dies, it is the sisters who send for Jesus, and John tells us that Jesus comes because he "loves" them. Perhaps Mary is thinking of her gratitude to him for returning Lazarus to life.

"What was Mary thinking? Perhaps she feels fear for her friend. After Jesus raises their brother, news spreads quickly. The Jewish leaders plot to kill him. Jesus could no longer travel in the open. Now here he is, He is on his way to Jerusalem and danger, maybe even death. Perhaps Mary understands enough to be anointing him as if he were dead. Anointing a person's body is getting ready for a funeral. Jesus refers to this when he says 'Leave her alone. She bought it so that she might keep it for the day of my burial.'

"What was Mary thinking? She might also be thinking of how he might enter Jerusalem, triumphantly, like a king. In the Jewish tradition, Kings were consecrated. It is as if Mary senses that her action of anointing has to do with resurrection and points to Jesus special role as the king who God sends to conquer death itself. And so to us, as we watch Mary at Jesus's feet. What are we thinking? Are we thinking of excess. or we may see it as selfless service to others.

"If we see Mary's action as a gift of love, then we see something of God's love for us. The extravagance of Mary's generosity, points us to the extravagance of God's grace and love. We will see this most clearly and terribly, when we look to the cross on Good Friday."

Province stabilizing sport and recreation for communities

The Ontario government is investing $30 million to stabilize Ontario's sport and recreation sector, help offset increased costs as a result of COVID-19 and support the sector's future recovery in communities across the province.

"Ontario's sport and recreation sector was among the first and hardest hit by the pandemic," said Lisa MacLeod, Minister of Heritage, Sport, Tourism and Culture Industries. "Our government recognizes how important sport and recreation is to our physical and mental well-being, and to the economic well-being of Ontario communities. As we emerge from the pandemic, this investment will help ensure families and athletes are able to return to the sports and activities they love."

This funding includes:

$20 million to ministry-recognized Provincial Sport Organizations (PSOs) and Multi-Sport Organizations (MSOs) to distribute to their local member clubs such as soccer, karate and volleyball.

$7 million to the Ontario Sport Network to distribute to local community-based sport and recreation organizations such as dance and cheerleading, through an application process.

$3 million to help the Ontario Hockey League (OHL) and its 17 teams meet their academic scholarship commitments for current and former players.

"This funding will help community-based sports organizations get back on their feet, so they can continue to support the social, physical, emotional and economic well-being of communities across the province," said Finance Minister Peter Bethlenfalvy. "Ontario is getting stronger, and today's investment is part of our plan to support our recovery, prosperity and growth."

Supporting Ontario's local sport and recreation clubs and organizations is vital to their long-term sustainability and will ensure they are well positioned to provide services and opportunities for youth and adults across Ontario as they return to physical activity and competition.

Ontario's PSOs and MSOs consist of approximately 7,400 clubs servicing almost 3.1 million members, playing a pivotal role in the development of athletes, coaches and officials.

Established in 1998, the Ontario Sport Network, formerly Sport4Ontario, is a non-profit organization dedicated to promotion of sport and physical activity at the community level in Ontario.

The OHL directly supports jobs and businesses across Ontario, including: 327 full-time jobs in its teams and league office, 831 part-time jobs, 176 students working for teams on internships or co-op terms, and 1,100 volunteers, and 327 player alumni on OHL-financed scholarships at post-secondary institutions in Ontario and abroad.

"This is great news for our alumni and current players who play and study in the Ontario Hockey League. We are grateful to the Premier and Minister MacLeod for their support of the League throughout the pandemic. The OHL scholarship and academic programs are a key part of our player experience, and this funding helps to ensure this program continues to thrive," said David Branch, Commissioner, Ontario Hockey League.

"We are excited to be working with Minister MacLeod and the Ministry of Heritage, Sport, Tourism and Culture Industries in providing an emergency relief fund targeting community level sport and recreation organizations, and associations to deal with financial hardships due to COVID-19. We recognize the critical importance of providing support to enhance the sustainability of our provincial sport sector," said Patsy Coyle, managing director, Ontario Sport Network.

Schomberg Should Know

By Wendy-Sue Bishop
905-590-0054
wsue52@hotmail.com

Schomberg Agricultural Society

This article was submitted to me from Bill McPhail, the current president of The Fair Board.

I was expecting bling and blitz all about their upcoming Fair (May 26, 27, 28 and 29). After all, their upcoming event, as events throughout the world, hasn't been able to happen for the last two years. All volunteers want to promote their event at every opportunity. This was undeniably, a selfless, generous message given from a man who cares about his community and fellow man and urges us all to look at the whole picture and to just simply care! Thank-you Bill.

By Bill McPhail

As the incoming president of the 2022 Schomberg Agricultural Fair, our Manager Cathy Pezo and I have discussed what lies ahead for our community, and in general the people of King Township and surrounding areas.

Our main concerns are the challenges we are all going to face in the upcoming future including the Schomberg Fair.

I initially thought of COVID, but we can also add inflation, high energy costs and now the Ukraine issue.

These are all factors that can weigh heavily on our minds, creating more stress, and we will all have to adjust and work through it.

With this in mind the Schomberg Fair like all volunteer groups throughout our community primarily runs on volunteers.

Now more than ever we believe you should try to volunteer your time, get out and meet, communicate and work with others for a better community.

Schomberg, like most places is a town, a small one, where all kinds of people live, work, and commute to and from.

But, it has a soul, and that soul is primarily driven through businesses and their donations, Chamber of Commerce, and volunteers. Volunteers, who built the old arena, support Main St.

Christmas Parade of Lights, the Lions, Hockey, Soccer, 4-H, The Township of King, churches, hospitals, and a whole list of community groups.

We truly believe one of the best things you can do for yourself is get involved in your community.

"The greatest things you can do is give others your time and talent."

Four Seasons Spring Market

Three women with a passion for hosting events and shopping invite everyone to come to their "Four Seasons Spring Market" on Saturday, April 9, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the Schomberg Fairgrounds.

The three women hope you will join them as their passion for shopping comes to life and to support market vendors!

Schomberg Street Gallery

The next Schomberg Street Gallery Outdoor Show and Sale on our glorious Main Street is scheduled for Sept. 18.

Tom Wray is putting out a call for all artists to get registered now. Just go to SchombergStreetGallery.ca; find the Art Applications Page and follow the steps. The deadline to get registered in May 31.

Support Ukraine!

Tom and Mara Wray have come up with an amazing initiative to raise funds for the conflict in Ukraine. These funds will go towards providing emergency assistance - medical supplies, food, water, shelter, hygiene products, heating, fuel and whatever else it takes to give comfort and solace to this stricken nation.

This is Mara's brainstorm as her parents experienced a similar nightmare when Russia invaded Latvia in 1944.

Tom has developed a meaningful 12 inch X 24 inch image of three beautiful sunflowers (the National flower of Ukraine) with stunning blue sky overhead, honoring the passion, courage and strength of the Ukraine. He has also developed a six pack of greeting cards showing the Sunflower.

He is asking $20 for each sign and each pack of cards and ALL of the proceeds will go to www.cufoundation.ca

Schomberg United Church By Nancy Hopkinson

Doug Reid will be the licensed lay worship leader for Palm Sunday. This will be a fun service as there will be palm branches to wave. This is to celebrate Jesus's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. Doug is very welcoming and friendly. He is married with 6 children and 10 grandchildren. He lives in Le-froy. In his spare time, he gardens, plays golf and travels.

Tuesday, April 12 is the Schomberg Seniors' Brunch Delivery day.

Friday, April 15 is Good Friday. Rev. Evelyn McLachlan is leading a Tenebrae Service of Shadows at 10:30 a.m. at Nobleton United Church. The Front Porch Harmony will be providing special music. This Tenebrae Service is characterized by gradual extinguishing of candles. The Good Friday service will not be ending with a loud sound. Rev. Evelyn has something else in mind. Come and find out on April 15 at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Evelyn McLachlan is leading the worship for Easter Sunday. For all Easter services, you are invited to bring noisemakers, bells or any other instrument to play each time the word "Hallelujah" is sung or spoken. On Easter morning, Schombergers are encouraged to get up early and come to Nobleton United Church for a 7:30 a.m. "Sonrise" worship. A light breakfast will follow. The regular service for Schomberg will be at 9:30 a.m. There will be an Easter Egg Hunt in Nobleton following the 11:15 a.m. Nobleton United service. Bring your children or grandchildren for the hunt!

Did you know that Al-Anon meets at Nobleton United Church once a week? Members help each other by practicing the Twelve Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous themselves, by welcoming and giving comfort to families of alcoholics, and by giving understanding and encouragement to the alcoholic.

Have you ever thought about taking a CPR/AED course? You may be able to save someone's life. CPR is cardiopulmonary resuscitation. AED is Automated External Defibrillator. This Level 3 course will be offered on Sat. April 30, from 3 to 5 p.m. at Nobleton United Church. Each student will receive a CPR/AED e-book written by former Toronto paramedic David Goodman and a Certification Card the day of the training. The instructor will be David Goodman who is the owner of Heaven Can Wait Emergency First Aid Inc. The cost is $55.

To reserve your spot, phone Sharon at 905-859-4793 or email nobletonunit-

"We are so pleased to have had Daryl and his team help find us our dream home while selling our family home. With a rather complex situation and intense demands, Daryl never fell short of his promises. Daryl's years of experience is a true testament to his professionalism, knowledge and customer service - Daryl truly sets the bar."

"Many thanks to Daryl King and the entire Daryl King Team on the successful sale of our home. Daryl's expertise and assistance in preparing our home for sale together with his in-depth knowledge of current area market conditions were invaluable to our successful sale process. Daryl and his team were courteous, responsive and professional."

"I just wanted to say thank you for doing such a great job in selling my custom home in only 5 days for 99% of the asking price! You and your team got the job done! After countless frustrating attempts trying to sell it before by myself and also trying unsuccessfully with 5 other realtors, Daryl you came in and went above and beyond, with your experience, negotiating skills, and doing a beautiful pre-listing video, plus live videos and lots of marketing of my house really helped. Thank you!"

"I would highly recommend Daryl King. When we were thinking of selling our house, we reached out to him as he has sold many luxury houses in our neighbourhood. After meeting with Daryl we knew we were in good hands, Daryl and his Team are very professional. He did an in-depth market analysis to help us determine a selling price. We sold our house in just 5 days for the highest price in the neighbourhood! If you are looking for an agent to sell your house, Daryl King should be your first choice."
